"The only other evidence there was pointed with all the rest. There were no rain marks on the leather case. It had been put on the roof as an afterthought when there was no rain. I also saw in the lumber room a number of packing cases—one with a label dated two days back—which had been opened with an iron lever, and yet when I made an excuse to ask for it you said there was no such thing in the place. Inference: You didn't want me to compare it with the marks on the desks and doors. That is all, I think. I am going now to Lord Stanway's. If I were you, I think I should apologize to Mr. Woollett in some way."

Lord Stanway, who in the hour or two of reflection left him after parting with Hewitt had come to the belief that he had employed a man whose mind was not always in order, received Hewitt's story with natural astonishment. For some time he was in doubt as to whether he would be doing right in acquiescing in anything but a straightforward public statement of the facts connected with the disappearance of the cameo, but in the end was persuaded to let the affair drop on receiving an assurance from Mr. Woollett that he unreservedly accepted the apology offered him by Mr. Claridge.

As for the latter, he was at least sufficiently punished in loss of money and personal humiliation for his escapade. But the bitterest and last blow he sustained when the unblushing Hahn walked smilingly into his office two days later to demand the extra payment agreed on in consideration of the sale. And the unhappy Claridge was obliged to pay it, knowing that the man had swindled him, but unable to open his mouth to say so.

The reward remained on offer for a long time—indeed, it was never publicly withdrawn, I believe, even at the time of Claridge's death. And several intelligent newspapers enlarged upon the fact that an ordinary burglar had completely baffled and defeated the boasted acumen of Mr. Martin Hewitt, the well known private detective.

Put Moors to Flight.

Casablanca, Sept. 13.—The allied Franco-Spanish army Wednesday made a sudden and successful move on Taddert, where the Moors were massed in force. The camp of the latter was destroyed by bombardment and the enemy was put to flight, leaving many dead on the field. The French lost one man killed and six men wounded.

Cavalrymen in Reunion.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 13.—Thursday was reunion day here, in fact University town about holds the banner for old soldier reunions. Yesterday the Third Michigan cavalry held its forty-sixth gathering. There were 128 veterans and enough wives and children present to total 160. The feature of the day was the presence of Maj. Cicero Newell, who came from Seattle, Wash. It was his first attendance at a reunion. Prominent among visitors and speakers were Lieut.-Gov. Kelley, President Angell and Maj. Butler of St. Louis, Mo. The Sixth Michigan heavy artillery were here, 60 strong, to celebrate their thirty-fourth reunion.

Kidnaps His Son.

Port Huron, Mich., Sept. 13.—Mrs. Clarence Galbraith of this city, has appealed to the police to restore to her her nine-year-old son, Harry, whom she declares has been kidnaped by her husband. Mrs. Galbraith separated from her husband some two years ago in Vassar. Galbraith stayed in the latter town and Mr. Galbraith and son came to Port Huron. She says her husband threatened many times to get the boy, and she says that he has made good his boasts.

COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF.

Grand Army Veterans Elect Charles G. Burton of Nevada, Mo.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 13.—Charles G. Burton of Nevada, Mo., a former member of congress, Thursday was elected commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, which is holding its 41st annual encampment here. The new commander-in-chief was opposed by three candidates, Gen. John T. Wilder of Knoxville, Tenn.; Charles Burrows of Rutherford, N. J., and Patrick H. Coney of Topeka, Kas. His plurality was more than three hundred.

Other officers elected by the encampment were as follows: Lewis C. Grifith, Troy, N. Y., senior vice-commander; William M. Scott, Atlanta, Ga., junior vice-commander; Dr. T. Lane Taneyhill, Baltimore, surgeon-general; Bishop Samuel Fallows, Chicago, chaplain-in-chief. Toledo, O., was selected as the place of meeting for the next encampment. The date will be fixed by the national council of administration.

The greater part of the day's session was devoted to this portion of the business. In the morning the reports of the officers and the annual address of Commander-in-Chief Brown were presented; in the afternoon the reports of two committees were received and adopted. These included the recommendations of the committee on pensions which indorsed an effort to increase the pension of veterans' widows to $12 per month and that of the committee on the Commander-in-chief's address, which approved all of his recommendations.

At the sound of a bugle, blown by Benjamin F. Simonds of Troy, N. Y., who sounded the alarm when the Merrimac was first sighted at Newport News, the annual encampment camp fire was called to order last night. The speakers included Gen. Louis Wagner of Washington, D. C., past commander-in-chief; Gen. John C. Black of Washington, D. C., past commander-in-chief, and Bishop Samuel Fallows of Chicago, the newly elected chaplain-in-chief.

The Women's Relief Corps Thursday elected Mrs. Kate E. Jones of New York city, national president. The ladies of the G. A. R. elected as their national presiding officer Mrs. Clara L. Sawyer of South Portland, Me.

As a result of the parade Wednesday, two veterans died Thursday. Ensign S. Bunce, past commander of John E. Griswold post of Troy N. Y., was stricken on Broadway, dying shortly after of heart disease, caused by exposure and over-exertion. Eli S. Robinson of post No. 234, New York city, was also overcome and died on Thursday.

Boat Exclusively for President.

Washington, Sept. 13.—Gen. MacKenzie, chief of engineers, has practically completed arrangements for the trip down the Mississippi river of President Roosevelt and the Inland Waterway commission next month. It is probable that the president will travel on a special boat and that the commission will be accommodated on another craft. It has been decided to house the commission on the government boat Mississippi, which is the boat employed by the Mississippi River commission on its regular tours of inspection. The lighthouse tender Lily has been assigned for the exclusive use of the president and his party, which will be made up of Assistant Secretary Latta, secret service men and representatives of the press association. The Lily is under orders to await the president at Keokuk, Ia., on the 30th inst., though probably the presidential party will not arrive there from Canton before Oct. 1.

Taft Sails for Philippines.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 13.—William H. Taft sailed at 1 o'clock Thursday on the steamship Minnesota. The secretary was in fine spirits and chatted and laughed with the members of his party aboard the Minnesota, while a great crowd looked on from the docks and waved adieus and good wishes. Accompanying Secretary Taft are representatives of the Associated Press and Colliers' Weekly, the New York Herald and other papers, his wife and son Charlie, his private secretary, Fred W. Carpenter and General Clarence Edwards, chief of the bureau of insular affairs. On the Minnesota also are Judge Thomas Burke and W. F. Backus of this city, special commissioners to the orient for the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition; Thomas J. O'Brien, ambassador of the United States to Japan, and Peter Augustus Jay, first secretary of the embassy.

Accidentally Shoots Sister.

Allegan, Mich., Sept. 13.—With a new shotgun just bought by his mother, and which he and his sister had just put to the test in a short hunting excursion in the woods, the 16-year-old son of Mrs. Chas. McLaws of Trowbridge, Wednesday evening accidentally shot and killed his sister, aged 13. The youthful pair were out on the porch in front of their home, and the boy was examining the gun, probably to remove a cartridge. The girl stood about eight feet from him, and when the weapon was discharged she received the full force of it in the head. The top of her head and one side of it were blown away. She died instantly. The mother and son are frantic with grief. The father is away with a threshing outfit, and is supposed to be in Indiana.

Prince Wilhelm to Wed.

London, Sept. 13.—According to a dispatch received here from Copenhagen, the marriage of Prince Wilhelm of Sweden, second son of Crown Prince Gustave, who visited the United States in August, to Grand Duchess Marie Pavlona, daughter of Grand Duke Paul Alexandrovitch of Russia, will take place next month, shortly after the return of the prince from the United States. The ceremony will be performed in St. Petersburg.

Pay Bounty on Rats.

San Francisco, Sept. 13.—In an effort to prevent further spread of bubonic plague here, the local board of health last evening decided to offer a bounty of ten cents for every rat caught in the city and county. Several rules regarding the quarantining and fumigation of buildings from which suspects are taken were also passed.

A Financial Pessimist.

Gaye—Yes, he is what you might term a financial pessimist. Myers—What's a financial pessimist? Gaye—A man who is afraid to look pleasant for fear his friends will want to borrow something.

A Hideous Dream.

I had a horrible dream a few nights ago. I dreamed that I was the subeditor of a religious weekly. There is nothing dreadful in that, of course. The horrible part comes later. My editor, just off for a holiday—editors generally are, you know—instructed me to write to several people of eminence and ask them to tell me their favorite prayer. (I record this little story in all reverence, you understand.) Well, many of the eminent people replied, including a lady novelist of great fame. The lady wrote:

"Dear Sir—In reply to your esteemed favor, I have much pleasure in informing you that my favorite prayer is, 'Give us this day our daily bread.'"

I placed it at the head of the column, put the paper to bed and went there myself, feeling p[illegible] next morning when I opened my copy of the religious weekly I found that three letters had been dropped from the lady novelist's favorite prayer, which, to my consternation, now read as follows: "Give us this day our daily ad.". I woke up screaming.—Keble Howard in Sketch.

Accidental.

Alice—How did you come to meet your second husband, Grace? Grace—It was purely accidental. He ran over my first one with a motor car and afterward attended the funeral.

The Tecumseh Indians have maintained the lead for the pennant for the past 14 weeks, with the exception of one day. They are making a hard struggle to win out and will, with the support of all interested.

The association needs the financial aid, but that is not all. The players need your presence to cheer them on. It puts life into the game, they play with much more determination to win. Are you interested in Tecumseh winning the flag? If so, come out to these games, your last chance this season. Attend all four of them, expand your lungs, have a good time, do your duty. The Indians will do their part and the flag will float in Tecumseh. The Mt. Clemens—Tecumseh games of 1905 will be eclipsed.

MILAN BURNS ITS RED-FIRE.

Village Wild over Assurance of Water Works and Sewers.

Milan, Mich., Sept. 10.—Milan is witnessing the wildest night in her history. Whistles are shrieking, cannons boom, huge bonfires illuminate the streets and men, women and children armed with horns add to the din.

Milan is to have a $30,000 water works and a sewer system. That is why Milan is celebrating. The special election came off today and "boost for Milan" crowd won. Bonds will be floated at once to raise the money. This is the second election in an effort to land this proposition, the first time falling down hard.

Milan is finally waked up and why not. Last spring she had over thirty cases of typhoid fever and over twenty deaths. Cause, no sewer. Perhaps Tecumseh will have to have the same kind of an awakening but we hope not.

WHAT DR. STEPHENSON

Thinks about the Sewer.

I was in Adrian last Thursday, went to see Dr. Stephenson and when talking with him said, "What do you think about the sewer over at Tecumseh?" "All towns need a sanitary sewer and I think that if Tecumseh had a sewer it would be the prettiest, healthiest town in Michigan, but I hope the people over there will be wise enough not to allow them to do as they have done in Adrian.

The first sewer laid in Adrian was put in 30 years ago and to this day some important streets lack the sewer. Some portions on the east side did not have it until a few years ago and until they did get it Adrian had from 20 to 30 cases of typhoid a year in that part of the city. Now we have practically none. I have had three cases this summer, two of them brought it with them from the country. Tecumseh should have a complete sewer system and it will cost less than building by piecemeal as in Adrian. Our streets are always torn up and always will be. If it is all put down at one time all will be done in one summer.

A humane appeal.

A humane citizen of Richmond, Ind., U. E. Williams of 107 Main St., says:—"I appeal to all persons with weak lungs to use Dr. King's New Discovery, the only remedy that has helped me and fully comes up to its recommendation." It saves more lives than all other throat and lung remedies put together. Used as a cough and cold cure the world over. Cures asthma, bronchitis, croup, quinsy hoarseness and phthisic, stops hemorrhages of the lungs and builds them up. Guaranteed by C. A. Wright & Son. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

Spanish-American Soldiers organize.

At the G. A. R. hall Tuesday, Sept. 3, Myron Bond, senior vice commander of the department of Michigan, mustered in camp Tecumseh No: 27 Spanish American war veterans. Officers were elected for the ensuing year as follows:

Commander—Bert Gray.
Senior Vice Com.—Will Osborn.
Junior Vice Com.—Chas. Skinner.
Adjutant—Geo. Rubadou.
Quartermaster—Oscar Hall.
Chaplin—F. W. Kamm.
Officer of the Day—Thos. Lowry.
Officer of the Guard—John Blesing.

Health in the Canal Zone.

The high wages paid make it a mighty temptation to young artisans to join the force of skilled workmen needed to construct the Panama canal. Many are restrained by the fear of fevers and malaria. It is the knowing ones, those who have used Electric Bitters, who go with no fear, knowing they are safe from malarious influence with the bitters on hand. Cures blood poison too, biliousness, stomach, liver and kidney troubles. Guaranteed by C. A. Wright & Son. 50c.

THE CHURCHES.

Rev. E. Sedweek will preach in the M. E. church Sunday morning and will be glad to see all his old friends and members of the congregation. There will be no Sunday school or E. L. service.

What the Sewer Will Cost You

Per Annum for Each $100 of Your Assessment.

The 1st Ten Years,	- -	10 Cents
The 2nd Ten Years,	- -	15½ Cents
The 3rd Ten Years,	- -	16½ Cents

An average of only 14 cents per annum.

The total assessed valuation of the village is $1,450,000.00, and as there are 721 tax-payers in the village, the average assessment is but $2,000.00, entailing an average payment for the sewer, by each tax-payer of only $2.80 per annum, or an average for each person in our village of only 80 cents.

In view of these FACTS, can any reasonable person contend that Tecumseh can afford to exist without a sanitary sewer?

Horton by phone that she might know their attitude on this question. Mrs. Hardy came to this country from Australia adout three years ago. She was a prominent advocate for woman's suffrage in that country and has been active in the work since coming to America. OUR NATIONAL DANGER

Time to cry a halt before a panic comes.

The business spirit is crushing out the sweeter element of home life. We are in danger of a great commercial decline, because men, as a whole, think only of getting wealth.

There are thousands, both men and women, who do not take time to eat properly. They rush through life and as a result we have an age of indigestion, nervousness, irritability, sleepless nights and morose disposition. There is not much difference between downright suicide and the way some people disregard unmistakable signs of stomach trouble.

With the great advance in the knowledge of digestion and nutrition, resulting in the discovery of Mi-o-na tablets, there is no longer any excuse for one to have ill health from stomach weakness.

Mi-o-na strengthens the walls of the stomach, stimulates secretion of the digestive juices, regulates the liver and restores muscular contraction to the intestines and bowels, so no laxative is needed.

Sick headaches, palpitation, bad taste in the mouth, yellow skin, irritability, coated tongue and melancholy are a few of the many distressing results of indigestion. Mi-o-na never fails to dispel all these troubles. It is a scientific preparation guaranteed under the Pure Food Law by No. 1418.

C. A. Wright & Son sells Mi-o-na in 50 cent boxes and guarantee to refund the money if the remedy does not give complete satisfaction.

Some men waste enough time explaining their failures to insure their success.

RALPH M. TATE

Formerly of Tecumseh, Son of

WHEELER S. TATE,

Attorney and Conselor, located at Detroit, Mich.

EDITOR HERALD:—Believing that the people of Tecumseh feel a deep interest in the welfare of its former residents and that many of the people who were living here ten or twelve years ago will well remember the subject of this sketch, as a little boy with long golden curls, a son of Wheeler S. Tate, a man of moderate means, who could give but little of his substance toward the education of this boy. But this boy having the spirit of the true American, has by hard work and persistent study, reached the goal for which he has striven.

When a few days ago a card was handed to me by his aunt, Mrs. Geo. Sisson of Tecumseh, bearing this inscription "Ralph Morse Tate, Attorney and Counselor, 717 Hammond Bldg., Detroit, Mich.," I felt like saying, "Thank God the spirit of 1776 is not yet extinct in the young men of today," and now boys of Tecumseh, look at the picture above, study the character of him who is yet qut a boy, let it be an incentive to you to do likewise.

NO MORE CATARRAH.

C. A. Wright & Son will not allow it to exist in Tecumseh.

"There will be no more catarrh in Tecumseh," says C. A. Wright & Son, "unless people fail to follow the law of common sense."

C. A. Wright & Son make this statement because of the great success that has followed the use of Hy-o-mei in the treatment of catarrhal troubles. So positive is this treatment in quick relief and permanent cure that they sell it under an absolute guarantee to refund the money if it does not do all that is claimed for it.

There is no other treatment or medicine for catarrhal troubles that is at all like Hy-o-mei. It follows nature's plans in curing diseases of the throat and lungs by being healing medication right to the very spot where the disease germs exist. With this treatment, health-giving oils and balsams are breathed through a neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, so that every breath you take while using Hy-o-mei is a breath of healing air. It kills all catarrhal germs and prevents their growth, so that the cure is thorough and permanent.

Remember that Hy-o-mei is sold under a guarantee to cost nothing unless it cures. If you should have any catarrhal trouble, you should take advantage of C. A. Wright & Son's liberal offer.

NATURE'S WARNING.

Tecumseh people must recognize and heed it.

Kidney ills come quietly—mysteriously.

But nature always warns you through the urine.

Notice the kidney secretions

See if the color is unhealthy.

If there are settlings and sediment.

Passages too frequent, scanty, painful

It's time then to use Doan's Kidney Pills.

To ward off Bright's disease or diabetes.

Doan's have done great work in Tecumseh.

Mrs Susan B Williams, living corner Maumee and Cummings street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I do not think there is a remedy on the market today that can equal Doan's Kidney Pills in the cure and relief of kidney troubles. I was afflicted in a most severe form. At times it was impossible for me to get up from my chair without assistance on account of the distressing pains which I had in the small of my back and shoulders. I could not get my proper rest and at night owing to the frequent action of the kidneys and the passages were always attended by a smarting and burning sensation From a girl up, I would pass gravel stones. I tried different physicians but received no permanent benefit. Finally I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills, I bought a box and after I had taken the contents I noticed wonderful relief. I continued taking them until I was practically cured. I will not hesitate to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as they are worthy of the highest praise."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's,—and take no other.

When a man follows his statements with, "You understand?" its a fairly safe bet that you don't.

Itch! Itch! Itch—Scratch! Scratch! Scratch! The more you scratch the worse the itch. Try Doan's Ointment. It cures piles, eczema, any skin itching. All druggists sell it.

You can borrow trouble without security, but you have to pay a pretty heavy rate of interest.

To feel strong, have good appetite and digestion, sleep soundly and enjoy life, use Burdock Blood Bitters, the great system tonic and builder.

It is beyond some men to understand he difference between pomposity and dignity.

One of the surprising things in this world is how well mediocrity gets along.

Healthy kidneys filter the impurities from the blood, and unless they do this good health is impossible. Foley's Kidney Cure makes sound kidneys and will positively cure all forms of kidney and bladder disease. It strengthens the whole system. Sold by all druggists in Tecumseh.

There's a reason for that ache in your back—right where it "stitches" every time you bend over, turn around or walk any distance. It's your kidneys. Take DeWitt's kidney and bladder pills. A Good Color.

Negroes use the same phrases they bear whites use, often with amusing application. This conversation, overheard in the streets of a southern city, is related in Lippincott's Magazine: "Howdy, Mis' Mandy? How is you?" called one dusky aunty to another. "Oh, I jes' tollable, Mis' Johnson. How you feelin'?" was the response. "Why, I's a-feelin' mighty peart, I is," confided Mrs. Johnson. "I suttenly does feel fine." "Wellum, yo' sho' is lookin' well," agreed her friend. "Yo' color's so good."

Proxy Husbands In Turkey.

Divorces are easy to obtain in Turkey, and a husband and wife may remarry three times. If they wish to marry a fourth time, the woman must go through the formality of marrying another man and then of being divorced. This custom has given rise to a curious profession—that of proxy husbands. Such men are generally blind and have no hesitancy in relinquishing their brides for a money consideration.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Many Changes Among Pulpits of M. E. Church.

ALBION CONFERENCE ENDS.

New Presiding Elders in Kalamazoo and Lansing Districts—Detroit Conference Does Not Favor Returning to Time Limit System.

Albion, Mich., Sept. 17.—The Michigan Methodist Episcopal annual conference at Albion closed Monday afternoon with the reading of appointments, and adjourned to meet in St. Joseph in 1908.

Dr. Callen, presiding elder of Kalamazoo district, has been sent to the First church, Jackson, and Rev. W. M. Puffer succeeds him. Rev. W. P. French was appointed presiding elder of the Lansing district, and Rev. J. T. Legear of Jackson succeeds Mr. French as pastor of the Central church of Lansing.

The remaining presiding elders are as follows:

Big Rapids district, N. L. Bray, Big Rapids; Niles district, D. F. Barns, Bangor; Grand Rapids district, G. D. Chase, Grand Rapids; Grand Traverse district, A. T. Ferguson.

Many changes are made in the pulpits throughout the state.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 17.—By a vote of 65 to 56, the Detroit conference Monday afternoon refused to go on record as favoring the return of the time limit system in regard to pastoral appointments.

The ballot followed a lively debate, which was participated in by the leaders upon each side of the question. Rev. Seth Reed, pioneer member of the conference, who offered the motion requesting the world's conference to restore the former order of things, when a pastorate was limited to three or five years by a church law, urged the restoration as important to the welfare of the church. He deplored the "mania for constant change" in church affairs evidenced in the past 10 or 15 years.

Revs. C. W. Baldwin and Frederick D. Lette opposed the restoration of the limit, while Rev. N. N. Clark of Hartland, led the affirmitave end. After the conference had voted the proposition down, the advocates for a change discovered that they had permitted the question to be brought up and disposed of, while the presiding elders, who were the strongest in favor of the old order of things, were all closeted with Bishop Berry upstairs. It is probable that the question may be brought up again, with the elders all present, if an opportunity presents itself.

With only six dissenting votes, the conference voted to ask the Baltimore general conference to district the bishoprices, giving a specific and compact district into the charge of each bishop.

It is expected that the pastoral appointments for the coming year will be given out by Bishop Berry late today. The bishop and his cabinet have been locked in an upstairs study at the church, working on the list for the greater part of the last two days, but there have been few announcements of what the official list will show.

Insane Man Acted Queerly.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Sept. 17.—At first thought to be shamming, Harry Vose, arrested two months ago for stealing chickens, has been removed to the Kalamazoo asylum, where physicians say he will not survive many days. For over a month Vose has been insane, although the last week or so he was much worse that at the onset. His first sign of lunacy was when he refused to eat jail fare, and later turned down food brought him by relatives. Then he went 20 days without drinking water. Next day he tore his bed to pieces and crawled under the bunk and stayed there two days at a time. Finally he refused to talk, and wouldn't budge when prodded with needles. Physicians had to feed him through a tube. He was carried into the probate court, where he lay as if asleep, while a lunacy commission made an examination.

Befriended Tramp and Was Robbed.

Owosso, Mich., Sept. 17.—As the result of doing a kind act, Smith Pearsall is shy $17 and a pair of trousers. Pearsall rooms over a second-hand store, and Sunday afternoon took pity on a homeless wanderer who seemed to be a little more self-respecting and intelligent than the average tramp, giving him permission to share his room for the night. Monday morning Pearsall wrapped a blanket about him and went downstairs to notify the police that the man, the trousers and the money had disappeared during the night.

Young Italian Kills and Injures Brother Storekeepers.

MOB WANTED REVENGE.

Were Led in Attack by Mother of the Dead Man—Desperate Battle Takes Place in New York's "Little Italy."—Police Finally Get Upper Hand.

New York, Sept. 17.—After Harry Becker had been killed and Samuel Becker, his brother, had been mortally wounded by Francesco Sicca, a young Italian, last night, two detectives had a desperate fight with a mob led by the young men's mother, and bent on lynching the assailant of the two young men, and it was only after a detective's clothes had been torn to shreds and the prisoner badly beaten that the three were rescued by the police reserves.

The Becker brothers were proprietors of a hardware store on upper Second avenue in "Little Italy." The police say Sicca, who is 20 years old and a bootblack, had purchased a revolver at the store. Last night he returned and wanted his money back, saying the revolver was not satisfactory. His demand was refused and he opened fire on Harry Becker, who fell dead at the first shot. His brother, Samuel, rushed to the rescue and the Italian fired three shots in rapid succession, Samuel Becker falling, apparently dead, with a bullet in his abdomen.

Detectives Higgins and Naughton rushed into the store and grappled with the Italian before he could fire the last shot in his pistol into the prostrate body of Samuel Becker. The Italion fought fiercely. A great crowd gathered and made an attempt to take the prisoner from the detectives that they might avenge on the spot the death of Becker, who was very popular in the neighborhood.

At the head of the mob was the aged mother of the Becker boys, who was armed with an ax, and who, in her frenzy, demanded that she be allowed to wreak vengeance on the slayer of her sons.

The detectives were hard put between the struggles of their prisoner and the efforts of the mob to reach him. Finally, after the detectives' clothes were almost torn off and Sicca was almost insensible from the blows he had received from the mob, the police reserves arrived and rescued the trio. Mrs. Becker was led to her home by friends, and is in a serious condition from shock. The hospital surgeons say Samuel Becker will die.

The First Contribution.

Washington, Sept. 17.—The first contribution towards the Nobel peace prize fund, which was awarded to President Roosevelt by the Norwegian parliament for the services rendered in behalf of the cause of peace, and which, by an act of congress, is to be devoted to the establishment of the foundation for the promotion of industrial peace, was $250 received Monday by Secretary Strauss, of the department of commerce and labor, as trustee, from Eugene G. Kramer, a lawyer, of New York city. Mr. Kramer expressed a desire to contribute from time to time towards the fund until the principal of the foundation, which is now nearly $40,000, shall have reached a more adequate sum, and also to aid in any way he could the industrial peace committee.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

Now it's an Oakland county resident that has "fallen heir" to a share of that $15,000,000,000 Manhattan island estate. This time it is Ethan Ennist, son-in-law of Albert Hosner of North Farmington. Attorney Elliott of New York, has informed him that he will surely get $23,000,000, his share of the billions.

"I'm through!" With these words William Chappel, aged 56 years, who lived with his wife in the north end of Grand Rapids, swallowed two ounces of laudanum Sunday morning in his home, while his wife stepped into the next room. Two hours after he died. Despondency over ill-health was the cause of the act. Chappel leaves a widow and son.

HE FAILS TO APPEAR.

Witnesses Testify H. H. Rogers Is Seriously Ill.

WANTED TO ANSWER SUIT.

Dispatch From Fairhaven, Mass., Would Indicate He Is Not So Ill as Relatives Say—Will Not Be Obliged to Attend Court, However.

Boston, Sept. 17.—Upon the evidence of members of the family of Henry M. Rogers and the family physician that Mr. Rogers suffered a stroke last July and has since been unable to transact business, Judge Hammond, in the supreme court, Monday announced that it would be cruel to compel his attendance in court, and dismissed a motion to that effect. The condition of Mr Rogers was disclosed in the course of a hearing on a motion to show that he was capable of attending the trial of a suit against him for $50,000,000 brought by C. M. Raymond of Somerville, for alleged conversion of certain royalties in connection with the production of petroleum.

The hearing began last week with the testimony of Dr. Charles L. Pratt of New Bedford, who stated that Mr. Rogers had suffered from a stroke last July, and was unable to attend to his business.

The hearing was resumed Monday, and two sessions of the court were consumed in hearing the testimony.

Was About the Streets.

Counsel for Mr. Raymond sought to show by the testimony of personal and business friends of Mr. Rogers in New Bedford and Fairhaven, and also by numerous telephone tickets, giving a record of calls between New York and the home of Mr. Rogers in Fairhaven, that the Standard Oil financier had been about the streets, had participated in certain festivities, had engaged in certain business in New Bedford and had been in frequent communication with his associates in New York.

Several witnesses admitted that they had talked with Mr. Rogers within the past few weeks, but all admitted that he was much changed.

In support of the claim that Mr. Rogers was too ill to appear, four witnesses were heard. One was Urban H. Broughton, the son-in-law of Mr. Rogers. He said that since July 22, when Mr. Rogers was taken ill in New York, his father-in-law had been unable to transact any business, and that soon after that date Mr. Rogers told him that Broughton must pick up all his business and carry on the affairs to the best of his knowledge, and that he would not hold Mr. Broughton responsible for any mistakes. At this time Mr. Broughton testified that the physicians had refused to allow Mr. Rogers to see any member of the family, not excepting his wife. He admitted that once in August his father-in-law had talked with John Archbold, of the Standard Oil Co., but it was not upon business. At present, he testified, Mr. Rogers' face is distorted on the right side, the left side of his body is out of its natural position and his speech is affected.

Henry H. Rogers, Jr., corroborated his brother-in-law in many respects.

Fairhaven, Mass., Sept. 17.—So far as can be learned, there has been no noticeable change in the condition of Henry H. Rogers during the past few days. Mr. Rogers is upward of seventy years of age, and since July has taken no active part in business. His stomach has troubled him somewhat during the summer and at times he has appeared to be nervous.

It was on the advice of his physicians that he abandoned business cares and took a long rest. He is not confined to bed, but appears about the town and in New Bedford occasionally.

The townspeople who see Mr. Rogers occasionally say that his general appearance has not changed greatly. They say that he looks tired and like a man run down physically. Several who have conversed with him have noticed no difference in his voice, and his mind appears to be as clear as ever.

Barn and Horses Burn.

Dearborn, Mich., Sept. 17.—During a terrific electrical storm that visited this section Monday night, a barn on the farm of G. W. Lane, about a mile and a half southeast of this village, was struck by lightning and the building and its contents burned to the ground. A valuable span of horses were burned alive. The approximate loss is $3,000. No insurance.

FROM CLEAR SKY

Came Bolt of Lightning, Killing a Farmer and His Horse.

Jackson, Mich., Sept. 17.—Niel Cary, aged 60, a farmer living two miles north of Hanover, was struck by lightning about 4 o'clock Monday afternoon, while plowing, and he and two horses were instantly killed.

The bolt struck Cary in the back of the head and came out of his left shoe. When he was struck the sun was shining and there were no clouds nor rain.

Deceased lived in Hanover township all his life and is survived by a widow and three grown sons.

Saginaw, Mich., Sept. 17.—Lightning struck the Gilford township schoolhouse Monday afternoon, the bolt passing through the chimney and shattering the stove. There was a panic among the children and the daughter of Daniel McKay of Nelson, was seriously burned by the flash.

Here in the city several houses were struck, but no damage or accidents have been reported.

Traverse City, Mich., Sept. 17.—Cyrus Harper of Grant township, lost his second barn by lightning Monday morning. The loss is $4,000.

BLOWN TO DEATH.

Boys Fired Bullets Into Shanty Containing Dynamite.

Cheboygan, Mich., Sept. 17.—Leslie Ehret, 18 years old, Bert Simmons, 18 years old, and Clifford Simmons, 17 years old, while hunting on the outskirts of town Sunday morning, spied a shanty in a clearing. They opened fire on the building, as is supposed. At all events there was an explosion that killed the boys, leveled trees, dug a big hole in the ground where the shanty had been and broke a lot of window glass in town. The shanty was a dynamite storehouse and contained 350 pounds of the explosive.

The mangled remains of the three young hunters were found strewn about the landscape.

An incident of the explosion was the shaking-up given the Congregational church, plaster falling on the heads of the congregation.

Ehret graduated from high school last summer and was ready to enter the U. of M. Sept. 18.

Many Liquor Dealers Plead Guilty.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 17.—The much heralded "fight" that 143 saloonists, who were caught napping by Prosecuting Attorney McDonald, Four of July, boasted they would put up and "show" the prosecutor, petered out Monday when 120 liquor men pleaded guilty to keeping open on a legal holiday. The remaining 23 had previously acknowledged the corn. Thus ended what gave promise of being a strong saloonkeepers' organization, as all had contributed to a fund to contest the case against them and had hired attorneys. Sentence on the saloonists has not yet been pronounced.

Defective Throttle Causes Collision.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 17.—A defective throttle on a Pere Marquette switch engine caused a collision with a wrecking train at the First street crossing Monday morning, and seriously if not fatally injured Wm. R. Sawtelle, a brakeman. Glen Haskins, a switch engine engineer, was badly hurt about his legs.

Gov. Warner has hit upon a scheme to reduce the running expenses of the various state institutions. Every month he has printed a comparative table showing the different prices paid for provisions, and copies are sent to every institution manager and board member. For the month of July there was a difference of nearly $2 between the price paid for beef at the Michigan Soldiers' home and the Eastern Michigan asylum. Gov. Warner believes the comparisions will give institution managers an inspiration to buy cheaper.

Chief of Police Farrington of Battle Creek was host Saturday night at a slumming party among the stall saloons in the city that the chief has claimed no longer existed. The guests were ladies of the National Purity federation, and they braved insolence, ridicule and worse to satisfy their minds. Out of six saloons visited, stalls were found in four, and women in nearly all of them. Two girls were taken in charge and put on a street car for home, after some good advice. Stalls were said to have been "removed" some time ago. The Purity federationists are here making arrangements for the national convention of the organization in October.

Deafness cannot be cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's catarrh cure. Send for circulars free.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

A young widow has a peculiar way of seeing a man without looking at him.

There are a great many people who have slight attacks of indigestion and dyspepsia nearly all the time. Their food may satisfy the appetite but it fails to nourish the body simply because the stomach is not in fit condition to do the work it is supposed to do. It can't digest the food you eat. The stomach should be given help. You ought to take something that will do the work your stomach can't do. Kodol for indigestion and dyspepsia, a combination of natural digestants and vegetable acids, digests the food itself and gives strength and health to the stomach. Pleasant to take. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

A man doesn't have to wear good clothes if he can afford not to.

One of the worst features of kidney trouble is that it is an insidious disease and before the victim realizes his danger he may have a fatal malady. Take Foley's Kidney Cure as the first sign of trouble as it corrects irregularities and prevents Bright's disease and diabetes. Sold by all druggists in Tecumseh.

Some men stand just inside the door ready to grasp opportunity by the back of the neck when it knocks.

Occasional headache, belching, bad taste in the mouth, lack of appetite and slight nervousness are symptoms of indigestion which, when allowed to go uncared for, will develop into a case of dyspepsia that will take a long time to get rid of. Don't neglect your stomach. At the first indication of trouble take something that will help it along in its work of digesting the food you eat. Kodol for indigestion and dyspepsia will do this. Kodol will make your food do you good and will enable you to enjoy what you eat. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

It's advice when you give it and a lecture when you receive it.

The new pure food and drug law.

We are now pleased to announce that Foley's Honey and Tar for coughs, colds and lung troubles is not effected by the national pure food and drug law as it contains no opiates or other harmful drugs, and we recommend it as a safe remedy for children and adults. Sold by all druggists in Tecumseh.

A real good man doesn't have to use words to tell it.

The way to get rid of a cold, whether it be a "bad cold" or just a little one, is to get it out of your system through the bowels. Nearly all cough cures, especially those that contain opiates, are constipating. Kennedy's laxative cough syrup contains no opiates and acts gently on the bowels. Pleasant to take. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

Many a man has been forced to ask for a handout because he was unable to get his hand in.

Cured hay fever and summer colds.

A. J. Nusbaum, Batesville, Ind., writes: "Last year I suffered for three months with a summer cold so distressing that it interfered with my business. I had many of the symptoms of hay fever, and a doctor's prescription did not reach my case, and I took several medicines which seemed to only aggravate my case. Fortunately I insisted upon having Foley's Honey and Tar in the yellow package and it quickly cured me. My wife has since used Foley's Honey and tar with the same success." Sold by all druggists in Tecumseh.

THE WELSHERS.

How Absconding Bookmakers Are Treated In England.

One thing that deters people from wagering large sums at the tracks of England is the comparative frequency with which the bookie departs with the stakes. This is a rarality almost unknown at an American course, and in the very exceptional cases when it does happen the turf association always makes good all losses.

But if the cry of "welsher" goes up on an English track, prepare for trouble. Battle, murder and sudden death generally follow. As everybody knows a gambling debt is illegitimate, so the mob's only recourse is to take its money's worth out of the unfortunate man's person. They knock him off his box, tear its clothes to pieces, beat, kick and trample on him, and unless he is rescued in time by the police they are apt to finish him altogether. The authorities are on the alert to prevent such doings, and as soon as there is a sign of trouble the terror stricken bookmaker is surrounded by a group of "Bobbies," who fight their way through the dense mass and escort him beyond the reach of the fury of the mob.—From "The People and the Ponies," by C. F. Rogers, in Bohemian.

THE SOLAR SYSTEM.

Whence It Comes and Whither It Goes No One Knows.

The solar system is well enough when picturesquely expounded, but when the solar system becomes a mere atom traveling some 100,000,000 of miles per annum toward some inconceivable goal, and when millions of similar systems have to be contemplated, all pursuing some similar course, the lay imagination is completely baffled.

Nor is it easy to believe that the most eager astronomer is not sometimes perplexed and dismayed by the vistas opened up before him. For everything he learns merely opens up vaster problems, and when he has extended his vision to stars from which light would take 2,000 years to reach this earth he is no nearer finality than the child who thinks the sky but a spectacle of revolving lights.

We are told that the heavens as we see them are occupied by two great streams of stars moving in opposite directions. That suggests at least two centers of revolution at some unimaginable distance and adds to our aching embarrassment. We ask, Whence? Whither? And with all our science there is no answer.—London Times.

At Sea on Maskat.

A funny scene occurred many years ago in congress. A present of Arabian horses, a sword, etc., arrived from the imam of Maskat for President Adams. A western member with some heat moved that the gift should be sent back, with a letter from congress informing the ruler of Maskat that the president of the United States was no king, but the servant of the people, and was not permitted to give or receive presents.

Another member rose. "Such a letter, Mr. Speaker," he said, "can easily be written. But where is it to be sent? Where is Maskat?"

There was no response. Apparently not a member of the house was prepared to answer, nor could Maskat then be found in any atlas published in this country. It was found at last on a German map. A civil answer was returned, and the geographers made haste to insert Maskat in the next edition of their maps.

Humor of Animals.

Even a toad laughs when he has swallowed a large beetle and it begins to walk about inside. It does tickle so! Ducks laugh most when they come out of water. The ground feels so funny under their feet that they cannot help themselves. But they have much more humor than fowls at any time. A duck is born with a twinkle in his eye and a smile at the end of his tail. Tragedy does not suit him so well—one cannot be very tragic or very dignified with a waddle for a walk.—London Captain.

Didn't Interest Him.

A prominent Bostonian recently put up at his club a Chicago man bearing letters of introduction from a common friend.

After dinner the two were lounging in the club library when the Bostonian chanced to ask:

"By the way, what do you think of the 'Origin of Species?'"

"Never read it," was the reply of the man from Chicago. "In fact, old man, I'm not in the least interested in financial subjects."—Success Magazine.

Charity.

"I understand you refused to accept a gift from my daughter, Sam?"

"Yes, sah; I did, sah."

"You looked upon it as charity, I suppose, Sam?"

"Yes, sah, and I's ob de opinion dat no man has a right to accept charity when his wife's got work, sah!"—Yonkers Statesman.

A Lost Warning.

"It is imprudent to leave loaded guns within your son's reach like this."

"Oh, he doesn't even know they are guns; he was using them for stilts the other day."—Pele Mele.

Making Sure.

Lodger—I have decided to take a room that has a piano in it. Landlady—But you do not play, sir. Lodger—No, but if it is in my room then nobody else can.—Rire.

It is not enough to aim; you must hit.—Italian Proverb.

Protoplasm.

Protoplasm is a living, transparent, viscid substance of proteid character, containing 70 per cent of water. It coagulates with heat at 120 degrees and dies when the body is raised to this temperature. As only dead protoplasm can be subjected to chemical analysis it is difficult to determine its chemical nature. Its nearest allies are to be found in the albuminoids, of which the white of an egg is a good example. Of the real nature of protoplasm there is, of course, absolutely nothing known.—New York American.

The Scholar.

Dr. Evans, a witty member of the parliament at Melbourne, was an old man, and the other members jokingly spoke of him as belonging to the era of Queen Anne.

Once, while making a speech, he referred to Queen Anne and was greeted with cries of "Did you know her?" "What was she like?"

"Yes, sir," retorted the doctor, "I did know her. The scholar is contemporary with all time."

FISHES IN SLEEP.

In Most Species They Experience a Change of Color.

The way fishes sleep is a study which few people have taken up, but which is nevertheless very interesting. They are very light sleepers and frequently assume singular positions, but the most remarkable thing is the change of color which the majority of them undergo while asleep. Usually their spots and stripes become darker and more distinct when they have successfully sought temporary oblivion.

Sometimes the pattern of their coloring is entirely changed. The ordinary porgy, for instance, presents in the daytime beautifully iridescent hues playing over its silvery sides, but at night, on falling asleep, it takes on a dull bronze tint, and six conspicuous black bands make their appearance on its sides.

If it is suddenly awakened by the turning up of the gas in the aquarium it immediately resumes the silvery color that it shows by daylight.

Naturalists ascribe these changes to the principle of "protective coloration" and point out that the appearance of black bands and the deepening of the spots serve to conceal the fish from their enemies when lying amid the seaweeds.—Buffalo Times.

CHASING RAINBOWS.

Folks to Whom Happiness Is Always Just Out of Reach.

How many people go through life deluded with the conviction that if they could only get a little more money, get into a little more comfortable position, own a little better home, or if they could only get over the particular trouble that is annoying them at the time, they would be happy.

I know a man who had a very hard boyhood, suffered great poverty, who is now fifty years old, and he has always honestly believed that if he could only get the particular thing he was after or get over the particular difficulty that was annoying him at the moment he would be perfectly happy, but he is the same anxious, restless, expectant spirit today as when a youth. He has been quite successful and has done some very remarkable things, but he is invariably in hot water. There is always something that nettles him or destroys his happiness, and, although he is a well meaning man, he has made his family, his employees and everybody about him very unhappy because he is always fretting and worrying, always borrowing trouble.—Success.

Literary Tenants of Islington Tower.

Canonbury tower in Islington, now encompassed by London streets, is all that's left of the priory of the canons of St. Bartholomew, which once stood in the midst of a "pleasaunce," as they used to call such private parks. In the days subsequent to its monastic history many persons of literary fame were tenants of the tower, among them Ephraim Chambers, originator of the modern cyclopedia; Speaker Onslow of the Georgian era; Woodfall, the printer of the "Junius" letters; the famous publisher Mr. Newbery (whose children's books are so well known), and also Oliver Goldsmith. Islington was a rural suburb, with pleasant country lanes, in which Charles Lamb dwelt and where he accomplished the feat of tiring out a dog in a persistent walk.—Westminster Gazette.

The Matterhorn.

Many mountains which long enjoyed a reputation of being absolutely unclimbable are now considered as almost ordinary excursions. The Matterhorn for many years repulsed men who were among the foremost mountaineers of the day. Professor Tyndall and Edward Whymper were foiled on more than a dozen occasions. But on July 15, 1865, with Lord Francis Douglas, Hudson and Hadow, Mr. Whymper eventually reached the summit, and it was in descending that the fatal slip occurred which cost the lives of his three English companions as well as of Michel Croz, one of the most competent of Swiss guides. Nowadays the peak is constantly ascended (with the help of guides) by tourists who have no pretensions to be mountaineers at all.—Dundee Advertiser.

A Hindoo Legend.

A Hindoo account of the creation represents the deity as dividing himself in two and making of one half man, the other woman. The legend indicates, as many other things in the sacred books of India do, that the position of woman was once very different there from what it is today. In the laws of Manu it is said, "Where women are honored the gods rejoice, but where they are not honored all rites of worship are unacceptable."

Manufacturing the Truth.

A gentleman was staying at an English country house, when, hearing a great clatter below one morning, he looked out and saw a couple of grooms holding one of the servant maids on a horse, which they led with difficulty once round the yard. He asked them what it all meant.

"Well, you see, sir," said they, "we're going to take the horse to market to be sold, and we want to be able to say that he has carried a lady."

A Poser.

Professor (examining candidate for legal examination)—Now, sir, let us suppose that your opponent killed you, but not with malice aforethought, what sentence would you pass upon him?—Bon Vivant.

Brussels sprouts are regarded by many physicians as the most valuable green vegetable food.

Judged By Their Cats.

"No, ma'am," said an Irish maid of much experience as she returned to a New York intelligence office the other day. "I didn't engage with that family. I didn't like the looks of their cat."

"Of their cat!" repeated the owner of the office in amazement. "Why, Katie, I'm sure they wouldn't keep a cat that was in any way dangerous."

"Not dangerous, no, ma'am, but a restless, unhappy looking creature that didn't speak well for the family," replied the girl. "I always judge a family by their cat—if they have one. A sleek, comfortable pussy who comes up and rubs against you means a quiet, good natured family and one that's not worrying about ways and means, but a nervous, unfriendly looking cat reflects a household which is on the verge of nervous prostration or financial ruin or some other horrible trouble.

"I've been living with families and studying their cats for twenty-five years, and I've never known the sign to fail. A family that can't make its cat happy is one to make any servant miserable."—New York Press.

Jean Richepin's Career.

The story of how he came to adopt a literary career is sufficiently picturesque. For some time he had picked up a precarious livelihood by doing "odd jobs," including such prosaic occupations as that of bootblack and casual porter on the Quai Marseilles. One day he was engaged by a gentleman to carry to the railway station a heavy trunk. Arrived at the station there was an instant mutual recognition. They were old college chums. "What are you doing here?" asked his friend. "Carrying your trunk, I believe," said Jean. "Why do you do this?" "Because I must." "Where do you live?" "Come and see," replied Richepin.

The future dramatist took his friend to his dwelling—a miserable room in an attic in the poorest quarter of the town. Upon the table lay scattered heaps of manuscripts—Jean's incursions in the realms of poetry when the more prosaic duties of the day were over. Looking through them, his friend was astounded at their quality. "Why do you carry trunks and blacken boots when you can do work like this?" he asked. Richepin had never given the matter a thought. He had never deemed these products of idle hours worthy of publication. Published they were, however, in a very few weeks and created an immense sensation. From that moment Jean Richepin never looked back.—Westminster Gazette.

Kangaroos Saved a Rothschild.

Walter Rothschild, the richest bachelor in England, had a close call with matrimony when he was a young man. A designing mamma had managed to get the heir to the Rothschild millions interested in her daughter, and the daughter did all she could to lead the interest up to the point of a marriage proposal.

One night at a watering place, after Rothschild had retired to his room, he heard voices under his window which he recognized as those of the young lady and her mamma.

"Has he proposed yet?" asked the old woman.

"Not yet," answered the daughter, "but I'll have him hooked before long if only I can endure his conversation. Tonight he bored me almost to death talking about his kangaroos."

"I am sorry," said Rothschild, putting his head out of the window, "to have bored you with tales of my animals. Forgive me. I shall never do so again." And he never did.—London Echo.

The Name Saratoga.

The original name of Saratoga was "Serachtague." About the middle of the eighteenth century it was "Saraghtoge." During the administration of Governor Corlett it was "Sarachtoge." Isn't this quaint—from 1689:

Upon ye news yt three People should be kild at Brant Vromans at Sarachtoge by ye Indians.—

Resolved by ye Convention yt Lief Jochim Staets forwith goe with ten men to Sarachtoge to see how ye matter is, & bring us an accompt with ye first, & yt he Cito send a Post hither with ye tidings.

Spelling reformers would be delighted with "kild." And "ye" is shorter than "the," and "yt" is shorter than "that." "Goe" is expansive, but "forwith" for "forthwith" is a contraction. Schoolcraft thinks that Saratoga is derived from the Indian words "Assarat"—sparkling, and "oga"—place.—New York Press.

Dr. Mabie and the Liveryman.

A literary pilgrim, says the Saturday Evening Post, once made his way to Summit, N. J., to pay his respects to Hamilton Wright Mabie. At the station he asked the liveryman who had been in service there for thirty years:

"Can you tell me where Dr. Mabie lives?"

"Never heard of him," replied the liveryman.

"Surely you must," continued the pilgrim. "I mean Hamilton Wright Mabie."

"Shucks!" responded the driver. "He ain't a doctor. He's a reporter for a newspaper."

When told of this incident Mr. Mabie put the seal on it by saying:

"And just to think that I subscribed for a wooden leg for that liveryman!"

Lord Young's Wit.

Looking across the table of a public dinner at the overrubicund and fishy eyes of his neighbor opposite, Lord Young, who was a famous lawyer, inquired who the owner of the vinous countenance might be and was told he was the president of a water trust. "Aye," said Lord Young. "Well, he looks like a man that could be trusted with any amount of water!"

Some one told Lord Young that the house of lords had on appeal affirmed a decision of his. "It may be right, after all," was his lordship's reply.

The Right Idea.

"How do you define the phrase 'as black as your hat?'" a father asked his son as the latter had just used the expression.

"Well," replied the youth, "I should define it as darkness that might be felt."—Cassell's Journal.

The Clock and the Watch.

"What pleased me most," said the man who had been abroad, "was the wonderful clock at Strassburg."

"Oh, how I should like to see it!" replied the ignorant youth. "And did you see the watch on the Rhine too?"

At the Foot End.

"Alas, I am at my wit's end," exclaimed the monarch as he was unexpectedly kicked by the court jester.—Bohemian.

It is a beautiful necessity of our nature to love something.—Jerrold.

Psychologically Explained.

Mrs. Flaherty, who earns her living and maintains two clean little rooms in an uptown tenement by going out to do washing and day's work, has been a widow for many years, and entertains a strong prejudice against marriage for any but the young. "'Tis all right at that time o' life," she maintains, "but not for old people with gray hairs. Then 'tis onsuitable and the height o' foolishness." Holding these opinions as she does, it was a severe shock to Mrs. Flaherty to learn that one of her best customers, a widow of threescore and ten, was about to be married for the second time. Almost tearfully she confided her sentiments to another patron.

"Think of it! Her a-fixin' all them fine clothes and takin' as much pride in it as if she was to be a bride of twenty instead of an old woman that'll never see seventy again! Why," and her voice dropped to an awed whisper, "at her time o' life I believe 'tis the ravin' o' death is on the woman!"—New York Times.

A TRANSPOSITION.

It Mangled the Salutation, but the King Controlled His Face.

An American who years ago served as our minister to Spain was fond of telling the following joke upon himself:

Shortly after he had become settled in his new home he was bidden to a state ceremonial, where he was to be presented to the king. His knowledge of languages was limited to English and French, and being desirous of addressing the sovereign in his own tongue he took pains to "coach" for the occasion. Several phrases were rehearsed until he felt that he had mastered them. When the critical moment arrived, he saluted the king with great dignity, spoke a few words in Spanish and passed on.

"What did you say?" asked an English gentleman.

"I spoke in Spanish," was the rejoinder. "I said, 'I cast myself at your feet,' which, I am told, is the most respectful form of salutation."

"Ah, no," corrected a Spaniard, who had been observed to smile at the ambassador's greeting. "You are mistaken. You transposed your words and quite altered the meaning."

"What did I say?" asked the diplomat.

With a twinkle in his eye the Spaniard made answer, "What you really said was, 'I throw my heels at your head.'"

But the king had not betrayed by so much as the fluttering of an eyelid that anything unusual had occurred.

THE GREEK MYRMEX.

It Was the Deadliest Weapon of the Ancient Pugilist.

The four ounce glove was unknown to the ancient pugilist. When the boxers and fighters came together in the old days of Greece they wore upon their hands the cestus, which was in itself a terrible adjunct to any fighter. But Dr. Daniel G. Brinton discovered that there was sometimes attached to the cestus a deadlier weapon, consisting of a three pronged fork of bronze.

This was known as the myrmex, and Dr. Brinton, who found this specimen, gave it to the museum of archaeology in the University of Pennsylvania. Classical literature has frequent references to the myrmex, which is described as the deadliest weapon of the ancient pugilist. The right hand was swathed in tough hide, bound in place with thongs and supplemented by small knobs of lead or iron, to which was affixed the myrmex. Dr. Brinton made his discovery in Paris by examining the Greek and Roman marbles in the Louvre. One of these groups represented a fighter bearing on his right fist the cestus and myrmex.

Combats in those days were much more brutal and dangerous than those of the modern prize ring. It is easily seen that a single blow of the myrmex might cause death or permanent injury.

The Gallfly.

By the laws of England and of France legal documents are required to be written in ink made from galls, such ink having proved to be practically indelible. The mixture is of bruised galls with sulphate of iron and gum arabic. This legal ink, at once the best and oldest in existence, entirely depends on a disease to which the oak tree is subject and which is caused by a fly known as the gallfly. The gallfly belongs to the same order as the bees and wasps, and when it is ready to lay its egg it cuts away the outer bark of an oak tree twig and deposits its eggs in the hole. From some unknown cause the tree immediately begins to enlarge about the egg, and a gall, or oak apple, as it is usually called, is formed. It is this gall which contains the tannic acid from which the ink is made.

BASE BALL

Tecumseh took the first game of the series with Bay City Friday. The Indians batted the ball when hits counted and while Bay City made some hits when they did good, they could not overcome the leaders.

Score by innings:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R	H	E
Tecumseh	0	2	0	1	0	1	0	0	0	4	8	0
Bay City	0	1	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	2	6	5

Home run, Railing; 2 base hit, Somerlot, Merkle, Beasley, Parent; sacrifice hits, Mitchell, Lovett; earned runs, Tecumseh 3, Bay City 2; left on bases, Tecumseh 7, Bay City 5; struck out, by Railing 11, by Parent 7; stolen base, Merkle; passed ball, Mitchell; wild pitch, Railing; umpire, Whelan.

Thomas Atkins, pitcher for Bay City, Sunday piloted a party of fifteen of Bo Slear's Indians through the Cave of the winds and created a new strike-out record for the league. But it didn't save the game for Bay City. Tecumseh bunching hits for four runs in the 4th inning. It was really a great day for Pitcher Doty. After twirling eight innings yesterday, he handled nine more Sunday and Bay City secured but seven hits.

Another record probably was made by Hillinger, who fanned four times. Errors in the 4th by Lovett and Blodgett, a passed ball by Newcomb, a base on balls to Wolf and singles by Merkle, Preston and Doty netted Tecumseh four runs. Preston's two bagger in the third was responsible for Tecumseh's first run. Blodgett redeemed himself in the seventh by knocking out a home run over left garden fence. As Weirich already had been given a base on balls, two runs resulted.

Score by innings:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R	H	E

Runs, Preston 2, Somerlot, Merkle, Wolf, Haley, Welrich, Blodgett; first base on balls, off Atkins 4, off Doty 2; left on bases, Tecumseh 9, Bay City 5; first base on errors, Tecumseh 2; two-base hit, Preston; home run, Blodgett; struck out, by Doty 7, by Atkins 15; double play, Wagner and Merkle; passed balls, Mitchell, Newcomb; stolen bases, Somerlot 2, Slear, Merkle, Mitchell, Wolf 2; sacrifice hits, Preston, Slear; Umpire, Whelan; attendance 1000.

Pierce was an enigma for the home team and Lansing yesterday defeated the locals 3 to 1. Lansing got to Teal in the first inning and three singles netted two runs. The fielding of Morrisey was the feature. Tecumseh's sole score came in the seventh inning when Slear singled, was sacrificed by Hillinger and scored on a three base hit by Merkle. Mitchell failed to hit, retiring the inning.

Today's Games.

Mt Clemens at Battle Creek; Lansing at Tecumseh; Kalamazoo at Flint.

Tecumseh starts playing again Friday and the 13th of the month at that, with Bay City, a team which has been strong against the Indians on the home grounds, but such dismal outlooks have no terrors for the pennant pinners. Tecumseh had a sad outlook a few weeks ago with Dallas, Tex., yanking away Railing, and Kip being pulled back by Grand Rapids and Merkle sweating over financial matters, but the spirit of Tecumseh has been from the beginning that this Southern Michigan pennant banner would look better at Tecumseh than in other cities of the league. And it will. In matters of baseball Tecumseh formed the habit years ago of getting the best in their class. Tecumseh skinned Mt. Clemens some years ago in the times of independent ball. If Tecumseh was in the American league, the pennant would fly over the Indian ball yard.

As a matter of fact there are more real baseball men to the square acre in Tecumseh than in any like territory in Uncle Sam's domain. They know the game, and better yet they know ball players when they see them and don't need to rely on the judgement of some baseball expert. They are experts themselves. Tecumseh knows how to run a ball team and for all these reasons and others that are not particularly interesting to mention the Indians are going to win the pennant, a prophecy which has been adhered to all season.

Tecumseh plays three games at Bay City and then returns home for two games with Lansing and two with Mt. Clemens before going to Kalamazoo for two games and one at Battle Creek. Tecumseh should try and clinch matters at Bay City and with the home games so that the pennant will be decided before the trip to Kalamazoo and Battle Creek.

Kalamazoo, the only team with a possible chance of bothering the Indians, plays Mt. Clemens today and two games Friday. Battle Creek is next entertained with two games by the Sox and the Sox next hit the road with two games at Flint and two at Lansing before Tecumseh visits Kalamazoo. Kalamazoo finishes the season with a game at Mt. Clemens.

Kalamazoo would have to win two-thirds of their games to come over Tecumseh on the basis that Tecumseh win but half their games, and Tecumseh will do better than that. There is but a chance of Kalamazoo ever reaching the Indians and that would only occur should Tecumseh take a slump while Kalamazoo hit up a hot winning battle.—Jackson Patriot, Sept. 12.

Michigan Football Team to report at Whitmore Lake next week.

According to the present plans of Coach Yost and Director Baird, Michigan's gridiron aspirants will report at Whitmore Lake early next week to begin work. Now that Michigan is free from the restrictions imposed by the Big Nine in affecting the football reforms, there is nothing to prevent the Wolverines holding early practice, as in the days of the unbeaten championship elevens.

The two weeks intervening before the opening of the college year will be devoted to running through simple formations, practicing kicking and most important, to getting the men into condition after their summer's relaxation. The chances for a winning team are this year much less dismal than at a corresponding date one year ago. "Germany" Schultz, conceded to be the best center in the country, has been restored to eligibility by virtue of a year's hard study and abstinence from athletics for an equal period. Consequently Yost will have the following veteran wearers of the "M" as anuclens: Captain Magoffin, Bishop and Workman, halfbacks; Schultz, center; Graham and Clement, guards; Rheinschild and Patrick, tackles; Harry Hammond and Loell, ends; besides several of last year's candidates who failed to win the "M," although they did good work in the smaller games.

Notable among these are Wright, tackle; Davis, end; and Embs, fullback. However, it is from the ineligibles of last year that Coach Yost intends to find the men to fill the gaps left by graduation and other causes. Casey, the giant tackle from Iowa normal; Douglass, a halfback from Depauw university; Flanagan, the star tackle on the championship fresh engineer team; Joy Miller, formerly a brilliant performer at D. U. S.; Allerdice, from Shortridge high school, Indianapolis; and Wasmund, the game little halfback from Lafayette university's eleven, who with Douglass, raised such havoc with the varsity's line last year—all of these men look good enough to compel some of the veterans to hustle for their jobs.

Quarterback is the one position which is causing worry. The most likely looking candidates are Allerdice, Bishop, Miller, Sullivan and Davey, the varsity quarter miler, who ran the scrubs in their scrimmages against the varsity last fall.

Although the Vanderbilt game at Nashville will cause considerable excitement, the work of the Michigan eleven throughout the season will be with the Pennsylvania game in view. The Quakers pay their return visit to Ann Arbor November 16 and one Fielding H. Yost is extremely anxious to wipe out the memory of that awful 17 to 0 affair of last year at Franklin field.

Health in the Canal Zone.

The high wages paid make it a mighty temptation to young artisans to join the force of skilled workmen needed to construct the Panama canal. Many are restrained by the fear of fevers and malaria. It is the knowing ones, those who have used Electric Bitters, who go with no fear, knowing they are safe from malarious influence with the bitters on hand. Cures blood poison too, biliousness, stomach, liver and kidney troubles. Guaranteed by C. A. Wright & Son, 50c.

We join his many friends in wishing him great success in his new field of labor and heartily recommend him to say in need of his services.—Clipton Local.

The 1st Ten Years,	- -	10 Cents
The 2nd Ten Years,	- -	15½ Cents
The 3rd Ten Years,	- -	16½ Cents

An average of only 14 cents per annum.

The total assessed valuation of the village is $1,450,000.00, and as there are 721 tax-payers in the village, the average assessment is but $2,000.00, entailing an average payment for the sewer, by each tax-payer of only $2.80 per annum, or an average for each person in our village of only 80 cents.

In view of these FACTS, can any reasonable person contend that Tecumseh can afford to exist without a sanitary sewer?

The advent of "Under Southern Skies" in our city should be a matter of much important to our theatregoers. The theme of the story is intensely interesting and the comedy is delightful. The acting company is especially large, numbering 27 people and the production is carried intact. "Under Southern Skies."

"Under Southern Skies," a beautiful dramatic story of the Southland of a generation ago is underlined for a production at the New Bradley Wednesday, Sept. 18. This play has met with remarkable success throughout the country and bids fair to outrival in longevity "Way Down East" which play made Lottie Blair Parker, the authoress of "Under Southern Skies," famous and wealthy.

A FINE LETTER

From

EX-MAYOR FRENSDORF

About the Benefits of the Sewer.

A few days since I wrote my friend, Ed Frensdorf, the following letter:

Tecumseh, Mich., Sept. 7, 1907.
Ed Frensdorf, Hudson, Mich.

Friend Ed:—When we were having the talk about the sewer question in Tecumseh Wightman stated in the HERALD that half of the sewer in Hudson, which had been recommended by Riggs & Sherman had been taken up and new put down. John Combs wrote to your present mayor and asked him if it was so and he said no. I asked Wightman where he got his authority and he said you, Ed Frensdorf, told him. Now if you will write me a letter stating that he was mistaken, or words to that effect, I will be much obliged to you, for this is what I understood you to say at Adrian the other day.

Yours Respectfully,
Geo. N. Stacy.

Last Wednesday I received from him the following reply:

Jamestown, N. Y. Sept., 11, 1007.
Mr. Geo. N. Stacy, Tecumseh, Mich.

My Dear Sir:—Your favor of the 7th inst. was forwarded to me here, and I take the first moment to make reply, and to correct the wrong impressions made on the mind of our friend, Wightman. The facts are, I could not have made the statements attributed to me truthfully, as the work done by Riggs & Sherman has been of the most satisfactory nature. My intention was to impress Mr. Wightman just the reverse of what I evidently did. I wished to have him understand that the growing demand for sewerage in our city was so great that Hudson was putting in a trunk sewer of 3 feet dimensions to take the place of a sewer or drain of 10 or 12 dimensions, constructed some 20 years ago; before our people realized the benefits and necessity of sewerage. Now the demand is so great that branches of these life-preservers are asked for, in fact, petitioned for, in almost every section of the city, and under the able supervision of Riggs & Sherman as engineers, I believe it will be but a few years before these extensions will be made, so nearly all will have access to a sewer.

It would seem silly, from my view point, to discuss the advisability, or even the necessity of a system of sewerage for your town or any other. No community can afford to be without it. The more enlightened parts of the world have them and use them while sanitary laws are enforced with the bayonet in countries where they are too ignorant to appreciate their uses. Your people cannot receive but a small portion of the benefit of your water works and therefore increase the revenue, while your operating expenses would remain about stationary.

Certainly the beautiful city of Tecumseh, so advanced in every other direction, cannot afford to do otherwise than provide its citizens with this much needed improvement. After it is once in you cannot find a man in the community who will admit that he opposed the sewer proposition.

Yours very truly,
Edw. Frensdorf.

According to the above it seems that it would be safe to take what our friend Wightman says with a grain of allowance.

Batty—Priestap.

Instead of awaiting the date set for their marriage in November, Miss Edna Batty, a former telephone operator, and Edward W. Priestap, a base ball player and son of ex-County Sheriff Priestap, went to Detroit Friday and were married. The only one told of their plans was Mrs. Batty. Mrs. Priestap is not superstitious and deliberately chose Friday, the thirteenth, for the ceremony.—Detroit Journal.

NO MORE CATARRAH.

C. A. Wright & Son will not allow it to exist in Tecumseh.

"There will be no more catarrh in Tecumseh," says C. A. Wright & Son, "unless people fail to follow the law of common sense."

C. A. Wright & Son make this statement because of the great success that has followed the use of Hy-o-mei in the treatment of catarrhal troubles. So positive is this treatment in quick relief and permanent cure that they sell it under an absolute guarantee to refund the money if it does not do all that is claimed for it.

There is no other treatment or medicine for catarrhal troubles that is at all like Hy-o-mei. It follows nature's plans in curing diseases of the throat and lungs by being healing medication right to the very spot where the disease germs exist. With this treatment, health-giving oils and balsams are breathed through a neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, so that every breath you take while using Hy-o-mei is a breath of healing air. It kills all catarrhal germs and prevents their growth, so that the cure is thorough and permanent.

Remember that Hy-o-mei is sold under a guarantee to cost nothing unless it cures. If you should have any catarrhal trouble, you should take advantage of C. A. Wright & Son's liberal offer.

TESTED AND PROVEN.

There is a heap of solace in being able to depend upon a well-earned reputation.

For months Tecumseh readers have seen the constant expression of praise for Doan's Kidney Pills and read about the good work they have done in this locality. Not another remedy ever produced such convincing proof or merit.

Wm. C. Witherell, living on West Chicago street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "In 1901, I gave a statement for publication telling how Doan's Kidney Pills had helped me, and I still hold the same high opinion of them. When I first used Doan's Kidney Pills, I was troubled with severe pains across my back and hips. If I attempted to stoop or straighten after stooping, sharp pains would dart through me and I would have to lie down. One time, I was laid up in bed for several days, just from my kidneys being so bad. I think the trouble was caused years ago by always being in bent-over position when I used to sheer sheep. I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and bought a box I received great benefit even from the first few doses so I continued using them when they had effected a cure. I am glad to say that the cure then made has proven permanent as I have not been troubled since. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills a number of times and will continue to do so."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's, and take no other.

You hear of germs in everything except whiskey and beer.

For any pain from top to toe, from any cause apply Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Pain can't stay where it is used.

It is extremely difficult to locate the origin of a long distance accusation.

Doan's Regulets cure constipation without griping, nausea, nor any weakening effect. Ask your druggist for them. 25 cents per box.

We don't mind getting it in the neck if our neighbors get it just as hard.

Healthy kidneys filter the impurities from the blood, and unless they do this good health is impossible. Foley's Kidney Cure makes sound kidneys and will positively cure all forms of kidney and bladder disease. It strengthens the whole system. Sold by all druggists in Tecumseh.

PROBING ACCIDENT.

Boston & Maine Railroad Officials Endeavoring to Lay Blame for Wreck.

Concord, N. H., Sept. 17.—The investigation by the officials of the Boston & Maine railroad of the collision of trains on the Concord division near Canaan Sunday, by which 25 passengers of the Quebec express lost their lives and 27 were injured, is occupying the entire time of the head of the system.

General Superintendent C. E. Lee and Assistant General Superintendent G. H. Foker of Boston, with William F. Ray, superintendent of the Concord division, examined the records in the train dispatcher's office here on Monday and also made a careful investigation at Canaan and other stations along the line of the Concord division, in an effort to determine just who was responsible for the blunder by which the two trains were brought together.

The proceedings of the examination were secret, but it is known that J. A. Crowley, the train dispatcher in this city, and Operator Greeley, the man who received the order from the train dispatcher at the station in Canaan, were particularly questioned. After the examination of these men at the office of Division Superintendent Ray, the railway officials, accompanied by Operator Greeley, left for the scene of the accident in a special train.

At Canaan the officials visited the wreck and examined the records of the operator at the station and then went on to White River Junction, stopping at various stations on the way to interview operators at these points.

Just what action will be taken by the authorities of Grafton county, in which the town of Canaan is located, has not been determined. County Solicitor M. D. Cobleigh of Lebanon, said that no move has been made as yet on the part of the state.

All the victims of the wreck have been identified.

Mrs. Chadwick Stricken Blind.

Columbus, O., Sept. 17.—Mrs. Cassie M. Chadwick, noted witch of finance, posing as Andrew Carnegie's natural daughter, swindled Ohio and eastern banks and capitalists out of millions in loans on bogus securities, was stricken with a nervous collapse at the penitentiary Monday which has left her blind. Her condition is serious and it is the opinion of the prison physician that she will never live to serve her ten years' sentence, two years of which she has completed.

DUTCH TEARS.

Peculiar Qualities of These Little Globules of Glass.

"It is a great wonder to me," said an old chemist, "why more boys do not take up chemical experiments as an amusement. Why, I can do things with the common materials of everyday life which really seem to be more magical to the uninitiated than any of the wonders that are ordinarily performed by magicians on the public stage. Some of them are so simple that by carrying them out at a parlor entertainment a bright boy could achieve the reputation of a magician. Now, there are those curious little bubbles of glass known variously as 'Prince Rupert's drops' and as 'Dutch tears.' Apparently they are merely little globules of glass with elongated tails made by heating a small glass rod in a flame and allowing the molten drops to fall into water. After they have cooled you may pound the thick part with a hammer or mallet, yet you cannot break them. On the other hand, if you break a little piece off their tails or touch any part of them with a quartz crystal they will disappear into the surrounding atmosphere quicker than snow will melt on a hot fire. To the person who doesn't know how this has happened the performance is so astonishing as to seem uncanny.—London Globe.

He Didn't Throw It.

"Miss Pechis," said Mr. Timmid at the other end of the sofa, "If I were to throw you a kiss I wonder what you'd say."

"Well," replied Miss Pechis, "I'd say you were the laziest man I ever saw."—Philadelphia Press.

Flight of the Butterflies.

One of the most beautiful sights in the world is the annual migration of butterflies across the isthmus of Panama. Where they come from or whither they go no one knows, and though many distinguished naturalists have attempted to solve the problem it is still as strange a mystery as it was to the first European traveler who observed it. Toward the end of June a few scattered specimens are discovered flitting out to sea, and as the days go by the number increase until about July 14 or 15 the sky is occasionally almost obscured by myriads of these frail insects.

SHAPED ALMOST ALIKE.

Striking Similiarity in Contour Between Italy and New Zealand.

Saving only for the fact that one is a peninsula and the other a group of islands by far the most striking similarity in contour exists between Italy and New Zealand. The resemblance of each of them to a high heeled Wellington boot is almost perfect. Cape dell' Armi and Cape Reinga form the toes of the two boots. The bay of Plenty, in New Zealand, and the gulf of Taranto, in Italy, form the instep, while Cape Runaway and Cape Santa Maria di Leuco are respectively the points of the heels. The general shape of the calf of the leg is also the same and so is the curve outward to the somewhat gouty looking toe.

The point of dissimilarity is of course the separation of North and South islands into two. It is easy, however, to see that if these two islands were somewhat raised they would become one and would then even more resemble the Italian peninsula than they do now. A comparison of the islands of Ireland and Sardinia will also show several points of resemblance, but this is nothing like so striking as it is in the case of the two widely separated portions of the world above mentioned.

Avoiding Temptation.

Cecil was much impressed by the Sunday school teacher's plea for missions and decided to save his pennies for the heathen. He made a great effort and failed once or twice. Then he prayed. Nerve Fag.

If You Waste Your Nerve Energy, After Awhile You Will Suffer For It.

You can waste nerve force by excess, over-work, worry, anxiety, etc.

You can weaken yourself by not eating proper food or securing sufficient rest to renew the nerve energy you use up.

The proper treatment, in addition to good phosphatic food, such as whole meal bread, prepared cereals, etc., is Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine.

This is as truly a brain and nerve food as any food you could eat, and besides, furnishes strength and tone of its own, which goes to the weakened nerve system, and sets it to rights.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is a refreshing, revitalizing tonic food-medicine for the brain and nerves. It reconstructs worn-out nerve tissue, and fills your languid brain with new life and vigor.

Dr. Miles' Nervine has made so many marvelous cures, of people so sick the doctors thought they were incurable, that it is today the standard medicine in many thousands of American homes.

The first bottle is guaranteed to help you, or druggist returns your money.

"The extreme heat, close confinement and intense mental strain incident to the banking business, has caused me to suffer with nervousness and insomnia. It gives me pleasure to say that I have used Dr. Miles' Nervine with very satisfactory results in the treatment of these affections. NEWS IN BRIEF.

While playing with a revolver, John B. Horton, six-years-old, living in Washington, Monday accidentally shot and killed his five-year-old friend, Robert L. Donaldson. The boys had been playing "hold-up."

Judge Sanborn, in the United States circuit court in Chicago, has decided that surety companies who sign bonds for postal employees, who take money from the mails, are responsible for the amount stolen. The decision was given in the case of the United States against the American Surety company, the latter having signed bonds for a postoffice employe who stole $40.

That Maxim Gorky and Mme. Andrieva, the woman who accompanied him on his trip to America, are now married, is the news brought from Europe by Harold MacGrath, the author, who arrived Monday in New York on the steamer Finland. Dr. MacGrath and his wife spent the summer on the island Capri, near where Gorky now lives, and he states positively that the marriage has taken place.

Acting upon the recommendation of Governor Post, the executive council of Porto Rico has decided upon compulsory vaccination in the island. Six hundred thousand vaccine points have been ordered, and the work will be started in the Guayama district, where varioloid is most prevalent. There have been no deaths from smallpox in Porto Rico since the Spanish-American war, when the American authorities had the whole island vaccinated. At one time deaths from smallpox were numerous.

Bumped His Pride.

There is a young man in Boston who can actually trace his family back two generations. His one failing is a desire to be thought a descendant of one of "the old families," and his studio—he says he is an artist—contains a number of heirlooms. One thing in which he takes particular pride is a Continental uniform complete in every detail, with flintlock and powder horn. He was showing this to a young lady the other day. "My great-grandfather wore this suit when he gave his life to his country during the brave days of the Revolution," he said. The young lady inspected the uniform carefully, but could find neither bullet hole nor saber cut. She turned to him, with a charming smile. "Oh, was the poor old gentleman drowned?" she asked.—Argonaut.

A Generous Joker.

Could you have been with me on top of one of the old horse drawn busses on a certain afternoon you would have seen a middle aged gentleman, slightly the worse for wine, take a couple of half sovereigns from his purse. Before him sat two little Eton boys in short jackets and diminutive beaver hats. With much chuckling, the gentleman, leaning forward, dropped his half sovereigns down their backs, next their shirts, and it would have done your heart good to have seen the expressions on the countenances of those boys after from dismay as the cold coins slipped down their spines to wonder and delight as, after much wriggling, each lad extracted the money from the vicinity of his sock.—Aubrey Lanston in Bohemian.

Gives Warning of a Storm.

In the bay of Biscay frequently during the autumn and winter in calm weather a heavy sea gets up and rolls in on the coast four and twenty hours before the gale which causes it arrives and of which it is the prelude. In this case the wave action, generated on the other side of the Atlantic by the wind, travels at a much greater rate than that of the body of disturbed air and thus gives warning of the coming storm.—Dundee Advertiser.

A Family Jar.

Wife—I don't know where that child got his vile temper from—not from me, I'm sure.

Husband (sadly)—No, my dear. You certainly haven't lost any of yours.

Will Play Series of Games.

Jackson, Mich., Sept. 17.—The bad blood that has existed between Battle Creek and Kalamazoo has culminated finally in the Battle Creek management notifying the Kalamazoo base ball club of the Southern Michigan league, that a certified check for $250 has been forwarded to Howard P. Hall of Kalamazoo as stakeholder for a series of seven games between these teams to be played immediately after the close of the Southern Michigan season. The challenge has been accepted by Kalamazoo and representatives of the teams will meet in Battle Creek to arrange details, although it has been already provided that the series commence Sept. 24, and games will be played alternately in the two towns; the odd game, if necessary, to be played where decided by lot.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect it.

Prevalency of Kidney Disease.

Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalency of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patient and physicians, who content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease undermines the system.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

"For over thirty years," writes a gentleman in Los Angeles, "I have used Arbuckles' Coffee. Many times my family has tried other coffee only to come back to our old reliable, unchangeable Arbuckles.' No other coffee has this uniform never failing aroma, I care not at what price. I have often wished I could tell you this." Many other people have the same opinion. Arbuckles' was the first roasted packaged coffee, and its sales exceed all the others put together. That it costs you less is due simply to our coffee business being so much greater than any competitors, in fact, it is larger than the next four largest firms in the world combined. We naturally can and actually do give better coffee in ARIOSA than anyone else can give for the price; Being the standard article it is sold at the narrowest margin of profit.

Some grocers will try to sell you instead loose coffee which the roaster is ashamed to sell in a package bearing his name.

Don't take it, neither the looks nor the price indicate its cup quality. No matter where you buy Arbuckles' ARIOSA, or what you pay for it, it's the same old uniform Arbuckles' ARIOSA Coffee.

If your grocer will not supply, write to ARBUCKLE BROS., New York City.

CAMP IN LOUISIANA.

President Plans to Have Seventeen Days of Pleasure.

GENUINE VACATION FOR HIM.

Chief Executive Proposes to Cut Himself Off Entirely From Outside World For Brief Time on His Southern Speech-Making Trip.

Oyster Bay, Sept. 20.—Far from the scene of official routine and free from the details attendant upon the responsibilities associated with the office of chief executive, President Roosevelt will enjoy seventeen days in camp. This is to be the nearest approach to a genuine vacation that the president has allowed himself. Though nominally on his vacation at Oyster Bay this summer, there have been but few hours in which official business of some sort has not intruded. A physical and mental recreation, as complete as his cares will permit, is now arranged.

President Roosevelt will pitch his camp in the northeastern corner of Louisiana, on or about October 5. The exact spot is yet to be determined. The plans provide for a "camping trip," but everyone who knows northeastern Louisiana knows that the cane brakes shelter game worthy of a huntsman of presidential calibre. Those who will have the good fortune to make pleasant the president's camp, expect that the monotony of camp life will occasionally be broken by a hunt.

While the details of the trip have not been thoroughly worked out, the main features have just been announced by Secretary Loeb. The president will leave Oyster Bay for Washington next Wednesday, and on the following Sunday will start on his western and southern speech-making tour. At Memphis, Tenn., on October 4, the speech-making program will be interrupted and the president will start for the camping grounds. He will break camp on October 21, going directly to Vicksburg, Miss., to make his promised speech there. The return to Washington will, immediately after, be begun, and the White House will be reached on the afternoon of October 23.

The president will be the guest while in camp of Civil Service Commissioner John A. McElhinny of New Iberia, La., and of John M. Parker of New Orleans.

Following the speech at Vicksburg, October 21, the president has consented to make an address at Hermitage, Tenn., on the following day.

New Orleans, Sept. 20.—The region where the president will probably hunt is the bayou Macon and Tensas swamps, semi-tropical jungles in Madison parish, near the Mississippi river, in northeastern Louisiana. In these swamps bear are numerous, deer abundant, and smaller game, from wild cats down to squirrels innumerable. A years ago a hunting party headed by Gov. Blanchard of Louisiana, killed forty deer in this section.

Bishop Berry Makes Denial.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 20.—Bishop Joseph F. Berry of Buffalo, who is in Milwaukee presiding over the conference of the German Methodists, and who has been quoted as criticizing President Roosevelt for partaking of intoxicating liquors in the home of Vice-President Fairbanks, at Indianapolis, denies that he ever made such a statement in Detroit. A statement issued by the bishop, says: "Bishop Berrp repudiates the interview widely published this week, in which he is said to have held President Roosevelt responsible for alleged liquor drinking in the vice-president's house while visiting in Indianapolis."

Seek Roosevelt's Aid.

New York, Sept. 20.—Conflicting reports regarding the possibility of an early settlement of the telegraphers' strike are current. From one unofficial source it has been given out that direct negotiations had been opened with President Roosevelt, seeking his aid to bring about arbitration. According to this authority, Percy Thomas, deputy vice-president of the national union, and Daniel L. Russell, former president of the New York local, had a two-hours' talk with the president at the latter's home in Oyster Bay on Wednesday last. This could not be confirmed.

Berrien County's Oldest Man Dies.

Niles, Mich., Sept. 20.—Elmer N. Peck, 97 years old, the oldest man in Berrien county, died here Wednesday, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Henry Beswick, with whom he has resided for the past six years. Deceased was born in Connecticut, Oct. 19, 1810.

BURNED TO WATER.

Steamer Majestic Destroyed on Lake Erie.

WAS OWNED IN DETROIT.

Crew Fought Flames Like Demons For Two Hours—Finally Had to Give Up and Take to Lifeboats—Vessel Was Built in Bay City.

Buffalo, Sept. 20.—Fire broke out on the steamer Majestic, of Detroit, shortly after 2 o'clock Thursday morning about 10 miles west of Long Point, in Lake Erie. Despite the efforts of Capt. H. J. Hagan of Detroit and his crew of 17 men, the vessel was burned to the water's edge and is a total loss. The vessel was owned by Timothy Hurley of Detroit.

Capt. Hagan and crew took to the lifeboats and were picked up an hour later by the steamer C. M. Tower and brought to Buffalo yesterday afternoon.

Capt. Hagan said last night: "When the fire broke out, I ordered all men to deck and to the pumps for the purpose of fighting the flames. One of our best lifeboats was in the forward part of the vessel and we were making desperate efforts to get at this boat. We fought the flames like demons for two hours, but the fire spread with threatening rapidity. We whistled for assistance and the steamer Tower came to our aid.

"The fire spread through the hold of the Majestic with great speed. It is a miracle that the Tower did not catch fire. Capt. Higgins of the Tower and his crew are deserving of much praise for their heroic efforts in coming to our aid."

The steamer Lewiston also ran alongside the flaming craft, but could be of no assistance.

The fire broke out in the steering engine room, and fanned by the stiff wind, spread from stem to stern of the doomed ship in a short time. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 20.—At the Detroit office of J. & T. Hurley it was stated that the Majestic was bound from Buffalo to Toledo, light, to load grain.

The Majestic was a wooden steamer, built at Bay City in 1889, was 291 feet over all, 40 feet beam and was 1,985 tons register and was valued at $50,000.

The Majestic was just out of drydock at Milwaukee, where extensive repairs had been made, as the result of her recent grounding near Sandusky.

Tried to Wreck M. C. Fast Train.

Bay City, Mich., Sept. 20.—A determined attempt to wreck the fast Michigan Central flyer, which leaves this city at 8:10, was made at a point near Zilwaukee, shortly before train time at that place Wednesday night. A railroad employe walking along the tracks discovered rails and ties piled on the path of the train. He secured a lantern and succeeded in stopping the passenger, which was traveling fully 50 miles an hour. Michigan Central officials are confident it was the work of tramps.

Beloved M. A. C. Professor Dead.

Lansing, Mich., September 20.—William B. Holdsworth, one of the oldest and best known members of the Michigan Agricultural college faculty, is dead. He was ill several years with tuberculosis. Mr. Holdsworth had been professor of drawing at the college 20 years, and was the oldest member, but one, of the faculty. He had been popular with the boys in the coming and going of many classes, being known among them as "Uncle Billy."

Hoboes Overrun the Country.

Carson City, Mich., Sept. 20.—A gang of hoboes appears to have descended on this section of Montcalm county for a raid. Two of the gang broke into Stevens' bazaar here at night, stole $4 and a diamond ring belonging to Mrs. Stevens. They were arrested. Farmers complain of chicken stealing and similar petty thievery, and officers are out with a posse trying to round up the others of the gang. There are supposed to be nearly a dozen of them, all told.

OWNS FOURTH STOCK.

Rockefeller's Oil Income Something Like $15,000,000 Year.

TRUST AGREEMENT IS AIRED.

Attorney Kellogg Learns Details of Its Organization—Forbidden Fields of Texas Likely Invaded Under the Name of Corsicana Refining Co.

New York, Sept. 20.—That the Standard Oil Co. is operating under the name of the Corsicana Refining Co., in the state of Texas, which has forbidden the oil combine to operate within the state, was indicated Thursday when Wesley H. Tilford, treasurer of the Standard Oil Co., under examination in the government's suit against the company, testified that H. C. Folger and C. M. Payne, whom Frank Kellogg, the attorney for the government, states control the Corsicana Refining company, are prominent in the conduct of affairs of the Standard Oil Co. Mr. Kellogg sought to draw from the witness the information that the Corsicana company was really a Standard Oil company and was operating in Texas because the anti-trust laws of that state would not permit the combine to operate it. Mr. Tilford replied that as far as he knew the Standard Oil Co. had no interests in Texas. He said that Mr. Folger and Mr. Payne were both officers of the Standard Oil Co., but he was not aware that they owned the Corsicana company.

Rockefeller's Income.

Another interesting development was the official statement made public for the first time Thursday, of John D. Rockefeller's personal holdings in the Standard Oil Co. Just to what extent the reputed head was individually interested in the great concern has long been a matter of speculation. It was brought out that Mr. Rockefeller owned 256,854 shares, of more than one-fourth of the total 972,500 certificates of the Standard Oil Co. Based in the earnings of the company as placed on record Tuesday, it is computed that Mr. Rockefeller's personal profits during the past eight years have aggregated almost $125,000,000, or over $15,000,000 per year. At Tuesday's hearing it was testified that in the years from 1899 to 1906, inclusive, the Standard Oil Co. had earned total profits of $490,315,931.

Frank Kellogg spent a busy day tracing the various changes in development of Standard Oil from the time of its inception in 1882, when the trust agreement was signed, until the trust was dissolved in 1899 and the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey was formed. Mr. Kellogg developed many of his questions from the trust agreement of 1882 which was contained in the bills of complaint filed in St. Louis last December, when the present action was commenced.

Trustees Held Stocks.

This trust agreement, which was entered into by John D. Rockefeller and forty-five other oil interests, provided that Standard Oil companies should be formed in Ohio, New York, Pennsylvanian and New Jersey and in other states whenever the trustees deemed advisable. All the properties and assets of the embraced corporations and companies were to be turned over to the several Standard Oil companies, which, in turn, issued their own stock in exchange. Under the terms of this trust agreement, all stock was to be delivered to nine trustees, who issued to the depositing stockholders trust certificates equal at par value to the par value of the several Standard Oil companies.

The nine trustees under the original agreement, were: John D. Rockefeller, O. H. Payne, William Rockefeller, J. A. Bostwick, H. M. Flagler, W. G. Warden, Charles Pratt, Benjamin Brewster and John Archbold. The trustees had absolute power in the control of the companies. They could purchase with the trust funds the stocks and bonds of other oil companies on such terms as they deemed advisable and could dispose of them whenever they considered it necessary. The trustees, who were elected to hold office three years, were balloted for by owners of trust certificates. The agreement further provided that the trust should continue during the lives of survivors of the trustees named in the agreement and for twenty one years thereafter.

J. P. Morgan Fined $155.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 20.—Convicted of having been caught with 13 illegally caught trout in the ice box of his Adirondack home, J. Pierpont Morgan was fined $155 by Justice of the Peace Harrington of Racquet lake. The fish were caught by some of his guests.

PLACED IN MAUSOLEUM.

President McKinley's Remains Transferred From Family Vault.

Canton, O., Sept. 20.—Side by side in the McKinley mausoleum in heavy duplicate bronze caskets, the bodies of President and Mrs. McKinley repose. The transfer of the president's casket was made from the vault in Westlawn cemetery to the receptacle in the mausoleum at 2:05 o'clock Thursday afternoon, six years to the day and hour since the funeral of President McKinley was held.

It was the original intention of the McKinley Memorial association to have the dedication Thursday, but owing to interruptions in the work of constructing the masoleum the date had to be made Sept. 30.

The transfer of the caskets, draped with an American flag, was witnessed by Justice Wm. R. Day, Judge H. W. Harter and Secretary Frederic S. Hartsom, of the McKinley Memorial association; Architect Magonig, John Bederman, for many years the McKinley coachman, and others. The photographers and sightseers were held back from the grounds by a detail of United States regulars. Six soldiers guard the masoleum and this detail will be kept until after the dedication.

LOST IN CANYON.

Mrs. Frank Joy, One of Longworth Party, Has Undesirable Experience.

Grand Canyon, Ariz., Sept. 20.—Mrs. Frank Joy, wife of Frank Joy of St. Louis, and a member of Congressman Nicholas Longworth's party, strolled into the woods here Wednesday, and becoming confused regarding directions, wandered away about 10 miles. The power plant whistle was sounded and a searching party of white men and several Navajo Indians found her in the Long Jim canyon about 9 o'clock in the evening, somewhat fatigued and badly frightened.

The incident caused considerable excitement. The Longworths left here later for the east.

Two Killed In Wreck.

Toledo, O., Sept. 20.—Limited car 146, on the Lake Shore Electric line, westbound from Cleveland, which is due to reach Toledo at 11:15, jumped the track at 11 o'clock Thursday morning at the transforming station on the Woodville road, four miles east of the city, killing two persons and injuring several others. Frank C. Barnes, the conductor, met instant death, and the motorman, Sam Jones, was badly injured. Amos Mierka, a barber, whose home is in Fremont, O., was also killed. He leaves a widow and children, and was 37 years old. Few of the passengers escaped without painful cuts and bruises, and it is expected a number of the seriously injured will die.

Lively Time With Robbers

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 20.—A section gang on the Grand Trunk railway, bowling through St. Johns on a handcar at an early hour Thursday morning discovered two men trying to break into the depot there. The section men surrounded the prowlers and gave battle. After a fierce fight they got the pair into an empty box car and locked them in. When a westbound freight came along a little later the car and its occupants and custodians were picked up and started for this city. Near Ada the robbers broke out of their traveling prison and the battle was renewed. This time the fellows got away. Word was sent to the city; two of the sheriff's deputies went out in an automobile. They chased over a large section of that part of the state, finally getting the quarry up against a fence, where another fight occurred. The pair were finally subdued and brought to the Kent county jail. They give the names of Marlow Benson and Albert Gonia. They will be taken back to Clinton county.

Gas Men Hear About Briquettes.

Battle Creek, Mich., Sept. 20.—Kalamazoo and Ludington are after the next convention of the Michigan Gas association and the decision has been held over for a day. Thursday afternoon R. W. Blauvelt of Detroit spoke on "Progress in fuel briquette manufacturing." He says the day is coming when America will use these briquettes almost universally for fuel. Already 30,000,000 tons are made and sold in Europe annually. His opinion is that while anthracite coal sells at $7 a ton, America will be able to get fuel briquette for half that sum or even less. William Seymour of Grand Rapids Afred H. White and Fred E. Parke, holders of the scholarships at Ann Arbor maintained by the Michigan Gas association, also spoke.

Deafness cannot be cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's catarrh cure. Send for circulars free.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by all druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

A young widow has a peculiar way of seeing a man without looking at him.

There are a great many people who have slight attacks of indigestion and dyspepsia nearly all the time. Their food may satisfy the appetite but it fails to nourish the body simply because the stomach is not in fit condition to do the work it is supposed to do. It can't digest the food you eat. The stomach should be given help. You ought to take something that will do the work your stomach can't do. Kodol for indigestion and dyspepsia, a combination of natural digestants and vegetable acids, digests the food itself and gives strength and health to the stomach. Pleasant to take. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

A man doesn't have to wear good clothes if he can afford not to.

One of the worst features of kidney trouble is that it is an insidious disease and before the victim realizes his danger he may have a fatal malady. Take Foley's Kidney Cure as the first sign of trouble as it corrects irregularities and prevents Bright's disease and diabetes. Sold by all druggists in Tecumseh.

Some men stand just inside the door ready to grasp opportunity by the back of the neck when it knocks.

Occasional headache, belching, bad taste in the mouth, lack of appetite and slight nervousness are symptoms of indigestion which, when allowed to go uncared for, will develop into a case of dyspepsia that will take a long time to get rid of. Don't neglect your stomach. At the first indication of trouble take something that will help it along in its work of digesting the food you eat. Kodol for indigestion and dyspepsia will do this. Kodol will make your food do you good and will enable you to enjoy what you eat. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

It's advice when you give it and a lecture when you receive it.

The new pure food and drug law.

We are now pleased to announce that Foley's Honey and Tar for coughs, colds and lung troubles is not effected by the national pure food and drug law as it contains no opiates or other harmful drugs, and we recommend it as a safe remedy for children and adults. Sold by all druggists in Tecumseh.

A real good man doesn't have to use words to tell it.

The way to get rid of a cold, whether it be a "bad cold" or just a little one, is to get it out of your system through the bowels. Nearly all cough cures, especially those that contain opiates, are constipating. Kennedy's laxative cough syrup contains no opiates and acts gently on the bowels. Pleasant to take. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

Many a man has been forced to ask for a handout because he was unable to get his hand in.

Cured hay fever and summer colds.

A. J. Nusbaum, Batesville, Ind., writes: "Last year I suffered for three months with a summer cold so distressing that it interfered with my business. I had many of the symptoms of hay fever, and a doctor's prescription did not reach my case, and I took several medicines which seemed to only aggravate my case. Fortunately I insisted upon having Foley's Honey and Tar in the yellow package and it quickly cured me. My wife has since used Foley's Honey and tar with the same success." Sold by all druggists in Tecumseh.

You can't always judge a man's pay by the work he does.

DeWitt's little early risers are good for any one who needs a pill. They are small, safe, sure, little pills that do not gripe or sicken. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

If death loved only a shining mark very few men would have cause to fear it.

Itching, bleeding, protruding or blind piles yield to Doan's ointment. Chronic cases soon relieved, finally cured. Druggists all sell it.

Dyspepsia is America's curse. Burdock Blood Bitters conquers dyspepsia every time. It drives out impurities, tones the stomach, restores perfect digestion, normal weight and good health.

MIXED IN THE THUNDER.

A Scene In "Macbeth" That Was Not on the Playbill.

It is related of Cooke, the actor, that when a youth, being without the necessary cash to pay for a seat "in front," he got behind the scenes one night and hid himself in a barrel. He had for companions two large cannon balls, but the youth, not being initiated into the mysteries of the place, did not suspect that cannon balls helped to make thunder in a barrel as well as in a twenty four pounder.

The play was "Macbeth," and in the first scene the thunder was required to give due effect to the situation of the crouching witches. It was not long ere the Jupiter Tonans of the theater, alias the property man, approached and seized the barrel, and the horror of the concealed boy may be imagined as the man proceeded to cover the open end with a piece of old carpet and tie it carefully to prevent the thunder from being split.

Cooke was profoundly and hideously silent. The machine was lifted by the brawny stage servitor and carried carefully to the side scene ready for rolling the thunder should rumble before its cue.

All was made ready, the witches took their places, amid flames of resin, the thunder bellowing, the barrel receded its balls with young Cooke and the cannon balls, the stage struck, en lad roared lustily, to the amusement of the thunderer, who neglected to stop the rolling machine, which entered on the stage, and Cooke, bursting off the carpet head of the barrel, appeared before the audience, to the horror of the weird sisters and to the hilarity of the spectators.—London Mail.

MUSHROOMS.

Those That Are Poisonous Always Carry the "Death Cup."

Mushrooms when poisonous are the most dangerous plants in existence, as there is no antidote for the poison. Without going into the intricacies of the edible "meadow" (Agaricus campestris), and the "horse" mushroom (Agaricus arvensis), which are among the most wholesome and valuable vegetables, and of the numerous other harmless and nutritious varieties, as distinguished by their dark spores from the poisonous kind with white spores, one rule of observation will preserve the health and safety of any one collecting wild mushrooms for eating. Without the use of a single technical term, the difference in poisonous and nonpoisonous mushrooms is easily shown, even to a novice. What botanists call the "death cup," the volva around the stipe, or, in plainer terms, the socket around the stem, is never absent from the deadly mushrooms. Sometimes it is distinct, well above ground, up around the lower part of the stem; then again it is below ground, but not attached to the stem so as to lose the cup shape, and sometimes it grows upon or is attached to the stem, giving it a bulbous, swollen base. Severely reject every plant that has a bulbous stem or the cup standing out around the stem. All edible and harmless mushrooms have straight stems, the same size from the root to the cap.—Georgia Torrey Denman in Good Housekeeping.

Mystification.

His weakness was prevarication. His wife detested lying and constantly urged him to mend his ways. One morning she said: "Will, see if you can't be perfectly truthful today. Don't tell a lie. Now, promise!" He promised and went away to work. When he came home to dinner, she said:

"Dear, did you keep your promise?"

"I did," he replied soberly.

Then he caught her in his arms.

"Darling," he cried, "I will not lie to you. When I said I had kept my promise to you, I did not tell the truth; but, believe me, that was the only lie I told all day."

For twenty-two seconds she was lost in perplexity. Then she gave it up; the problem was too deep for her.

The Part He Lost.

A New England man tells of a prosperous Connecticut farmer painfully exact in money matters who married a widow of Greenwich possessing in her own right the sum of $10,000. Shortly after the wedding a friend met the farmer, to whom he offered congratulations, at the same time observing, "It's a good thing for you, Malachi, a marriage that means $10,000 to you." "Not quite that, Bill," said the farmer; "not quite that." "Why," exclaimed the friend, "I understood there was every cent of $10,000 in it for you." "I had to pay $2 for a marriage license," said Malachi.

Gnawed His Way Out of Prison.

A burglar named Schaarschmidt, in prison at Gera, deliberately set to work to gnaw through a thick oaken beam in front of his cell window. It was a work of seven weeks. The fragments of wood which were torn away with his teeth he replaced with chewed bread until the beam was almost gnawed through. A final smashing noise was heard by the wardens, but before they could appear Schaarschmidt had escaped.—London Chronicle.

March 30 Italians to Jail.

Ludington, Mich., Sept. 20.—A gang of over 30 Italian laborers employed by the Anchor Salt Co., were rounded up by the entire police force Wednesday night and jailed after much excitement. The Italians displayed knives and revolvers. Several shots were fired, but nobody was hit. A big force of police surrounded the men and marched them to jail at the point of their revolvers. More excitement was caused during the night by an attempt to break jail. It was foiled by the vigilance of the guards. There is much feeling against the Italians, who may be forced to leave the city.

Many Marriagable Women Coming.

Liverpool, Sept. 20.—The remarkable exodus of marriageable young women from this country to the United States and Canada is emphasized by the departure Thursday of a thousand unmarried women on the steamer Baltic alone, while several hundred more were among the total of 5,000 passengers carried on three trans-Atlantic steamers which sailed Thursday.

YORKSHIRE PIES.

Here Is the Way They Were Made In the Olden Days.

The delicacy of the Yorkshire pies of olden days may be judged by the following recipe from an old fashioned cookery book: "First make a good standing crust, let the wall and bottom be very thick; bone a turkey, a goose, a fowl, a partridge and a pigeon; season them all very well; take half an ounce of mace, half an ounce of nutmegs, a quarter of an ounce of cloves and half an ounce of black pepper, all beat fine together; two large spoonfuls of salt, and then mix them together. Open the fowls all down the back and bone them, first the pigeon, then the partridge, cover them; then the fowl, then the goose and then the turkey, which must be large; season them all well first and lay them in the crust so that it will look only like a whole turkey; then have a hare ready cased and wiped with a clean cloth; cut it to pieces—that is, joint it; season it and lay it as close as you can on one side; on the other side woodcock, more game and what sort of wild fowl you can get. Season them well and lay them close; put at least four pounds of butter into the pie, then lay on your lid, which must be a very thick one, and let it be well baked. It must have a very hot oven and will take at least four hours." It is not surprising to find that a footnote adds that the crust requires a bushel of flour.—Chambers' Journal.

A CLEVER REPORTER.

He Got the Interview Word For Word and Took No Notes.

Interviewer—I have come to get your views on the proposed change in the curriculum of the school.

Mr. Swelhead—Curriculum! What's that mean? I'm against it, whatever it is.

Mr. Swelhead (reading the report of the interview in the next morning's paper)—"Our distinguished townsman, Mr. M. T. Swelhead, was found at his charming home, surrounded by abundant indications of ripe scholarship and sturdy common sense. In reply to our representative's questions he said, 'I do not desire to force my opinions upon the public, but this I will say, that I have given to this question long and studious attention, incidentally examining upon the curricula of institutions of learning, both at home and abroad, and, although I found in the existing course of study not a few matters for condemnation, still I cannot say that I should advise any radical change until I have further time to examine into the subject.'" By George, that fellow's got my exact language word for word. And he didn't take notes neither. Jiminy, but what a memory that fellow must have!—London Telegraph.

A London Lad's Prayer.

W. Pett Ridge, a London writer, made a London boy in one of his stories offer the following rather original prayer: "Lord, wilt thou 'ave the kindness to make me grow strong and tall and with plenty to say for meself, and wilt thou do this as soon as thou can find time, so's to save me expense and waste of money that might be used in other ways—say for a cricket bat? Believe me, Lord, thy obedient servant, A. Martin."

He rose. He was halfway into his blue flannel bed gown when an important idea occurred to him, and he knelt down again quickly.

"Should 'ave mentioned," he whispered, "Elfred Martin of 53 Cawstle street, jest over Surrey side of South'ark bridge."

Water Transportation Cheap.

Any class of water transportation is incomparably cheaper than land transportation, unless something better than the modern railroad is invented. For this reason the greater part of our domestic or inland tonnage has been and is carried by water and not by rail. For that reason the railways own the largest steamers on the lakes. The wheat trade was lost to the Mississippi, not by competition, but because the railroads did not bring it there. The Mississippi above Cairo is decadent, not for lack of ability to compete, but for lack of commerce, which is to say accessibility by means of its own tributaries.—Charles D. Stewart in Century.

Nothing Doing.

The musician was visibly annoyed.

"But, hang it all," he said, "I told your reporter three or four times over that the violin I used was a genuine Stradivarius, and here in his report this morning there's not a word—not a word!"

With a scornful laugh the editor replied:

"That is as it should be, sir. When Mr. Stradivarius gets his fiddles advertised in this paper under $2 a line, you come around and let me know."—Los Angeles Times.

A Fine Morning.

"Fine morning, your honor," affably remarked the man who had been arrested the night before for being drunk and disorderly.

"Yes, indeed," responded the justice, "quite a fine morning—in fact, a ten dollar fine morning."

The Value of Ridicule.

"A man," said Dr. Johnson, "should pass a part of his time with the laughers, by which I mean anything ridiculous or particular about him might be presented to his view and corrected."

Hague Conference Quits In October.

Washington, Sept. 20.—Mr. Choate, one of the American delegates to The Hague conference, has cabled to the state department that present indications were that the conference would adjourn, sine die, Oct. 5th, next. It is believed that the failure of the conference to adopt the American plan for a permanent court which would determine great international issues and gradually create an enduring body of international law has not been complete. According to they few expressed here, by the time the next conference is held the sentiment fostered among the delegats may be strong enough to cause them to consent to the creation of some kind of permanent tribunal.

Nominated for Governor.

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 20.—Supreme Court Justice John Franklin Fort was nominated for governor on the first ballot by the republican state convention last night. Justice Fort received 750 votes out of a total of 1,159.

WHEN NAPOLEON WALKED.

An Incident of the Tragic Retreat From Moscow.

It was on Nov. 25, at about 7 o'clock in the morning, when we saw the head of the column. The first we saw were generals, a few of whom were on horseback, but the majority on foot. The latter painfully dragged themselves along, almost all having their feet frozen and bound up in rags and pieces of sheepskin and dying of hunger. We then saw what was left of the cavalry of the guard. The emperor came next on foot, with a stick in his hand. He was muffled up in a large capote lined with fur and wore on his head an amaranthine velvet cap edged with black foxskin. On his right marched, also on foot, King Murat; on his left, Prince Eugene, viceroy of Italy; then Berthier, prince of Neufchatel; Ney, Mortier, Lefebvre and other marshals and generals whose corps had been partly destroyed.

They were followed by 700 to 800 officers and subofficers, marching in order and bearing in the greatest silence the eagles of the regiments to which they had belonged and that had so often led them to victory. They were the remnant of over 00,000 men. My poor Picart, who had not seen the army for a month, gazed on silently, but his convulsive movements showed only too well what he felt. I saw big tears roll down the cheeks and fall on his mustache, from which icicles were hanging. Then, turning to me, "Really, compatriot, I do not know whether I am asleep or awake; I weep because I have seen our emperor marching on foot, a stick in his hand—he that was so great and who has made us so proud!"—"Memoires of Sergeant Bourgogne."

FOREIGN MONEY.

A Showman's Experience With Counterfeit Coins In Naples.

"When you are abroad," said a tourist agent, "look out for counterfeit money. In France and Italy especially look out. There are a lot of small souled French and Italians who save up counterfeit money all the year to dump it on the tourist trade in the summer.

"I said to look out, but really that is impossible. An American tourist has his hands full just to count foreign money, with its centimes and lyres, its francs and centesimi, and when too often he is unable to count this money how can he detect counterfeits in it?

"Italy is the worst country, and it is safe to say that every tourist loses in bad money there 1 or 2 per cent of all that passes through his hands.

"When Buffalo Bill showed in Naples the audience was enormous, but the next day when the business manager went to bank the receipts of the night, lo and behold, over a thousand dollars in counterfeit money had been taken in.

"Buffalo Bill in person went and complained to the prefect, or chief of police.

"'They passed a thousand dollars on you in counterfeit?' said the prefect.

"'They did,' said Buffalo Bill bitterly.

Thunder In Various Regions.

Java is said to be the region of the globe where it thunders oftenest, having thunderstorms ninety-seven days in the year. After it are Sumatra, with eighty-six days; Hindustan, with fifty-six; Borneo, with fifty-four; the Gold Coast, with fifty-two, and Rio de Janeiro, with fifty-one. In Europe, Italy occupies the first place, with thirty-eight days of thunder, while France and southern Russia have sixteen days. Great Britain and Switzerland have each seven days, and Norway has four. Thunder is rare at Cairo, being heard only three days in the year, and extremely rare in northern Turkestan and the polar regions.

The "Dandy Horse."

The father of the bicycle tribe, the "dandy horse," was invented in 1818 by Baron von Draise of Paris. It consisted of two wheels about thirty inches in diameter running one in the wake of the other and connected by a beam of wood, upon which, half way from each end, was a saddle or perch, an arm rest in front completing the machine. It was propelled by kicking the ground with the right and left foot alternately. It was from such a crude affair that the modern bicycle was slowly evolved.

Taking No Chances.

The court appointed a young lawyer to defend a Georgia darky, but after the prisoner had looked the lawyer over he said:

"No, Mister Jedge, I reckon not. De las' time I got in de penitentiary I had a man dat look des lak him to defend me, so des leave him out de case en gimme ten years!"—Atlanta Constitution.

His Narrow Escape.

A jolly old steamboat captain with more girth than height was asked if he had ever had any very narrow escapes.

"Yes," he replied, his eyes twinkling, "once I fell off my boat at the mouth of Bear creek, and, although I'm an expert swimmer, I guess I'd be there now if it hadn't been for my crew. You see, the water was just deep enough so's to be over my head when I tried to wade out, and just shallow enough"—he gave his body an explanatory pat—"so that whenever I tried to swim out I dragged bottom."—Everybody's.

Horrible Example.

"My dear," said Mrs. Strongmind, "I want you to accompany me to the town hall tomorrow evening."

"What for?" queried the meek and lowly other half of the combine.

"I am to lecture on the 'Dark Side of Married Life,'" explained Mrs. S., "and I want you to sit on the platform and pose as one of the illustrations."—Chicago News.

Hillinger flew out to second base and Wagner singled scoring Somerlott.

Teal of Ridgeway, pitched the entire game, allowing but two hits striking out seven men. This was the last game for Tecumseh on home grounds this season and Tecumseh fans considered the game a fitting close for the season of 1907.

A Letter.

Walkerville, Ont., Sept. 17, 1907.

Geo. Stacy, Tecumseh, Mich.

FRIEND STACY:—Last evening after going to my room I felt so much interested in the sewer question, I scribled a letter expressing my honest sentiments. I do not wish to be conspicuous in the press though if you can get anything out of it to do any good in promoting the sewer you can do so.

Yours very truly,
D. P. ANTAONY.

Walkerville, Ont., Sept. 16, 1907.

EDITOR TECUMSEH HERALD:—

Business calls me out of town through the week, although I always spend Sundays at my home in Tecumseh. I have read the controversy over the sewer question. I really cannot understand how any voter that has any interest in the future welfare of our beautiful village can oppose such a healthful improvement. I have had occasion to visit most of the towns and cities in the adjoining states and Tecumseh is the nearest an ideal spot, all things considered, for a home of any inland town I ever visited. If we only had the improvements and I believe if we had a good system there could be enough well to do people induced to come and build enough permanent and summer homes to add enough taxable property to pay nearly if not all the cost.

Base ball is the popular sport of the country today and Tecumseh has a team this season that would be a credit to a large city. They have advertised the town creditably and it is the best time we will ever see to follow it up in a business way. The cess pools that are being put in are a dangerous menace to health and should not be tolerated. I am informed the bottom of most of the cess pools are within ten feet of the water that feeds our well and all in course gravel. For humanity sake and the general welfare of the future generation lets all turn out and vote for the sewer.

John Lowry.

The community mourns the loss by death of one of her most promising young men. While at his work as brakeman on the D. T. & I. railroad, through some one's carelessness, the train on which he was working ran upon him and crushed out his life. The news of his death was a shock to the whole community where he has always lived and was well known as an honest, ambitious, faithful boy. But seventeen years old, he had been working on the road scarce two months when death came. On the afternoon he had visited his parents as his train went through and expressed himself to his mother as not wishing longer to continue railroad work.

"Johnie" was a christian boy, a member of the Presbyterian church and Sunday school. He was loved and respected by all his teachers and companions before whom he lived the happy glad life of a true christian gentleman. The loss of young men such as he is a loss to the whole village. At the funeral a large crowd of sympathizing friends paid their tribute of praise to his memory. The floral tributes from loving friends were very many and beautiful. His body was laid to rest in Brookside. Dying in the faith of his Savior, our boy is safe with his Master, where he enjoys the reward of God's children.

Why should our tears in sorrow flow
When God recalls his own
And bids them leave the world of woe
For an immortal crown.

Is not o'en death a gain to those Whose life to God was given,
Gladly to earth their eyes they close
To open them in Heaven.

Their toils are past, their work is done
And they are fully blest,
They fought the fight, the vic'try won
And entered into rest.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our sincere thanks to the many kind friends and neighbors who assisted us in our sad bereavement also to the members of the Presbyterian choir and those who contributed the beautiful floral offering. MR. AND MRS. WM. LOWRY AND FAMILY.

OUR NATIONAL DANGER

Time to cry a halt before a panic comes.

The business spirit is crushing out the sweeter element of home life. We are in danger of a great commercial decline, because men, as a whole, think only of getting wealth.

There are thousands, both men and women, who do not take time to eat properly. They rush through life and as a result we have an age of indigestion, nervousness, irritability, sleepless nights and morose disposition. There is not much difference between downright suicide and the way some people disregard unmistakable signs of stomach trouble.

With the great advance in the knowledge of digestion and nutrition, resulting in the discovery of Mi-o-na tablets, there is no longer any excuse for one to have ill health from stomach weakness.

Mi-o-na strengthens the walls of the stomach, stimulates secretion of the digestive juices, regulates the liver and restores muscular contraction to the intestines and bowels, so no laxative is needed.

Sick headaches, palpitation, bad taste in the mouth, yellow skin, irritability, coated tongue and melancholy are a few of the many distressing results of indigestion. Mi-o-na never fails to dispel all these troubles. It is a scientific preparation guaranteed under the Pure Food Law by No. 1418.

C. A. Wright & Son sells Mi-o-na in 50-cent boxes and guarantee to refund the money if the remedy does not give complete satisfaction.

If it wasn't for vanity a lot of hairdressers would be out of work.

You have to sell advice to make anybody believe it is worth following.

Why you should buy a

Deering Corn Binder.

1. It is the only machine tha will bind the corn laying down which is the only correct way to prevent corn from geing knocked off the stalk.

2. It will pick up the small and down corn better than any machine made.

3. It has a gear drive instead of a chain drive which prevents picking up weeds and trash.

4. As machinery will positively be higher (because of high price of material and labor) you can save $15.00 by buying this fall. Come in and talk it over.

What the Sewer Will Cost You

Per Annum for Each $100 of Your Assessment.

The 1st Ten Years,	- -	10 Cents
The 2nd Ten Years,	- -	15½ Cents
The 3rd Ten Years,	- -	16½ Cents

An average of only 14 cents per annum.

The total assessed valuation of the village is $1,450,000.00, and as there are 721 tax-payers in the village, the average assessment is but $2,000.00, entailing an average payment for the sewer, by each tax-payer of only $2.80 per annum, or an average for each person in our village of only 80 cents.

In view of these FACTS, can any reasonable person contend that Tecumseh can afford to exist without a sanitary sewer?

Tecumseh, Mich., Sept. 19, 1907.

DEAR EDITOR:—May I ask for a few lines space in your paper for just one word on the sewer question? It has come to me that a good many who are otherwise favorable to the sewer proposition are fearful that the Common Council would arbitrarily require all property owners in the village to make connection with the sewer as soon as built.

Being in position to know the sentiment of the Council, I wish to say that this is an entirely erroneous impression. It is not the intention of the Council to take any such arbitrary action and residence property owners will not be required to connect with the sewer except as individual cases arise where conditions become obnoxious and threatening to public health; the Council relying upon the good sense and progressiveness of the citizens to make general use of the sewer as soon as conditions require and their circumstances permit.

Sincerely,
FRED B. WOOD.

100 PROMINENT CITIZENS

And the Amounts they will Annually Contribute during the next Ten Years to the SEWER FUND.

From a perusal of the following list, taken at random, from every section of the village, it is apparent that the amount of tax levied against any individual is extremely small.

Even the most wealthy of our towns men will be called upon for very modest amounts, as compared with their known wealth, while the moderate and small tax payer will have so very little to pay that he will scarcely notice it. But no voter should lose sight of the fact that the benefit to be realized from the sewer is the same to every inhabitant of the village, whether he pay a tax of 50 cents or 50 dollars.

In fact, it may be said that this proposed sewer is for the "masses" rather than for the "classes."

There are in Tecumseh, 186 tax-payers, out of a total of 703, who, being assessed at $1,500 or less, will each be compelled to contribute not more than one dollar and a half per annum, the actual average for the entire 186 persons being 70 cents.

The brunt of the tax will fall on those who can most easily pay, there being 44 individuals and firms who will annually contribute more than 10 per ct. of the $1,458.00 required annually. Reference to the following list will disclose the fact that our most public spirited citizens are among this number, and they will gladly contribute from their accumulated wealth for the good of all.

NOTE: Mr. Wightman will now avoid the payment of even this sixty cents, having recently transferred the real estate on which that tax would be levied.

So much misapprehension in regard to the actual individual expense attending the installation of a sewer has been purposely engendered by those prejudiced against it, that the above list has been published to show the REAL situation. These figures are ABSOLUTELY CORRECT and you can defy any opponent of the sewer to prove the contrary. Ten years is a considerable period and for purposes of convenience the rate applying during that period is here taken. During the balance of the period a higher rate will apply but the average for the entire period of 20 years is only 14 cents, which will, in all probability, be reduced as the waterworks bonds mature and funds being thereon applied now can be otherwise utilized.

The smallest dogs bark the loudest, and that saying is no better proven than in this particular contest. The four men who are waging the most bitter campaign against this village improvement are obligated, under the present assessment roll, should the improvement be authorized, to pay an AGGREGATE ANNUAL TOTAL OF $14.50.

They talk about a raise in rents, should the proposition carry, but they fail to speak of the immense amount of labor to be provided our home laborers by the construction of the sewer, and they fail to explain why a rent should be raised that is paid for the use of property that will bear less than a dollar and a half extra tax per annum. It would be a very "cheap" landlord that would make that an excuse to raise his tenant's rent.

They talk too, about the Council compelling every one to go to the immediate expense of connecting with the sewer, but the Council have no such intention. Compulsory connection WILL NOT be enforced unless an outhouse or cess pool becomes obnoxious in the judgement of the Board of Health, and then it should be abolished, and the Board of Health will have an efficient remedy at their command.

Vote YES for the sewer and you will have done a great service for yourself, your posterity and your village.

Notice to the Public.

The physicians whose names are hereto attached wish to announce the formation of "The Physicians' Protective and Fraternal League of Northern Lenawee," the object of the organization being the establishment of a closer fraternal spirit and a uniform fee-bill. In this field we are doing business at the same prices that prevailed 25 years ago, while practically everything we have to buy is from 50 to 100 per cent more. The cost of living having increased 50 to 100 per cent we think we are justified in increasing our prices 25 to 50 per cent. This does justice to both physician and patron for in order to render the best service the doctor must be well equipped with the necessaries with which to do. A printed fee-bill in extenso will be posted in each of our offices, becoming effective October 1, 1907. The following selections from the same will show the most important changes in prices:

Day visit within 1 mile of center of village, $1.25.

Visit beyond 1 mile and not over 1½ miles, $1.50.

Visit beyond 1½ miles and not over 2 miles, $1.75.

Visit beyond 2 miles and not over 2½ miles, $2.00.

Visit beyond 2½ miles and not over 3 miles, $2.50.

Visit beyond 3 miles, add 25 cents for each additional mile.

Night visit (9 p. m. to 6 a. m.) within mile limit, $2.00.

Night visit beyond mile limit, add $1.00 to above price.

Ordinary office prescription and medicine, $.75.

TESTED AND PROVEN

There is a heap of solace in being able to depend upon a well-earned reputation.

For months Tecumseh readers have seen the constant expression of praise for Doan's Kidney Pills and read about the good work they have done in this locality. Not another remedy ever produced such convincing proof or merit.

Wm C. Wittderoff, living on west Chicago street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "In 1901, I gave a statement for publication telling how Doan's Kidney Pills had helped me, and I still hold the same high opinion of them. When I first used Doan's Kidney Pills, I was troubled with severe pains across my back and hips. If I attempted to stoop or straighten after stooping, sharp pains would dart through me and I would have to lie down. One time, I was laid up in bed for several days, just from my kidneys being so bad. I think the trouble was caused years ago by always being in bent-over position when I used to sheer sheep. I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and bought a box. I received great benefit even from the first few doses so I continued using them when they had effected a cure. I am glad to say that the cure then made has proven permanent as I have not been troubled since. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills a number of times and will continue to do so."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's, and take no other.

You hear of germs in everything except whiskey and beer.

Doan's Regulets cure constipation without griping, nausea, nor any weakening effect. Ask your druggist for them. 25 cents per box.

We don't mind getting it in the neck if our neighbors get it just as hard.

Healthy kidneys filter the impurities from the blood, and unless they do this good health is impossible. Foley's Kidney Cure makes sound kidneys and will positively cure all forms of kidney and bladder disease. It strengthens the whole system. Sold by all druggists in Tecumseh.

The young man who uses scented stationery might as well have long curly hair and play a mandolin.

It must be a cold calculating job to be an auditor for an ice company.

There's a reason for that ache in your back—right where it "stitches" every time you bend over, turn around or walk any distance. It's your kidneys. Take DeWitt's kidney and bladder pills. They are unequaled for backache, weak kidneys and inflammation of the bladder. A week's treatment 25 cents. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

THIRTY-FOUR KILLED.

Accident on Japanese Battleship Was Due to Flareback.

Washington, Sept. 20.—The official report of the accident on the battleship Kashima (Japanese) has been supplemented by a cabled account from the Japanese navy department of the cause of the explosion. This was brought to the navy department on Thursday by Mr. Masuoka, who is acting as ambassador, and called personally upon Secretary Metcalf to return the thanks of his government for the kindly expression of sympathy extended by the American government. The cabled account of the Kashima explosion follows:

"On the 14th instant, during target practice on board H. M. S. Kashima, explosion of charge occurred in the turret of the starboard after 10-inch gun. The cause of the explosion is not clearly ascertainable, owing to the fact that all officers and men on the spot have either been killed or so severely wounded, but, according to the statement of a man who left the turret just a moment before the explosion took place, it appears that when the accident occurred the gun in question had already been twice fired. A new projectile was rammed and the charges were placed in position for the third fire, but the breech lock had not been closed, when the said charge, catching fire from the backflare, set on fire the charge for the fourth projectile which was at the back of the gun. The projectile remained in the loading position. There was but little damage done either to the ship, the gun or the carriage. The number killed is: Officers and warrant officers, 7; petty officers and men, 27. The wounded number eight.

Singer Attempts Suicide.

Battle Creek, Mich., Sept. 20.—A. Lamont Fogg, a prominent local singer and club man, shot himself fatally through the head Thursday afternoon. The bullet entered above the right ear and went out above the left one. Fogg had sung as a baritone in Chicago, Detroit and Ontario, and was regularly engaged at the Independent Congregational church here. His wife, who was Miss Della Shearer of Jackson, a violinist, had recently sued Fogg for divorce, charging cruelty, and Fogg had filed a cross bill making the same charge. The couple have two children.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect it.

Prevalency of Kidney Disease.

Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalency of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are, almost the last recognized by patient and physicians, who content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease undermines the system.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

PILES CAN BE CURED

Both internal and external piles quickly yield to our "special method" of treatment which is known to but a few Physicians of wide research and experience in the treatment of Piles or Hemorrhoids. Internal Piles consist of a tuft of capillaries, which bleed profusely when the patient is constipated.

External Piles are nothing more or less than tags of protruding skin, easily inflamed, very painful, and itch intensely at times. Piles are the result of an inactive liver, or constipation, sometimes both.

W. D. S. Pills remove the primary cause by regulating the liver and bowels and thereby assist Wonderful Dream Salve in reducing the congestion and soreness. Wonderful Dream Salve draws out all the inflammation, and heals the diseased parts without pain, loss of time or inconvenience.

Our "Special Method" mailed free to those purchasing Wonderful Dream Salve and W. D. S. Pills for the treatment of Piles.

If this combination internal and external treatment fails to cure, your money will be refunded. 10c, 25c and $1.00. Guaranteed under the "Food and Drugs Act."

FLAT TENANTS FIGHT.

Grand Rapids Man is Shot and Woman Arrested.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 20.—Boyd Walls, aged 46, a Pere Marquette fireman, was shot and fatally wounded shortly after 7 o'clock last night, and Mrs. Ida McParland, aged 24, who occupied the flat above that of Walls on Fourth avenue, is being held by the police to wait the result of Walls' injury.

Walls was removed to St. Mary's hospital in an ambulance, where the bullet was found to have entered the left breast and lodged in the muscles of the back. Medical attendants held out small hope of his recovery.

Walls had recently moved here from Traverse City, and formerly lived in Denver, Colo. Bad feeling had been manifest between the two families from the date of Walls' occupancy of the lower flat, which culminated last in a fight between the two men, when it is alleged, McParland accused Walls of stealing fuel. Mrs. McParland claims to have been assaulted by Walls.

CHARACTER DIDN'T COUNT.

Pontiac Man Convicted of Assault With Intent to Rob.

Owosso, Mich., Sept. 20.—Leon Irish of Pontiac was Thursday afternoon found guilty by a jury in the circuit court at Corunna, of assault with intent to rob, committed in June in Durand on George Augus, a Bohemian Beet weeder. Irish put up a remarkable defense, a dozen prominent citizens of Pontiac, among them Chief of Police Cloonan, swearing positively that his character and general reputation are of the best.

Augus, who can speak no English, declared most positively that Irish was the assailant, whose attack left him hovering between life and death for several days. Irish will be sentenced Monday.

It is estimated that there are 70,000,000 Europeans who wear wooden shoes. Basswood is ordinarily employed for sabots, but willow is the best material.

Noted Spiritualist Dies in Poorhouse.

Jackson, Mich., Sept. 20.—Mrs. Abbie Roy, 53 years old, is dead at the county house. She was for years known in various states of the west as a spiritualistic soothsayer. She was taken ill in Detroit a few weeks ago and as she was a resident of Jackson was brought here. Local spiritualists could not afford to support her, but they will bury her. She leaves no known relatives.

Brakeman Killed.

Mt. Clemens, Mich., Sept. 20.—Frederick Meitzer, a brakeman, 27 years old, was instantly killed at Chesterfield, four miles from here on the Grand Trunk, Thursday afternoon. Meitzer, whose home is supposed to be in Detroit, stumbled as he was making a coupling and fell under the wheels of a train. The body was mangled beyond recognition.

BEST AND BIGGEST

Little town on earth celebrated last evening.

PENNANT WINNERS

Of the South Michigan base ball league are honored.

The South Michigan League season is at an end and the Tecumseh Indians, the pennant winners, are leaving today for their homes. They returned to Tecumseh Sunday evening from Battle Creek, where the final game was played and lost to the Food City men. Tecumseh had the pennant cinched by 55 points before starting on their last trip. Two games were played with Kalamazoo, the Indians losing on Friday by a score of 5 and 0.

But on Saturday the tables turned and Tecumseh won out, the score standing 5 and 2 and after losing Sunday's game to Battle Creek, the Indians still have 53 points ahead. Sunday evening to honor the base ball boys return home as they rode into a town on the 9:06 train, the city seemed to be ablaze with red lights

The Indians have held first place in the league during the entire season, except one day. Kalamazoo has at times been threatening as a second, but the home team have not been discouraged and have at last won out. Battle Creek is but 6 points below Kazoo.

The wind up of the base ball season occurred last evening. A banquet was given in honor of the pennant winners at Witherell hall and 80 of the base ball fans feasted with the base ball men. J. M. Hiens catered. At the banquet F. B. Wood was toastmaster and all responded to toasts. A jolly time was enjoyed by everyone. Willett's orchestra of Adrian furnished the music.

On the street during the evening great fireworks were displayed, the village was fairly ablaze. The Tecumseh band helped with the jubilee, rendering several selections, a band stand having been erected during the afternoon on the four corners. The "biggest little town on earth" was celebrating last evening to honor her pennant winners of the South Michigan base ball league and the sewer proposition which the village carried yesterday.

Deafness cannot be cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's catarrh cure. Send for circulars free.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

A young widow has a peculiar way of seeing a man without looking at him.

There are a great many people who have slight attacks of indigestion and dyspepsia nearly all the time. Their food may satisfy the appetite but it fails to nourish the body simply because the stomach is not in fit condition to do the work it is supposed to do. It can't digest the food you eat. The stomach should be given help. You ought to take something that will do the work your stomach can't do. Kodol for indigestion and dyspepsia, a combination of natural digestants and vegetable acids, digests the food itself and gives strength and health to the stomach. Pleasant to take. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

A man doesn't have to wear good clothes if he can afford not to.

One of the worst features of kidney trouble is that it is an insidious disease and before the victim realizes his danger he may have a fatal malady. Take Foley's Kidney Cure as the first sign of trouble as it corrects irregularities and prevents Bright's disease and diabetes. Sold by all druggists in Tecumseh.

Some men stand just inside the door ready to grasp opportunity by the back of the neck when it knocks.

Occasional headache, belching, bad taste in the mouth, lack of appetite and slight nervousness are symptoms of indigestion which, when allowed to go uncured, for will develop into a case of dyspepsia that will take a long time to get rid of. Don't neglect your stomach. At the first indication of trouble take something that will help it along in its work of digesting the food you eat. Kodol for indigestion and dyspepsia will do this. Kodol will make your food do you good and will enable you to enjoy what you eat. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

It's advice when you give it and a lecture when you receive it.

The new pure food and drug law.

We are now pleased to announce that Foley's Honey and Tar for coughs, colds and lung troubles is not effected by the national pure food and drug law as it contains no opiates or other harmful drugs, and we recommend it as a safe remedy for children and adults. Sold by all druggists in Tecumseh.

A real good man doesn't have to use words to tell it.

The way to get rid of a cold, whether it be a "bad cold" or just a little one, is to get it out of your system through the bowels. Nearly all cough cures, especially those that contain opiates, are constipating. Kennedy's laxative cough syrup contains no opiates and acts gently on the bowels. Pleasant to take. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

Many a man has been forced to ask for a handout because he was unable to get his hand in.

Cured hay fever and summer colds.

A. J. Nusbaum, Batesville, Ind., writes: "Last year I suffered for three months with a summer cold so distressing that it interfered with my business. I had many of the symptoms of hay-fever, and a doctor's prescription did not reach my case, and I took several medicines which seemed to only aggravate my case. Fortunately I insisted upon having Foley's Honey and Tar in the yellow package and it quickly cured me. My wife has since used Foley's Honey and tar with the same success." Sold by all druggists in Tecumseh.

You can't always judge a man's pay by the work he does.

VICTORY FOR FRANCE

Fighting Moroccan Tribes Accept Terms of Peace.

WAR IS OVER IN AFRICA.

French Have Fought Valiently Since July 30 in Effort to Carry Out Algeciras Agreement—Spain Took But Minor Part.

Paris, Sept. 24.—Peace has been declared in Morocco. The delegates of three important tribes have accepted the French peace overtures inaugurated Monday, and will see that the terms of the agreement are carried out. Hostilities are now at an end.

The government at last evening received with great satisfaction a dispatch from Rear Admiral Philibert, the commander of the French naval forces in Moroccan waters, saying that as a result of the conference, Monday at Ben Drudo, headquarters between the French naval and military commanders and the caids, representing the Ouleseeyan, Zenata and Zyaida tribes, the three tribes have accepted unconditionally the peace terms offered by France. These are as follows:

The Terms:

Hostilities shall cease from today; Gen. Drude may make military reconnaissances throughout the territory of the three tribes to satisfy himself that the pacification is complete; the tribes engage themselves to disperse and chastise all armed bodies that may assemble in their territory with hostile intent; every native found in the possession of arms or munitions of war within 10 miles of Casablanca shall be handed over to the sheriffian authorities, condemned to imprisonment and fined $200; the tribes shall be held responsible for the carrying out of the previous stipulation, every native detected in smuggling or using arms shall be punished; the delegates of the tribes undertake to surrender the authors of outrages upon Europeans of July 30, and, pending judgment, their goods shall be seized and sold irrespective of the indemnity which is to be paid, the amount of which shall be fixed by the Moroccan government; the Chaula tribes shall pay a large indemnity, the part of each tribe to be apportioned according to the length of time it resisted the French. In addition, the Chaoula tribes shall pay a contribution toward the harbor works at Casablanca.

To secure the carrying out of this convention, two notables of each tribe shall be given up as hostages. The delegates of the Ouleseeyan, Zenata and Zyaida tribes immediately named their hostages and signed the capitulation.

The campaign which France has just brought to a successful close in Morocco was inaugurated early in August, under the mandate given to both France and Spain by the Algeciras agreement to maintain proper police regulations in the seaports of Morocco.

Europeans Murdered.

The direct cause of the movement was the murder on July 30, of seven Europeans at Casablanca. France and Spain acted with the consent of the powers and no power interfered with their operations, although at one time Germany gave evidence that she viewed the landing of a numerous French force in Morocco with apprehension, not to say distrust.

Spain took but a minor part in the campaign, and the major share of the credit for putting down the turbulent Arab tribesmen undoubtedly belongs to France.

Disorder and anarchy had reigned in Morocco for some time previous to the Casablanca massacre. The sultan, Ab-del-Aziz, had practically no control of a large section of his territory.

With peace, France and Spain will go ahead with the work of establishing an adequate police force in the Moroccan seaports.

For the sultan of Morocco, Ab-del-Aziz, the situation is still serious. He faces a strong movement led by his brother, Mulai Hafid, to wrest the throne from him; the disloyalty of his tribesmen is increasing, and the infliction of punishments and the collection of indemnities through the French doubtless will add to his unpopularity among his own people. His tedency toward western ideas is far too strong to suit them already.

Drawn Into Machinery; May Die.

Port Huron, Mich., Sept. 24.—While repairing a belt in the Livingston Flax mills at Yale Monday, Angus Johnson, 77, was caught and drawn part way into the machinery before fellow-employes could throw off the power. One arm was fractured in two or three places and crushed, and his shoulder broken, besides bruises about his head and chest. Physicians say he may die.

Dies in Car Seat.

Battle Creek, Mich., Sept. 24.—After getting on a Grand Trunk train to return to Owosso, Mrs. Jerome Markham, an elderly lady, fell dead in a car seat Monday morning. Her daughter, whom she had been visiting and who had accompanied her to the train was overcome with the shock. Her body will be returned to Owosso.

The Owe Sheridans.

Richard Brinsley Butler Sheridan, the great Irishman, was all his life long in dire straits for money, and when he died in 1816 the bailiffs were actually in possession of his house. Sheridan's forbears had been O'Sheridans.

"Why," asked on one occasion his little son—"why have we not the O' as well as they?"

"Heaven only knows," was the father's reply. "We ought to have it, for we owe everybody."

FISH CALLS FOR HELP.

Would Rescue Illinois Central From Harriman Crowd.

HE ASKS FOR PROXIES.

Tells of Stuffing of Treasury Box in Order That Good Showing May Be Made—Four Directors Soon to Be Elected.

New York, Sept. 24.—Stuyvesant Fish, former president of the Illinois Central railroad, made public Monday a circular, reading in part, as follows:

To the stockholders of the Illinois Central Railroad Co.:

"The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Illinois Central Railroad Co. is to be held in Chicago on Wednesday, Oct. 16, 1907.

"For 30 years I have served as a director and as an officer and during 20 of them as president. The confidence thus bestowed upon me imposes an obligation to deal candidly with you respecting the affairs of the corporation. I had expected to quietly retire at the ensuing meeting, but many stockholders have, without solicitation, sent me their proxies and many others have asked me for some word regarding the recent management of the corporation.

"At the forthcoming election, four directors are to be chosen, three of them to succeed Messrs. John Jacob Astor, Stuyvesant Fish and E. H. Harriman and one to fill a vacancy for a term of one year.

Union Pacific Seeks Control.

"For some time past there has been a persistent effort to place the control of your corporation in the hands of those dominating the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific Railroad companies. I have felt it my duty to oppose this effort in order to loyally discharge my obligations of trusteeship to the Illinois Central.

"If the Illinois Central is to serve its best purpose and secure the largest revenue to its shareholder, its independence should be maintained, to the end that it shall receive the largest measure of tonnage in return for the great volume produced along its lines.

"The methods pursued by those of your board of directors who act in the interest of the Union Pacific, have been so high-handed as to become the subject of widespread comment. At a recent meeting of the board, I offered a resolution of inquiry into subject matter which should properly be disclosed to every shareholder. While in the act of reading my resolution, Mr. Peabody, representing Union Pacific interests, moved to adjourn, and J. T. Harahan, who was presiding, summarily closed the session. Later, through the power given by the by-laws, the minority, who truly represent the interests of the Illinois Central shareholders, called a special meeting, whereat I offered a resolution of inquiry into the evident padding of the accounts. Such inquiry was necessary.

From Whence Came Money?

"It appears from the annual report of the Illinois Central for the year ending June 30, 1907, that there was an extraordinary increase in the net receipts of the corporation during the last four months, which increase is wholly inexplicable and obviously inconsistent with the facts upon any proper accounting, and clearly made for the purpose of producing a favorable, but fictitious showing. The first third of the year showed an increase in net receipts of $665,070; then came the change in the presidency, and in the next third of the year the net receipts decreased by $572,786. Finally, in the last four months, they were suddenly increased by $1,253,889, of which increase $604,751 is reported as made in the single month of June. This palpable mis-statement was further emphasized by the fact that although neither the mileage nor the operating conditions had changed in the slightest degree, the succeeding month of July showed a falling off of $35,098 in net revenue, as against the reported gain of $604,751 in June. Yet my resolution of inquiry was referred for report to the president, the very officer who had brought the accounting directly under his own control, and, of course, its whole purpose was defeated.

It's Up to Stockholders.

"Up to this time I have not asked for a single proxy, nor would I do so now were it not for the extraordinary efforts the present management are putting forth with the evident intention of electing E. H. Harriman and such persons as he may select, backed by the holdings of the Union Pacific Co., which constitute a practical balance of power. It is for you to determine whether their holdings of about 30 per cent of the stock is to name the directors of the Illinois Central railroad Co. without the consent and to the detriment of the remaining 70 per cent. Do you wish your property to be managed as heretofore, in the interest of the whole body of the stockholders, or to be dominated by the Union Pacific?

"Very respectfully,
"STUYVESANT FISH."

Fun in Space.

I dreamed last night that I was present at a committee meeting of the sun, earth, moon and stars.

"I'm no coward," said the earth.

"No, but you have two great fears," said the sun hotly.

"And those are?"

"The hemispheres."

"You've forgotten the atmosphere," put in the moon. And the comet, who had no business to be there, wagged his tail with joy.

RESCUED REACH SOO.

Survivors of Nimick Wreck Tell How It Happened.

VESSEL SPRANG A LEAK.

Captain Randall Beached Her—Seven Men Cut Off From Rescue in Bow of Ship—One Swims Ashore—Others Perished.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 24.—The tug Boynton arrived here Monday morning from the scene of the wreck of the steamer Alexander Nimick, in Lake Superior, with the surviving 11 members of the crew and three bodies of the six victims. The complete list of dead is now known and is as follows:

Capt. John Randall, Algonac, Mich.
Wheelsman Louis J. Deuby, 672 East Woodbridge street, Detroit, Mich.
Watchman John Watson.
Watchman Paisley Scott.
Wheelsman Thomas Parent, Port Huron, Mich.
Watchman John Johnson.

From the men it was learned that the Nimick, after lying in shelter under Whitefish Point for some time, sprung a leak about 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. At 7 o'clock that evening the pumps could no longer keep the vessel afloat, and Capt. Randall decided to run his ship on the beach.

Before this time one of the yawlboats had been broken up by the heavy seas, and with the remaining one the members of the crew on the stern of the ship put out for shore as the steamer already had commenced to pound to pieces. Seven men were cut off in the bow of the boat.

Several attempts were made to rescue the men, but it was impossible to battle with the heavy seas and the small boat was run for shore, where the 10 occupants landed safely.

One of the men left in the bow, Charles Craig, the chief engineer, plunged into the surf and succeeded in swimming ashore safely. Nothing more was seen of the six men, who remained on the bow of the steamer as it broke up, on account of the darkness, until the bodies of three were found early Sunday morning. This account of how the men lost their lives differs from that first received which was to the effect that a boat in which they were attempting to reach shore had capsized.

NURSE TAKES POISON.

Girl Who Figured in Fogg Suicide Case Kills Self.

Battle Creek, Mich., Sept. 24.—Lucretia Johns, "the woman in the case" in connection with the suicide of A. Lamont Fogg, the society man and singer, was found dead in bed Monday night at the home of H. H. Maatsch, on Lake avenue, where she boarded. A brief note stated that she had committed suicide, but made no mention of the reason. It directed the disposal of her personal property and gave the address of her father, E. L. John of Port Huron.

The police were notified and the body was removed to the Caldwell morgue, where Coroner Bidwell empaneled a jury. The investigation which will be made will undoubtedly clear the Fogg mystery considerably.

Miss Johns was a nurse, about 25 years old, and very attractive. During Fogg's illness last spring she attended him as nurse, and their affair started at that time.

Mrs. Maatsch declares that the pair were only on friendly terms and that the girl took her life because her name had been dragged into the case.

The girl took some kind of poison that left no traces, and physicians will determine its nature by a post-mortem.

Miss Wilson to Go on Stage.

Traver, Ia., Sept. 24.—Reports of a probable family jar in the household of Secretary Wilson, of the department of agriculture, whose home is here, over the news from Paris that his daughter, Flora, will go on the operatic stage are denied by friends. Miss Wilson has been studying for grand opera under Jean de Reszke in the French capital, and she expects to become a concert and opera singer. Her family, it is said, is reconciled to her choice of a career.

The Reward of Haughtiness.

The other day a chemist was awakened about 1 o'clock in the morning by a lad clamoring at his shop door. Opening his bedroom window, he saw a small boy, who was gesticulating wildly.

"What's the matter?" inquired the chemist.

"I want a penny'orth o' camphorated chloroform for t' toothache!" howled the lad.

The chemist was not overjoyed when he found how small the order was for which he had been so rudely awakened from his slumber; but, taking pity on the sufferer, he dressed himself and went downstairs to supply the much desired relief. While measuring the drug he could not help doing a growl at the lad.

"It's like your cheek," he observed, "to wake me up at this time of the night for a paitry penn'orth of chloroform."

"Oh, is it?" said the boy resentfully. "Then I'll tek mi custom somewheer else. Yer can keep yer chloroform. I wean't hev it neaw for yer blooming sauce!"

And he didn't. He went off quite indignantly, nursing his jaw, to wake up another chemist.—Pearson's Weekly.

Easily Turned.

A small boy was asked to take dinner at the home of a distinguished professor in Princeton. The lad's mother, in fear lest he should commit some breach of etiquette, gave him repeated directions as to what he should and should not do.

Upon his return from the great occasion the mother's first question was, "Harold, did you get along at the table all right?"

"Oh, yes, mamma, well enough."

"Are you sure you didn't do anything that was not perfectly polite and gentlemanly?"

"Why, no—nothing to speak of."

"Then something did happen. What was it?"

"But I fixed it all right, mamma."

"Tell me at once."

"Why, I got along pretty well until the meat came, but while I was trying to cut mine it slipped off on to the floor. But I made it all right."

"What did you do?"

"Oh, I just said sort of carelessly, 'That's always the way with tough meat.'"—Youth's Companion.

Disraeli's Nuptial Joke.

There was a little joke between them (Disraeli and his wife) which I heard from the late dean of Salisbury. "You know I married you for your money," Disraeli would say to her. "Oh, yes, but if you were to marry me again you would marry me for love!" was the regular reply, "Oh, yes!" her husband would exclaim, and the little nuptial comedy ended.

But what Disraeli said to Bernal Osborne once about his marriage is much better worth the telling. It was at a dinner party after dinner when the men were alone. "What did you marry her for?" Osborne asked in his characteristic way. Disraeli twiddled his wineglass in the pause that followed this point blank inquiry. Then he lifted his head slowly and looked the other very expressively in the face. "For a reason," he said, "which you could never understand—gratitude."—From "Lord Beaconsfield and Other Tory Memories," by T. E. Kebbel.

The Smelts Were Biting.

John Quincy Adams of Massachusetts, third of that name, was very fond of fishing and not especially fond of his legal profession. One day, the story runs, a case in which he was counsel was down for trial in a Massachusetts court. Mr. Adams did not make his appearance, but sent a letter to the judge. That worthy gentleman read it and then postponed the case with the announcement:

"Mr. Adams is detained on important business."

It was afterward learned by a colleague of Adams that the letter read as follows:

"Dear Judge—For the sake of old Izaak Walton, please continue my case till Friday. The smelts are biting, and I can't leave."

What It Proved.

Miss Youngthing—Boo-hoo-hoo! Charley's given me a ring set with a mean little turquoise. Her Mother—That's an emblem of constancy. Miss Youngthing—It isn't! It's proof of stinginess!

The talker sows; the listener reaps.—Italian Proverb.

A battle has occurred between federal troops and a band of rebel Maya Indians near San Isidor, Mexico. The fight was in reality an assault on the part of the Indians, who attacked a patrol of troops from ambush. Seven soldiers and a number of Indians were killed.

Her Ready Wit.

Though he had long adored her in secret—worshiped, in fact, the ground she pressed beneath the soles of her dainty little No. 3's—he had never yet been able to screw up sufficient courage to put his fate to the test. Poor fellow! He was one of those shy, modest, self deprecating sort of chaps that are growing rapidly scarcer or he would have tumbled months ago to the fact that he had only to go in and win. Gertrude Alicia knew the state of his feelings right enough, but it had pleased her hitherto to keep him dangling in attendance. At last, however, she made up her mind to land her fish as soon as a favorable chance presented itself.

And the opportunity came at the Smythingtons' little soiree, when the bashful swain, entering the conservatory, discovered his inamorata looking her loveliest amid the palms and flowers.

"Are—are you alone?" he questioned timidly.

In a moment the fair and ready witted girl saw her chance and took it then and there. "A loan, Hen—er—Mr. Finnikin," she said, with lowered eyelids, "a loan? Certainly not—I'm a gift."

And fifteen minutes later, when they emerged from their retreat, Henry was asking himself how he could have been such a Juggins as to postpone his happiness so long.

Neander's "One Work."

Doctors, when they send away a busy man for several weeks of rest, do not consider that to one accustomed to work an enforced rest is both irritating and depressing.

Neander, the famous church historian, had promised his physician on being ordered to Carlsbad to drink its famous waters that he would take no books with him except one work, which the doctor with reluctance allowed. On the morning of the historian's departure the doctor, wishing to say goodby to his patient, called at his door and saw a cart laden with heavy folios.

"But, dear professor," said the physician, with the emphasis of displeasure, "you promised me to take no books with you."

"Yes, doctor," replied the childlike professor, "but you allowed me one work, so I thought I might take the fathers with me to Carlsbad."

The "one work" included three or four score volumes.

When Marriage Is the Topic.

The wedded state is a favorite subject with the epigram makers. From a very old ballad we take this:

There was a criminal in a cart
A-goin' to be hanged;
Respite to him was granted,
And cart and crowd did stand
To know if he would marry a wife
Or rather choose to die.
"T'other's the worst—drive on the cart!"
The criminal did reply.

More modern is this verse:

I would advise a man to pause
Before he takes a wife—
In fact, I see no earthly cause
He should not pause for life.

Who, by the way, is the author who describes a second marriage as being "the triumph of hope over experience?"

Samuel Lover's matrimonial epigram is very apposite:

Though matches are all made in heaven,
they say,
Yet Hymen, who mischief oft hatches,
Sometimes deals with the house t'other side of the way,
And there they make Lucifer matches.
—Chambers' Journal.

The Lord and the Burglar.

Lord Iverdale had just finished his after dinner speech and the guests had applauded when the butler rushed forward and announced to his lordship that there was a burglar in the house.

"A burglar! Confound his impudence! Where is he?"

"We don't exactly know, your lordship. One of the maids, hearing a noise in the library, looked in and saw a man at the safe. If your lordship will allow me, I'll put Jarvis in my place here and take charge of the search."

"Very good, Haskins. Go by all means. Wait a moment—here is the key of my desk. Take the revolver you will find in the right hand top drawer; you may need it. As soon as I can get away without alarming the ladies I'll join you."—Munsey's.

Compliments After Death.

There is a German proverb which says, "Man darf nur sterben um gelobt zu werden" (We need only die in order to get praised). This, we cannot help but admit, is fairly true in a general sense, and if we required any proof or confirmation the epitaphs in cemeteries, churchyards and churches would readily furnish it. Indeed if we had no other testimony to go by than these pious inscriptions we might almost fancy that men and women had arrived at such a state of perfection that they were little less than angels. Death, like time, is a great healer of wounds, a great soother of passions, a great calmer of turbulent thoughts, a slayer of enmity. He is the peacemaker par excellence, having caused the saying to gain general currency that we should say nothing of the dead but what is good. Among the laws of the "Twelve Tables," compiled by the Decemviri, there was one which, in fact, forbade to speak injuriously of the dead. It is in exchange for this doubtless that we are always doubly anxious and ready to vilify the living.—Westminster Gazette.

A Spurgeon Rusc.

Spurgeon, the famous English divine, once passed a stonemason who, after each stroke of his hammer, cursed and swore. Mr. Spurgeon laid his hand on his shoulder and, looking kindly at him, said: "You are an adept at swearing. Can you also pray?"

With another oath he replied, "Not very likely."

Holding up 5 shillings, Mr. Spurgeon said if he would promise never to pray he would give him that.

"That is easily earned," said the man, with a fresh oath, and put it in his pocket. When Spurgeon left the man began to feel a little queer. When he went home his wife asked him what ailed him, and he told her. "It is Judas' money," said the man, and on a sudden impulse he threw it into the fire. The wife found it and took it out and discovered who had given it to him. The man took it back to Spurgeon, who conversed long with him, warning him, and at length was the means of saving him. He became an attached member of his flock.

The government plans now do away with Indian reservations and finally with the Indians themselves through intermarriage. A storm of protest has arisen through this arbitrary campaign to exterminate the original lords of the land. "Our Other Race Problem" by Day Allen Wiley, in the October Metropolitan magazine, is an article for which those interested in the Indians have long been waiting. It suggests ways and means for the Indian's honorable salvation.

LITERARY NOTES.

The Woman's Home Companion for October is primarily a fashion number not that the other departments are in the least slighted or the fiction is below the standard. Grace Margaret Gould, the fashion editor, has contributed many pages of attractive and practical designs for fall and winter costumes with illustrations of the newest fabrics and trimmings. Two of the many good articles are Jack London's "Riding the South Sea Surf" and "The Influence of Women on Business" by Anna Richardson.

Attached to these and forming a spider web were red cords which each young lady followed, discovering a china dish at the end of the cord. These dishes were presented to the bride, making a set of individual nut dishes, beside a salt and pepper shaker.

"A Texas Steer" is a collection of incidents supposed to bear upon the extraordinary possibilities of American politics and the developement of the average type of statesmanship. The author does not claim that his treatment of the subject is profound, nor insists that it is absolutely truthful but he hopes it will be found amusing.

THE ELECTION

Held yesterday so that the people could decide by vote whether or not we should bond the village for $29000 to build a sewer system to cover the whole town, was carried by the voters who desire the sewer and it will now be built. It was the warmest election I ever remember in Tecumseh. The opposition headed by Jas. W. Wightman put up a good fight, but not strong enough to carry more than one third of the votes and the friends of the sewer won, the number of votes cast being 506, 142 no, 364 yes.

It was a pecular election, the voters against it claiming they were in favor of any plan but the one proposed but in reality Wightman and his crowd did desire any sewer and of course defeat on this vote would stop it but now that we have won and I say "we" because the HERALD was in favor of the sewer first last and all the time.

It is time to shut up but in conclusion I desire to say that Wightman claims that neither paper would print his article, is true but on Sept 10 he said he would not discuss the sewer question with the editor of the HERALD till he moved into the village and became a voter and I then decided that I would print no more of his articles in the HERALD until he retracted this statement for I should have the moral and legal right to discuss the subjects I please in my own newspaper as long as I own property and pay taxes in Tecumseh. The HERALD is pleased today as always to receive and print articles on all sides of any question that concerns

Which is today

THE BEST AND BIGGEST LITTLE TOWN

On Earth.

ELECTION NOTES.

It is evident that Tecumseh people wanted the sewer. The election carried by 80 over a two thirds vote.

All Tecumseh is satisfied about the election at least two third and 80 of the voters said so with their votes.

Everyone does not know that an election to bond the village must be carried by a two thirds majority and yesterday this was done in favor of the sewer with 80 votes to spare.

Much credit can be given to our friend, Wightman for carrying the election for the sewer. Had it not been for his opposition many would have failed to vote. "No great loss but some small gain."

"It never rains but it pours." The celebration last night did nicely for both base ball and sewer. Tecumseh is certainly the biggest little town on earth and when the sewer is built it will be the best and biggest little town on earth.

Perceval Gibbon has the art of finding adventure in the least likely places for the least promising types as adventurers. He has chosen for the hero of his new story which begins in the October McClure's that least heroic of men, the canvasser. In a sordid atmosphere with few accessories, the author succeeds at once in arresting the reader's attention and holding it without a moment's wavering until the climax at the conclusion of the first installment.

* * *

Everybody's for October has a striking cover in white and scarlet to advertise their leading article "The Keystone Crime" by Owen Wister. This is the first comprehensive story of the scandalous cost of Pennsylvania's new capitol to appear, and in telling it, proves himself a successful publicist and novelist. Articles on the recent achievements in industrial chemistry and a suggestive account of the exhibition at Dublin are also highly interesting.

A humane appeal.

A humane citizen of Richmond, Ind., U. E. Cures asthma, bronchitis, croup, quinsy hoarseness and phthisic, stops hemorrhages of the lungs and builds them up. Guaranteed by C. A. Wright & Son, 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

TO CATARRH SUFFERERS.

Good advice and liberal offer from a well known Tecumseh druggist.

C. A. Wright & Son have been advising all who suffer from any of the symptoms of catarrh, such as offensive breath, dryness of the nose, pain across the eyes, stoppage of the nose, discharges and droppings in the throat, coughing spasms and general weakness and debility, to use Hyomei. He goes so far as to offer to refund the money to any user of Hyomei who is not perfectly satisfied with the results.

Quick relief follows the use of the Hyomei treatment; the stoppage of the nose is removed, the dropping ceases, the breath becomes pure and sweet and the catarrhal germs are destroyed and their growth prevented.

Hyomei is the surest, simplest, quickest, easiest and cheapest way to cure catarrh It does not drug and derange the stomach; it goes right to the seat of the trouble, destroying the catarrhal germs and healing and vitalizing the tissues.

Go to C. A. Wright & Son's today and buy a complete Hyomei outfit for $1.00 with the understanding that if it does not give satisfaction your money will be refunded. All you have to do is to inhale a little occasionally in the air you breathe, using the pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, when the symptoms of catarrh will quickly disappear. Try it, you will be surprised and pleased at the results.

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL.

Health is worth saving and some people know how.

Many people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of ill health but there is no need to suffer or remain in danger when all diseases due to bad kidneys can be cured by Doan's Kidney Pills. Here is the statement of a Tecumseh citizen, who has reclaimed good health.

E. H. Hyde, living on west Chicago street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I had suffered from kidney trouble about two years. While working for the Lake Shore Ry. I contracted a cold which settled in my kidneys, the pain being so severe that I could not bend or lift anything, being similar to a knife thrust. I used a number of highly recommended remedies but failed to receive more than temporary relief. Finall I began using Doan's Kidney Pills and on using the first box received much benefit so I continued using Doan's Kidney Pills until cured. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to others and will continue to do so."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's,—and take no other.

Marconi Declares He Will Soon Establish Wireless Communication for Commercial Purposes.

Glace Bay, N. S., Sept. 24.—Declaring that he intended to stay in Glace Bay until wireless communication with Europe had been placed on a commercial basis, Guglielmo Marconi said Monday to the Associated Press:

"We have finally overcome all obstacles, and in about three weeks will commence a commercial trans-Atlantic wireless service."

He stated that bad weather would not affect the service, provided the masts and poles used in the wireless system remained undamaged; that the average speed used in sending messages would be 20 words a minute, and that the rate would 10 cents a word for ordinary commercial messages and five cents a word for press dispatches. This rate, he said, would be cut in two later.

Mr. Marconi arrived in Cape Breton on Sunday and proceeded Monday to the wireless station on the promontory at Glace Bay. He expressed to the Associated Press the utmost confidence in the outlook for commercial wireless telegraphy.

"I shall make no show about it," he said, however, "but go along quietly. We have surmounted all difficulties and we are sure of success."

The messages sent from the station at Glace Bay will be received on the other side of the Atlantic at Clifden, Ireland, where a new plant has been established. The Cornwall station will be utilized as a secondary plant.

Connecting with the wireless stations, Mr. Marconi stated, the government lines in Great Britain will handle the messages for land transmission, according to contract. On this side of the ocean, he said, the company has a contract with the Canadian government which he believes will place the government intercolonial railway wires at its disposal, while the Canadian Pacific and Western Union companies both have their lines connected with the Glace Bay station, and Mr. Marconi hopes to do business with them.

Gen. Cecil Clay Dead.

Washington, Sept. 24.—Gen. Cecil Clay, general agent of the department of justice, died here suddenly Monday. He had been in poor health for some weeks. Gen. Clay was 65 years old and a native of Philadelphia. He was an expert rifle shot, a member of numerous patriotic organizations and a leading citizen of Washington.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

There is a labor famine at Battle Creek. Employers in every line are unable to secure half the men necessary. Female help is just as scarce.

Secretary Smith, of the University Y. M. C. A., at Ann Arbor, who is registering students who need financial assistance in completing their college course, says that about 1,000 young men will put themselves through in whole or in part by their personal efforts.

If a certain industry, which Bay City claims the distinction of being the originator, continues to grow the way it has the past two years, Bay City will soon be known throughout the country as the peanut butter town. Tons of that commodity are shipped to every state in the Union.

A street car, getting away from the motorman, and loaded with passengers, raced down the incline at the north end of the trestle over the Grand Trunk railway at Waverly park in Lansing, and crashed into a car waiting on a switch. The vestibule of one car was wrecked and many passengers were slightly injured.

While Mrs. John Felski and her son Marcus, aged four, of Bay City, were visiting her parents at Reese, the little fellow, playing about an open cistern, fell in and was drowned. Mrs. Felski went to Reese to help in preparations for the approaching marriage of her sister, which was to have taken place Sunday.

Senator Fred B. Ming, who has been making experiments with alfalfa on his Mullet lake farm, is reported to have had flattering success in growing the famed western fodder. Such being the case, the future of the farmer in the vicinity of Cheboygan will be given a big boost, as hay has been a scarce article for three years, and for some reason appears to be a losing venture nowadays.

In honor of the president of the company, William Gwinn Mather of Cleveland, the model mining town, the Cleveland Cliffs Iron Co. is establishing in the Swanzey district, Marquette range, is to be called "Gwinn," which was the maiden name of Mr. Mather's mother. Twenty-five residences have already been built on the townsite, and 30 more, for which contracts have been awarded, will be erected this fall.

Not Fatal.

No Matter What Doctors Say—We Know That Heart Trouble in Many Cases Can Be Cured.

There are seven main features of heart disease, viz.: (1) Weakness or Debility; (2) Rheumatism or Neuralgia; (3) Valvular Disorder; (4) Dilation; (5) Enlargement; (6) Fatty Degeneration; (7) Dropsy.

Documentary evidence will prove thousands of so-called "incurables" have been absolutely cured by Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure.

Patients often have no idea their disease is heart trouble, but ascribe it to Indigestion, Liver Complaint, etc.

Here are some of the symptoms: Shortness of breath after exercise. Smothering Spells. Pain in Chest, left Shoulder and arm. Discomfort in Lying on one side. Fainting Spells. Nervous Cough. Swelling of Feet and Ankles. Paleness of Face and Lips. Palpitation. Nightmare. Irregular Pulse.

"I have great faith in Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and speak of its merits whenever opportunity presents. I can now go up and down stairs with ease, where three weeks ago I could hardly walk one block." One year later.—"I am still in good health; the Heart Cure did so much for me, that I find it a far greater medicine than you claimed it to be."—S. D. YOUNG, D. Wyett Gets Life Sentence.

Jackson, Mich., Sept. 24.—An example of what effect a criminal record has on a man's chances when he is on trial is shown in the case of Dick Wyett, alias Eugene Converse, who was sentenced Monday morning to life imprisonment for an attempt to kill. Had this been Wyett's first offense he doubtless would have escaped with a much lighter sentence. The attempted murder was over a woman with whom both men were infatuated. The offense was committed in February, when Wyett crept into Roswell Conett's room, while the latter slept, and nearly brained him with a "blackjack." The woman in the case was their landlady.

Robbed on Street Car.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 24.—Clever pickpockets robbed A. F. Stephens, of the Clover Dairy Co., 340 Michigan avenue, of $350 on a Michigan avenue car, between Griswold street and Washington Boulevard, about 9:30 o'clock Monday morning. Mr. Stephens had just withdrawn the money from the First National bank to meet the weekly payroll. He placed the cash, which was in bills, in an inside coat pocket and boarded a car. He had preceeded only two blocks when he discovered the robbery. He was riding on the rear platform. Stephens reported his loss to the police. He gives a good description of the thief and the detectives are working on the case.

LEGISLATURE CALLED.

Special Session Summons for October 7 is Issued.

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 24.—Governor Warner Monday issued the call for the special session of the legislature to begin at noon Oct. 7. Only two legislative matters are submitted in the call, but others will be called to the attention of the legislature in special messages. The call says:

"At the last regular session of the legislature the two houses disagreed regarding the bill making appropriation for the maintenance of the Central Normal college for the ensuing two year, as well as for improvements at that institution. The contention was raised after the legislature adjourned that the bill as signed by the governor was not the bill that passed the house and senate, and was, therefore, void, thus depriving the college of funds for maintenance and necessary betterments.

"The people of the state are almost a unit in demanding that all candidates for public office who are voted for by the primary system shall be selected by the people and under no circumstances by a delegate convention. The existing law in Michigan makes this provision for all candidates save those for governor and lieutenant governor. At its recent session the legislature failed to make a number of changes in the law which the people of the state desire. These universally desired changes should be made before another general election is held in Michigan."

WOMAN IS SHOT

Jackson Police Character, James Cross, Kills Blanche Phelps.

Jackson, Mich., Sept. 24.—Blanche Phelps, a woman about 30 years of age, was shot and instantly killed Monday afternoon about 2:45 by James Cross, a well-known character around town, in the back room of Leppert & Boughton's saloon.

According to the statement of parties who were engaged in playing pool just outside the door of the room, Cross was seen to enter the room, immediately after which he was heard to say: "You have ruined my life as long as you can," and then fired the shot which ended the woman's life. Geo. L. Burke rushed into the room and wrested the revolver from Cross. Cross was very cool, but apparently under the influence of liquor. He told the police: "You need not hurry; I will not run away." He then calmly rolled a cigarette and lit it.

The prisoner caused one woman to commit suicide a short time ago, and is a well-known police character.

He admits that the crime was premeditated.

Owosso, Mich., Sept. 24.—The marriage of Louis Greenman, who lives south of this city, and Miss Nancy Meyer of Carland, has been called off because of the activity of an anonymous letter writer, who has threatened the young people with mutilation and death if they are united. Greenman lives on his grandmother's 500-acre farm alone. Greenman found an unsigned letter in his mail box, warning him under penalty of death not to marry Miss Meyer and to burn the letter. Unfortunately he did as directed.

Won't Object to Wu Ting Fang.

Washington, Sept. 24.—While the Chinese government has not yet inquired of the state department as to the acceptability of Wu Ting Fang as Chinese minister to Washington, the opinion prevails among officials here that such an inquiry will soon be made if the government at Pekin is satisfied in advance that it will be favorably received. Regarding suggestions that Wu Ting Fang was the author of the recent anti-American boycott, the conclusion was reached by some of the higher officials here that this unique manifestation of China's displeasure with America was the natural working out of many factors and that individuals had very little to do with it. Hence, according to officials, it may be safely asserted that if the Chinese government believes that Wu Ting Fang would best serve it as minister to Washington, the government here is not likely to make any objection.

Train Struck Boy's Carriage.

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 24.—While Robert Elliott, 15, son of Thomas Elliott, postmaster of Haslett, was driving home from a church social near Pine Lake, he was struck by a Grand Trunk train and received probably fatal injuries. Just what train ran into Elliott is not known, as he was not found until Sunday morning, when he was discovered lying on the rails. The westbound passenger train was due shortly after he was carried off the tracks. The horse was cut in two and the carriage smashed to pieces. The boy is in the city hospital.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

TREMENDOUS PROFITS

Federal Suit Against Standard Oil Co. Reveals Them.

SOME STARTLING FIGURES

Indiana Pipe Line Makes Double Amount of Investment in One Year on Transportation of Oil of Standard Company.

New York, Sept, 27.—The Indiana Pipe Line Co., a subsidiary of the Standard Oil Co., made a profit of $4,091,022 in 1903 on a total investment of $2,228,768, according to the company's figures produced by George Chesebro, controller of the National Pipe Line Co., who appeared as a witness in the federal suit against the oil combine. Mr. Chesebro testified that the Indiana Pipe Line Co. was a common carrier and engaged only in the transportation of oil. From balance sheets of the company, Frank B. Kellogg, conducting the government's case, sought to show that the Indiana Co. was making excessive profits and it maintained a higher schedule of tariffs to prevent shipments of oil by independent oil producers. Mr. Chesebro testified that the Indiana Co. transported practically only the oil of the Standard Co. The counsel for the government allege that it will be shown that the profits made by these pipe line companies have, in some cases, been 20 times the actual cost of operation.

Calvin N. Payne, who, with H. C. Folger, Jr., owns the Corsicana Refining Co. of Texas, under examination yesterday, stated that the tanks and receiving stations at the end of the pipe line of the New York Transit Co., also called the National Transit Co., at Unionville, N. J., and at the terminals of the pipe lines of the National Transit Co. at Center Bridge, Pa., and Fond Grove, Pa., were built the year the Hepburn law went into effect. Mr. Payne was stating that he supposed there was some legal reason for building these receiving stations on the state lines of New York and New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New Jersey and Pennsylvania and Maryland, when John G. Milburn, chief of the defendants' counsel interposed and said he gave the advice. Mr. Milburn, cross-examining the witness, developed the testimony that the pipe lines connecting the terminals at Unionville, Center Bridge and Fond Grove with tidewater at New York and Baltimore, were the private lines of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, and were not public carriers. Mr. Calvin said that the National and New York Transit companies were prepared to accept business over their lines and to deliver it at their receiving stations.

New York, Sept. 27.—John D. Archbold, vice-president of the Standard Oil Co., issued a general notice yesterday to the effect that false and injurious statements were being scattered broadcast, as from a "representative of the Standard Oil Co.," and warning the public that no credit should be given to any statement purporting to emanate from the Standard Oil Co., unless signed by an executive officer of the company, or its designated attorney.

Her Marriage Was a Failure.

Chicago, Sept., 27.—Mrs. Josephine Osbrun, who says she is the foster daughter of Frederick A. Bragg, a brother of General Edward S. Bragg, of Wisconsin, was yesterday arraigned in the municipal court on the charge of stealing postage stamps from her employers. The woman told a story of life-long hardships, saying that she had known but one friend in the world, and that was her foster father, who had been dead for twenty years. She had been forced to marry against her will, and her husband had deserted her, leaving her to support a young son. She was sentenced to one day in jail, and steps will be taken to assist her.

Poles Are Patriotic.

Washington, Sept. 27.—A large delegation of the Polish National Alliance of the United States, which has been in annual convention at Baltimore, laid a floral tribute at the foot of the statue of Washington in the plaza east of the capital, and placed a wreath before the busts of Kosciusco and Pulaski, the Polish patriots, in the capitol building.

Dreyfus Leaves Army.

TIMBER LAND GRAFT

Trial of Senator Borah Brings Out Some Surprises.

STEUNENBURG WAS IN DEAL

He Had a Bank Account From Which He Drew Money as "Agent"—All Deeds Passed Through Senator Borah's Hands.

Boise, Ida., Sept. 27.—In the trial of United States Senator Borah, charged with timber land frauds, Special Prosecutor Burch of Detroit, yesterday outlined the government's case against the senator. He stated that the idea of making money out of the timber lands which the United States threw open to settlement in Idaho in tracts not to exceed 160 acres to any individual and at a price not to exceed $2.50 per acre, originated with State Senator John Kincaid, one of the men indicted with Senator Borah. He is alleged to have induced several men to go into the scheme, among them the late Gov. Steunenberg, and William Sweet, a mining man. These two, it is alleged, put up the first $75 as a joint note, being the security by which the alleged frauds were inaugurated.

About this time (in 1899), Attorney Burch asserted, Gov. Steunenberg went to a conference called presumably for the patriotic purpose of putting down the mining troubles, and while there met a mine owner named A. B. Campbell. Through Campbell, it is alleged, Steunenberg, who had exhausted his personal resources, met Barber and Moon, who immediately took a deep interest in Idaho timber lands. Gov. Steunenberg soon had a bank account of $38,000, it is alleged, which he checked from as "Agent."

In connecting Senator Borah with the conspiracy, Mr. Burch says, the government will show that all deeds from "dummy" trustees to the Barber Lumber Co. passed through his office and were recorded at his request. It is further stated that when four or five fraudulent claims were held up, Mr. Borah went to the register of the local land office and inquired as to what was to be done concerning them. The register told him, it is said, that the claims were fraudulent and had better be left alone.

It is further charged that on one occasion when Gov. Morrison was executive of Idaho and about to file a state preference on certain timber lands for school purposes Senator Borah sought information as to what lands the state planned to take and said he did not think it was right that the state should take such land.

In the government's outline of its case, it is said that James T. Barber, in sending one of his men to Idaho, was heard to remark: "If there is anything you want in Idaho go to William E. Borah. He is our attorney out there."

At the end of yesterday's proceedings in the trial of Senator Borah, the government had disposed of 13 witnesses, all of whom swore that John I. Wells, one of the men indicted with Senator Borah, gave them the money with which they took out the timberland claims.

Accused Man to Be Released.

Mt. Clemens, Mich., Sept. 27.—Prosecutor Warren S. Stone has asked the circuit court to nolle prosse a case against a man who says he's guilty of the offense charged—a crime against a 15-year-old girl, the adopted daughter of the said accused. The accused is one Ahrens, a farmer, 65 years old. The request to nolle prosse under the circumstances, has aroused comment. Investigation of the facts, however, reveals that there are two reasons for the prosecutor's course. One is that the girl, Bertha Ahrens, has gone back on her first story, and says the offender is a boy, her foster brother, Adolph, and not her aged foster father. The other is the fact that expert testimony is that Ahrens, the father, cannot possibly be guilty. The question arises, is the father trying to shield the son, supposing the latter to be guilty, and being himself willing to face the possibility of a long term of imprisonment to save the boy? A warrant has been issued for the son.

Russian Bandits Again Active.

Tchernigov, Russia, Sept. 27.—The estate near here belonging to Princess Dolgoroukowa has been pillaged and burned by armed bandits who carried off all the valuables in the residence and set fire to the main house, the stables and all the outbuildings. Everything was burned to the ground and a stud of magnificent horses was destroyed. A regiment of dragoons, quartered a few miles from the estate, were unable to get there in time to save the property. The brigands escaped.

COMMOTION IN THEATER.

Demented Otto E. Urbon Creates a Panic by Threats.

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 27.—"The Lord sent me over here to clean out this place and I am going to do it with a bomb," said Otto E. Urbon to the audience in the Bijou vaudeville theater, Thursday night.

It was during the moving picture number and the house was dark save for the light from the picture machine. The people were nearly thrown into a panic, but a stampede was avoided by the managers and ushers, who assured the audience that it was only a demented man, who could not carry out his threat. The man had removed his coat and stood dramatically gesticulating in a box. It took the combined efforts of five men to take him from the place.

Urbon is about 36 years old, and his home is in Toledo, where for years he has been famed as an ad. writer and window decorator for large stores. Relatives sent him here for a rest a few weeks ago. Thursday night he appeared at the box office of the Bijou and asked permission to address the audience from the stage after the show.

Urbon fought hard at the jail, but was finally locked in a padded cell, and given medical attention. When searched a dagger in a paper sheath was found.

COUNTERFEITER FREED.

Judge Said Main Witness Was an Accomplice.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 27.—The case of the United States against Fred Black of Port Huron, charged with uttering counterfeit money, was taken away from the jury Thursday afternoon and Judge Swan dismissed the defendant on the ground that Riley, who has been the main witness for the prosecution, was an accomplice and that his word could not be taken as convicting evidence against Black.

Judge Swan then suspended sentence on Joseph Riley, who was charged with a similar offense, with the understanding that he would in the future abstain from the use of liquor. Cummings, also a witness in the case, deemed by the court as being an accomplice, was discharged with the payment of a fine of $250 and an understanding with the court that he too would abstain from the use of liquor. The court suspended the penalty of imprisonment.

Mill Foreman Murdered.

Rose City, Mich., Sept. 27.—C. W. Chadwick, mill foreman here, and living at Atlanta, was found dead in the road five miles from his home with a bullet in his back Thursday morning. Chadwick had been dead several hoursw hen found, and there is no tangible clue. He is supposed to have been on his way home when murdered, but the motive for the crime is not known. Elmer Chadwick, a brother of Alpena, is at Atlanta assisting the sheriff and coroner in their investigation.

Won't Have Non-Union Heat.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 27.—The old stove which has so long served to heat the rooms of the Detroit Federation of Labor, will continue to do service, although the Hilsendegen block is to be equipped with heat from the Murphy plant. This is due to the fact that the Murphy plant employs a non-union engineer, consequently the steam does not bear the union label.

Millersbrg, Mich., Sept. 27.—The general store of A. R. McKenzie has been burned. The loss is about $5,000 with $2,500 insurance. The building was owned by W. C. Sterling & Sons of Monroe.

Deafness cannot be cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's catarrh cure. Send for circulars free.

Sold by all druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

A young widow has a peculiar way of seeing a man without looking at him.

There are a great many people who have slight attacks of indigestion and dyspepsia nearly all the time. Their food may satisfy the appetite but it fails to nourish the body simply because the stomach is not in fit condition to do the work it is supposed to do. It can't digest the food you eat. The stomach should be given help. You ought to take something that will do the work your stomach can't do. Kodol for indigestion and dyspepsia, a combination of natural digestants and vegetable acids, digests the food itself and gives strength and health to the stomach. Pleasant to take. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

A man doesn't have to wear good clothes if he can afford not to.

One of the worst features of kidney trouble is that it is an insidious disease and before the victim realizes his danger he may have a fatal malady. Take Foley's Kidney Cure as the first sign of trouble as it corrects irregularities and prevents Bright's disease and diabetes. Sold by all druggists in Tecumseh.

Some men stand just inside the door ready to grasp opportunity by the back of the neck when it knocks.

Occasional headache, belching, bad taste in the mouth, lack of appetite and slight nervousness are symptoms of indigestion which, when allowed to go uncared for, will develop into a case of dyspepsia that will take a long time to get rid of. Don't neglect your stomach. At the first indication of trouble take something that will help it along in its work of digesting the food you eat. Kodol for indigestion and dyspepsia will do this. Kodol will make your food do you good and will enable you to enjoy what you eat. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

It's advice when you give it and a lecture when you receive it.

The new pure food and drug law.

A real good man doesn't have to use words to tell it.

The way to get rid of a cold, whether it be a "bad cold" or just a little one, is to get it out of your system through the bowels. Nearly all cough cures, especially those that contain opiates, are constipating. Kennedy's laxative cough syrup contains no opiates and acts gently on the bowels. Pleasant to take. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

Cured hay fever and summer colds.

A. J. Nusbaum, Batesville, Ind., writes: "Last year I suffered for three months with a summer cold so distressing that it interfered with my business. I had many of the symptoms of hay fever, and a doctor's prescription did not reach my case, and I took several medicines which seemed to only aggravate my case. Fortunately I insisted upon having Foley's Honey and Tar in the yellow package and it quickly cured me. My wife has since used Foley's Honey and tar with the same success." Sold by all druggists in Tecumseh.

Watchmakers' Fine Eyes.

With a magnifying glass fixed like a black spool in his eye, a watchmaker bent over his table, tinkering with the tiny wheels and springs of a lady's watch.

"It makes me nervous to look at you," the lady said. "And how horridly hard such work as yours must be on the eyes?"

The man leaned back, inflated his cramped chest and smiled.

"Quite the contrary, ma'am," he said. "My work is good for the eyes. I have never suffered from bad eyes myself, and I don't know any watchmakers among my friends that have either. Furthermore, when I visited an oculist the other day to get a pair of spectacles for my wife the man told me that my work was beneficial to the eyes because it required the use of a magnifying glass. He said that nothing did the eyes more good than the use of a magnifying glass for two or three hours every day.

"Notice watchmakers hereafter. You will find their sight is always fine."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Apologized.

A delightful story is told of Thomas Poole. When "a person of some local importance and with certain claims to respect and deference" which everybody recognized took it in his head to hold forth in Poole's presence—perhaps out of pure love of irritating a fellow creature—in authoritative disparagement of Coleridge and Wordsworth, Poole boiled over and told the reviler, in the most emphatic manner, that he was a fool.

Poole was sorry for it afterward. "Did I call him a fool? How very wrong of me! How very wrong! Would it do any good to apologize? I am sure, if it would give him any satisfaction, I would apologize in a moment." So he returned—"I am sure, sir, I am very sorry I was rude to you just now. I apologize most sincerely. I wish I wasn't so hasty. It was extremely wrong of me. But—but—but" (with a gulp, as if he were all but choking) "how could you be such a confounded fool?"—London Standard.

A Silkworm of the Sea.

Silk is obtained from the shellfish known as the pinna (mytilidae), which is found in the Mediterranean. This shellfish has the power of spinning a viscid silk which in Sicily is made into a regular and very handsome fabric. The silk is spun by the shellfish, in the first instance, for the purpose of attaching itself to the rocks. It is able to guide the delicate filaments to the proper place and there glue them fast, and if they are cut away it can reproduce them. The material when gathered (which is done at low tide) is washed in soap and water, dried, straightened and carded, one pound of the coarse filament yielding about three ounces of fine thread, which when spun, is of a lovely burnished golden brown color.—London Graphic.

Frivolous Prayer.

In the memoirs of Comtesse de Boigne, who lived over a hundred years ago, appears the following: "I had a great speculative veneration for that youthful Louise de Conde, weeping for the crimes of her country at the foot of altars. I had formed a romantic idea of her, but it was necessary to avoid seeing the heroine. Common, vulgar and ignorant, she was middle class in her thoughts, in her sentiments, in her actions, words and person. One was tempted to pity God for being so constantly importuned by her. She called on him for help in all the most futile circumstances of her puerile existence. I have seen her offer up prayer to recover a ball of wool which had fallen under her chair."

A Nutmeg Revelation.

"Brush that white powder off the nutmegs before you begin to grate 'em," said the chef to the young apprentice.

"But that's the bloom, ain't it?" remonstrated the lad.

"Bloom!" sneered the chef. "No, sir; it is oyster shell powder. The natives, as soon as they gather the nutmeg, roll it in a powder of ground oyster shells, and that protects it on its long voyage to market from the weevils. The weevils otherwise would eat it up. But the powder has served its turn now, so brush it off."—Exchange.

Naturally.

The youngest member of the family had taken enthusiastically to pyrography.

She had just executed a design representing a little girl playing with the cat in front of an old fashioned fireplace.

"It is well done, Bertha," said her mother, inspecting it, "but you have managed somehow to make the little girl look scared."

"That's all right, mamma," answered Bertha. "A burnt child dreads the fire."—Chicago Tribune.

Unapplauded Heroes.

It is a strange thing that the applause of men greets only those who fight with men. They who battle with the enemies of man, with disease, with accident, with unknown forces and unknown seas and lands, these men must fight and, if necessary, die almost unnoticed by their fellows.—London Lancet.

A Sea Story.

The good ship Fair Wind was bowling along before the nor'west trade. The captain was in the galley peeling potatoes for the men's dinner; the mate was swabbing down the poop; the cook was shooting the sun and the apprentices were merrily shooting holes in the skylight with chunks of plum duff.

"There she blows!" cried the man in the crow's nest.

Instantly all was excitement.

"There what blows?" yelled the skipper.

"The wind," answered the lookout, with a hoarse laugh.

The captain burst into tears.

"Kidded aboard my own ship," he wept, but his tears were interrupted by a wild yell from the forecastle.

"Land ho!"

"Whereaway?" cried the skipper.

"At the bottom." A sneering laugh from the hands.

"Fooled again," said the captain tearfully. And with a plunge over the side he was gone.—New York American.

So Called Intelligence In Animals.

Now the so called intelligence of the lower animals is largely like that of the rills that find their way to the sea, or of the seeds of the plants that find their way to their proper habitat. Marsh plants find their way to the marshes, hill plants find their way to the hills. The spores of the black knot seem to hunt out every plum tree in the land. The rats and the mice find their way to your new house or new barn because they are constantly on the search for new fields. The squirrels find the acorn grove and the birds the cherry trees for the same reason. Their necessities for food send them in all directions till they hit the right spots. I cleared off a swamp in the woods and put a ditch through it; in two or three years the cattail flag was growing in my ditch. These winged seeds from distant swamps traversed the air in all directions, and when the wind dropped them on the proper soil they took root and throve; all others—vastly the greater number—came to naught.—John Burroughs in Atlantic.

The Fatal Bowsprit.

Now, if you have never reefed a mizzen or jigger, as we generally call it, on a small boat running off under a press of sail in a seaway, you have never done an acrobatic stunt that knocks out the most thrilling feats of the arena. It is not so bad as laying out on the headspar to shift a jib, because the wet is left out, and therefore it is a job not so detested by seamen. Working on the bowsprit is most dreaded of all sea jobs. More men lose their lives off that spar than from all other parts of the ship together. Driving along she takes a plunge into it, at the same time the heavy foot of the sail bangs across, knocking off your hold, and overboard you go to be swept under and trodden upon by the swift rushing forefoot. A dark night on a jib boom with a half muzzled sail storming about and the spar end pitching, bucking and forking the brine at every plunge—there may be nastier places; if so, they have never crossed my hawse.—T. F. Day in Outing Magazine.

The Inspiring "Rebel Yell."

To know truly what the "rebel yell" was one must have heard it with the din and the roar of the rifles and the thunder of the artillery; with the shrieks of the wounded and the groans of the dying; must have seen mother earth being discolored with the rich blood of valorous men. "When Greek joined Greeks, then was the tug of war;" when Americans met Americans, it was then the "rebel yell" was given birth. It was a thing to inspire brave men to action, to give resolution strength; to the coward it was a consuming terror. The man who could stand unbalanced in the face of the real "rebel yell" in the days of its strength may justly lay claim to a courage that knows no faltering.—Knoxville Journal.

Carlyle's Bumptiousness.

Joachim, the great violinist, was introduced to Carlyle by a mutual friend. The sage was about to take his morning walk, and he asked Joachim to accompany him. During a very long walk in Hyde park Carlyle kept the conversation running on Germany and its great men—the Fredericks, Moltke and Bismarck—until at last Joachim thought it was his turn to take a lead, and he started with the inquiry, "Do you know Sterndale Bennett?"

"No," was the reply, and, after a pause, "I don't care generally for musicians; they are an empty, wind bagg sort of people."

First Run on a Bank.

The first "run" on banking institutions in London was in 1667. Many Lombard street goldsmiths and bankers had lent out the money intrusted to them and, being called upon for payment, were unable to meet the demand. A crowd of creditors and others assembled, and a riot followed, in which four bankers were hanged at their own doors before order could be restored and the angry creditors persuaded that they were not being swindled.

Lots of Degrees.

First Professor—That man has been signally honored by many colleges. Second Professor—I should say so. He has been given enough degrees to qualify him for a first class thermometer.—Milwaukee Journal.

The Cunning Actor.

A specialist in dipsomania was talking about the cunning with which dipsomaniacs to confinement will obtain liquor.

"A certain noted but intemperate actor," said Dr. Gresham James, "was once locked up by his manager in order that he might not spoil the evening performance by overdrinking. His confinement was close. Windows, doors—everything was locked and barred.

"But the actor beckoned to a man in the street, showed a greenback and bawled to him through the closed window to go and buy a bottle of brandy and a clay pipe.

"When the man returned with these purchases the actor called:

"'Stick the pipe stem in through the keyhole.'

"This was done.

"'Now,' said the actor, 'pour the brandy carefully into the bowl.'

"As the fluid fell into the bowl the actor sucked it up, and when his manager came to release him that evening he lay in a corner quite gloriously drunk."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

The Way It Read.

The editor of a little paper was in the habit of cheering up his subscribers daily with a column of short pertinent comments on their town, their habits and themselves. The department was the most popular thing in the paper.

The editor, as he saw it growing in favor, gradually allowed himself a wider latitude in his remarks until the town passed much of its time conjecturing "what he'd das't to say next."

On a hot day when the simoom whistled gayly up the street of the town, depositing everywhere its burden of sand, the editor brought forth this gem of thought:

"All the windows along Main street need washing badly."

The next morning he was waited on by a platoon of indignant citizens, who confronted him with the paragraph in question fresh from the hands of the compositor and informed him fiercely that he had gone too far. After a hasty and horrified glance he admitted that he had. It now read:

"All the widows along Main street need washing badly."—Everybody's.

His Mother's Ruse Failed.

A Kansas City professional man, who is prominently identified with Missouri politics, tells the following story on himself:

"My folks moved from Indiana to Johnson county, Mo., when I was six years of age. We settled on a farm near Holden. The first Sunday we were there and while the family was preparing for Sunday school it was discovered that I did not have any shoes. My mother, realizing that 'folks would talk' if one of her children made his first public appearance barefooted, suggested that I have a cloth tied around one foot to create the impression that I was unable to wear shoes because of a sore foot. So the rag was tied on me. Everything went along smoothly, and I learned all about bears eating the bad children up when I heard a snicker from a boy I afterward licked. He was pointing to my right foot. I glanced downward.

"The rag had slipped off, and my mother's ruse was exposed."—Kansas City Star.

Speechless, but Graphic.

A knowledge of the art of drawing is sometimes very useful. A well known caricaturist had done himself very well at a dance and was being put into a cab by some friends, none of whom knew where he lived, and he himself was more or less speechless. At last, however, he managed to extricate a pencil and a sheet of paper from his pocket and drew a sketch, which, when finished, he handed out of the cab. The drawing was a clear sketch of a well known church steeple in Langham place. They all recognized it, and, with shrieks of laughter, handed it to the cabman, who remarked:

"All right, I knows it—Langham street," and he drove off.—Illustrated Bits.

The Stage Doorkeeper.

It is one of the traditions of the profession that every actor and actress on entering the theater shall say "Good evening" and on leaving "Good night" to the stage doorkeeper. During the many dreary hours I have been permitted to stand in the stuffy hallways of many stage doorkeepers I have never known an actor, from the haughtiest Shakespearean star to the lowliest chorus girl, fail to greet the stage doorkeeper with enthusiasm, and I can remember but few instances of the greeting ever having been returned.—Charles Belmont Davis in Outing Magazine.

Her Secret Sorrow.

"That woman over there has some hidden sorrow," declared the sympathetic one as she came in and took her seat at a table not far away. "I have often noticed her. See. Her companion orders everything she could possibly want, and yet she sits there silent with a face like a mask. I am awfully sorry for her."

"Don't you worry," advised her pessimistic friend. "That's her husband with her. She's bored, that's all."—New York Press.

Question For Question.

"My son wants to marry your daughter. Does she know how to cook a good dinner?"

"Yes, if she gets the materials for one. Does your son know how to supply them?"—Baltimore American.

Idleness always envies industry.—Italian Proverb.

The Story of a Rifle Shot.

Perhaps no one knows, or ever will know, how much in the Spanish-American war a single rifle ball accomplished toward bringing the conflict to an early close. It was a sergeant of the Ninth infantry who fired the shot, at a distance of more than 1,500 yards, that nearly severed the left arm of General Linares from his body and gave the supreme command at Santiago to General Toral. Sergeant McInarney was the most advanced soldier of the American forces, and took position in a tree. Beyond, within the breastworks, he noticed an officer upon a gray horse, apparently making an inspection of the entire line. Though the order had gone out that day that no firing should be indulged in, McInarney drew a bead upon the horseman and brought him down. Later it was learned that the sergeant's target was General Linares, regarded as the best of Spain's fighters in Cuba. Toral, a commander who was anxious for a speedy termination of hostilities, assumed command, and a few hours later Santiago capitulated to the Americans.—New York Tribune.

ISSUES STATEMENT.

Was Aware of Doings and Plans of Cuban Conspirators.

Havana, Sept. 27.—The following statement was given out by Governor Magoon last evening:

"The governor issued a statement this afternoon in which he said regarding the arrest of Masso Parra, Juan Ducassi and Lara Miret, that he had been advised of their actions for some time past and had waited for them to carry out their work to some definite end. He was well aware of their conspiracy, and deemed it advisable to put an end to the disturbance they were creating.

"To this the governor would add that Cuba has many important questions to occupy its attention for the next six or eight months, and it is desired that the minds of the people be not distracted from these important matters by agitators and disturbers of the peace and tranquility of the island.

"The men arrested appeared to be the leaders and directors of this movement."

Washington, Sept. 27.—Official word of the arrests of conspirators in Havana reached the war department in the following cablegram addressed by Gov. Magoon to acting Secretary Oliver:

"Information more specific and certan than heretofore received was secured late last night that Maso Parra, angered by failure to bring about an uprising, threatened to dynamite some building in Havana and then escape. The local police arrested him and two of his gang named Lara Miret and Duessee, and they are now in jail."

"Love Greater Than Law."

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 27.—The church trial of Rev. Wilbert P. Ferguson, of the Methodist church, was resumed yesterday with Mrs. E. A. Cross, the accusing witness, on the stand. Her testimony was similar to that given during the preliminary investigation, admitting that she had been guilty of misconduct with the minister who was her boarder. Mrs. Cross stated that the minister had assured her that love was greater than law.

Paris Police Are Suspicious.

Paris, Sept. 27.—The police have ordered a post-mortem examination of the body of Mrs. Frank Galbraith of Chicago, the American woman who is said to haves hot herself with a revolver on Tuesday, dying the following day. Owing to the unusual position of the wounds the doctors in attendance declined to give a certificate as to the cause of death. At the same time, however, there is little doubt that the wounds were self-inflicted.

The new railroad commission will meet and organize at Lansing, Monday.

Editor Pipp Takes a Wife.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 27.—The marriage of Miss Bess M. Bratton and Mr. E. G. Pipp, managing editor of the Detroit News, was solemnized at the residence of Rev. William T. Jacquess, 90 Avery avenue, at 7 o'clock Thursday night. Miss Bratton was for years an intimate friend of Mr. Pipp's family, and for the last two and a half years has had the care of his children. Mr. nd Mrs. Pipp went immediately to their home, 674 Fourteenth avenue.

Say Indian Was Murdered.

Bay Shore, Mich., Sept. 27.—Charged with having brutally murdered in a fight Joe Kewaskagsun, an Indian living three miles south of here, Wm. Horton and Otto Jettaway are in jail. The mutilated body of the Indian was found lying beside the road. Horton and Jettaway were arrested on information given the sheriff by companions of the alleged murderers, who say they witnessed the affair.

A man who can lose $500 on stocks and forget about it the next day will complain for weeks about the loss of an umbrella.—Chicago Record-Herald.

"All Hands Abandon Ship!"

A naval officer thus describes the realistic "All hands abandon ship" drill: "Two minutes after the word has been passed every ship's boat has swung from its davits into the water, and a minute later every boat is thoroughly provisioned and watered. Within four minutes and often in much quicker time every man of the ship's company, from the commanding officer down, is occupying the station in the boat called for by his ship's number, and then the command 'Shear off!' is given. The boats are hauled away a couple of hundred feet from the deserted vessel, and she rides without a human soul aboard her, often when the drill is gone through in midocean in a sea that the la[illegible] could accomt terrific. Then the word 'Board!' is passed, and within eight minutes at the most all hands are not only on board again, but every boat has been relashed to the davits, all of the provisions, water, instruments and other gear have been removed, and the ship's company is in a fair way to get to sleep again."

Wins Harvard Scholarship.

The scholarship offered by the Harvard club of Cleveland, has fallen to Ralph W. Peters, a graduate of Lincoln high school, class of 1907, who passed all his examinations with credit. He will this month enter the freshman class at Harvard.

The Harvard club, an association of Harvard graduates, of which Charles Mayberry is president, and Parmlee Herrick, chairman of the scholarship committee, offered to the Cleveland high schools last year a scholarship at Harvard of the value $400 a year, the prize to be awarded after the entrance examinations had been taken and the school records of the various candidates investigated.

The above article is taken from the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Ralph Peters is a grandson of Mrs. Charlotte Shepard of Cleveland, well known here.

FOOTBALL

Coach E. Lloyd Knickerbocker of the D. U. S. has introduced a new stunt among local school football teams, in that he holds his daily practice in the morning instead of afternoon. Every forenoon at 10 o'clock the Elmwood avenue boys are out on the field for their drills which lasts an hour. In the afternoon they can employ their time as they see fit.—Detroit Free Press.

The return of "Indian" Schulte, who coached the Normal football team to victory last year, has set the fans to speculating on the prospect of another winning team. Hicks and Stevens and the squad will receive a number of good men from the high schools, notably McKay, the fast back.

The schedule includes games at home with Adrian college and the Central and Western Normals, and away with Detroit and Hillsdale college and the Flint Mutes.—Kalamazoo Telegraph.

Why you should buy a

Deering Corn Binder.

1. It is the only machine tha will bind the corn laying down which is the only correct way to prevent corn from geing knocked off the stalk.

2. It will pick up the small and down corn better than any machine made.

3. It has a gear drive instead of a chain drive which prevents picking up weeds and trash.

4. As machinery will positively be higher (because of high price of material and labor) you can save $15.00 by buying this fall. Come in and talk it over.

It will cost me more but I will cheerfully pay the additional cost and will not raise the rents on my tenants to help pay it either Now strike out for another good factory like the Anthony Fence Co. Have all the people chip in and raise a subscription to get another good factory there. Let us boom the town. You can put me down for a block of stock if you can get a good enterprise started. Wishing you success, I am, Yours very truly,

"Kerry Gow."

"Sing sweet harp, oh sing to me
Some song of ancient days,
Whose sounds, in this sad memory,
Long buried dreams shall raise."

Like a breath from the green hills and vales of the Emerald Isle, is the work of Bernard Daly in "Kerry Gow." The insouscience and high Celtic temperament of the man, his merry quip and dashing comraderie, mingled with the romantic sadness, ever ready championship of the helpless and his supreme nobility of character must ever combat all that is mean and despicable, carries his audience with him in a heart throbbing interest that never flags from the rise of the curtain until it has descended upon the last scene. The moments when Daly's high and bell-like tenor voice rises in the notes of some dear old Irish melody, are moments when the theaters in which he plays are hushed, to be followed at the close of the strains by instantaneous bursts of applause. Daly comes to the New Bradley Wednesday, Oct. 2, in "Kerry Gow" under the management of U. D. Newell.

A New Lamp.

Over at D. L. Whitenack & Co's. store may be seen really a novelty in the way of a kerosene lamp. It is a very neatly constructed parlor lamp that burns common kerosene oil but has a mantle same as a gas or gasoline lamp and gives a light better than either of them. It is truly a wonder but must be seen to be appreciated.

Jones—Lowry.

A very pretty home wedding occurred Thursday, Sept. 26th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Jones in Bronson, Mich., when their youngest daughter, Eva M., was united in marriage to Albert R. Lowry of Tecumseh. At high noon the bride and groom, with Miss Ina Clark as bridesmaid and Fred D. Jones Jr., brother of the bride, as best man, took their places under a large floral hook and eye, which played the same important part in the decorations at the weddings of the bride's sister and two cousins, thus making it a family emblem.

Rev. G. W. Howe of Bay City, spoke the words that united the destinies of the two lives. Congratulations followed the ceremony, also a shower of rice. The guests were then seated to a sumptuous wedding breakfast which was served by four of the bride's girl friends. After breakfast the bride and groom started for the depot in an automobile that was gorgeously decorated with posters, old shoes, sleighbells, etc. They left on the west bound train amid a shower of rice and good wishes.

After their bridal trip they will be at home to their many friends at the "Shawnee," the hotel of which Mr. Lowry is proprietor. The bride is one of Bronson's most popular and highly esteemed young ladies. The groom is a prominent young business man of Tecumseh. A host of friends offer congratulations.

VanNess—Symonds.

Yesterday morning at 6:30 at the parsonage occurred the marriage of Miss Gertrude VanNess, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hudson Conkling to Clarence Symonds. Rev. Dunning performed the ring service after which a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's grandparents. The young couple left at 9 o'clock for a ten days' trip to Detroit, Buffalo and Niagara Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Symonds are well known in Tecumseh, the bride having resided here all her life and this place having been the groom's home for the last three years. They have the heartiest congratulations of a large number of friends and relatives.

Matthewson—Tyson.

Dr. Forrest Tyson of Bangor, Maine, was married last Wednesday to Miss Margaret Matthewson of Novia Scotia. Dr. and Mrs. Tyson are on their way to Tipton to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Tyson and are expected to arrive there tomorrow night.

Dr. Tyson will be remembered by many here as he attended school in Tecumseh. He is a brother of Mary Tyson, a graduate of the class of '97. Numerous friends extend congratulations.

James Parks.

James Parks of this place died very suddenly last Tuesday afternoon of heart trouble. The remains were taken to the home of his brother, Alec Park, where the funeral was held this morning at 10 o'clock, Rev. Dunning officiating. Besides his brother he leaves a sister, Mrs. Anna Sloan, of Homer.

Another Letter

From our California friend

W. P. STOCKING.

Graduates of the Tecumseh High School recall olden times.

Two interesting letters from Mr. Stocking of California, have been on hand for several weeks but on account of so much "sewer" which could not be delayed. We can now enjoy them as before.

I was very much interested in the Tecumseh commencement exercises as recorded in the HERALD and although the participants were entire strangers to me I read their productions through with much pleasure. "The Sunny Side of Life" by Mary Snellcor I enjoyed very much and I thought from the tone of her essay that the compliment which the author of "Class Gifts" paid her, was more than deserved.

As a teacher she will have but little use for switches for one who is "quiet, unruffled, always the same" will win the love and respect of her pupils and they will take pleasure in anticipating her wishes regarding their conduct. "If she ever knew an evil thought she spoke no evil word." What a pure gold tribute to character. It is a great pity that more of us, old and young, cannot have it said of us. I trust Miss Snellcor will not consider me impertinent in making these remarks about a stranger. I'd like to reach over the Rockies, take her by the hand and say to her, you struck a cord in my young, old heart which vibrates to the sentiment you so tersely put in your production.

I can testify to to the soundness of your mind on that subject by the fact that the little woman who has been my companion for 46 years is of a sunny, hopeful, optimistic disposition and although she has had causes in plenty she has seldom given way to the blues. There are many such characters scattered about in our quiet homes of which the world at large knows but little because they have not been in the public life as was Abraham Lincoln.

The "Class Gifts" no doubt afforded much amusement but in some instances the gifts were not appropriate to the positions foretold in the "Prophesy." As I read my thoughts went back to the closing exercises of the Tecumseh schools along somewhere in the fifties. In those days we had no written examinations, no promotion cards, no commencement exercises, no seniors and juniors, no new fangled methods of finding out how much or how little we knew, simply a review prior to the close of the term and tests given before company during the last days.

All our studies and all work to be done before the class, the school and the company, the pupil being subject to questions and criticism by the class and any one present and proud and happy was the pupil who could face his or her inquisitors with a feeling which could be expressed in some such words as these, "Fire away I know where I am at and you can't drive me from my position."

Sometimes the teacher would hand the books to some visitor with the request that they conduct the examination of the pupil, as an evidence that there had been no coaching for the occasion. How well I can remember our class standing at the board waiting for our work to be assigned to us by the teacher or by one of the visitors, Rev. Blinn, Dr. Patterson, Judge Stacy, Mr. Baxter, Mr. Bills, Mrs. Baxter, Mrs. Blinn, Mrs. Drewyor or Judge LeBaron.

How proud some of us, who were not among the particularly bright ones, were when we had passed this trying ordeal successfully and had received from some of the visitors the encouraging words, "That was well done" and noted the pleased expression on the face of our teacher. On the other hand how ashamed we felt over our failure. How we avoided as far as possible, looking anyone in the face.

Some of your old people who were pupils in those long ago days remember these things don't you? Of course it was a great many years ago, but there are some things that none of us ever forget. In those days we were not held back six months or a year in our grade because we failed in one or two studies, but we were permitted to go on with a study as fast as we could and when that book was finished we took the more advanced book.

I have always considered that the old way is the best way, but of course, I am so far behind the times that what I think is not worte a passing thought by our modern educators who are not content with grading city schools but must grade the rural schools as well.

In those old time school days teachers gave reward of merit cards with prizes for scholarship deportment, attendance, etc. I am glad the custom of giving prizes has been almost or entirely abandoned for it was the source of ill feeling on the part of pupils and parents and many times of injustice to pupils, not through any intention on the part of the teacher but from the fact that other pupils had striven just as industriously and conscientiously for the prize but who for some cause, for which they were not to blame, fell short of the mark and became discouraged and would not try again.

The future of the class though told in verse reminds me of some of our attempts at telling the fortunes of our class mates which caused much merriment and in some cases were not far from correct as was one of the fortunes told of myself.

Perhaps I have said enough, if not too much, on this subject but I want to add just a little more and say that as a finale to the Tecumseh commencement exercises I would like to give the class a moonlight ride on the grand old Pacific, one of the greatest pleasures beach dwellers who love the water enjoy and at this time the ocean is a magnificent phosphorescent sea, every tiny wave giving out a bright phosphorescent light and the great white caps appear as great wavering, tottering, falling, crashing walls of blue flame as far as one can see, but what is the sense of my trying to describe it.

Thousands of people come from far and near to witness the phenomenon. When the light, which lasts for several days, disappears an unpleasant odor fills the air for a few days. Some say the cause is one thing and some another but no one seems to know for a certainty. Now in conclusion if any of the Tecumseh class of '07 ever come to Long Beach be sure and call at 245 Elm Ave.

MERKLE PLAYING

Regularly appearing in Box Scores as New York Giant's First Baseman.

Big Peg Merkle is playing regularly at first base for the New York Giants and the box scores show that the big fellow is getting his hit every day and so far has fielded without an error. One sport writer says that after seeing Merkle work about the initial sack it is a pretty safe guess that McGann's job has gone glimmering. Merkle is making good and not alone in Tecumseh are there many who are pleased to observe it.

Merkle 19, big and sandy, always improved rapidly in baseball from the time he started in the South Michigan league at third base for Tecumseh in 1906. It was after Beasley slumped first that Tecumseh let him go to Mt. Clemens and tried Merkle out at the bag. Merkle liked the position and took to it like a duck to water. He will undoubtedly find much more to learn now that he has reached the big circuit but it is very certain that he will be as apt a pupil as he was at Tecumseh, the town really responsible for bringing him to notice.

Although an ambitious, hard-working ball player like Merkle would be very apt to have attracted attention most anywhere. His home is Toledo. Merkle is batting well, which is a big feather in his cap until he gets thoroughly fastened to big league society. Then should some of the pitchers get on to his weakness and most batters have one, a slump in the poling department would not likely be so serious to him — Jackson Patriot.

EAT WHAT YOU WANT.

Science has found the true way to cure indigestion.

A few years ago, when a sufferer from indigestion went to a stomach specialist, the result was a rigid diet list that almost meant starvation.

But the first thing to do in the case of indigestion or stomach weakness is to strengthen the muscular walls of the stomach and intestines, so that they will care for the food that is eaten. In no other way can this be done as well as by taking a Mi-o-na tablet before each meal. This restores strength to the stomach muscles and stimulates the pouring out of gastric juices, so that the food is digested readily and its nourishment retained in the system to build up energy and vitality.

Do not think the sick headache, heartburn, bad taste in the mouth, coated tongue, spots before the eyes, sleeplessnes and the many other symptoms that are the direct result of indigestion, will go away of themselves. The stomach must be built up and strengthened by Mi-o-na before you will be well and strong, free from suffering and distress.

In many of the best homes in Tecumseh and adjoining towns, the handy little Mi-o-na tablets, so pleasant to take, yet so effective, have given quick and lasting relief from indigestion and that disagreeable full feeling after eating.

The guarantee that C. A. Wright & Son give with every 50-cent box of Mi-o-na to refund the money unless the remedy cures, shows their confidence in the treatment. They take the whole risk and Mi-o-na will not cost you a penny unless it cures.

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL.

Health is worth saving and some people know how.

Many people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of ill health but there is no need to suffer or remain in danger when all diseases due to bad kidneys can be cured by Doan's Kidney Pills. Here is the statement of a Tecumseh citizen, who has reclaimed good health.

E. H. Hyde, living on west Chicago street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I had suffered from kidney trouble about two years. While working for the Lake Shore Ry. I contracted a cold which settled in my kidneys, the pain being so severe that I could not bend or lift anything, being similar to a knife thrust. I used a number of highly recommended remedies but failed to receive more than temporary relief. Finall I began using Doan's Kidney Pills and on using the first box received much benefit so I continued using Doan's Kidney Pills until cured. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to others and will continue to do so."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster Milburn Company, Buffalo, N. Y. sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's,—and take no other.

How can it be "good" evidence when it hangs a man.

There's a reason for that ache in your back—right where it "stitches" every time you bend over, turn around or walk any distance. It's your kidneys. Take DeWitt's kidney and bladder pills. They are unequaled for backache, weak kidneys and inflammation of the bladder. A week's treatment 25 cents. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

We don't mind getting it in the neck if our neighbors get it just as hard.

Healthy kidneys filter the impurities from the blood, and unless they do this good health is impossible. Foley's Kidney Cure makes sound kidneys and will positively cure all forms of kidney and bladder disease. It strengthens the whole system. Sold by all druggists in Tecumseh.

The Best Laxative for Children.

Parents should see to it that their children have one natural, easy movement of the bowels each day. Do not dose the child with salts or griping pills, they are too powerful in effect, and literally tear their little insides to pieces, leaving the bowels weakened and less able to act naturally than before. Laxative Iron-ox Tablets tone and strengthen the bowels, and stimulate all the little organs to healthy activity. Chocolate coated tablets, easy to take, never gripe or nauseate. 10c, 25c and $1.00.

JAPS MUST HAVE PASSPORTS.

Canadian Immigration Agent Surprises Officials.

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 27.—The report from Vancouver that the Dominion immigration agent has notified all steamship and transportation companies that no more Japanese will be admitted to Canada without passports from Japan to Canada was received with some surprise in official circles here. While there is no doubt that this plan would effectually check immigration of Japanese from Hawaii and other points in the Pacific, it is considered very unlikely that the immigration agent would take such an important step without authority from the state department. The secretary of state said last night that he knew of no such arrangement between the two countries. Both W. D. Scott, superintendent of immigration, and Frank Oliver, minister of the interior, are on the coast investigating the question of oriental immigration.

Fourteen Drowned in Tombigbee.

Mobile, Ala., Sept. 27.—A ferryboat crossing the Tombigbee river at the government works at McGrew's shoals near Jackson, Ala., late yesterday was capsized, drowning one white boy and thirteen Negroes. The boy was Leslie Vernuille, 16 years of age, residing in Oaksdale, a suburb of this city. The scene of the accident has long been regarded as a very dangerous place by navigators of the river on account of the rapid and treacherous current and the rocky shoals there.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

TWO NOTABLE EVENTS

Laying Cornerstone of Episcopal Cathedral at Washington.

PRESIDENT MADE ADDRESS

Bishop Satterlee Presided—Imposing Ceremonies, With Choir Boys, Marine Band, Bishops, Clergy and Brotherhood of St. Andrew.

Washington, Sept. 30.—Yesterday witnessed two events here of general interest to the religious world at large and especially to the Episcopal church.

The first and chief of these events was the laying of the foundation of the cathedral of SS. Peter and Paul at Mount St. Alban, Wisconsin avenue. The other was the great open air service on the same grounds, under the auspices of the International Convention of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, which brought to a close the convention which has been in session here for the past week. The cornerstone laying was under the guidance of the Episcopal Church of America.

President Roosevelt was among the early arrivals and occupied the chair of Bishop Satterlee, who presided. This chair, the property of the bishop, was brought to this country from England some four hundred years ago.

The ceremony began with the procession of 300 choir boys, foloiwed by the bishop, the clergy, the cathedral council, and the marine band playing Mendelssohn's "Hymns of Praise," which was sung by the choir as the procession marched into the amphitheater and took their appropriate eats.

The religious service proper commenced with prayer by Rev. Dr. Randolph, McKim of the Church of Epiphany, following upon which Bishop Satterlee announced the object of the occasion. Next came scripture readings, prayers by the bishops, interspersed with selections by the marine band. Then Bishop Satterlee performed the ceremony of laying the foundation stone of the capitol building and the gavel was used by George Washington.

The ceremony of laying the foundation stone completed President Roosevelt, who spoke in part as follows:

"Bishop Satterlee, and you, my friends, and fellow-countrymen, and you, our guests, I have to say but one word of greeting to you today and to wish you Godspeed in the work begun this noon. The salutation is to be delivered by our guest, the bishop of London, who has a right to speak to us because he has shown in his life that he treats high office as high office should alone be treated, and above all, in a democracy such as ours—simply as giving a chance to render advice.

"I greet you here, Bishop Ingram, because you have used your office in the aid of mankind; that while you have served all, you have realized that the greatest need of service was for those to whom least has been given in this world. I believe so implicitly in the good that will be done by and through thits cathedral, Bishop Satterlee, because I know that you and those with you, the people of your church, the people of your kindred churches, to one of which I belong, are growing more and more to realize that they must show by their lives how well they appreciate the truth of the text that they shall be judged by their fruits.

"The times are evil; that is, there is much that is evil in them. It would be to our shame and discredit if we failed to recognize that evil. It would be equally to our discredit if we sank back in sullen pessimism and declined to strive for good because we feared the strength of evil. There is much evil; there is much good, too; and one of the good things is that more and more we must realize that there is such a thing as a real Christian fellowship among men of different creeds and that the real field for rivalry among and between the creeds comes in the rivalry of the endeavor to see which can render best service to mankind, which can do the work of the Lord best by doing his work for the people best.

"I thank you for giving me a chance to say this word of greeting today."

Niagara Falls, Sept. 30.—The spot where Capt. Abraham J. Hull and nine men, of the Ninth regiment, United States infantry, fell in the battle of Lundy's Lane, July 25, 1814, was appropriately marked this afternoon when a huge block of granite was unveiled. The Frontier Landmarks association secured permission from the Canadian government to erect the monument which was unveiled today. The United States department of war was officially represented by Capt. Andrew Brewster, a member of the Ninth infantry stationed at Washington.

IMPOSING EXERCISES

McKinley Monument Dedicated in Presence of Immense Throng.

MANY STATESMEN PRESENT

President, Vice-President, Many Military Notables, Cabinet Officers, Senators, Representives and Others Witness the Pageant.

Canton, O., Sept. 30.—Canton has been in feverisn expectancy for the events of today with the president of the United States, and many other distinguished persons present to participate in and withness the dedication exercises at the McKinley monument. The work incident to the day has been completed by the national and local committees in charge and with fair weather, the best estimates fix the number of strangers present in this city today at 75,000. Ample preparations had been made to feed the multitude and every opportunity in accordance with the ceremony is given visitors to see the parade.

The railroads operating lines in this city ran more than 50 trains, carrying

JUDGE WILLIAM R. DAY.

United States infantry and cavalry, Ohio National Guardsmen, civic organizations and citizens who came in groups and singly from all parts of the nation.

All the trustees of the McKinley National Memorial association are present. The vice-president, members of the president's cabinet, U. S. senators, congressmen, governors of states, representatives of foreign government and other notables are also here.

To accommodate the throng of strangers numerous reviewing stands have been erected and abundant space free to all has been furnished.

President Roosevelt arrived at 10:15 this morning on the Pennsylvania line, and was at once escorted to the congregation of school children in front of the Central high school, where a human flag of children was waiting, and "America" was sung. The president made a short address, and was then escorted to the reviewing stand at 10:45, and later passed in review before the military commanders and their staff at the same point.

Lunch was served to the president and special guests at the Auditorium at 12:30. Thence the president was taken to the speakers' stand erected at the foot of the south stairway leading to the monument. The exercises began at 1:45 p. m.

Justice William R. Day, president of the memorial asociation, will introduce Governor Harris as president of the day. Invocation will be offered by Dr. Frank M. Bristol, of Washington, and Governor Harris will deliver an address. The "Star Spangled Banner" will be sung.

Justice Day will speak on "The Building of the Memorial."

Miss Helen McKinley, sister of the late president, will unveil the bronze statue, on the south staircase. James Whitcomb Riley will read a poem. President Roosevelt will deliver an oration on "McKinley." "America" will be sung and Bishop Horstman, of Cleveland, will pronounce the benediction.

Deserter Taken Back.

Port Huron, Mich., Sept. 30.—Phillis Drinkwater, 19, who says he deserted the Canadian army a few months ago, was taken back to Canada by Chief Pengelly, of Sarnia, Saturday.

A criminal attack

On an inoffensive citizen is often made in that apparently useless tube called the appendix. It is generally the result of protracted constipation, following liver torpor. Dr. King's new life pills regulate the liver and bowels, and prevents appendicitis. 25c at C. A. Wright & Son's.

HIGH SCHOOL FRATS

School Board Members Don't Like Greek Letter Kind.

SAY THEY MAKE BOYS PROUD

Detroit Inspectors Believe Such Societies Promote Snobishness and Clannishness—School Boards in Other Cities Coincide With Them.

Detroit, Sept. 30.—Many members of the Detroit school board are heartily in sympathy with the movement being inaugurated in large cities all over the country to do away with fraternities in the high schools, especially the Greek letter variety.

It is charged that the societies are andemocratic, un-American and foster a spirit of snobishness among boys who ough to have other and more serious considerations to occupy their time. The caste spirit thus engendered is said to be working a great detriment to future generations.

"I am strongly oposed to any fraternity spirit in the high schools" said Inspector Samuel C. Mumford, Sunday night. "I attended probably the first Greek letter fraternity ever formed in Detroit, and I realize now that we were very much stuck up. I do not favor them at all, and I have been thinking for some time of starting an active crusade against them, although I am not prepared at this time to say exactly what I will do.

Exclusiveness a Mistake.

"Exclusiveness is a mistake right from the bottom, and I will do anything I can to stamp it out of the public schools. I haven't heard any serious condemnation of the fraternities lately, but I do not think they work for good."

"I'm sure you'll find that the members of the teaching staff and the principals of the various high schools are strongly against fraternities," said Simpson W. Leonard. "I think they are not the right thing at all. The boys have no business wasting their time and money and thought on such things as that at that time of life. They have so many more things that are so much more valuable to them."

John P. Shivers said he hadn't heard anything against the fraternities, but he didn't think they worked a very great good in the schools.

C. M. Burton was the only one who spoke at all favorably.

"I used to think that they were very detrimental," he said. "I never was a member of one myself, but now that my boys have joined I can see that while they may foster caste distinctions, they do draw some of the boys very much closer together in some ways, and this I think is beneficial. I would be in favor of allowing them to remain as they are."

Anthony Treppa refused to say anything about the situation, saying he had not investigated the matter at all. The other inspectors could not be reached.

Leading educators in other cities are quoted as speaking in the same strain.

Damaged by Fire and Water.

Detroit, Sept. 30.—Fire, smoke and water did damage estimated at $15,000 to the wholesale notion stock of Ald. Rosenthal, 384 High street east, Saturday night. The building is jointly occupied by Rosenthal and the Menzies Shoe Co. The latter firm suffers a loss of about $2,000. Rosenthal's stock was insured for $10,000.

Smoke was discovered issuing from the second floor at 6 o'clock and engine companies 5 and 11 were soon on the scene. After an hour's hard fighting the fire was practically out.

Four Lunatics Escape.

Kalamazoo, Sept. 30.—It has come to light that Mrs. Jennie Smith Taylor, of Allegan; McAvery, of Battle Creek; Colurst, of Benton Harbor, and Bolton, of Jackson, patients at the insane asylum, escaped last Thursday. Mrs. Smith is considered the only dangerous one of the bunch and has a mania for burning buildings. She was on trial for arson at Grand Rapids when she was committed to the asylum.

Legal Absurdities.

Some absurd clauses have found their way into certain acts of the British parliament. One statute enacted punishment of fourteen years' transportation for a certain offense, "and upon conviction one half thereof should go to the king and the other half to the informer." Then there is an act of parliament for the rebuilding of Chelmsford prison which stipulated in one clause that the prisoners should be confined in the old prison until the new one was built and in another—an amending clause that the new prison should be constructed out of the material of the old one.

FELL THROUGH HATCH.

Capt. Nicholson Meets With Fatal Accident.

Escanaba, Mich., Sept. 30.—Capt. James W. Nicholson, one of the pioneer vessel masters of the great lakes, fell into the hold of his boat, the Caledonia, of the Corrigan-McKinney fleet, and was instantly killed, this morning. There were no witnesses to the accident and the body was found with the neck broken in the bottom of the vessel an hour after the accident.

It is supposed that in moving about the boat in the darkness Nicholson stepped into the open hatch and was pitched headlong to death.

Capt. Nicholson, 62 years old, had sailed the great lakes for 40 years. He is survived by a widow and family, who live in Buffalo. The body was shipped to that place tonight.

Dilemma for D. U. R.

Port Huron, Mich., Sept. 30.—Unless General Manager Brooks, of the D. U. R., grants the city of Port Huron longer time on the eight-for-a-quarter tickets, the city threatens to clamp down the lid on the local street car company, which is controlled by the D. U. R. and force them to expend several thousands of dollars in repairs and improvements to its tracks and property here.

Mayor John J. Bell has been besieged wth petitions from the people asking for an extension of the time limit on the tickets. The mayor and a committee from the council went to Detroit to confer with General Manager Brooks, but that gentleman put them off by saying that he had to catch a train and could not talk with them. Mayor Bell said that the aldermen would enforce the city ordinance relative to the railway company's franchise if the ticket proposition was not considered favorably.

Dressmaker Sues Capitalist.

Port Huron, Mich., Sept. 30.—The $10,000 breach of promise suit started against Van E. Crane, a Port Huron capitalist, some time ago, by Miss Sadie Barnes, a pretty and accomplished dressmaker of this city, will come up for trial at the October term of the circuit court. Miss Barnes has placed letters claimed to have been written by Crane in which he proposes marriage, in the hands of her attorneys and these will be introduced in the case. Crane, a few weeks ago, is alleged to have offered Miss Barnes $1,000 in settlement, but Miss Barnes turned the offer down and said she would fight it out. Both parties are prominent.

EXODUS OF SPANISH LABOR

The Government is Alarmed at the Rush to Panama.

Madrid, Sept. 30.—The Spanish government, alarmed at the increasing emigration of Spanish laborers, has entered upon a vigorous campaign to put a stop to the exodus and is directing especial efforts to prevent laborers going to Panama for work on the Isthmian canal. The government claims to possess proof that the laborers are grossly deceived by the recruiting agent of the canal and that upon their arrival at Panama they are compelled to live and work under the most atrocious conditions. The complaints, however, are plainly traceable to the Spanish landlords who find their workmen deserting under the prospect of better wages abroad. Within the past two years thousands of Spaniards have gone to the isthmus and although the number now being forwarded has been reduced to about 10 a week, the applications far exceed that number.

Out of sight.

"Out of sight, out of mind" is an old saying which applies with special force to a sore, burn or wound that has been treated with Bucklen's arnica salve. It is out of sight, out of mind and out of existence. Piles and chilblains disappear under its healing influence. Guaranteed by C. A. Wright & Son. 25c.

The Home of Good Clothes for Man and Boy.

That distinguished appearance, which marks the man who is rightly dressed, is characteristic of Clothcraft Clothes. There is no suggestion of that offensive loudness of freaky innovations—but it is a dignity of style that carries with it the impression of smart fashion. A young widow has a peculiar way of seeing a man without looking at him.

Thos. A. Edison, the great American inventor, says "Fully eighty per cent of the illness of mankind comes from eating improper food or too much food; people are inclined to over indulge themselves." This is where indigestion finds its beginning in nearly every case. The stomach can do just so much work and no more and when you overload it, or when you eat the wrong kind of food the digestive organs cannot possibly do the work demanded of them. It is at such times that the stomach needs help. It demands help and warns you by headaches, belching, sour stomach, nausea and indigestion. You should attend to this at once by taking something that will actually do the work for the stomach. Kodol will do this. It is a combination of natural digestants and vegetable acids and contains the same juices found in a healthy stomach. It is pleasant to take. It digests what you eat. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

A man doesn't have to wear good clothes if he can afford not to.

Majestic Webster.

Theodore Parker gave the following graphic description of Daniel Webster in the famous three hour sermon preached soon after Webster's death:

He was a man of large mould, a great body and a great brain. He seemed made to last a hundred years. Since Socrates there has seldom been a head so massively large save the stormy features of Michael Angelo. Since Charlemagne I think there has not been such a grand figure in all Christendom. A large man decorously in dress, admitted in deportment, he walked as if he felt himself a king. The cool hewers and porters of London looked in him for one of the great forms of the time. They recognized a master king. In the senate of the United States he looked an emperor in that senate. Even the majestic Clay looked cultivated, and Webster left a Fox. What a mouth he had! It was a Rock's mouth. He there was a sweet grandeur in the smile and a woman's softness when he willed it. Yet it grew at will. What eyes! The colossal dark Wolf! His face was marked with volcanic fires, great passions and great thoughts. The fires of God burned and gave the Man to throw a majestic front.

Came Near It.

Will and honesty are much elemental, fundamental, I may say, that it has always been a matter of doubt to analyze them. Some people believe, however, that when a man assaulted this premise back comes the reply they all hold that will is an intellectual, humor an emotional, quality, that will is a perception of sequence and humor a perception of contrast or discrepancy, of incongruity. The incongruity is that which arises between the ideal and the fact, between theory and practice, between promise and performance, and perhaps it might be added that it is almost or almost always a moral incongruity. In the case both of wit and humor there is also a pleasurable surprise, a gentle shock which accompanies our perception of the hitherto unsuspected resemblance or incongruity. A New England farmer was once describing in the presence of a very humane person the age, race and debility of a horse that he formerly owned and used. "You ought to have killed him," interrupted the humane person indignantly. "Well," drawled the farmer, "we did—almost." Atlantic.

A Stage Statesman.

In his "Edison and O'Reilly" Theodore Andrea Cook tells a story of the English statesman and sport Fox. He had wagered something about a waistcoat which could only be obtained in Paris; went off to Dover by night, caught the mail packet, posted to Paris and back to Calais, and remembered he had a horse riding at Newmarket. He chartered a fishing boat bound for the eastern counties, just got to Newmarket in time for the race, took the post back to London and stopped on the way to dine. In the middle of the port and dice after dinner he was caught by a special messenger who had been hearing over half of England in search of him and reminded that he had to move to bring in a marriage bill in the house of commons. He rushed to the stables, reached the house in time to make a brilliant speech in reply to North and Burke and defeated North on a division by a single vote.

The Bee's Feet.

Naturalists say that the feet of the common working bee exhibit the curious combination of a basket, a brush and a pair of pinchers. The brush, the hairs of which are arranged in symmetrical rows, is seen only with a high grade microscope. With this brush of fairy delicacy the bee brushes its velvet robe to remove the pollen dust with which it becomes loaded while sucking up the nectar of flowers. Another delicate apparatus is the spoon shaped appendage that receives the gleanings that the bee wishes to carry to the hive. Finally, by opening the brush and the basket by means of a neat little hinge, the two become a pair of pinchers, which render important service in constructing the cells for the reception of the honey.

Tinned Tongue.

"Are you studying Esperanto, Mr. Idiot?" asked the linguist.

"I am not," said the idiot. "I can talk too much in English if I want to."

"It is a very fine language," said the linguist—"condensed, concise and easily acquired."

"No doubt," said the idiot. "But I don't care for potted tongue."—Broadway Magazine.

The Bachelor's View.

"What is the most aggravating thing in married life?" asked Dorothy.

"Sometimes," said the bachelor friend, "it's the husband, and sometimes it's the wife."

A Dumas Story.

Dumas the elder was rarely spiteful to or about his fellow men, but one day, when he happened to be in that mood, a friend called to tell him a piece of news. "They have just given M. X. the Legion of Honor," he said. Then he added in a significant tone, "Now, can you imagine why they should have given it to him?"

"Yes," answered the great dramatist promptly. "They have given it to him because he was without it."

Tennyson's Cynicism.

Sir Vere de Vere was the eldest son of Sir Aubrey de Vere, the sonneteer and friend of Wordsworth. His brother, Aubrey de Vere, was a more than well known, a famous poet, and to him in his youth Walter Savage Landor addressed the exhortation:

Make thy proud name still prouder for thy sons.

He had no sons, however, never having married. Neither had his brothers, Vere and Stephen. Thus the name, as a family name, disappears.

The De Veres were early friends of Tennyson's, and it was from them that the poet took the name which he made proverbial and symbolical of a class—"the caste of Vere de Vere." Lady de Vere, the only Lady de Vere of fact then living, was inclined to sin that her name should be bestowed upon the black hearted Lady Clara of fiction.

Tennyson wrote dainty verses, but was not master of dainty manners. He growled: "Why should you care? But of course you don't. I didn't make your namesake ugly, and I didn't make her stupid. I only made her wicked."

They Needed the Medicine.

Some years ago a railway was being made in the west of Scotland, and it was arranged that each of the numerous laborers employed should pay a penny per week to a medical practitioner, so that they might have his services in the event of accident or medicine in case of illness.

During the summer and autumn neither illness nor accident occurred.

But when a severe winter followed all at once the "navigators" began to call on the doctor for castor oil.

Each brought his bottle, into which an ounce was poured, until the oil was exhausted, and the doctor was forced to send to town for a further supply.

When that, too, was getting low the doctor one day quietly asked a healthy looking fellow what was wrong with the men that they required so much castor oil.

"Nothing wrong at all, doctor," he replied, "but we grease our boots with it."—London Chronicle.

Applying the Test.

"There was a barber in an Indiana city who, having been out late the night before, had a shaky hand the next morning and cut a patron's cheek four times," said the man who insisted he saw the incident. "After each accident the barber said as he sponged away the blood, 'Oh, dear me, how careless!' and laughed and let it go at that.

"The patron took all those gashes in grave silence, but when the shave was over he filled a glass at the water cooler, took a mouthful of water and, with compressed lips, proceeded to shake his head from side to side and to toss it up and down.

"'What is the matter?' the barber asked. 'You ain't got the toothache, have you?'

"'No,' said the customer. 'I only just wanted to see if my mouth would still hold water without leaking, that was all.'"—Philadelphia Record.

Another Reason.

An English clergyman visiting in this country told of a jilting that had happened in his parish. He said that he had an appointment to marry a couple at 4 on a certain afternoon. He appeared duly, and the bride appeared, but not the bridegroom. The clergyman and the lady, silent and embarrassed, waited in the quiet church from 4 till 6. Then they sadly departed. A week later the same couple wrote to the clergyman again, appointing another afternoon at 4 for the ceremony. And again the clergyman and the bride were on hand duly, and again the groom failed to turn up. As the two waited time passed slowly in the still and empty church. It grew darker. Five o'clock sounded, then 6. And then the bride broke the silence with a fierce ejaculation.

"Drat him!" she cried. "'Tain't his trousers this time, 'cause I bought him a pair."

Willis Is Barking.

Edward Bulwer Lytton Dickens, the youngest son of the novelist, emigrated to Australia and died in Sydney at the age of fifty-one. He represented a constituency in the parliament of New South Wales for six years. Once when he was addressing the house in Sydney he was again and again snappishly interrupted by a member named Willis. At last Mr. Dickens stopped to remark: 'Mr. Speaker, my father coined a famous phrase, 'Barkis is willin.' Under present circumstances I am strongly tempted to reverse it and say, 'Willis is barking.'" The house laughed and the interruptions ceased.

The Nurse's Part.

"Why do so many people insist on having nurses for their children?" asked the motherly woman.

"That is easily explained," answered the unpleasant man. "A nurse enables a woman to send a crying baby out of her own hearing and let it stay on the sidewalk to annoy the neighbors."—Washington Star.

An Improvement.

"Jumping cats!" yelled the victim in the chair. "You've cut off part of my ear!"

"Why, so I have," replied the barber coolly, "but you must admit it looks better than the other ones does."

His Three Laughs.

"The fool," wrote Burne-Jones in one of his letters, "has three laughs. He laughs at what is good, he laughs at what is bad, and he laughs at what he does not understand."

Talent is that which is in a man's power. Genius is that in whose power a man is.—Lowell.

Same Kind of Cat.

Ethel, aged eight, had succeeded in making her dog stand up on his hind legs, but her efforts to make the cat do likewise resulted in the little girl getting a bad scratch, whereupon she exclaimed, "You d——d cat!"

Her horrified mother, who overheard her, punished her severely, but, not disheartened, Ethel the next morning again endeavored to induce puss to emulate the dog, and again she felt the force of the feline claws. "You"—the angry child began, when her mother said warningly:

"Ethel!"

"Well," she continued, "you are just the same kind of a cat you were yesterday."—Judge.

Willing to Compromise.

During a match at St. Andrew's, Scotland, a rustic was struck in the eye accidentally by a golf ball. Running up to his assailant, he yelled, "This 'll cost ye £5—£5!" "But I called out 'fore' as loudly as I could," explained the golfer. "Did ye, sir?" replied the troubled one, much appeased. "Weel, I didna hear. I'll take fower."

Laughed Away the Danger.

An old traveler tells of an experience of his in midocean. The day was foggy, and most of the passengers were below listening to two evangelists who were holding a particularly fervid gospel meeting in the saloon. Suddenly and without the slightest warning there was a terrific crash and the engines stopped. Every one rushed on deck. The steamer had run into an iceberg.

Nobody knew what damage had been done, and everybody was ready to fly into a panic. The boats were lowered, and then for the first time the two evangelists, who had been forgotten in the saloon, appeared on deck. They wore their overcoats and their hats, and they carried rugs and handbags. They elbowed their way rudely to the rail, with the evident intent of securing for themselves first places in the boat. It was just at a time when a breath would have sent the passengers panic stricken into the boats.

The sight of the two evangelists was about to undo the work of cool headed officers when a pert little cockney stepped up to the gentlemen with the rugs and handbags.

"Beg pardon," said he, tipping his cap, "'ave a cab, sir?"

And in the general laugh the danger of panic was averted.

Could Not Risk It.

A dealer in real estate tells this story: A middle aged widow came to his office to try to make arrangements for the purchase of a house and lot. "We can make a small payment down," she said, "and would sign a mortgage running for a period of five years to secure the payment of the rest of the money. My daughters have good positions as bookkeepers in a large mercantile establishment and can save enough out of their salaries to meet the payments as they become due."

The real estate man hesitated.

"I should want to be sure of you paying for the property in the stipulated time," he said. "I should feel like a criminal if I had to foreclose the mortgage at any time and yet business is business. I shall have to see your daughters."

She brought them to his office the next day.

"Madam," he said, shaking his head, "you will have to give me some additional security. Your daughters are too handsome. They will marry and lose their jobs long before the five years are up."

Indestructible Cat.

While expounding to his wife the alleged fact that men can control their tempers better than women can, Mr. Hinks fell over the cat and nearly broke his nose.

"That settles it!" he hissed. "I've often threatened, but now I'll drown the brute!"

His wife begged him to be merciful, but his mind was made up.

Accordingly he placed the offending feline, along with two large bricks, in an old flour sack and hastened upon his murderous errand. On reaching the canal he threw in the bag with such vigor that he overbalanced and fell into the muddy water. After struggling for half an hour and incidentally drinking half the water in the canal, he returned home wet and weary.

At the door sat the cat.

"Well, of all"— exclaimed Hinks. "Why, I drowned the brute!"

"I don't think so," said his wife as she let him in. "You didn't give me time to tell you that there was a hole in that bag!"—London Answers.

Waves of Water.

Waves are deceptive things. To look at them one would gather the impression that the whole water traveled. This, however, is not so. The water stays in the same place, but the motion goes on. In great storms waves are sometimes forty feet high, and their crests travel fifty miles an hour. The base of a wave (the distance from valley to valley) is usually considered as being fifteen times the height of the wave. Therefore a wave twenty-five feet high would have a base extending 375 feet. The force of waves breaking on the shore is seventeen tons to the square inch.

He Picked Them.

An English commercial traveler visiting a large Glasgow warehouse made a bet with the manager that he could pick out all the married men among the employees. Accordingly he stationed himself at the door as they came back from dinner and mentioned all those whom he believed to be married, and in almost every case he was right.

"How do you do it?" asked the manager in amazement.

"Oh, it's quite simple," said the traveler, "quite simple. The married men all wipe their feet on the mat; the unmarried ones don't."—Glasgow Times.

Whisky and Typhoid.

It may be interesting for you to know that habitual whisky drinkers never recover when once attacked with typhoid fever or pneumonia. The whisky makes the system unfit to withstand the ravages of the disease, and death is always the result. Eminent physicians all over the world have noted and studied this fact.—E. V. Conden in Nashville Tennesseean.

How He Judged.

First Man—Writing must have been very expensive in the middle ages. They used feathers for pens. Second Man—Why should they be expensive? First Man—Well, I was only judging from my wife's hats.

Nearsighted.

Ella—I have seen twenty-two summers.

Love and Wedlock.

A man of middle age and a youth of romantic appearance sat alone in a smoking compartment of a nearly empty evening train. In the solitude the youth took a photograph from his pocket, looked at it and then said to his companion feverishly:

"Were you ever, sir, in love?"

The man of middle age started. He laughed.

"Was I ever in love?" he repeated as he relighted his pipe. "Was I ever in love? Well, I don't know if—"

"You don't know?" cried the youth. "Well, if you ever had been in love you'd know it. Why, when you're in love your life is a sweet dream, you have no taste for food, you think of nothing but the beauty of—"

"Were you ever married?" snapped the middle aged man.

"No, but—"

"Well, if you ever had been you'd know it. Why, when you're married your life is—"

But the youth, with a scowl, edged off to the far end of the carriage and got out at the next station, disgusted.—London Scraps.

HIGH TIME IN TOKIO.

Secretary Taft and Party Feted by the Japs.

Tokio, Sept. 30.—Preliminary to three days of social and diplomatic activity, Secretary of War Taft and his party spent a quiet Sunday resting in the Palace of Shiba, an ancient and picturesque residence belonging to the imperial family. During the day numerous Japanese dignitaries and officials called upon the secretary, many of them accompanied by their wives.

Charlie Taft organized a baseball game on the famous lawn of the castle with a number of Japanese youths. It was intended to play the game today, but his father objected and caused a postponement until tomorrow.

Among the most important of the callers on the secretary today was Lieut. General Tersuchi, the imperial minister of war, who had a lengthy conference with Mr. Taft. Some importance is being attached to the fact that there have been two conferences between the two war ministers and on account of the mutual admiration and the influence of Lieut. General Terauchi, it is believed in certain quarters that the groundwork is being laid for an entente concerning immigration which, it is conceded, is the only point on which there is difference of opinion between the two countries.

It is estimated that if the opportunity arises during his conference with the emperor Oct. 2, Mr. Taft may broach this subject to him and leave its further arrangement to Mr. O'Brien, the American ambassador. Diplomatic circles, however, do not credit this rumor, it being asserted there that Mr. Taft is not on a direct mission. The probability of such an occurrence, however, is freely discussed among the Japanese.

Another of Mr. Taft's callers today was Leveus E. Willey, representing American commercial interests in Shanghai, who is anxious concerning the attitude of the United States, in view of the talk of the dismemberment of China, and who came here to request that Mr. Taft make a positive statement concerning this on the occasion of the dinner to be given in his honor by the American association of Shanghai. It is understood that Mr. Willey was informed that Secretary Taft would make no statement on the question.

Secretary Taft and his family took a long drive in the imperial carriage this afternoon. The route which the carriage would take had not been announced, but the crowds in the streets recognized the American secretary of war and greeted him with cries of "Banzai" and bows and smiles. It was quite evident that the enthusiasm was spontaneous. The Japanese believe Mr. Taft is a peace envoy.

FATAL RAILWAY COLLISION.

Two Trains Collide at Bellaire, Ohio—Eight Killed.

Wheeling, W. Va., Sept. 30.—Eight men were killed, four fatally injured and 17 more or less seriously hurt late today when the Chicago & Wheeling express train No. 14, on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad was wrecked in the yards in Bellaire, Ohio, a few miles below this city. A freight train had just taken a siding for the express. The passenger train, however, failed to pass over the switch and crashed into the freight.

The dead:

MICHAEL HEINZE, Wheeling.
WILLIAM SHAW, Wheeling.
CARL BERERON, Milwaukee.
I. N. GALBRAITH, freight engineer, Newark, Ohio.
F. E. MOTZ, freight conductor, Newark, O.
HARRY SEITZ, newsboy, Massillon, O.
H. A. LIPSCOMB, passenger engineer, Newark, O.
F. L. ROSE, Arcade, Cleveland, O.

Will die:

W. C. Dosant, D. E. Kneer, E. J. Bilbaugh, mail clerks, Newark, O.; Denny Dailey, Pittsburg.

The wreck was due, it is said, to the failure of an operator to throw a switch. At the point where the wreck occurred there is a very sharp curve, which prevents the engineers of eastbound trains from seeing more than a few feet ahead. The passenger train swung around the curve very rapidly, being three hours late, and should have gone on in safety on the main line. The switch to the siding, however, had not been turned and the train shot on to the siding and into the freight. There was scarcely time to apply the brakes and no time for the enginemen to jump. The two big engines were reduced to junk and the smoker was telescoped completely by the baggage car.

Engineer Galbraith was burned to a crisp by the escaping steam. The injured were taken to the Glendale, W. Va., and Bellaire hospitals.

Among the passengers on the wrecked train were the members of Richard Carle's "Spring Chicken" comic opera, which was to have played at Wheeling this evening. All the members of the company escaped serious injury except Alfred Dalby, the musical director. It was necessary to amputate his right arm, thus ending his career in his profession.

Engineer H. A. Lipscomb, on the passenger train, underwent probably the most heroic surgical operation in modern times. Caught beneath his engine, it was found impossible to remove the broken iron from his body on account of the way in which one of his legs was entangled. Surgeons released him by amputating the leg without anesthetics.

"Packing Off of Widows."

Some curious customs in the way of pastimes prevail in Korea. Among the farming classes there is one known as the "packing off of widows." This means a raid on a certain village known to contain a young widow. A widower, accompanied by friends, enters the village, carries off the woman in question and marries her.

Stationary Waltzing.

"You let him hug you in the conservatory."

"I did not. I made him remove his arm every time the music in the ballroom stopped."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Mrs. Harry Marsh.

Linnie E. Allen was born in Manchester Feb. 14, 1875, where the greater part of her early life was spent. On Friday afternoon, Sept. 27, at 3 o'clock after an illness of nearly a year, she was called to her reward. Aug. 10, 1899, she was united in marriage to Harry Marsh and to this happy union were born seven children, Harry A., Doris N., Dale S., Mildred A., Gladys E., who died in infancy, Bessie I. and Gerald E., who mourn the loss of a loving and thoughtful mother.

In her christian associations she was a member of the M. E. church, having joined at Tipton in 1894. The funeral was conducted from the home Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. Ward officiating. LITERARY NOTES.

In the October Lippincott's there is a story called "Miss Carmichael and the Janitor," by Adele Marie Shaw, which should be of especial interest to school teachers and in fact, to all who have anything to do with our public school system. The tale describes the encounter between a spunky young schoolmarm and a man with a "pull"—a regrettable state of affairs which has many a counterpart in real life, though not always with such startling results.

The migration of the elephant from the ancestral home in the Fayum desert all over Europe and through North and South America, according to Prof. Henry Fairfield Osborn of Columbia, is with the single exception of the peregrinations of the horse, the most remarkable feat of travel in the whole history of creation. The story of this migration is told by Prof. Osborn for readers of the October Century as part of his article on the discoveries of the recent African expidition of the American Museum of Natural History, of which expedition he was in charge.

My dear old Mother.

"My dear old mother, who is now 83 years old thrives on Electric Bitters," writes Wm. Brunson of Dublin, Ga. "She has taken them for about 3 years and enjoys an excellent appetite, feels strong and sleeps well." That's the way Electric Bitters affect the aged and the same results follow in all cases of female weakness and general debility. Weak, puny children are greatly strengthened. Guaranteed for stomach, kidney and liver troubles at C. A. Wright & Son's drug store. 50c.

BASE BALL JINGLE

By

A. Bingle.

Dramatis Personae.

Bo. Slear m	Fred Merkle, 1
Joe Mitchell c	Chas. Wagner, 2
Harvey Teal p	John Somerlot, ss
Edgar Doty p	Ray Wolfe, 3
Tom Railing p	Wm. Hillinger, r
Smiley Fletcher p	Eddie Preston, l
John Bradley c	Dale Hodges, mascot

The time—1907.
The place—Any ball grounds.
The whirl—Around the circuit.

There's a bunch of Indian sluggers
A livin' down the State,
Who make the other Leaguers
Pay more than half the freight.

When they rush out on the diamond
A wavin' of their clubs,
Those other husky Leaguer lads
Look like a lot of dubs.

With "Big Throw" Railing in the box
Or maybe Mister Doty,
They never see the ball at all,
Till Mitchell's done his duty.

Or should they chance to pop a fly
Out on the sacred round,
Jack Somerlott will catch that pop.—
And 'twon't be on the bound.

Or should it go the other side
And look just like a hit,
Old Wag is there with his yellow hair
And also with his mitt.

But now they try to bunt her out
She rolls down third base line,
But our friend Ray will stop that play
And shoot to first in time.

And then a foul sails off to right,
Out toward Bill Hillinger,
He runs a mile, just watch him smile;
Good Lordy,—how he flings her.

The highest fly now climbs the sky,
It touches only air,
For Eddie Preston isn't restin':
The crowd howls, "Have a chair."

Swift flies the ball across the plate
When thrown by "Blue Winged" Teal,
Butt the "sticker" cannot dicker,
He can only quit and squeal.

Of course we have a "lefty" too,
We call him "Smiley" Fletcher,—
The only pitcher who can ditcher,
And win without a catcher.

When "Long Peg" Merkle's down at first
The runner gets a wrench;
The umpire shouts "The runner's out"
He legs it to the bench.

The list of braves is not complete
Without the name of "Brad"
When Joseph knocks his finger off
He is the bully lad.

And then there's "Bo," the Indian's chief,
Who keeps them all in line,
And from the center garden shouts
"Come in, the water's fine."

The bats are sacked by little Dale,
The sport's without a blot,
The schedule's done, the games are won,
For luck's with our mascot.

But when it comes to managers
Who surely raise the dough,
You'll have sore feet before you beat
Adolphus, Herb and Joe.

"Rusty" and "Wrinkle" must be thanked,
For when it comes to a pinch,
They find the man who pleases the fan,
And help win, that's a cinch.

Nor can we forget the loyal fans
Who gave this club for ball,
Nor the Man at the Park, (keep it dark,)
It is Wilson, "that's all."

There's a bunch of other fellows,
Bully good fellows too,
Who can't be here, but here's a cheer,
We love the whole old crew.

We've won the flag, we've earned it well,
And while we're justly proud,
We doff our caps to the other chaps,
For they're a dead game crowd

So "Here's to the Michigan Champions"
And "Here's to the town of their birth"
It isn't the largest town
But the Biggest Little Town on Earth.

ADRIAN FAIR

Tecumseh well represented with many

FINE EXHIBITS

Securing first and second premiums.

The Lenawee county fair this year was a decided success in spite of rather discouraging weather. The recent additions to the grounds made the crowds seem not quite so congested but far more comfortable and the gate receipts showed fully as many in attendance as in other years, 35,000 having passed the turnstile on Thursday long before the gates were closed.

The way that the stock were housed and cared for was a fine feature of the fair. A long row of new sheep sheds was a great improvement both the pens of sheep and the viewing procession being entirely under cover and each pen was filled with the best exhibit of sheep ever shown in this county or elsewhere. Swine and cattle had comfortable, commodious quarters and the exhibit of both was unusually good. The poultry building was ample for all the cages enclosed in it and the display was the best seen in years.

There was a smaller building for pet stock and the poultry even overflowed into this. Here could be seen several kinds of dogs, rabbits, guinea pigs, Belgian hares and Angora kittens. Fruit and flowers showed the effects of a late season still the display was far better than could be expected for this year. The Grange building was very attractive, the different booths of the exhibiting Granges showed much ingenuity and hard work. A feature of one booth being some growing gensing plants with the ripened berries, and of another a portiere of ropes of bitter sweet berries.

In the Deerfield Grange booth was a wax figure of a farmer's wife listening at the telephone to the neighborhood gossip. She was a little over dressed and rather over done because she had on a party gown with a conspicious bunch of flowers pinned to her bodice a broom in her hand and a waiter's apron but in spite of these incongruities she looked real pleased with the news she was hearing and made a pretty picture among the monotony of mammoth vegetables.

Vegtables from this region will always be shown at their best while Miles Baldwin exhibits at the fair. He has never missed making his display but one year since the society occupied its present quarters and he was long an exhibitor at the old grounds. This year he had a very artistically trimmed booth where the flags and national bunting were conspicuous. He carried off his usual amount of premiums on cauliflower, onions, beets, potatoes and corn, and some second premiums on minor things and also a premium on his collection. His stuff was all of his own growing, which speaks well for our veteran exhibitor.

Other Tecumseh exhibitors were Mrs. Floyd Heesen in the fancy work department, who took several first premium on battenburg, embroidery and drawn work. Miss Mae Garlinghouse who was awarded first premium on ever so many pieces of china. Miss Garlinghouse showed a large cabinet well filled with a beautiful china exhibite, noticeable among which was a tea set which secured first prize. She also secured first premiums on burnt leather and wood work.

Mrs. Blanche Fisher took first premiums on her collection of China and also many first premiums on individual pieces. Altogether the fair might be consisered a success barring the weather and ever Brother Horton could not control that, although in every other respect he and the management did what they could to make it the best fair on earth.

Wm. Witherell exhibited a half dozen American Merino rams and nine ramqoulettes for which he received first and second prizes and sweepstakes.

CAPT. JACK CRAWFORD.

LARGE AUDIENCES

Greet this fascinating speaker everywhere.

Capt. Jack Crawford, the poet scout, who comes to the New Bradley Thursday, Oct. 17, delightfully entertains his audiences with stories of the wild life in the western mining camps and is one of the most picturesque characters on the American stage today. He reveals western life just as it is. With his high ideals, a voice full of sympathy and great dramatic delivery, his poetry abounding in beautiful sentiment, he delights his audiences and leaves them better than he found them. As a mirth provoker he is the peer of any lecturer and in upholding the truth, surpasses many of the sermons preached and printed.

Capt. Crawford was chosen to give a special lecture for the pleasure of President Roosevelt, the cabinet and senators in Washington recently and delighted them with his wit and gentle humor. The remaining dates of the entertainments of the lecture course will be printed in Friday's issue. Sale of seats will open Monday.

"Kerry Gow."

The plays that live can be counted on one's fingers and "Kerry Gow" is among the most notable. The story is so beautiful, the sentiment so true and the numerous Irish songs so entrancing that the interest does not flag for one moment. This season the part of Dan O'Hara is in the hands of a charming Irish comedian, who possesses a sweet tenor voice and said to be the only successor to the late W. J. Scanlan. At the New Bradley Wednesday, Oct. 2.

AGED UXORICIDE

Murders his wife and takes his own life.

SILAS BALDWIN

Of Hampshire, Ill., near Elgin, dies from the effects of poison. Couple were married in Tecumseh.

The Elgin Daily News of Thursday, Sept. 26, contained an account of the murder of Mrs. Silas Baldwin Wednesday morning, by her aged husband, who afterwards takes his own life by eating paris green. The couple resided in Hampshire, Kane county and had just sold their home and were going to live with relatives. The two had quarreled over which relatives they would live with and in Mr. Baldwin's confession before he dies says this was the reason he killed her.

Mr. and Mrs. Silas Baldwin were married in Tecumseh, Michigan, about 25 years ago. Both had been married before. Mrs. Baldwin's maiden name was Louisa Williams and was first married to Jas. Norton. Mr. Baldwin had one child living, Mrs. B. C. DeWitt of Elgin.

Hard times in Kansas.

The old days of grasshoppers and drouth are almost forgotten in the prosperous Kansas of today although a citizen of Codell, Earl Shamburg, has not yet forgotten a hard time he encountered. He says "I was worn and discouraged by coughing night and day finding no relief until I tried Dr. King's New Discovery. It took less than one bottle to completely cure me." The safest and most reliable cold remedy, lung and throat healer ever discovered. Guaranteed by C. A. Wright & Son, druggists, 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

INVITE A TEST.

C. A. Wright & Son ask catarrh sufferers to try Hyomei on their guarantee.

C. A. Wright & Son invite all who suffer from any form of catarrhal troubles to get a Hyomei outfit from them with their absolute guarantee that if it does not give perfect satisfaction, the money will be refunded upon request.

There is no other treatment for catarrh that in any way resembles Hyomei, none that gives such quick curative results and lasting satisfaction, no medicine that can take its place, none that can be sold on a guarantee like this, to refund the money unless it cures.

Catarrh is a germ disease and can be cured only by breathing Hyomei, so that the most remote air cells in the nose, throat and lungs are reached by its antiseptic healing powers. In this way all catarrhal germs are killed, the irritated mucous membrane is healed and catarrh is driven from the system.

This wonderful medicated air treatment does not drug and derange the stomach, but is breathed through a little pocket inhaler that goes with every dollar outfit.

The unusual way in which C. A. Wright & Son sell Hyomei attests their confidence in the remedy.

From urinary disorders
Or any disease of the kidneys,
Be permanently cured.
Doan's Kidney Pills will cure you.

Tecumseh people testify

Orson Austin retired, living on Logan street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I hold the same high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills today as when I gave a statement for publication 5 years ago. Prior to that time I had kidney trouble with distressing pains in my back and shoulders. Rheumatism settled in my limbs and nips which added greatly to my misery. I did not rest at night because of the too frequent action of the kidneys and the passages attended by a painful burning sensation. I think my trouble was brought on by an injury received in the army. I knew Doan's Kidney Pills were good for such troubles so I began using them, continuing until a complete cure was effected. My advice to kidney sufferers is to give Doan's Kidney Pills a thorough trial."

The Uncertainty of Things.

This is the great misfortune of life—that it is changeable and never remains in the same state. "Man," says Job, "that is born of woman is of few days and full of trouble. He cometh forth like a flower and is cut down. He fleeth also as a shadow and continueth not."

What is more changeable? We are told that the chameleon assumes in an hour many colors. The sea of the Euripus has an evil name for its many changes, and the moon takes every day its own peculiar form. But what is all this compared to the changes of man? What Proteus ever assumed so many different forms as man does every hour? Now sick, now in health; now content, now discontent; now sad, now joyous; now timid, now hopeful; now suspicious, now credulous; now peaceful, now recalcitrant; now he wishes, now he wishes not, and many times he knows not what he wants. In short, the changes are as numerous as the incidents in an hour, so that every one of them turns him upside down. The past gives him pain, the present disturbs him, and the future causes him agony.—Luis de Granada.

Bathless Rural England.

Actual facts upset many a scientific theory. Theoretically, nine-tenths of the rural population ought not to attain maturity; as in fact, they are the longest lived community in the empire. We ought to vary our diet, and, if not sworn vegetarians, take so much meat to so much vegetables and the rest. But the countryman does not take meat or hardly ever. He cannot afford it. His wages are higher than his father's were, but then, meat is proportionately costlier than was formerly the case. He is for the most part a vegetable feeder. He should frequently bathe, but he does not bathe at all. "How is it, then, that these men live so long and so rarely experience illness?" one of the kind was asked the other day. "Well, you see, sir," was the answer, "we don't need no baths. In the summer we sweats so at our work that that serves for all the year round!" Rural England does not bathe. Colliery England and chimney sweeping England do.—St. James' Gazette.

Chicken, Creole Style.

Doesn't this suggestion in the Ladies' World for chicken, creole style, sound good?

Wash one-half pint of rice in cold water until no more of the flour discolors the water; then place the rice in a quart of boiling chicken or veal stock and cook until it is tender; season with salt and white pepper. Drain out the rice and pack it into a buttered ring mold; then invert on a hot dish and let the ring slip out. In the meantime have cooked chicken cut into small pieces and reheated in a tomato puree, seasoned with browned onion, to which add one green pepper cut into small pieces after the seeds are removed. Season with pepper if liked quite hot, salt and butter and fill the center of the rice ring. For a company meal the green pepper can be omitted, and two canned red Spanish peppers can be put through the mincer and after heating disposed on top of the chicken when it is placed in the ring. A sprig of parsley should decorate the side of the dish.

Medical Treatment at Night.

Medical treatment almost wholly confined to the daytime is thought by Dr. Lauder, a French physician, to be a serious mistake. Disease is most active at night—asthma, epilepsy and other attacks coming then almost entirely—and observations have shown that medicine administered in the night hours, or both night and day, acts better and with greater effect than an equal dose all given in the daytime. It is explained that in the nocturnal fasting state the body absorbs remedies with great energy, while they are eliminated less quickly. In many instances disease has resisted medication by day, but has yielded to night treatment.

The Truth.

Gobsa Golde descended painfully from his ninety horsepower automobile.

"I wish to purchase," he said, an engagement ring."

"Yes, sir," said the eager clerk. "We have just imported a superb ring, sir—two ruby hearts surrounded"—

"No," said the aged millionaire in a cold, disillusioned voice; "no, that won't do. There is only one heart concerned in this affair. The girl is marrying me for my money."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Suffering

Will Not Help Your Disease, but Will Weaken Your Nerves.

Folks who think it is better to bear pain than soothe it—are wrong.

Old-fashioned doctors used to say it was better, because they had nothing with which to ease pain but dangerous, heart-paralyzing drugs.

But now, that a safe remedy has been found, Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills, it is wrong to suffer, for nothing can be gained but weakened nerves.

A safe rule to remember is: When in pain, take an Anti-Pain Pill.

This will soothe your quivering nerves.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve pain by restoring the natural secretions, in which they differ from opium and similar narcotic drugs, which relieve pain by checking the action of the glands.

They are sure and harmless, and are the latest medical treatment for the cure of Headache, Neuralgia, Backache, Rheumatism, Dizziness, Toothache, Stomachache, Menstrual (Monthly) Pains. Also nerve irritations like Sea-Sickness, Car-Sickness, Sleeplessness, Indigestion, etc.

Pleasant to take, quick in results.

"I have used Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills for sick, nervous headache, and have received the best results. I heartily recommend their curative properties, for they are successful."—REV. RAY A. WATROS, D. D., Iowa City, Ia.

The Claw of the Devil.

In the middle ages people recognized witches and possessed persons by seeking on their bodies for what was called the claws of the devil. It was a more or less extensive part of the skin in which the subject was insensible to any touch or prick. The expert intrusted with this work would close the eyes of the subject and, armed with a sharp needle, prick here and there the different parts of the body. The sufferer was to answer with a cry to each prick, and the claw of the devil on a certain spot was recognized from the fact that he did not cry when this spot was examined.—From "The Major Symptoms of Hysteria," by Pierre Janet.

Learn to Be Genial.

There are many people who excuse themselves from the little familiarities and kindnesses of life on the ground that they are not natural to them. These people say they are reserved by disposition and cannot be free and easy in meeting other people. But we can learn to row a boat or to write shorthand or to speak a new language. That unaffected simplicity of address which made Ruskin so approachable to child or man was the work of a long life's discipline.

The Unveiling.

Long Distance Waggery.

Knicker—Some jokes can be carried too far. Bocker—Yes; for instance, Smith's cottage is seven miles from the station.—New York Sun.

Origin of "Hello, Bill!"

Why do the Elks yell "Hello, Bill?" It's this way: Back in 1894, when there was a schism in the organization, the two factions met in Atlantic City for a peace parley. At the time William G. Myers of this city, Philadelphia's only past grand exalted ruler, was the grand esteemed leading knight and one of the most popular men in the order. To get his advice and greet him hundreds of Elks congregated at the Atlantic City station to meet Mr. Myers. All the members were at high tension. When Bill Myers stepped off the car Delegate Stack of St. Paul, a big six footer, shouted, "Hello, Bill!" and the crowd took up the salutation with a hearty laugh, and from that day to this "Hello, Bill!" is so universally used among Elks that it has virtually become official. To the good natured feeling which had its outward expression in Stack's greeting to Bill Myers is ascribed the reconciliation.—Philadelphia Press.

The Last Cigar in the Box.

"The last cigar in the box is the hardest to sell," was the remark of a Front street dealer. "Not because it is not as good as any other cigar, but because of the superstition of the average man against taking the last of anything. As a result we often take one cigar, or even two cigars, of the last cigars in a box and put them on top of the cigars in a full or almost full box. On the other hand, I ought to mention that there are men who prefer the last cigars and who ask us to save the last cigars in the boxes for them every day, sometimes to the number of six or seven daily, for which they call every evening. We have thus no trouble in disposing of these last cigars, but the contrast in the conduct of the two styles of customers is curious."—Philadelphia Record.

My Symphony.

To live content with small means; to seek elegance rather than luxury and refinement rather than fashion; to be worthy, not respectable, and wealthy, not rich; to study hard, think quietly, talk gently, act frankly; to listen to stars and birds, babes and sages with open heart; to bear all cheerfully, do all bravely, await occasions, hurry never. In a word, to let the spiritual, unbidden and unconscious grow up through the common. This is to be my symphony.—William Henry Channing.

A Daring Cuban Scheme.

Havana, Sept. 30.—The fact that the conspirators in the recently planned revolution intended holding an election for president out in the woods and establishing another provisional republic, was developed this evening in the taking of evidence before a special judge. The witness, Noriega, who made this declaration, was the provisional government's spy in the camp of the conspirators. Many witnesses were examined, but little damaging evidence was obtained.

Classed as an Antique Also.

A charming hostess of one of the "big houses," as they are called by those who are welcomed into them, has the added beauty of prematurely white hair, says the Washington Star. That which seems to her contemporaries an added charm may appear to the crudely young a mark of decline, at least so it appears in one instance of which the hostess herself tells with enjoyment.

The lady is a connoisseur of antiques. At one of her teas a debutante rich with the glow of youth, but sadly constrained with her sense of her own novelty, was handed a cup of tea. The cup was beautifully blue and wonderfully old. The hostess, desiring to lighten the strain on her youthful guest by a pleasingly diverting remark, said, "That little cup is 150 years old."

"Oh," came the debutante's high strained tones, "how careful you must be to have kept it so long!"

Trades That Kill.

One of the most dangerous of trades, according to the Pilgrim, is the covering of toy animals with skin, chamois leather being used, for instance, for the elephants, calfskin for the horse and goatskin for the camels. This covering must of course fit without a wrinkle to look natural, so the wooden model is first dipped into glue, then sprinkled with chalk dust; then the skin is put on. The chalk is so fine that it fills the air and is drawn into the throat and lungs. A year of this sort of work often results in death. Another very injurious toy is the rubber balloon. The fumes and solvents used in reducing sheet rubber to the necessary thinness while retaining its strength and the dyeing of the brilliant yellows, greens and purple are most of them poisonous.

A Swelled Head.

A typical Englishwoman, when some one spoke the other day of a certain man having a "swelled head," looked dazed. "Really! You don't mean it!" cried the Englishwoman. "I'm very sorry." A day or so later the Englishwoman, happening to meet the wife of the man in question, observed that she was so sorry to hear that Mr. Blank was ill.

"But he isn't!" cried the wife. "He was never better in his life."

"Is that so?" said the Englishwoman. "Why, what could Mrs. Dash have meant the other day when she said he was suffering from a swelled head?"

RUSSIAN CAPTAIN TOO FRESH

Took Papers From American Fishing Vessel.

San Francisco, Sept. 30.—Captain Stesland, of the fishing barentine City of Papeete, which arrived yesterday from the Okhotsk sea, reported that on June 19 the captain of the Russian gunboat Manjur took posesion of the City of Papeete's papers, saying:

"You have no right to fish here."

"I answered: 'We have a right and are going to fish, anyway.'"

He continued: "On July 10 the Manjur returned our papers and said that the crew of the schooner John D. Spreckles went on shore for water and wood and set the grass and trees on fire at Little River and that it was necessary to land a crew from the Manjur and put out the fire."

Captain Matheson of the barkentine Fremont, which also arrived today, reports that on June 12 his papers were taken by the Russian gunboat Manjur, and returned on July 12, together with the papers taken from the barkentine S. N. Castle and the schooner John D. Spreckels.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. BUY SCHOOL HOUSE.

Knights of Pythias Regard as Sacred the Old Building.

LODGES RAISE THE FUNDS.

Founder Rathbone Therein Wrote Ritual—Blackboard Made Into Gavels—Officers All Promoted Step Higher—New Grand Outer Guard.

Bay City, Mich., Oct. 3.—The first business session of the grand lodge, Knight of Pythias, was held Wednesday. Reports of the grand officers show an increase in membership for the six months ending June 30, of 1,281 knights, the largest gain that has been made in five years. Three new lodges were instituted during that time.

The committee having in charge the purchase of the old school house at Eagle Harbor, Mich., where Rathbone, the founder of the order, wrote the ritual, reported having secured the building with money contributed by the various lodges of the state. The grand lodge Thursday will be asked to provide funds for maintaining this building. The blackboard which Rathbone used has been removed by the committee and manufactured into gavels, one of which was presented to the grand lodge, another to the Bay City lodge and one to the Wayne lodge, the latter being favored because it had contributed the largest amount toward the purchase of the building.

In the afternoon the following officers were elected: Grand chancellor, S. D. Carleton, Sault Ste. Marie; grand vice-chancellor, G. Curry, Owosso; grand prelate, Fred C. Wetmore, Cadillac; keeper of records and seal, Will E. Hampton, Charlevoix; master of exchequer, Charles D. Neahr, Grand Rapids; master-at-arms, F. C. Kunz, Mt. Clemens; Grand inner guard, Victor Hawkins, Jonesville; grand outer guard, Charles W. Nichols, Lansing. George C. Lusk of Bay City, and C. A. Palmer, of Manistee, both postmasters, were re-elected representatives to the supreme lodge.

The only contest was over the election of grand outer guard, the other officers being simply moved up.

The financial condition of the grand lodge is excellent, the balance on hand last year being $6,560.30, and the receipts during the year were $11,942.59. The disbursements were $12,714.84, leaving a balance June 30 of $5,788.05. Grand Chancellor Perley L. Abbey of Kalamazoo, briefly reviewed the work of the year and Supreme Chancellor C. A. Barnes of Jacksonville, Ill., complimented the Michigan domain upon its growth and progress.

Street Car and Auto Collide.

Detroit, Oct. 3.—Thomas G. Craig, well-known grain dealer and board of trade operator, with J. S. Stringham, of the Solvay Process Co., and Dr. George R. Andrews, of 2711 Woodward avenue, were seriously injured in a street car and automobile collision at Michigan avenue and Park Place about 7 o'clock Wednesday night. Mr. Craig's injuries are considered very serious if not fatal. His companions will recover. The automobile, which was hurled 40 feet, is a wreck. The touring car, with Dr. Andrews at the wheel, came south on Cass avenue, and was attempting to cross Michigan and go west on Abbott when the crash came. Spectators say that both the car and the machine were running at a high rate of speed and that they rushed to the scene expecting to find all three passengers fatally injured.

Price of Paper Boosted.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Oct. 3.—Although it has not been verified, the statement that manufacturers of book paper have agreed on a 25-cent per hundred weight raise, to take practically immediate effect, comes from good authority here. Heads of Kalamazoo's three big paper mills attended a meeting of paper manufacturers in New York recently, and it is said that at this meeting leading paper makers throughout the country agreed to the raise. It is a fact that all old quotations have been withdrawn and this raise has been contemplated since Sept. 1.

U. of M. Attendance Increases.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 3.—Secretary Wade Wednesday gave out the first official figures on the registration in the University of Michigan this fall, showing 4,696 students already enrolled. If as many enroll before Nov. 1, as came in between Oct. 1 and Nov. 1 last year, the total will reach 5,000, he says. Every department except one shows an increase.

TAFT LEAVES TOKIO.

Secretary and Wife Received by Emperor and Empress.

MUCH GOOD ACCOMPLISHED

Emperor Expresses Friendship for America—Lively Scenes Enacted at Railroad Station When Taft Party Departed—Fireworks and Salutes.

Tokio, Oct. 3.—William H. Taft, American secretary of war, officially bade farewell to Japan at 6 15 last evening and left the brilliantly decorated Shimbashi railroad station for Kobe amid the firing of artillery salute and a great display of fireworks.

At noon Wednesday, Mr. and Mrs. Taft, accompanied only by Brig.-Gen. Edwards, chief of the bureau of insular affairs, and Frederick W. Carpenter, Mr. Taft's private secretary, drove in an imperial carriage, escorted by a troop of cavalry, to the emperor's place, with all the ceremony surrounding a royal reception.

Entering the audience room accompanied by General Edwards, Mr. Taft was greeted pleasantly by his majesty, who invited the secretary to accompany him to an adjoining room, where they conferred in private, with the aid of an interpreter, for ten minutes, after which they returned to the audience chamber.

While the private audience was in progress Mrs. Taft was received by the empress. Both their majesties showed great cordiality in their reception of the American visitors.

While no official statement of what transpired at the private audience was given out, it is understood that the emperor expressed his friendliness for America and his admiration of President Roosevelt, and that Mr. Taft assured him that these sentiments were reciprocated by the people of the United States.

Mr. and Mrs. Taft wre later ushered into the banquet room, where a luncheon was served, the emperor and empress sitting on one side of the table, with Mr. and Mrs. Taft opposite them.

After the luncheon Mr. and Mrs. Taft bade farewell to their majesties and returned to the Shiba palace, their headquarters.

Count Hayashi, the foreign minister, called on Secretary Taft at 4 o'clock and had a long conference with him. The Tafts then drove to the Shimbashi railroad station, and left by train for Kyoto. Mr. and Mrs. Taft are spending part of today at Kyoto, visiting the temples and tombs there, and will continue their journey to Kobe this afternoon. The Minnesota will leave Kobe for Nagasaki at 10 p. m. tonight.

The leading newspapers publish enthusiastic appreciations of the excellent results from the presence here of Secretary Taft.

Duvall Gets the Office.

Washington, Oct. 3.—By direction of the president, William P. Duvall was Wednesday appointed to be major-general in the army vice Maj.-Gen. William S. McCaskey, the present commander of the department of the Dakotas. Col. W. W. Wetherspoon, Nineteenth infantry, now acting as president of the war college in this city, will be today appointed a brigadier-general to fill the vacancy caused by the promotion of Gen. Duvall. One of the most interesting contests of recent years is ended by Gen. Duvall's appointment, which is notable from the fact that no less than six brigadier-generals were passed over, although they were Gen. Duvall's seniors.

National Episcopal Convention.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 3.—The 17th triennial general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church convention in the United States convened Wednesday and was fully organized for business. The beginning was as auspicious as could be desired. Of the 102 members of the house of bishops only 10 were absent, and the attendance of clerical and lay members of the house of deputies was nearly complete. A large number of foreign high church dignitaries were present, including the archbishop of the West Indies and the bishops of London, St. Albans, Montgomery, Niagara, Quebec, Ontario and Mackenzie river. The business of the two houses was confined to organization.

President Encourages Plans to Make Mississippi Navigable.

STOPS OFF AT ST. LOUIS.

Chief Executive Desires National Laws to Control Railroads—Makes Important Speech to Businessmen of Missouri's Big City.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 3.—President Roosevelt in a speech Wednesday declared it the nation's duty to control centrally interstate railroads and to restore the Mississippi river to its proper place as a great artery of commerce. He termed the proposed 14-foot channel from the lakes to the gulf a "national task." He warned against plans which migat "entail reckless extravagance or be tainted with jobbery," but urged a liberal waterways policy.

A tremendous cheering and whistling greeted the chief executive when the steamer Mississippi entered St. Louis harbor to make the first stop on the voyage from Keokuk, Ia., to Memphis, where President Roosevelt will attend the convention of the deep waterways association Friday. The president landed and was greeted by fifteen governors from states bordering on the Mississippi river, and some from distant states, members of congress and officers representing the city of St. Louis.

Through a sudden heavy downpour of rain, the president, standing in an open carriage and bowing to the multitude was driven to the Jai Alai building, five miles from the river, where he delivered his speech. He was introduced by Gov. Folk.

The president especially emphasized his views on the necessity for central location of interstate corporations. His contention was that there must be some sovereign power that can control these institutions, especially railroads. He spoke at length of the difficulty in reaching the corporations which are incorporated in one state and operate in another. He instanced especially his experience in getting the Southern Pacific railroad to repair breaks in the Colorado river.

He contended that the constitution must be interpreted to fit modern day conditions, and not conditions that existed when it was adopted.

After the address the president and the other distinguished visitors were guests of the St. Louis Buinessmen's League at luncheon in the Jefferson hotel. There were no set speeches, but the president responded to the toast of President James E. Smith, of the league, by expressing the wish that the ends of the league might be achieved; that is, the procuring of a 14-foot river channel.

The party reached the steamer and left at four o'clock.

The Mississippi was followed by the United States steamer, Col. Mackenzie, carrying the members of the inland waterways commission; the Alton, bearing the governors of fifteen states; the Tennessee, chartered for 16 visiting congressmen, and 16 other large steamboats and a host of smaller craft.

As the flotilla passed Jefferson barracks, twelve miles below St. Louis, the soldiers quartered there standing at attention on the bank while the presidential salute was fired.

Cannot Rescue Shipwrecked Crew.

London, Oct. 3.—A heavy gale blew over the Irish and Welsh coasts yesterday, and there were several exciting rescues of the crews of wrecked vessels. The most serious disaster was near Seafield, County Clare, when the French ship Leon XIII., from Queenstown, September 26, at which port she arrived recently from Portland, Oregon, went on the rocks. No news yet has been received that the crew has been rescued. A report which came in at an early hour this morning described her sails as blown into ribbons and says mountainous seas are breaking over the ship. The crew of 25 men are huddled in the bow, the only part of the vessel where safety from the huge waves can be found. The men have spent a terrible day. Most of the time they have clung to the rigging, beaten and numbed by the pitiless seas. There is a big crowd on the beach, but they are powerless to render assistance.

Big Reward For Assassin.

Baker City, Ore., Oct. 3.—The identity of the men who placed the bomb which caused the death of Harvey S. Brown, former sheriff and detective, Monday night, has not yet been learned. Bloodhounds scented the trail of the assassins and followed it for a few hundred feet along the railroad tracks. The county court of Baker county today offered a reward of $5,000 for the capture of the murderers.

MINE VALUES DECREASE

Coal Mine Operators Kick on Tax Assessment and Commission Investigates.

Bay City, Mich., Oct. 3.—The state board of tax commissioners held a session here Wednesday for the purpose of inquiring into the complaint filed by Stephen Vallier, of Monitor township in relation to the assessment of several coal mines in that township.

The property owned by the Wolverine Coal Co., Handy Bros., and the Central Coal Mining Co. were included in the complaint, Vallier making the claim that they were assessed at not to exceed 50 to 60 per cent of their value. R. M. Randall, of Saginaw, manager of the Wolverine and Central mines, and Thomas L. Handy undertook to explain to the commission why it was that property supposed to cost from 60,000 to $100,000 was reduced in value to $30,000 or less.

They claimed that mining machinery deteriorated very rapidly and was not worth over a fraction of what it cost when put in. Both men also claimed that the mines were not making any money, but stated they hoped to some time.

The finding of the commission was not made public Wednesday.

Used Kerosene to Kindle Fire.

Yale, Mich., Oct 3.—Mrs. Joseph Farar, aged 24, was burned to death at her home, two miles south and three miles west of here Tuesday morning. Mrs. Farar arose to get her breakfast about 8 o'clock, after her husband had gone to the fields, and used kerosene to kindle the fire. The all struck some live coals and flashed up, the explosion knocking the bottom from the can and spreading the blazing oil over her dress. Her small son discovered the woman a pillar of flame and hurried to the neighbors for assistance, but she was burned so badly that she died.

Big Canning Plant Burns.

Coral, Mich., Oct 3.—In a $30,000 fire here about midnight the fine Hamilton Bros.' canning factory went up in smoke. A successful season in vegetables had just been closed and the plant was being rigged in shape for the fall run of peaches and other fruit. The cause of the blaze is unknown. The owners say there is $16,000 insurance, and that the plant will be rebuilt.

St. Joe Man Disappears.

St. Joseph, Mich., Oct. 3.—Social circles of this city are deeply stirred by the mysterious disappearance of Hayes Brown, an exceedingly popular young man of this city. Brown left Chicago, where he had been visiting his wife, to return to this city on Sunday, and since that time he has not been heard from. Detectives are at work, but have no clue.

Cheaper Foreign Postage Rates.

Washington, Oct. 3.—Two-cent letter postage to foreign countries, according to the belief and desire of Postmaster-General Meyer, is one of the possibilities of the not distant future. Negotiations to this end have been in progress for some time between the American and British postal authorities, and while the treaty making stage has not yet been reached, the desire of both countries in the matter has been found to be identical. This leads to the prediction by the postal authorities that the new rate will first be made operative between the United States and Grea Britain and thereafter between this country and other foreign nations. No legislation is required from congress to effect the new rate, as such matters are regulated by treaty.

Root Royally Entertained.

Mexico City, October 3.—Secretary Root and his party continues to be the recipients of the lavish hospitality and bounteous attentions which have been showered on them ever since their arrival in the republic. A continuous round of entertainments has testified to the high place they have already won in the sympathies of Mexico's highest society, and they expressed themselves as delightfully surprised with the spontaneous reception and the exquisite good taste displayed in every entertainment in their honor. The culminating point of the program Wednesday was the garden party in the spacious grounds of the Chapultepec castle. Over 500 invitations had been issued to the garden party, and the elite of Mexican society as well as scores of the best families in the American and other foreign colonies turned out to do honor to the distinguished guest.

Out of sight.

"Out of sight, out of mind" is an old saying which applies with special force to a sore, burn or wound that has been treated with Bucklen's arnica salve. It is out of sight, out of mind and out of existence. Piles and chilblains disappear under its healing influence. Guaranteed by C. A. Wright & Son, 25c.

A young widow has a peculiar way of seeing a man without looking at him.

Thos. A. Edison, the great American inventor, says "Fully eighty per cent of the illness of mankind comes from eating improper food or too much food; people are inclined to overindulge themselves." This is where indigestion finds its beginning in nearly every case. The stomach can do just so much work and no more and when you overload it or when you put the wrong kind of food the digestive organs cannot possibly do the work demanded of them. It is at such times that the stomach needs help; it demands help and warns you by headaches, belching, sour stomach, nausea and indigestion. You should attend to this at once by taking something that will actually do the work for the stomach. Kodol will do this. It is a combination of natural digestants and vegetable acids and contains the same juices found in a healthy stomach. It is pleasant to take. It digests what you eat. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

A man doesn't have to wear good clothes if he can afford not to.

No home is so pleasant, regardless of the comforts that money will buy, as when the entire family is in perfect health. A bottle of Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup costs 50 cents. It will cure every member of the family of constipation, headache or stomach trouble. Sold by all druggists in Tecumseh.

You can't always judge a man's pay by the work he does.

Harsh physics react, weaken he bowels, cause chronic constipation. Doan's Regulets operate easily, tone the stomach, cure constipation. 25c. Ask your druggist for them.

If death loved only a shining mark very few men would have cause to fear it.

"Suffered day and night the torment of itching piles. Nothing helped me until I used Doan's ointment. It cured me permanently."—Hon. John Garrett Mayor, Girard, Ala.

VERY OBLIGING.

He Answered All Questions and Even Offered Further Information.

A small, quiet looking man, smoking a large cigar, sat by the side of a medium sized automobile that had run out of the road as it came along through a village in an interrogatory aspect.

The man in the automobile stopped and beckoned over.

"How far am I from Boston?" asked the traveler.

"About two miles."

"Don't you find out what the matter is?"

"No."

"Engine with spark plug?"

"I don't know."

"How are your batteries?"

"Don't know."

"Haven't got a short circuit, have you?"

"I don't know."

"Got any gasoline in your tank?"

"Plenty."

"Would you mind telling me if you know what's the matter with that machine of yours?"

In answer the man pointed to a large well furnished one in the distance.

"See that house on the hill?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, sir, there isn't anything the matter with that machine. I've never been near anything like it in my life. I'm going to the house for my father's first born's godfather. When she gets through it looks as if we may start. Least I'm away and will leave your address. I will telegraph or cable you the glad news at my own expense."—Collier's Weekly.

SHOPPING IN GREENLAND.

East Coast Natives Make Trips Lasting Four Years.

When the Greenlander of the east coast goes a-shopping, it is no light matter of a day or a week. The show but bought of the far north, on finding that his supplies are running low, packs up his belongings and works off, with his wife and family. He keeps on working, summer and winter, for it takes him anywhere from one to two full years to reach a settlement where there are shops. Whole colonies sometimes join in these pilgrimages from their northern dwelling places, camping by the way as weather and inclination permit. One might suppose that such prodigious journeys would be followed by long stays at the place of business. Not so. The Esquimo spends little more time over the shopping for which he has come so far than does a woman bargain hunter at the periodical drapery sales with us. Sometimes two hours finish the transactions, and the purchaser will start on his long return journey northward. The fine bear and fox skins which he has brought with him are bartered for secondhand clothes, tobacco, old iron and many articles not only valueless, but actually injurious to the buyer. A life which can afford a four years' shopping trip now and again does not strike one as overstrenuous.—London Scraps.

Queerest Town in England.

The most curious town in England is Northwich. There is not a straight street nor, in fact, a straight house in the place. Every part of it has the appearance of an earthquake. Northwich is the center of the salt industry in Cheshire, England. On nearly all sides of the town are big salt works, with their engines pumping hundreds of thousands of gallons of brine every week. At a depth of some 200 or 300 feet are immense subterranean lakes of brine, and as the contents of these are pumped and pumped away the upper crust of earth is correspondingly weakened, and the result is an occasional subsidence. These subsidences have a "pelting" effect on the nearest buildings, and they are drawn all ways and give the town an extremely dissipated appearance.

The Gender of the Moon.

In English, French, Italian, Latin and Greek the moon is feminine, but in all the Teutonic tongues the moon is masculine. Which of the twain is its true gender? We go back to the Sanskrit for an answer. Professor Max Muller rightly says ("On the Religions of India"), "It is no longer denied that for throwing light on some of the darkest problems that have to be solved by the student of language nothing is so useful as a critical study of Sanskrit." Here the word for the moon is mas, which is masculine. Mark how even what Hamlet calls "words, words, words," lend their weight and value to the adjustment of this great argument. The very moon is masculine and, like Wordsworth's child, is "father of the man."—"Moon Lore."

Impertinent.

Clara—Well, aunt, have your photographs come from Mr. Faccallo? Miss Maydeval (angrily)—Yes, and they went back, too, with a note expressing my opinion of his impudence. Clara—Gracious! What was it? Miss Maydeval—Why, on the back of every picture were these words: "The original of this is carefully preserved."—London Chronicle.

Diplomacy.

Towne—Of course the scheme is a good one, but do you think your wife will approve of it? Browne—Yes, if by careful hinting I can get her to formulate it herself and make her believe it's her own.—Pearson's Weekly.

Gravitation.

Examiner—What do you know about the power of the earth's attraction? Candidate—It is the strongest at about 2 o'clock in the morning.—Filegende Blatter.

I believe rather in drawing men toward good than shutting them out from bad.—Zola.

Hard on Joseph.

Outside the photographer's establishment in the little country town stood two figures—evidently father and son. At last they went in.

"Ot want yer to take a picture of our Joseph, 'ere, mister," said the fond parent, and Joseph was promptly placed in a chair and requested to compose his features for awhile.

The photographer's specialty was quick developing, and soon several negatives lay before the purchaser.

The father gazed uneasily at them for a space and then said nervously:

"You say in the window, maister, as 'ow yer can touch up the pictures to give any effect agreeable to yer customers."

"That is so," assented the artist readily, hastening to add, with his best professional smile, "but in your son's case any retouching is absolutely unnecessary."

"Ow, aye!" said the father. "That be main like Joseph, but to tellee truth he's got to send un wi' his testimonials for a job, an' I'd like yer to alter his photo to make him look honest like."—London Mail.

THE DAINTY BUTTERFLY.

It Has a Perverted Taste in the Matter of Food and Drink.

Beautiful butterflies, a splendid and silent host, fluttered and floated above the tall white lilies in the quiet garden.

"How lovely they are!" said a nature student, sipping his tea. "How very lovely they are, yet the more their beauty the ranker their taste. The purple emperor, one of the finest butterflies, likes nothing for dinner as well as a dead cat—a cat five or six days dead.

"Other beautiful butterflies subsist upon spoiled fruit. Fresh fruit they won't look at. It must be falling to pieces with rotteness.

"Even in their drink some of the loveliest butterflies have a perverted taste. Tiring scornfully from dewy rose petals and from crystal springs, they seek out the vilest, foulest puddles aforeat to quench their thirst.

"And nearly all butterflies are drunkards. Collectors entrap them by gleams of stale beer mixed with molasses. This they slurp on the holes of trees. Unable to resist the dose, the most respectable butterflies—fathers of families, capitalists, elderly matrons—get hopelessly drunk and in the midst of their wild, silent orgy are crammed in big handfuls into the collector's pitch."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

THE GRAY EYED MAN.

He Is a Fighter, So Be Cautious in Provoking Him.

"I always feel a bit nervous," remarked a sergeant of police, "when I have to arrest a man with gray eyes, for I know that he is a born fighter and that I am likely to have a tough job.

"Most men when they are fighting retain a certain amount of discretion and remember that a brutal assault on the police is a very serious offense. But the man with the gray eyes, though he may in his calmer moments be quite aware of the folly of resistance, forgets all about that when his blood is up. He thinks of only one thing, and that is to win the fight.

"It isn't among criminals only that the gray eye denotes the fighter. I have observed the same thing among professional pugilists, an enormous proportion of whom have gray eyes.

"With soldiers and sailors it is just the same. Many of our foremost generals and admirals have eyes of this color. It is the more remarkable when we remember that the number of people who have gray eyes is small compared with other shades.

"The moral is that when you are dealing with a gray eyed man you should be cautious in provoking him."—London Answers.

Mexico's Famous Parrots.

In the state of Tamaulipas, in Mexico, parrots of the much prized "double yellow head" variety, famous as conversationists, are found in countless flocks. Indeed the woods are literally full of them and are vocal with their harsh cry from sunrise to sunset. They seem to have but one note. It is only in confinement that they are imitative. In this country they are worth $10 apiece. Parrots build their nests in holes and hollows of trees, and in parts of Mexico they are so numerous that every available cavity is occupied by them in the nesting season. Nevertheless the work of procuring their young is extremely arduous, even for the expert natives. Trees in the tropics are commonly festooned with many climbing vines of thicknesses varying from a thread to the size of a ship's cable, and all this network of vegetation is usually infested by myriads of desperately fierce ants of large size, which both bite and sting. Many an unfortunate peon, it is said, has lost his life while engaged in this pursuit, because, tortured beyond endurance by the ferocious insects, he was unable to retain his grip.—Argonaut.

East Indian English.

Here is part of an actual speech delivered in an East Indian court of law by a pleader: "What they say is very, if not most, ridiculously absurd to believe. Indeed, it is incredulous. They say that the blood flew, and they did nothing to put the wounded into ease. This, sir, is a lie, an unmitigated lie, or, rather, a falsehood or fable or story or, as Byron sarcastically observes, a terminal exactitude. These buffaloes never used to graze on the field, which is not actually even proper grazing meadow. The destination which they started was half a mile from the cynosure to which they went. Unless they did not ride on lightning horses, how could they reach to that premises in five minutes? Can any man—idiot even—will not believe such a stupid concoctation."

Bits From Shakespeare.

Users of everyday catchwords are constantly quoting that ubiquitous person Shakespeare. "Dead as a doornail," "long and short of it," "getting even," "tag-rag," "birds of a feather," "that's flat," "mum," "scarecrow," "solid," "milksop," "loggerhead," "bag and baggage," "a mere song," "dancing attendance," "send him packing," "kill with kindness," "give and take," "an eyesore," "to boot" and "the man in the moon" are all his.

Sure Thing.

"I wish I knew how to make a barrel of money."

"I'll tell you how."

"How?"

"Spend a keg in advertising."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Her Discovery.

Professor—Some of the grandest inventions of the age have been the result of accidental discoveries.

Young Lady—I can readily believe it. Why, I made an important discovery myself, and it was the purest accident too.

"I should much like to hear it."

"Why, I found that by keeping a bottle of ink handy a fountain pen can be used just the same as any other pen, without any of the bother and mess of filling it."

A Timely Warning.

Mr. H. was recently presented with a handsome revolver, whose qualities he was testing by firing blank cartridges into the air, when his daughter Natalie, aged six, appeared upon the scene. "Oh, papa," she exclaimed in great distress, "don't shoot at the sky; you might kill an angel!"—Circle.

POISONED GLOVES.

They Had Their Home in Italy With the Borgias and Medicis.

Perfumed gloves have contributed largely to the bright and evil side of romance, of fact and of fiction. They had their home in Italy, the home of the Borgias and De' Medicis, and it is said, with how much truth will never be known, that many an untimely death was caused by wearing perfumed gloves whose scented patina concealed a deadly poison. It seems to have been a favorite pastime of the notorious Alexander VI. and of his more notorious son, Caesar Borgia, to invite a friend to dine, show him every attention as a guest, present him with a beautiful pair of perfumed and poisoned gloves and next day send flowers to his funeral, accompanied by a little note, polite, but firm, requesting the immediate transference of all the property of the deceased to the coffers of the Borgias.

There is an interesting and very ugly story of a famous poisoner of the fifteenth century who confessed under the water cure to having murdered for a consideration about fifteen people by means of poisoned gloves. The poison she employed was so slow in taking effect that for years she remained undiscovered and finally came to grief through her own foolish boasting.—Kansas City Star.

THE GREAT RACHEL.

Fondness of the Famous Actress For Scarfpins.

A rather comical story relating to the great Rachel and at one time her devoted admirer, Prince Demidoff, runs this way:

It seems that upon the occasion of the prince's visits to the charming actress she would often greet him in playful mood and while criticising his attire, which was the special object of his thought, would draw from his necktie the pin which secured it, a cameo, topaz, ruby or whatever it might chance to be, and place it in her pincushion or upon her corsage.

This habit greatly amused the prince, it seemed so childish and such a mischievous act, and it really added to her charm in his eyes. One day, however, he called wearing a sort of stock, and consequently had no jewel.

The observant maid noticed that there was no pin in the tie of Demidoff, and when she announced him to his mistress mentioned the fact. "It is the prince, but he wears a stock."

"Then say I am out," replied Rachel.

Finding himself refused an interview, the prince set about learning the real reason. It mightily amused him, and thereafter he never appeared without the bauble that had always proved the sesame to the great actress' presence.—Minneapolis Journal.

The Poet Shelley.

Shelley lived with ardor among ideas, aspirations and passions in which there was something at once irresponsible and abstract. He followed every impulse, without choice or restraint, with the abandonment of a leaf in the wind. "Oh, lift me as a wave, a leaf, a cloud!" was his prayer to the west wind and to every influence. Circumstances meant so little to him that he was unconscious of the cruelty of change to sentiment, and thus of the extent of his cruelty to women. He aimed at moral perfection, but was really of a perfect aesthetic selfishness. He was full of pity and generosity and desired the liberation and uplifting of humanity, but humanity was less real to him than his own witch of Atlas. He only touched human action and passion closely in a single one of his works, and he said of "The Cenci:" "I don't think much of it. My object was to see how I could succeed in describing passions I have never felt."—Arthur Symons in Atlantic.

Portrait and Slipper.

A touching anecdote, associated with a picture in the National gallery at Edinburgh, is told by an English lady in her book, "Potpourri From a Surrey Garden." She writes: Several pictures stand out with peculiar interest, especially the life sized Gainsborough of the young Mrs. Grahame. She sat for the picture as a bride, but before it came home she was dead and her husband had gone to the wars. When he came back he never had the courage to open the case which contained his young wife's portrait. On his death, many long years after it was painted, it was opened by his heirs, and inside the case was the little white slipper she had left with the painter to help him to finish his picture. The portrait was given to the Edinburgh gallery, and the slipper was kept by the family.

Trouble on the Mantelpiece.

"If you'll always give me full swing," observed the pendulum, "you will never have any trouble with your hands."

"I don't know," replied the clock. "If it wasn't for your going back and forth in my works, I never would have any strikes!"—Chicago Tribune.

Boiling It Down.

"I should like to manage this paper for about six months," said the new reporter of a country paper. "The present editor doesn't know his business."

"What's the matter?" he was asked.

"Why, last night I was told off to report a fire in Broad street, and I wrote it up in grand style, making a half column article of it. I began it in this way:

"'Suddenly on the still night air rang the shrill cry of fire, and at the same moment the little leaping tongues of flame, whose light, playing along the roof's edge, caught the eye of the midnight watcher, leaped forth, no longer playful, but fierce and angry in their thirst and greed. Like glowing, snaky demons, the lurid links entwined the doomed building. In venomous hisses and spurts the flames shot into the overhanging darkness, while from every window and door poured forth a dense sulphurous smoke, the deadly suffocating breath of an imprisoned fiend.'

"I went on in that style for over half a column," said the new reporter, "and this is what appeared in the paper this morning:

"'A fire broke out in Broad street last night, but was quickly suppressed.' Do you call that journalism?"—London Standard.

'Twas in Tater Time.

The late Senator Platt of Connecticut enjoyed funny stories and could tell a good many himself. Notwithstanding his long public life, he always remembered a yarn that he carried from his school days.

One year when the district schools opened in his town one of the teachers in making a record of the ages of her pupils, as required by law, found that one little girl, who came from a family not noted for being especially bright, was unable to say when her birthday came.

So in order to complete her records the teacher walked two miles to see the girl's mother one afternoon after school. Asked if she could remember just when her daughter was born, the woman thought for some little time and then, with a sort of puzzled look, said:

"Well, the gal was born in tater time, that's sure, but I can't 'member whether they was a-plantin' on 'em or a-diggin' on 'em."—Boston Herald.

Retaliation.

A man who was a guest at one of the summer resorts in West Virginia tells of a wedding ceremony he witnessed in the town near by.

The minister was young and easily embarrassed. It was the first wedding he had ever undertaken. The prospective bride and groom were both younger and still more easily embarrassed than he.

When the minister had finished the service and muttered a few kindly but halting words to the young couple he had just united the bride looked at him, blushingly, but confident.

"Thank yer," she said clearly. "It's shore kind o' yer to congratulate us, an' as long as you haven't ever been married yit maybe we'll have a chance some day to retaliate."—Harper's Weekly.

A Misunderstood Jest.

Lord Lytton when viceroy of India was seated one day at dinner next to a lady whose name was Birch and who, though very good looking, was not overintelligent. Said she to his excellency:

"Are you acquainted with any of the Birches?"

"Oh, yes!" replied Lord Lytton. "I knew several of them most intimately while at Eton—indeed, more intimately than I cared to."

"My lord," replied the lady, "you forget the Birches are relatives of mine."

"And they cut me," said the viceroy, "but," and he smiled his wonted smile, "I have never felt more inclined to kiss the rod than I do now."

Sad to say, Mrs. Birch did not see the point and told her husband his excellency had insulted her.

ADRIAN TELEGRAM

Changed hands with the Tuesday issue.

D. W. GRANDON

Retires and Stuart H. Perry becomes Editor and manager.

The Adrian Daily Telegram with last Tuesday's issue passed from the ownership of D. W. Grandon to Stuart H. Perry, late publisher of the News, St. Johns, Michigan. Mr. Perry was born in Pontiac. Graduated from the U. of M. literary department, 1894, and the law class of '99 practicing for four years in Pontiac and Detroit. Leaving the law practice in 1901, he became managing editor of the Pontiac Daily Press. In 1903 he purchased the St. Johns News which he recently sold to L. F. Cutcheon of Portland, Mich. The transfer will make no change in the business relations of the Telegram which will be conducted as a corporation of $60,000 capital of which Mr. Perry holds practically all of the stock. Mr. Grandon, the retiring editor and proprietor of the Telegram, has successfully conducted the leading paper in Lenawee county for a number of years, a business established entirely by himself.

Lester Osgood.

Lester Osgood was born in Seneca county, New York in the year 1829 and was at the time of his death aged 78 years, 5 months and 1 day. He came to Michigan in 1845 with his mother, Mrs. Martha Osgood, three brothers and two sisters settling in the township of Macon on the farm where he died. He united in marriage in 1863 to Miss Sarah A. Hoagland who died in 1893. To this union were born two daughters, Mary M., and Jennie H. In 1895 Mr. Osgood was united in marriage to Miss Salome Clark of Ridgeway, who died in 1904.

Mr. Osgood was a successful farmer and took an active intesest in the affairs of the farm up to the time of his death. His last years were spent in his garden and by the fireside where by constant reading he kept his mind active with the affairs of the day. He took great interest in the prosperity of the church and was willing at all times to lend it his support. Faith in God was a part of his life and his creed was in accord with his belief.

Mr. Osgood passed away Friday afternoon, Sept, 27. He is survived by his two daughters, two grandsons, two sisters and two brothers. Besides these many more distant relatives and friends mourn his departure.

How an honest old farmer foils the crafty postmaster of Round Hoop Ferry Maine, and brings to justice the murderer of his brother and makes happy the hearts of an honest virtuous country girl and her crippled brother, is told in Powell & Cohn's greatest of all "rube" plays, "Si Holler" which will be the attraction at the New Bradley night of Tuesday, Oct. 8. There has been many funny rural characters depicted on the stage but noon compares with this eccentric old fellow. His adventures in the slums of New York where he encounters all kinds of tough characters, is the limit of stage sensation and at the same time convulses the audience with laughter.

STOP THE STRENUOUS LIFE.

Weakent the tissues and lessens organic vitality.

The stress and strain of the strenuous life in both city and country tends towards stomach troubles.

The frantic rush for pleasure, money and excitement is bringing serious results. Elaborate food, late suppers, over eating and too much drinking are some of the causes of stomach trouble for which the individual is responsible.

Five people suffer today where one did ten years ago with sick headaches, dizziness, flatulence, distress after eating, specks before the eyes, bloating, nervousness, sleeplessness and the many other symptoms of indigestion.

All who suffer with stomach trouble in Tecumseh and other towns should use Mi-o-na stomach tablets. Nothing else as safe, yet effective, or can be so thoroughally relied upon to relieve all troubles of indigestion as Mi-o-na. It is unlike any other remedy and is one of the most valuable discoveries in modern medical science.

It is not a mere digestive but a tonic stimulant and strengthener for the wall of the stomach, increasing the flow of digestive fluids and puts the stomach in a permanently healthy condition.

So reliable is Mi-o-na in its curative action that C. A. Wright & Son with every 50c box they sell give a guarantee to refund the money unless the remedy does all that is claimed for it.

How a Tecumseh citizen found freedom from kidney troubles.

If you suffer from backache,
From urinary disorders
Or any disease of the kidneys,
Be permanently cured.
Doan's Kidney Pills will cure you.

Tecumseh people testify.

Orson Austin retired, living on Logan street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I hold the same high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills today as when I gave a statement for publication 5 years ago. Prior to that time I had kidney trouble with distressing pains in my back and shoulders. Rheumatism settled in my limbs and hips which added greatly to my misery. I did not rest at night because of the too frequent action of the kidneys and the passages attended by a painful burning sentation. I think my trouble was brought on by an injury received in the army. I knew Doan's Kidney Pills were good for such troubles so I began using them, continuing until a complete cure was effected. My advice to kidney sufferers is to give Doan's Kidney Pills a thorough trial."

The defense of Charles Richardson, a negro, at Lansing, for robbing a house was that as he had the morphine habit he didn't know what he was doing. However, Richardson knew what happened when the court said "Five years at Ionia."

Daniel Ridenour, 86, of St. Johns, is dead. He was the son of a veteran of the war of 1812, and came here before St. Johns was thought of. He was a hard worker and by his thrift secured 600 acres of fine land. A widow and family of children survive.

The enrollment at the Normal college at Ypsilanti this year has passed the high water mark and the end is not in sight. Already 1,100 prospective school ma'ams have registered. President L. H. Jones is still in Europe and Prof. Strong is taking his place temporarily.

A tale is wafted from Frankfort that a scholarly young woman giving her name as Francis Elmina Cox, claiming to be a graduate of the Boston school of oratory and who has been delivering lectures on Browning, is being detained by the authorities on the suspicion that she is Sister Mary John, the missing nun from the Isadore convent.

Rev. Fr. Pongannis was tendered a great reception Wednesday at Gaylord when he was about to board a train for Saginaw, his new charge. Nearly the entire population turned out and he was preceded by the school children, who strewed his path with flowers. When he arrived at the depot, many kissed his hands and were shedding tears as the train moved away. Just as he boarded the step hundreds of bouquets were thrown on the steps as he waved them farewell.

Where President Will Camp.

New Orleans, Oct. 3.—President Roosevelt will be within one to four hours communication with the outside world when he goes into hunting camp in Northeast Louisiana at the end of this week. The location of two of his camps which have already been pitched have just been made public here by A. K. Amacker, of Lake Providence, La., who helped to make the camps. The first is at the junction of the Tensas river and the Monticello road, in east Carroll Parish. This camp will be about five miles from Alsatia station where the temporary White House will be established for the president's secretary, telegraphers and newspaper correspondents. The second camp is at the junction of Monticello road and Joe's Bayou. A temporary bridge has been built across the Tensas river to give easy communication between the camps. From the base four canebrakes are easily accessible. Mr. Amacker said that so far eight bears have been located in the brakes by experienced hunters who have been selected to lead the president's expedition.

Moors Continue Attack.

Casablanca, Oct. 3.—Representatives of the Mediounas tribe Wednesday formally complained to General Drude, the French commander, that they had been attacked and their camp raided by hostile Moors since their submission to the peace terms and asked for the protection of French troops. The general replied that the attacks had occurred beyond the radius of French action, adding that he thought that if the Mediounas were strong enough to attack the international troops they should be able to defend themselves against their native enemies.

The Great American Boss.

The average American is blase almost before the English girl is ready to leave her school, says a writer. The English girl never leaves her governess and home before she is eighteen, while at the same age the American girl has seen much of the world. Yet the American girl retains her vivacity and her interest in everything, and it is that one quality, I think, above all others that wins for her the admiration of the Englishwomen. The American woman never looks to her husband as master, while the Englishwoman is taught to do so from her birth.—Tit-Bits.

Confesses Murder.

Dayton, O., Oct. 3.—Layton Hines, colored, Wednesday confessed the murder of Anna Markowitz, of Covington, Ky., and Abraham Cohen, of Indianapolis, in Dayton, near McCabe's Park in August. The Markowitz and Cohen murders were similar in some respects to the tragic death of Miss Donna Gilman, the mystery of which murder is still baffling the police.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

DIES SUDDENLY.

Wayne County's Prosecuting Attorney Ill Only Few Hours.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 7.—George F. Robison, prosecuting attorney of Wayne county, died suddenly at his home, 1371 West Grand Boulevard, Sunday, after an illness of less than 24 hours from heart failure.

It is believed that the police court examination of Rep. Charles E. Ward, in which the prosecutor insisted on appearing personally Saturday, materially hastened his end.

Although he had been ailing for some time and had been on the verge of collapse for two weeks, Prosecutor Robison refused to leave his work, attending his office regularly and appearing every day in the various courts where the more important cases were on trial.

Saturday night on returning he complained of feeling very unwell, and toward midnight his condition became so serious that Dr. Birkett was called. The prosecutor grew steadily worse, soon becoming unconscious, and finally delirious. He raved over the Ward case and the other work that was bothering him, partially rallying at times and then sinking again until death came as an immense relief from suffering.

Mrs. Robinson, the prosecutor's wife; his daughter, Mrs. James Burns; James A. Robison, his brother, and Mrs. James T. Eaman, his sister, as well as several close friends of the family, were present at the bedside when the end came.

In his death Wayne county loses one of her long honored servants and most of the business men of Detroit and Wayne county one of their warm personal friends.

Both Better Off.

"Don't grieve; your husband is better off."

"So am I," responded the young widow; "he carried $25,000 life insurance."—Houston Post.

NEGRO LYNCHED.

Citizens of Cumberland, Md., Forstall Law in Case of Murderer.

Cumberland, Md., Oct. 7.—The first lynching in the history of Cumberland, which occurred at an early hour Sunday morning, has been the topic of general discussion, though scarcely of condemnation.

The shooting of Policeman August Baker on Thursday night by William Burns, a negro desperado, while the latter was resisting arrest, created a great deal of excitement, owing to the excellent reputation of the officer and his well-known kindly disposition. His death on Saturday morning was followed by threats against the negro, these coming as much from those of his own race as from the whites. Few, however, seem to have thought a lynching possible, and the police paid no attention to the rumors that were afloat.

Only Deputy Sheriff Adam Hendley was at the jail when, after midnight, a crowd of less than a hundred men, a few of whom were disguised in one way or another, appeared and demanded the keys. These being refused, a telegraph pole was used as a battering ram and entrance to the building was forced. Other negroes in neighboring cells were careful to guide the lynchers to that of Burns' and here again the battering ram was used. The lynchers found their victim crouched behind his cot and seizing him by the feet, dragged him out and down stairs and into the street, where, within a few yards of the entrance of the jail, Burns was kicked and shot to death.

Rev. W. Cleveland Hicks, an Episcopal clergyman, did his best to save the negro and afterward protected the body until the arrival on the scene of Judge Hunter Boyd and the police. Judge Boyd called the crowd to disperse and this was promptly obeyed. The body was removed to an undertaking establishment and 10,000 persons are estimated to have viewed it.

Four Killed by Explosion of a Metal Pot.

HAPPENS IN BUTLER, PA.

Frightful Accident at Plant of Standard Steel Co.—Magnitude of Explosion Was Sufficient to Shake Entire City—Pitiful Scenes Enacted.

Butler, Pa., Oct. 7.—An explosion, caused by the upsetting of the metal pot in the No. 1 Cupola of the Standard Steel Co. here, late last night, caused the death of four men, fatally injured 20 and seriously injured 10 others.

Nearly all the men were foreigners.

The large wheel plant, 150x100 feet, was demolished, causing a loss estimated at $100,000.

The dead: Nick Dorna, Nicholas Blotar, John Vereck, unknown man.

The condition of the thirty men injured is pitiable. Although still alive the features of a majority are mutilated beyond recognition. The hot metal was showered over them, causing horrible injuries. Arms, fingers and ears were torn off, while a number of the men had their eyes burned out. Several men are in the hospital with their legs burned to a crisp. Physicians attending the injured said that at least twenty of the men would die.

The accident was caused by the explosion of a metal pot in the cupola, which contained 5,000 pounds of molten metal ready for casting. A span in the pot broke, allowing the metal to spill over the wet sand. An explosion followed so quickly that none of the workmen in the building had a chance to escape.

Engulfed in Streams of Metal.

Streams of the burning metal poured out on the workmen, some of whom were engulfed and literally cooked. Twenty men near the cupola had every shred of clothing blown off by the force of the explosion. Many were buried under the wreckage and were not rescued for an hour after the catastrophe.

Buildings in the city, from the force of the explosion, shivered as if shaken by an earthquake and people rushed from their homes panic-stricken. When flames shot from the burning car works fully 10,000 people rushed to the scene, blocking streets and interfering with fire companies and ambulances. Twenty minutes after the accident, fifteen doctors were on the scene, and the wounded were cared for. Through lack of room many of the injured were compelled to lie for an hour on cots in street cars before it was possible to take them to the hospital a mile and a half away. Members of the fire department and citizens assisted in caring for the men who were totally naked and suffering intensely with the cold.

Automobiles and every available vehicle were pressed into service by Mayor Elmer E. Bell and Chief of Police Joseph Angert and used to convey the injured to the hospital.

At the gate of the car plant men and women struggled frantically to gain admission and were kept out only by the assistance of a force of policemen. In the crush many women were injured.

The car wheel plant was finished last year at a cost of $200,000.

LATE NEWS NOTES.

Ledyard Bill, formerly a publisher in New York City, and known also as a writer, died at the Worcester hospital in Worcester, Mass., Sunday, of pneumonia. He was born in Ledyard, Conn., 71 years ago.

Benjamin Formato, foreman of a gang of laborers, was blasting slag at the Union Furnace company's plant in Buffalo, N. Y., Sunday. While driving a 25-pound dynamite cartridge into a drilled hole he decided to hammer it in with a sledge. Formato's head was blown off. Anthony Tommillo also was killed and five other men were injured.

Joseph Koenig, aged 17 years, was found lying on the street in South Scranton, Pa., late Saturday night, shot through the heart. Henry Rudajski, aged 17 years, a friend of the boy, was arrested Sunday in connection with the case and is said to have confessed that Koenig was shot accidentally while they were examining a revolver together.

Thomas Bertram, 20 years old, of Altoona, Pa., received injuries in Portage, Pa., during a football game Sunday that caused his death. Bertram, who is a member of the Altoona Athletic team, was playing against the Portage team when he was kicked in the head during a scrimmage. His death, it is said, will result in prosecutions against those who played Sunday football.

A SAD EXPERIENCE.

Lad Swims Mile With Unconscious Brother.

'TWAS ALL TO NO AVAIL.

New Launch Sunk By Big Wave—William Egler Loses His Life Off Cathead Point—Lads Were On Way to Visit Their Father.

Traverse City, Mich., Oct. 7.—Struggling with the elements and the angry, treacherous waves of Lake Michigan at Cathead point, Harry Egler, 18 years of age, swam a mile dragging his brother William, 21, his doll-ized chum, only to have him die alone on the wild beach while he was off for help, about noon Sunday.

During the summer months, Harry and William spent their spare time building an 18-foot launch. The boys worked in a mill here and their exemplary habits and devotion to each other gave them many admirers. After they finished their craft they rigged it up to make it thoroughly seaworthy and tests gave them the idea they could weather any storm.

Their object in doing this was a 60-mile trip to Leland, the home of their father. For weeks they planned and planned and Saturday was the date eagerly looked forward to. Saturday evening they set out and went 20 miles before putting in for the night. Sunday morning they resumed their voyage and in rounding Cathead point they struck a heavy southwest gale. They saw it would be useless to attempt to ride it and in turning to go back a huge sea swept over the craft, sending it to the bottom.

Dived After Brother.

William went down with the boat. Harry immediately went down after his brother and got him. He bravely started to swim shoreward, dragging his senseless burden after him. Still the waves rolled and tossed and the moments that seemed ages were demanding of the younger brother to let go the elder and save himself.

But Harry hung on. Life meant little to him without the brother he loved so. Desperately he pressed forward, riding the waves and nearing safety until at last the haven was reached. There was still life and Harry thought he had won the battle with the elements and death. He rolled his unconscious brother over a log in an effort to resuscitate him. Seeing he could do nothing himself he quickly decided to go for assistance.

The home of Henry Scott was over a mile away, yet it was the nearest house. Despite the fact that his energy seemed near gone by the long swim and the hard struggle, Harry ran for all he was worth to the Scott residence. There he told what had occurred, and then dropped from exhaustion. He had fought hard and now that he had done all he could and the fight seemed won, he gave way.

Death Won Out.

With a doctor, Scott hurried to the beach that sported with the waves as the unconscious youth's life slowly ebbed away, but they were too late. The elements and death had won.

In Leland today there is the father and his two sons, but instead of the proud, happy trio there is the still and quiet of death. The man sits with bowed head and the one son paces back and forth in his anguish, now and then gazing on the brother he tried so hard to have live, while at the bottom of Lake Michigan lies the culmination of industrious, happy effort, the promise of pure pleasure, but the waves roll on in their mad frolic with Cathead beach.

MacLean's Release Seems Assured.

Tangier, Oct. 7.—The release of Caid Sir Harry MacLean, who for some time has been held captive by the bandit Raisuli, at last seems to be within measurable distance. The Associated Press has been informed on the best possible authority of the acceptance by the British government of Raisuli's reduced terms for MacLean's release, the principal items being $150,000 ransom and British protection for Raisuli and his family. Great Britain's advance of the ransom will be guaranteed by Sultan Abd-El-Aziz. Sir Harry MacLean's brother is now at Rabat bringing the negotiations with the sultan to a close.

A young widow has a peculiar way of seeing a man without looking at him.

Thos. A. Edison, the great American inventor, says "Fully eighty per cent of the illness of mankind comes from eating improper food or too much food; people are inclined to over-indulge themselves." This is where indigestion finds its beginning in nearly every case. The stomach can do just so much work and no more and when you overload it, or when you eat the wrong kind of food the digestive organs cannot possibly do the work demanded of them. It is at such times that the stomach needs help; it demands help and warns you by headaches, belching, sour stomach, nausea and indigestion. You should attend to this at once by taking something that will actually do the work for the stomach. Kodol will do this. It is a combination of natural digestants and vegetable acids and contains the same juices found in a healthy stomach. It is pleasant to take. It digests what you eat. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

A man doesn't have to wear good clothes if he can afford not to.

Crushing the Curate.

One of the first tasks they set the new curate who was handicapped by youth and inexperience was to investigate the busy lives of a "widow woman" who had applied to the church for help. He departed nervously on his errand and knocked, as ill luck would have it, at the wrong door.

"How long has your poor husband been dead, my good woman? What number of children have you? Are any of them working? If so, what amount of money are they earning altogether?" were the questions he fired like shots from a revolver, at the startled woman who answered his summons. "I presume I am addressing Mrs. Harriet Smith?" he added, noticing with alarm that she looked pale.

"No, you ain't," answered the woman, suspiciously. "My name is Selina Jack son; my bairns go to school and my 'usband's doin' what is necessary to a plateful of steak and onions at this very moment. Would you like to know anything else? Where I was born? When I was baptized? At what age I started courtin'? Perhaps," she concluded sarcastically, rolling her tattered sleeve up above the elbow, "you'd like to see my vaccination mark before you go?"

But the bashful curate was already in full flight.—Liverpool Mercury.

Long Men Wanted.

The records in the war department in Washington are as a rule very dry, but occasionally an entry is found that is humorous.

An officer of engineers in charge of the construction of a road that was to be built through a swamp, being energetic himself and used to surmounting obstacles, was surprised when one of his young lieutenants whom he had ordered to take twenty men and enter the swamp said that he could not do it, the mud was too deep. The colonel ordered him to try. He did so and returned with his men covered with mud.

"Colonel, the mud is over my men's heads. I can't do it."

The colonel insisted and told him to make a requisition for anything that was necessary for a safe passage. The lieutenant made his requisition in writing and on the spot. It was as follows:

"I want twenty men eighteen feet long to cross a swamp fifteen feet deep."—Harper's Weekly.

The "Nagur" and the Fiddle.

Here is a story that Frederick Douglass used to tell about himself: Once when he was in Dublin he felt very lonesome. He was wandering about the streets when he was attracted by two violins in the window of a second-hand dealer. Frederick entered and asked the price of one of the instruments.

"Five shillings, sor," said the Irish dealer.

Frederick tuned the violin and began to play "Rocky Road to Dublin." Soon the proprietor's wife heard the music and entered the rear door. Then Frederick started in on "The Irish Washerwoman," and the couple began to dance for dear life. When the music and dancing stopped Frederick tendered the dealer 5 shillings, but his performance on the violin had greatly enhanced its value in the mind of the storekeeper, and as he hurried away to a place of security he exclaimed:

"If a black nagur can git such chunes out of that fiddle I'll never sell it at any price, begorrah!"

The Secret.

From his farm Judge Blank was in the habit of supplying the preachers of all the churches with flour, corn, hay and vegetables free of cost. He also kept the country supplied with venison from the herd of deer which he kept for many years. He built a big smokehouse in the rear of his grounds. One night, unseen himself, he saw a man emerge from the smokehouse with a side of pork on his shoulder. He recognized the intruder, but said nothing. A week afterward the fellow approached him, saying, "Judge, I understand you had some meat stolen from your smokehouse?" The old judge raised his hand deprecatingly and said: "Sh! No one on earth knows anything about that but you and me."—Argonaut.

Where She Got Them.

"But," said the inquisitive bachelor after the baby had been carefully placed in his arms, "where does she get her blue eyes? Yours are dark, and so are her papa's."

"Oh," the fond young mother explained, "she inherits them from my side of the family. My brother Will's wife has just such eyes exactly."—Cleveland Leader.

Food and Civilization.

Few people realize adequately that the stomach is the greatest civilizing agency upon earth. A well fed man whose meals are suitably served will rise out of barbarism with an irresistible elan.—London World.

The Attraction.

Mme. Dupont—Have you been to the theater this week? Mme. Durand—Yes. Mme. Dupont—Did you see anything good? Mme. Durand—Yes; three perfect loves of new hats.—Rire.

His Order.

"Pop," asked the waiter's little boy, "what does 'apple pie order' mean?"

"Huh," exclaimed the waiter, "that sounds like a Boston man's breakfast."—Philadelphia Press.

"I can tell you," said he, "how much water runs over Niagara falls to a quart."

"How much?" asked she.

"Two pints."

Pittsburgers Fought Duel.

Pittsburg, Oct. 7.—Levi Jones, 63 years old, and Wm. Carpenter, aged 34, are dying in a hospital from injuries received in a duel today with a knife and an ince pick as weapons. The fight was prompted, it is said, by jealousy.

Four Pioneers Pass Away.

Bad Axe, Mich., Oct. 7.—Huron county has lost four of its pioneers within a week. William Hasse, Sr., born 71 years ago in Germany, and for nearly 40 years a resident, died at his home near Sebewaing. He leaves a widow, five sons and three daughters. Daniel Alton, an old resident of Bad Axe was born in Ireland in 1847. He leaves a widow and ten children. Nicholas Mollasso, for many years a resident of Port Austin, dropped dead while going home to supper. He was of French descent, 70 years of age and is survived by a widow, four sons and one daughter. Mrs. James Richardson, one of the oldest pioneers of Ubly, is dead as the result of paralysis. She was 74 years of age and is survived by five sons and four daughters.

Overloaded.

A United States senator had been inveighing at a dinner against long speeches.

"But, senator," said a congressman, "you can't accuse me of ever having made too long a speech, can you?"

The senator smiled.

"Perhaps not," he said, "and again—but did you ever hear about the temperance lecturer? No?

"Well, you must know that there was a temperance lecturer in Maine who visited Ellsworth and lectured. He hit out pretty hard from the shoulder at these so called moderate drinkers, and at the end of his remarks an Ellsworth man took him aside and said in an aggrieved tone:

"'Look here, Jim, I am a moderate drinker, as all the town knows, and to many people it is going to seem as if a good part of your lecture was pointed straight at me. What did you want to do it for, Jim? You never saw me with more on board than I could carry.'

"'What's that?' said the temperance lecturer.

"'You never saw me with a bigger load than I could carry, did you?'

"The lecturer frowned.

"'Well, no,' he said slowly, 'but I have seen you when I thought you'd done better to go twice for it.'"

Wireless Money Lending.

One of the most interesting types on the American track is the professional money lender. Money lending is absolutely forbidden, and so the entire transaction must be conducted sub rosa, but if a person who is on goes broke and he has some article of jewelry of value with him it is easy for him to realize money on it.

The lender is an irreproachably dressed person who sits on the grandstand with the rest of the crowd and is known in his true colors only to the habitues of the track. A man who wants some capital makes an unobtrusive sign to him and twirls a ring he may be wearing at the time. Shortly afterward both will proceed to a restaurant, where, for the benefit of onlookers, they will greet each other as ordinary acquaintances. The exchange is then made over the drink they order; the loan broker has the ring and the bettor his capital. If the latter cashes in on the next race he will return the money and the agreed upon premium and will receive back his ring.—From "The People and the Ponies," by C. F. Peters, in Bohemian.

Spoiled the Encore.

The nobility and gentry of Little Plowboro were recently gathered in the village schoolroom to enjoy some tableaux vivants by local performers, says Pearson's Weekly.

The curtain had just fallen on a really creditable picture of the death of Nelson, shown to slow music, when one man, who was known to be a friend of the gentleman representing the greatest naval hero, rose and tried to make his way toward the stage.

"Keep your seats, please," said the stage manager. "We're much obliged for your kind applause, ladies and gentlemen, and we're going to give you the death of Nelson over again."

"D, are yer?" came from the hero's friend. "Then if you'll tell Nelson 'is kitchen chimney's afire p'raps 'e won't die so blessed lingerin'."

He Settled It.

An amusing story is told at Stratford-on-Avon. In the smoking room of a hotel there an Englishman and a Scotchman engaged in a heated argument. John Bull was declaring William Shakespeare to be the only poet of the world, and Donald McPherson was standing up for his Robert Burns.

Words ran high and blows seemed imminent when a self confident little commercial traveler determined to throw oil on the troubled waters.

"Gentlemen," he said, stepping between the heated disputants, "let me settle this amicably. Who is this Shakespeare-Burns?"—London Telegraph.

Odessa Jews Again Attacked.

Odessa, Oct. 7.—Despite the precautionary measures taken by Governor-General Novitsky, the unionies Sunday after the funeral of M. Dalinsky, assistant chief of the secret police, who was killed in an attempt to break up an anarchist meeting several days ago, renewed their anti-semitic outrages. Several Jewish tea rooms were ransacked and numerous Jews were brutally beaten.

Far too little has been said about the real merits of the exposition that celebrates the three hundredth anniversary of the settlement of the United States. The Jamestown Ter-Centennial exposition was unfortunate in allowing itself to be seen long before it was ready for inspection. It is not colossal, but it is beautiful and it is instructive. Visitors going there in the mood of willingness to discover the attractions of the exposition will not be disappointed. The eight or ten weeks that remain of the fair ought to bring hundreds of thousands of visitors from all parts of the country. — From "Progress of the World" in the American Review of Reviews for October.

An old gentleman by the name of Teachout, who had been visiting relatives by the same name near Maybee, took the 8:35 train here Monday morning for Howell. When the train sidetracked near Howell to allow the south bound passenger to pass, it is evident that the aged man thought they had reached the station and he alighted from the coach. He was run over and instantly killed by the passing train. Nothing being found on his person by which he might be identified, the conductor, remembering he had boarded the train at Milan, telegraphed to this place and the identity of the dead man was proven. The deceased was deaf and carrried an ear trumpet. Money was also found on him.—Milan Leader.

One of the heaviest stumps that ever came under the removal operations of Street Commissioner Lentz was taken from the school house grounds Tuesday morning and with an 8-horse team was dragged on what is known in primeval parlance as a "mudboat" to the dump on north Winter street where it was unloaded to aid in filling in a vacuum. Mr. Lentz estimated the weight of the stump, roots and earth clinging to it at 6,000 pounds. It was a big load for a lot of horses and men and cost a lot of money to remove but objections to making fragments of the huge conglomeration by the aid of dynamite or giant powder necessitated the removal of the stump entire.—Adrian Press.

A certain good old soul in town purchased a pint the other day and happened to mention it to two worthies. One later engaged him in conversation while the other gentleman pinched the pint. By and by the loser was invited to "have suthin." He opinioned he was willing and the three proceeded around the corner far in the rear of a Main street store. The real owner had a swig followed by one all around and another round robin finished the bottle, which fact ought to make each man's identity plain. When one swallow remained one of the lifters said, "Well, Bill, you might as well take the rest home for a night cap." Then the loser tumbled and the rest of the discussion is unfit for print.—Hudson Gazette.

A Criminal Attack

On an inoffensive organ is often made in that apparently useless tube called the appendix. It is generally the result of protracted constipation, following liver torpor. Dr. King's new life pills regulate the liver and bowels, and prevents appendicitis. 25c at C. A. Wright & Son's.

The first installment of "Rose MacLeod" by Miss Alice Brown, opens the October Atlantic. It is a singularly sincere and charming narrative of unusual humor and rare feeling. This serial will continue throughout the rest of the year, ending probably in the late spring of 1908.

My dear old Mother.

"My dear old mother, who is now 83 years old thrives on Electric Bitters," writes Wm. Brunson of Dublin, Ga. "She has taken them for about 3 years and enjoys an excellent appetite, feels strong and sleeps well." That's the way Electric Bitters affect the aged and the same results follow in all cases of female weakness and general debility. Weak, puny children are greatly strengthened. Guaranteed for stomach, kidney and liver troubles at C. A. Wright & Son's drug store. 50c.

Warren, Pa., Season's Series.

Warren Pa., Jan. 19, 1906.

No greater privilege has been mine since engaging in the concert and lecture work in 1903, than to have the honor of presenting to my patrons Capt. Jack Crawford, who for nearly two hours held his hearers as a unit, swaying them like the leaves in the breeze with his wonderful wit, humor and pathos. The Capt. stands in a class by himself—none other like him—and is doing untold good. A prominent Warren women said after hearing the Capt.'s "Toast to Woman." "The best temperance lecture I ever heard." A seventh grade boy, whose teacher sent her entire school to hear the talk, said the next morning. "Mrs.—, I was glad that Capt. Jack forgot his watch. I only wish he hadn't thought of it for another two hours." We want Capt. Jack again and for a matinee, if possible, so that every boy and girl may be given the opportunity of hearing from one of their best friends. The Capt. loves the children and terms them an ideal audience. May his years of health and strength be many to continue in the grand work of building for taller christianity and higher ideals.
Sincerely,
MARY O. KING,
Manager Season's Series.

Sale of seats opened yesterday. $1.00 and $1.25 and $1.50 for season ticket, including reserved seats.

"Si Holler."

There have been all kinds of "rube" plays but "Si Holler" which will be the attraction night of Oct. 8, is said to be the best of them all. The play is a happy blending of "rural" comedy and strenuous life in the slums of New York. This gives a chance for a great diversity of characters and the author has not overlooked his opportunity. Several novel scenes are introduced. "Si Holler" will be well worth seeing.

C. J. Rose, Mt. Vernon, Ohio.

Hobson and Capt. Jack have come and gone. Hobson made a profound impression and was generally highly appreciated. Capt. Jack captured the hearts of everybody. He was a success.

MRS. NELLIE ADAMSON

Of Tecumseh, is elected to the office of Grand Outer Guard.

The closing session of the Michigan Grand Lodge, K. of P. at Bay City came Thursday with election of officers and important business. The project of building a Michigan Pythian home was talked of, but it was decided not to start the structure until all of the funds have been collected. The sisters elected officers. Mrs. Nellie Adamson of this place, was elected to the office of Grand Outer Guard. Their officers are as follows:

Grand chief, Mrs. Poccahontas Bond, Battle Creek; grand senior, Mrs. Mary Vpimberg, Charlotte; grand junior, Mrs. Alice McBride, Charlotte; grand manager, Mrs. Myrtle Habbel, Belding; grand mistress of records and correspondence, Mrs. Jennie Doyle, Pontiac; grand mistress of finance, Mrs. Ella Jordan, Detroit; grand inner guard, Mrs. Sadie Staunton Price, Detroit; grand outer guard, Mrs. Nellie Adamson, Tecumseh; trustee, Mrs. Melissa Deildrich, Middleville; supreme representative, Mrs. Mary Hotten, Sault Ste. Marie.

The Pythian Sisterhood made a gain of 600 members in the past year, making a state membership of over 5,000. Six new temples have been added to the list this year, Dundee and Addison being among the number.

Joel B. Slocum.

Captain Jack Crawford opened our entertainment course here with a large audience, which he captured at the first word and held captive for an hour and a half, during which time he talked with marvelous rapidity. Wit, humor, sense, pathos and eloquence flashed and bubbled and convinced and moved and stirred every heart with emotions that succeeded one another more quickly than the shots of his rapid-fire six-shooter. Throughout there was an irresistible appeal to the noblest elements in boyhood, manhood and womanhood. I wish every young person in the city could have heard him. It was better than a whole series of sermons. Captain Jack is a "cracker-Jack" in the best sense. He is absolutely genuine and unmistakably great. I'd rather miss three meals in succession than miss hearing him again at the very next opportunity.

Sale of seats opened yesterday morning. $1, $1.25 and $1.50 for season tickets including reserved seats.

Mrs. Catherine W. VanAntwerp.

Died in Oakland Oct. 1, 1907, Mrs. Catherine Watson VanAntwerp, beloved mother of Mrs. Oliver Emlay, a native of Pennsylvania, aged 88 years, 11 months and 18 days. Friends and acquaintances are respectfully invited to attend the funeral Thursday, Oct. 3 at 9 o'clock a. m. at the residence. Interment at Oakland cemetery. Interment private.

The above was taken from a California paper which was received by Jas. VanAntwerp of this place, a son of the deceased.

Mr. and Mrs. Abraham VanAntwerp left Tecumseh 19 years ago to reside in California. Prior to going west they had spent the greater part of their married life in Tecumseh, where numerous friends still hold them in loving remembrance. Four years ago Mr. VanAntwerp died, the wife and widow continuing to reside in California. By the death of Mrs. VanAntwerp six children are left to mourn the loss of a kind and loving mother. They are James VanAntwerp, of this place; Milton, of Jackson; Merritt and Alberta VanAntwerp, in Denver, Colo.; Nettie VanAntwerp, a teacher in Honolulu, and Mrs. Emlay of Oakland, Cal.

Prof. Chas. Hertel, Bellevue, Ohio.

The Captain is not merely an entertainer, but he is an instructor and pleads for higher culture, nobler manhood and happier homes. His plea is especially strong and pathetic for the American boy and the boys love him because of his unquestioned sincerity and his love for them. I wish every boy and girl in America could hear "Captain Jack."

Tecumseh Champs Lose.

Wyandotte defeated the Tecumseh team, champions of the Southern Michigan league, at Wyandotte Sunday in one of the most interesting and exciting games of ball that has been played in that town this summer. The Southern Michigan champions were unable to solve Boettner's delivery, getting but one hit in nine innings, while Doty was found for six. Both teams played a good fielding game. The feature was a catch by Murphy in the eighth inning, robbing Schiappicassee of a triple. The visitors scored first, putting a run over in the sixth. The 'Dotties came back with two in their half of the eighth and the game ended with the score 2 to 1 in favor of the home club.

Score by innings:

Batteries, Boettner and Guenther; Doty and Mitchell. Umpire, Murphy.

I have heard Capt. Jack Crawford and most heartily commend his entertainment as chaste, refined, patriotic and inspiring. Lyceum Bureaus and Chautauquas will make no mistake in engaging him. He is a success.

WRECK.

Two freights on the D. T. & I. came together about 9 o'clock

SUNDAY MORNING

Near the Albert Waring farm, two miles east of town.

A head end collision occurred on the D. T. & I. Sunday morning at 9 o'clock about 2 miles east of Tecumseh near the Albert Waring farm, between a D. T. & I. through freight south bound, and a Lake Shore gravel train going east. The through freight was coming around the curve, the engineer of the gravel train heard them, put on the brakes and the entire crew jumped. The crew of the south bound train, jumped, but the engineer did not have time to slow up. No one was injured.

Both engines were derailed, that of the gravel train was smaller and is completely wrecked. Two cars were telescoped. A wrecking train arrived from Elkhart at 4 o'clock and cleaned the track. Fully 500 people from Tecumseh visited the scene of the wreck. It is claimed that both trains had the right of way.

SAYS IT IS A FACT.

C. A. Wright & Son confirm guarantee on Hyomei, cure for catarrh.

The question having been raised as whether or no C. A. Wright & Son will refund the money if a Hyomei outfit does not do all that is claimed for it in curing catarrh, they want to state positively that is guarantee is an absolute fact.

A guarantee like this is the best proof that can be offered as to the curative powers of Hyomei in all catarrhal troubles. You do not risk a cent in testing its healing virtues, C. A. Wright & Son take all the risks.

If you have catarrh, try this wonderful medicated air of Hyomei. It does not drug or derange the stomach, but is breathed through a neat pocket inhalaler that comes with every outfit, so that its medication reaches the most remote air cells in the nose, throat and lungs, where any catarrhal germs may be lurking. It quickly destroys them, heals and soothes the irritated mucous membrane and vitalizes the tissues so that catarrh is no longer possible. You can lose nothing by giving Hyomei a trial, nothing but the catarrh and that is good riddance.

The price of the complete outfit is but $1.00: nothing if it fails to cure. Get an outfit from C. A. Wright & Son today and begin its use at once.

WEAK KIDNEYS MAKE WEAK BODIES.

Kidney diseases cause half the ills of Tecumseh people.

As one bad link weakens a chain, so bad kidneys weaken the whole body. Overwork, colds and other causes injure the kidneys and when their activity is lessened, the whole body suffers from uric poison.

Aches, pains and urinary ills come with a tendency towards diabetes and Bright's disease. There is no real help but Doan's Kidney Pills that act directly on the kidneys. Tecumseh cures are proof.

John Smith, deputy sheriff, living on Chicago street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I have suffered much from pains in my back, through the loins and kidneys. I think the trouble was brought on by heavy work on the farm. On bending over I would feel dizzy and spots of fire would flash before me and at night I was restless. I doctored a great deal using a number of kidney remedies but received no benefit. I read the convincing statements concerning Doan's Kidney Pills and tried them. After using the first box I felt better and I continued until cured. I recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to all suffering from kidney trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's.—and take no other.

FLOCK TO AMERICA.

Number Japs Entering Increased Two Fold in Year.

STRAUS MEANS TO STOP IT.

Secretary of Commerce and Labor Will Increase Number of Inspectors Along Borders—Orientals Enter Country Via Mexico and Canada.

Washington, Oct. 5.—Immigration of Japanese into America is increasing at so alarming a rate that it has been determined by the government to adopt extraordinary measures to prevent the introduction into the United States, not only of Japanese, but of other Asiatic coolie laborers. One result of the trip of Secretary Straus of the department of commerce and labor, along the Canadian border and the Pacific coast, has been an order increasing the force of immigration inspectors along the Canadian border, with a view to controlling, if possible, the flood of Asiatic immigration into America.

Official figures of the immigration of Japanese into America are not available, because Secretary Straus declines at this time to make them public; but it is known that more than double the number of Japanese have come into the United States thus far in the year 1907 than came here during the same period last year. Naturally, the figures of the government do not include the hundreds of Japanese who have come into the country surreptitiously. They have come across the Canadian and Mexican borders practically without hindrance, despite the regulations adopted by the government to prevent the introduction of Japanese laborers.

How They Gain Entrance.

The government of Japan does not issue passports to laborers for America. It does, however, issue passports to them for the Hawaiian islands and Canada. Once in the Hawaiian islands, they take passage either to Mexico or to Canada and their way across the border line into this country from either Mexico or the Dominion is easy. They take train, for instance, from Mexico to Canada, through the United States. The railroads are not bonded, as they are in the case of Chinese passengers, to deliver them at a specified destination. The result is that the Japanese leave the train at any point in the United States they may choose. They disappear and it practically is impossible to find them, even if they are known to have left the train, which is entirely unlikely.

Inquiries in the Hawaiian islands have revealed organizations whose business it is to procure Japanese laborers for work in the United States. They not only provide the means, but prescribe the way by which Japanese easily may obtain entrance into this country through Canada or Mexico.

It is this sort of proposition the government proposes to combat. In the appointment of what practically constitutes a patrol guard of the northern and southern borders of the country, Secretary Straus hopes to reduce the number of Asiatics—Japanese, Chinese and Hindus—who daily are coming across the borders in great and increasing numbers.

CLOTHES AND THE MAN.

Dante's Rebuke to the King With Whom He Dined.

That clothes made the man was as much a trite truth in Dante's day as now, according to an old story told by Sercambi. Dante was invited by a king to dine with him, along with a few other chosen friends, but he came attired quite shabbily, was given a place below the salt and was overlooked and apparently forgotten until the feast was over, when the king, having recollected himself, asked:

"By the bye, what has become of the poet I had intended to talk to?"

Dante, offended and hurt by the slight, had taken his departure, but returned when followed and invited anew. This time he came to supper superbly dressed in crimson velvet and gold and was served with extreme attention, but the courtiers observed with amazement that he poured the soup down his sleeves, tucked cutlets into his breast and smeared his rich attire with sauces.

"Good gracious, your majesty," observed the boldest of the supping nobles, "why has this poet such manners?"

The question was passed on to Dante, who gravely replied: "When I came here dressed shabbily and sat quietly in my corner, I was forgotten and snubbed. I now come in fine clothes and am very much attended to. I therefore concluded that it was rather my clothes than myself that you admired and invited and was willing to bestow on them a just share of your hospitality."—St. Louis Republic.

FAIRLY WARNED.

The Little Sister's Advice to the Prospective Bride.

It was big sister's wedding day, and mother was in the kitchen helping the cook. Little sister was there, too, and added frayed nerves to the excitement by demanding to know every other minute what a marriage was.

Finally mother became exasperated. "If you speak again," she said, "I'll show you what a marriage is," and little sister sat down very meekly.

But little sister had caught the excitement and could not keep quiet. Just as mother and the cook were busiest she asked her question again. For a full minute the kitchen resounded with walls, and then mother placed little sister on the chair again.

"Now," she said, "you know what marriage is."

That night the clergyman stood under the marriage bell in the parlor. Into the room came big sister on the arm of her father. Halfway up the stairs little sister watched her through the door and cried softly. Finally she could stand it no longer.

Just as the ceremony was about to begin a form came flying down the stairs and little sister burst into the room.

"Oh, Milly, Milly," she cried convulsively, "don't you get married or you'll get an awful spanking."—New York Press.

Good Reason to Hurry.

The trials of a musical accompanist are many, if we may credit all the stories told of them. A young professional recently played accompaniments for the performers at a private entertainment for a fashionable charity lasting for nearly two hours.

"Here, you see, I have no chance to take a breath for ten bars," said the amateur flute player, indicating to the accompanist a passage in his opening solo. "There are a number of such places in my solos, and if you'll hurry the time whenever you come to them it will be a relief to my wife, for all my family are subject to apoplexy and I've already had one slight attack."

Cleaning the Typewriter.

The most important thing in cleaning a typewriter is to get the dust and grit out of the machine not farther into it, as is too often the case. At least twice a year every typewriter should be thoroughly cleaned with gasoline, and then the machine should be left alone until all the gasoline has evaporated. Then all points of friction should be oiled and the ribbon, which was, of course, removed at the start, replaced. Simply as a business proposition it pays to keep typewriters covered when not in use.—Circle.

My Breath.

Shortness of Breath Is One of the Commonest Signs of Heart Disease.

Notwithstanding what many physicians say, heart disease can be cured.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure has permanently restored to health many thousands who had found no relief in the medicines (allopathic or homoeopathic) of regular practicing physicians.

It has proved itself unique in the history of medicine, by being so uniformly successful in curing those diseases.

Nearly always, one of the first signs of trouble is shortness of breath. Whether it comes as a result of walking or running up stairs, or of other exercises, if the heart is unable to meet this extra demand upon its pumping powers—there is something wrong with it.

The very best thing you can do, is to take Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure. It will go to the foundation of the trouble, and make a permanent cure by strengthening and renewing the nerves.

"I know that Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is a great remedy. For a number of years I suffered from shortness of breath, smothering spells, and pains in my left side. For months at a time I would be unable to lie on my left side, and if I lay flat on my back would nearly smother. A friend advised using Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, which I did with good results. I began to improve at once, and after taking several bottles of the Heart Cure the pains in my side and other symptoms vanished. I am now entirely well. All those dreadful smothering spells are a thing of the past."—F. P. DRAKE, Middletown, O.

Kidnaped Two Boys.

Flint, Mich., Oct. 7.—A woman believed to have been Mrs. Leland Fox, of Pontiac, paid a visit to the Doyle school and asked to see Arthur and Earl Fox, aged respectively 7 and 8 years. After having had a talk with the woman the lads were excused by their teacher and went away with the visitor. When the boys did not return home after school the father made inquiries and upon learning that they had gone away with the woman supposed to be his wife, he notified the police. Further investigation disclosed the fact that the woman and her two juvenile companions had left the city. Fox boarded the first train for Pontiac to make an effort to regain possession of his children. Mr. and Mrs. Fox are said to be the principals in divorce proceedings instituted in the Oakland county, circuit court, and the former allegex he has been awarded the custody of the two children by the court pending the determination of the suit.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

Twelve-year-old Charles O'Connell, of Whitehall, was picked up by the police force at Muskegon after he had stolen a ride from his home and was bound for the state of Washington, where his father is located.

While milking a cow, Mrs. William Donovan, who lives northeast of Albion, was knocked over and trampled on by another cow. She sustained a broken leg and several serious bruises. It is also feared she is injured internally.

One of the biggest society weddings in Muskegon in years was celebrated at 6 o'clock Saturday night when Susan E. Gray became the bride of Walter C. Powell. She is a Michigan "lit" and the groom was graduated from Princeton.

Orrin Bump, 64 years old, a former Bay City banker, who went to California five years ago for his health, is dead. He was president of the Old Second National bank when he was here. The body will be taken to Bay City for burial.

Patrolman Paul Jaul Johnson, John Shorkey and Louis Erard, of Pontiac, on their way to a nearby lake to fish, found a mushroom which weighed six and one-half pounds and measured three feet and four inches in circumference. The mushroom was cut into steaks and its flavor was most decidedly excellent.

Standing on her back porch, Mrs. Charles Pomrenke, of Grand Rapids, was struck in the side by a rifle bullet. The ball hit a corset steel and glanced off, without hurting her. Later detectives arrested three lads who admitted shooting and complaint will be made against them for discharging firearms in the city limits.

Mrs. Emma Thompson, of Laingsburg, was awarded a verdict of six cents Saturday in her suit against Fred E. Alderton, of Greenville, a former hotel proprietor at Laingsburg. Mrs. Thompson claimed that Alderton sold her husband liquor and helped in his degradation. She will have to pay the costs of the trial.

CANADIANS HOSTILE.

Feeling Among Them Against Japs Far Greater Than in United States.

New York, Oct. 7.—Abbe Felix Klein, one of the prominent members of the clerical element in France, who is making a study of American social and economic conditions, has returned from an extensive tour of the west. Speaking of his observations, Abbe Klein said:

"I was much impressed while on the Pacific coast with the anti-Japanese feeling existing at Vancouver and throughout British Columbia, which is far more intense than the feeling on the American side of the border. At San Francisco, the anti-Japanese element is comparatively small and one hears little active agitation against the Japanese.

"On the other hand, I visited Vancouver shortly after the anti-Japanese riots, meeting the Japanese consul and going through the Japanese quarter. Everywhere there was evidence of intense hostility. It was not a question of labor, but of race. The people have taken up the shibboleth of "Canada for the Canadians," and they feel that the exclusion of the yellow race is essential for their self-preservation. They are very determined in this feeling and are pressing their view forcibly on the authorities at Ottawa and London.

"Before coming to America, I shared the view of a considerable element in France and throughout Europe that the Japanese question might lead the United States into war. But personal observation throughout the middle west and the far west has completely changed my views. The people of the west are not thinking of such a thing, and scout the very idea of war."

THE COFFEE MASQUERADE

Advice of the largest coffee dealers in the world is always to buy the old-fashioned Arbuckles' ARIOSA Coffee in the sealed packages. Don't ask for a pound of Mocha and Java, or buy by the price, for Coffee fluctuates and you cannot get the same coffee for the same price all the time unless you pay too much for it. Most of the so-called Mocha and Java Coffee is simply masquerading, and is not nearly as good coffee for you as Arbuckles' ARIOSA, the blend of the Brazilian Coffees most suitable to the taste and health of American people. To the looks there is no difference between roasted Java and Brazilian Coffees; many people drink Brazilian but pay for Java. The principal difference is that Arbuckles' costs you less. It is a mistake to believe that a high price guarantees quality. When you buy Arbuckles' ARIOSA Coffee, you get a full one pound package of the leading Coffee of the world. Its sales for 37 years are greater than the combined sales of all the other packaged coffees. By giving better Coffee for the money, we have built up a business exceeding the combined businesses of the four next largest coffee firms in the whole world. If your dealer will not supply the genuine, write to ARBUCKLE BROS., New York City.

Glasgow Doesn't Support President's Federal Railroad Control Plan.

Washington, Oct. 10.—"I disagree with President Roosevelt," said C. L. Glasgow, chairman of Michigan's new railway commission, when asked his opinion regarding the president's recent utterances on federal control of railroads.

Glasgow said that, in the interest of efficiency and also of democracy, states should handle railroad situations to the limit of their efficient capacity. Glasgow was given an opportunity to express his views on this question late Wednesday afternoon at the convention of state railroad commissioners.

That the experts' valuation of Michigan railroads, made a few years ago, is too low was the view expressed in the convention by H. P. Gillette, engineer of the Washington state commission. Gillette said that valuation was made for purposes of taxation and that, in his judgment, railroads would seek to secure higher estimates, in case an attempt is made to tax on the same figures as the basis for rate making.

Prof. Henry C. Adams, who was chiefly instrumental in making the appraisal, was present, but did not take occasion to contradict Gillette. Michigan's new state commission will hold its first conference with the passenger and freight traffic managers in about 30 days.

Glasgow will fix the date on his return to Michigan. One of the first jobs to be tackled will be the excursion question. Glasgow says the commission expects to be able to induce the railroads to resume excursions next summer.

CHINESE PLEASED.

Press Comment on Secretary Taft's Visit Most Enthusiastic.

Shanghai, Oct. 10.—The comment of the Chinese press, officials and people on the visit to Shanghai of War Secretary Taft is most enthusiastic. The reports published in the newspapers of this city on the subject have been telegraphed to all parts of China. The general feeling of the Chinese on the utterance of Mr. Taft may be summarized as follows:

"The United States will not sell the Philippine islands, an assurance which is welcomed, as it means that there will be no extension of Japanese influence and a continuation of American influence in the far east.

"The Chinese desire to interpret Mr. Taft's statement reiterating that the United States favors the open door policy in China as being unofficial, but at the same time made on his authority and indicating that the United States will support it and maintain the policy in Manchuria, the only place where the open door is threatened.

"Mr. Taft's endorsement of the United States court for China over which Judge Willfley presides, is looked upon as meaning a continuance of the new era of justice and as demonstrating that the United States is really interested in China.

"The enthusiastic welcome accorded to Mr. Taft here atones for the boycott of American goods and demonstrates China's friendship for America.

"The assurances given in regard to fair treatment of the emigration question are accepted in good faith.

"China trusts in the United States and believes in her as a true friend."

With a Little Help.

GREAT ORGANIZATION.

Cotton Growers and Spinners Have Perfected One.

AN IMPORTANT COMMITTEE.

Body of Fifteen Members Will Represent Five Lesser Organizations—Atlanta Conference Has Borne Excellent Results.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 10.—When the plan adopted Wednesday afternoon by the international conference of cotton growers and spinners goes into effect the cotton industry of the world, from the time of the planting of the seed to the time the mills turn out their goods, will be under one great organization of planters and spinners to be known as the International Committee of Cotton Growers' and Manufacturers' association.

This body will consist of fifteen members, two from each of the five organizations composing this conference and two representing the spinners of continental Europe and two from the Sea Island Cotton Growers' association, which was admitted to membership Wednesday.

In addition to the two organizations just named, the international committee will, therefore, be composed of delegates from the Farmers' union, the Southern Cotton association, the International Cotton Spinners' Association of Europe, the Association of Cotton Manufacturers and the American Manufacturers' association. The fourteen members or delegates forming the committee will select a chairman from one of the associations represented.

The international conference adjourned late Wednesday afternoon. The first meeting of the new world-wide organization may possibly be held in Paris next year, as the International Cotton Spinners' association of Europe meets there, and Herr Kuffler of Vienna stated that delegates from all organizations will be invited to attend.

The conference at its sessions Wednesday took action that it is believed will soon result in a vast improvement in the methods of putting raw cotton into shape for handling by the spinners with a consequent saving to them of fully $25,000,000 a year now lost, it has been asserted, by reason of a slipshod method of baling.

Five Hurt in Wreck.

Pittsburg, Oct. 10.—The Chicago special train, No. 25, from New York to Chicago on the Pennsylvania railroad, met with an accident last night at Pitcairn, Pa., a few miles east of this city, and five persons were injured. A hot journal on the locomotive of train No. 25 necessitated the renewal of engines and the train was pulled from the main track at Pitcairn until the change could be made. A local passenger train approached the network of tracks and the engineer did not notice until he was a few rods away that the rear Pullman coach of the through train stood directly across his path. He applied the brakes, but could not avert the crash.

Want Wood Pulp Export Stopped.

Ottawa, Oct. 10.—The Canadian manufacturers of pulp and paper waited on the governor Wednesday and asked for the prohibition of the export of wood pulp. Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that the matter would be taken into consideration. The chief argument of the manufacturers is that without Canadian wood pulp, American mills would be forced either to close or establish their plants in Canada, thus placing them on an equal footing with the Canadian mills for the American market and at the same time add to Canada's industrial importance.

Explorers Rescued.

San Francisco, Oct. 10.—The whaling steamer Narwhal arrived Wednesday afternoon from Unalaska with six of the crew of the Leffingwell nd Mikkelson Arctic exploration ship, Duchess of Bedford, which sank off the beach at Flakma island on April 9. The men were taken off the island on August 28. Those brought by the Narwhal are Dr. Howell, First Mate Starkerson and four sailors. Capt. Mikkelson and 11 others remained on the steamer.

Jack Simpkins' Body Found.

Spokane, Wash., Oct. 10.—A body said to be that of Jack Simpkins, the missing member of the executive committee of the Western Federation of Miners, was found Tuesday near Pierce City, Ida., badly decomposed. The only means of identifying the corpse was a gun bearing a silver name plate and Simpkins' name. Miners who knew Simpkins well positively identified the gun as one owned by Simpkins. It is thought that the man died in a snow storm last winter.

SENATE CAN'T AGREE.

Long Debate on Primary Bill Is Without Result.

NEW MEASURES BROUGHT IN.

Administration Men Offer Two—Opponents Will Introduce Another—Mt. Pleasant Normal Provided With Funds—Legislators Take Lay-Off.

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 10.—The legislature Wednesday passed appropriation act for the Mt. Pleasant Normal school to provide funds lacking by reason of defects in the acts passed last winter.

In the senate yesterday the two factions lined as during the regular session—sixteen to sixteen—in a struggle over the primary election bill, and it was neither passed nor defeated. The debate was long and hot. Two new bills were introduced by the administration senators, one of which makes it mandatory to nominate all candidates for public office under the primary system; the other provides for nominating gubernatorial candidates at a spring primary with a proviso that if no candidate receives over 40 per cent of the vote cast, the nomination shall go into a later convention.

The anti-administration senators were taunted with the purpose of defeating all primary bills, and finally it was announced by one of them that they will introduce a bill next week which their opponents say they will support if it is fair.

The house fixed next Tuesday for considering the governor's anti-lobby bill. Both houses quit work for the week today.

TWO BANKS CLOSE.

Runs on Richland and Kalamazoo Institutions Puts 'Em Out of Business.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Oct. 10.—As the result of a small run, during which considerable money was paid out, the Union bank of Richland, a private institution which succeeded the old Richland Exchange bank, decided late Tuesday to suspend business, and the doors of that institution were closed Wedneday morning.

Following this action the Bowman bank of Kalamazoo, a private bank, doing business at 201 Burdick street, of which E. W. Bowman is president, decided to close its doors to avoid a possible run. Mr. Bowman was one of the co-partners in the Richland bank and heavily interested in that institution.

The capital stock of the banks is small, only $6,000 for the Richland institution. The liabilities are given as $195,000; the liabilities of the Richland bank being stated as $120,000, and the Bowman bank's liabilities as $75,000. It is stated that the directors of the Richland bank, all rich farmers, will be able to pay all indebtedness, and it is believed Mr. Bowman will also be able to settle all liabilities, though his name is on some paper. Late Tuesday George M. Evers was named as assignee of the Richland Union bank.

Wallace W. Dewey of Kalamazoo is president of the Richland bank; Miss Rell S. Wilson is cashier. Patrick H. Gilkey, one of southern Michigan's most prominent democratic politicians, Elias W. Bowerman and A. R. Whitney are co-partners.

Valuable Brooch Stolen From Woman.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 10.—A diamond brooch, valued at $1,000, belonging to Mrs. Charles Wright, 630 Jefferson avenue, was apparently stolen from the neck of the wearer one day this week, and the police department has been asked to find it. Mrs. Wright was wearing the pin when she boarded a car at Jefferson avenue and Dequindre street, to go down-town to the People's State bank. From the bank she went to the home of Mrs. J. C. Hutchins, but at no time was she concerned about the pin. When she finally discovered the loss she noticed that her dress looked as if the pin had been torn loose from it, and the theory is that somewhere in the cars a thief took it. The brooch contained 17 jewels, and aside from its worth was much valued by Mrs. Wright.

A young widow has a peculiar way of seeing a man without looking at him.

Thos. A. Edison, the great American inventor, says "Fully eighty per cent of the illness of mankind comes from eating improper food or too much food; people are inclined to over-indulge themselves." This is where indigestion finds its beginning in nearly every case. The stomach can do just so much work and no more and when you overload it, or when you eat the wrong kind of food the digestive organs cannot possibly do the work demanded of them. It is at such times that the stomach needs help; it demands help and warns you by headaches, belching, sour stomach, nausea and indigestion. You should attend to this at once by taking something that will actually do the work for the stomach. Kodol will do this. It is a combination of natural digestants and vegetable acids and contains the same juices found in a healthy stomach. It is pleasant to take. It digests what you eat. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

Other Officers Take a Rise

Washington, Oct. 10.—The detachment of marines which was ordered to Panama from Washington Navy Yard last week, consisting of 15 men, sailed for Panama on the Panama railroad steamship Advance, which left Colon for Panama on Tuesday. The marines were under command of Lieutenant Wilfred Bloomer, who was in charge of the detachment. Lieutenant Bloomer is the only officer who was ordered to Panama. The other officers who were ordered to Panama with the marines, Lieutenant Colonel Littlepage and Major Richard Wallace, will not go to the Isthmus at present, but will remain in the United States for some time yet. It is understood that the Navy officials on the Isthmus have asked that the marines be left there for a while longer, which is taken to mean that the situation on the Isthmus is not as satisfactory as the Washington officials would like it to be. The marines will be used there in case of any trouble that may arise in the Panama or Colon districts, and should the occasion arise they will be used to protect the property of the Panama railroad company, which is American, and the $8,000,000 mortgage

LATE NEWS NOTES.

In his annual address to the convention of the National Fire Protection Association, which met at its session in Atlanta, Ga., on Tuesday, President Paul L. Lindsley of Chicago strongly advocated a universal system in connection with the United States postoffice department.

Israel Law, alias Jacob Law, the naturalized American, who shot two quinquagenarians in Paris on May day, last, was Wednesday found guilty and sentenced to 15 years hard labor. Law's mother and father, who are from New York, burst into tears when they saw their son led off to a cell.

Mulai Hafid, who was proclaimed sultan at Morocco City some time ago, has sent in the arrest in Mazagan, Morocco, of six notable men belonging to the Azamour tribe, one of whom is a protege of the German consular officials. All the prisoners have been despatched in chains to Morocco City.

Judge Thomas Burke of Seattle, who is now in Tokio in the interests of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition, is receiving much attention on the part of the Japanese officials, and a dinner will be given in his honor Oct. 15. The department of commerce has promised to elaborate the Japanese exhibit at the forthcoming exposition.

George F. Nutter, former member of the board of public service of Springfield, O., was Wednesday sentenced to one year in the penitentiary on padding payrolls. The unusual spectacle was presented of County Prosecutor Laybourn making an impressive appeal for the minimum sentence, which was imposed. Officer of Nuffer pleading guilty and making restitution to the city.

Fire Team Ran Into Saloon.

Benton Harbor, Mich., Oct. 10.—Running to a fire at a high rate of speed Wednesday morning, the fire team failed to make a sharp turn and crashed into a saloon. Six firemen were hurled off and Chief Montine and Driver Parrett received slight injuries. The team and wagon struck the saloon with such force as to demolish almost the entire front, the building being a low frame structure.

Smith Speaks at Soo.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Oct. 10.—The Commercial club Tuesday night entertained United States Senator William Alden Smith and Congressman Young at a smoker in the Sault club rooms. This is the first time Senator Smith ever addressed a Soo audience, and he was given an enthusiastic reception.

Crowded Out.

"I am thirty-five years old," announced a woman of fifty-six at a tea last week.

"And I am twenty-six," said the woman of forty-five. Then, turning to a girl of seventeen who stood near by, she asked, "How old are you, Ethel?"

"Oh," replied Ethel, "according to present reckoning, I'm not born yet!"

"The Smallpox Devil."

The natives of the west coast of Sumatra object to being vaccinated. They still make offerings to the smallpox devil. The heart and liver of fowls and buffaloes are mixed with yellow rice and other ingredients, placed in the model of a full rigged ship, carried in procession and finally launched into the sea.—Singapore Free Press.

Prices Soar in Italy.

Rome, Oct. 10.—Italy also is complaining of the high cost of living and the authorities are about to step in and attempt to regulate prices. In this city the retail prices of all provisions today are so high that a commission has been appointed to fix a scale of maximum prices above which it will be forbidden to sell provisions under penalty of the closing of the stores where such sales are made.

No General Strike in Cuba.

Havana, Oct. 10.—Emilio Sanchez, one of the labor leaders of Cuba, called on Gov. Magoon Wednesday and declared that the laborites had abandoned their intention of calling a general strike and they purposed to continue the railroad strike without violence.

Took Terrible Fall; Not Hurt.

Battle Creek, Oct. 10.—James Gross, a steel worker from Chicago, employed on the McLane-Swift plant, fell 65 feet down an elevator shaft Wednesday, landing on a pile of hardwood lumber with such force as to splinter a plank, and walked away without the slightest injury. He did not seem to think the incident as anything unusual. "I have had as bad falls as that before," said Gross, as he started in working where he left off.

Sensational Elopement.

Coldwater, Mich., Oct. 10.—Melvin Hopkins, out on $500 bail, awaiting trial on a statutory charge as a result of his recent escapade with Flora Jones, under 16, eloped to Sturgis with Flossie Inmon, aged 20, and the couple were married. They were arrested Wednesday at the hotel in Bronson, Branch county, and brought back here. Hopkins was lodged in jail and his wife released. This is Hopkins' third elopement.

Koreans Still Fight For Liberty.

Tokio, Oct. 10.—Reports received from Corea show that sporadic native outbreaks are continuing, officials, however, assert that the discontent is decreasing and will soon disappear. The entire country is now policed by Japanese soldiers who have been ordered not to ill-treat the Koreans on pain of the most severe punishment.

A Scotch Excuse.

A canny Scot was brought before a magistrate on the charge of being drunk and disorderly. "What have you to say for yourself, sir?" demanded the magistrate. "You look like a respectable man and ought to be ashamed to stand there."

"I am verra sorry, sir, but I cam' up in bad company fra Glascow," humbly replied the prisoner.

"What sort of company?"

"A lot of teetotalers!" was the startling response.

"Do you mean to say teetotalers are bad company?" thundered the magistrate. "I think they are the best of company for such as you."

"Beggin' yer pardon, sir," answered the prisoner, "ye're wrong; for I had a bottle of whisky an' I had to drink it all myself!"—Reynolds' Newspaper.

Strong Soup.

In the life of William Stokes, written by his son, it is told how Stokes was sent over to Dublin during the great famine to show the people how to make soup. Stokes asked a starving beggar why she did not go and get some of the soup that was being freely distributed.

"Soup, is it, your honor? Sure, it isn't soup at all" "And what is it, then?" inquired Stokes. "It is nothin', your honor, but a quart of water boiled down to a pint to make it strhong!"

This is the soup maigre which Hogarth caricatured in his picture of the French troops at Calais.—London Standard.

Mixed Liquors Barred.

Rory MacSnory was the village blacksmith and one of the most powerful singers in the choir of the kirk at Auchlencherles. To show off his voice to full advantage he would vary his style from bass to alto and from alto to treble in the same hymn.

The minister had long observed that Rory's methods were upsetting the general melody of the congregation's singing, and at length he resolved to bring the culprit to book.

"Hymn 34," he announced, "and a' thegither. And, Mr. MacSnory, if ye're tae sing tenor, sing tenor, or if ye're tae sing bass, sing bass, but we'll hae nae mair o' yer shandygaff!"—Dundee Advertiser.

The Reason.

All sorts and conditions of men have excellent reasons for their position in life. Illustrated Bits tells of a tramp who had no illusions about the cause of his own condition:

Mrs. Finchealth (at hotel entrance)—No, I have no money to spare for you. I do not see why an ablebodied man like you should go about begging.

Lazy Tramp—I s'pose, mum, it's fer about the same reason that a healthy woman like you boards at a hotel, instead of keeping house.

A Rebuff.

"Do you think your father would like me as a son-in-law?"

"Yes, I believe he would."

"Oh, joy! I"—

"Papa and I never agree about anything, you know."

BORROWED BOOKS.

The Way Their Return Pricked an Artist's Conscience.

In the course of some reminiscences of Sir Edward Burne-Jones a correspondent of the Westminster Gazette remarks: Those who are not "offended" by the paradoxes of Charles Lamb would have delighted in Burne-Jones' play of humor and imagination. Let me justify my reference to Charles Lamb.

I once returned to Burne-Jones some books which he had lent me thirty years before, writing to him to the effect that if it was base to keep borrowed books so long it was heroic to return them after such long possession as might well breed the sense of ownership. In reply he said:

"The return of those books has simply staggered me. It has also pained me, for it seems to raise the standard of morality in these matters and perhaps to sting the susceptible consciences of book borrowers. I have many borrowed books on my shelves. I would rather the owners should die than that I should have to think about these things and return them. I have two costly volumes that were lent to me before that little incident of ours, which, you may remember, was in Red Lion square. I hope the owner is no more, for I simply will not give them up. And you have made me uneasy and have helped to turn an amiable rascal into a confirmed villain."

Spain's Popular Beverage.

"Horchata de chufa" is the singular name of the most popular drink in Madrid. This is made from a nut called "chufa," yielding a milky liquid when reduced to a pulp. This is diluted with water and forms a most cooling and refreshing drink. However, it is an acquired taste. Very few like it at the first trial. The horchata may be made from different kinds of nuts. The almond is used also. Strange to relate, the horchata de chufa is always sold where matting is kept for sale, so that when you spy a roll of the latter outside the store door it is a sufficient indication that in that particular place you may procure a glass of the horchata. In spite of inquiries, I was unable to discover the origin of the singular combination of articles on sale.—London Truth.

Inconveniently Tall.

The mayor of one of the communes of Angers had ordered a gamekeeper and a butcher to take a madman named Legrand to the St. Gemmes lunatic asylum. On the way the gamekeeper noticed that their charge was in one of his lucid intervals and concluded that he would never consent to be handed over to the authorities. It was decided, therefore, to make him drunk, and all three adjourned to the nearest inn. Legrand took his liquor kindly. So did the others. And when the trio arrived at the asylum the governor could not make head or tail of their story. He therefore wired to the mayor, asking him which was the man who was to be detained. The mayor replied Legrand, but the telegraphist spelled it in two words, "Le grand" (the tall one). The governor, on examining the three men, saw that one was much taller than the others, so he promptly clapped him into a strait waistcoast and sent the other two away. It was three days later before the error was discovered.

Bismarck Forgave.

Bismarck could forgive, but he wished to do it after proper solicitation. At the beginning of the Danish war Field Marshal Wrangel, who was at the head of the Prussian troops, was exceedingly annoyed at one point to be telegraphed not to advance further, and he returned a message telling King William that "these diplomatists who spoil the most successful operations deserve the gallows." After that Bismarck ignored him completely, and one day they met at the king's table, where it was especially awkward to preserve a coldness. Wrangel called everybody "du," and promptly he turned to Bismarck, who was seated next him, and said, "My son, canst thou not forget?" "No," was the curt reply. After a pause Wrangel began again, "My son, canst thou not forgive?" "With all my heart," said Bismarck, and the breach was healed.

The Redwood.

Redwood forests are practically unharmed by forest fires, and it is common practice for the lumbermen to fell the trees and peel the bark from them and when the dry season is on set fire to the felled timber and burn the branches and bark and other wreckage without practical injury to the saw logs, which procedure would mean disaster to any other wood. Redwood contains no resin or turpentine of any kind, and, owing to its great resistant qualities in severe climatic conditions, is free from cracking or decay, where cinders might lodge and start fires. When burning, it is easily extinguished with a small quantity of water. It has the appearance of burnt cork and is harder to ignite a second time than at first.—Scientific American.

Druggists' Lights.

An apothecary found himself minus his red light one night at a time when it was customary for tradesmen of his class to ornament their store fronts with a simple red lamp. To supply his need he took a glass bottle filled with a red fluid and placed a candle behind it. The effect so pleased him that he added another. Rival druggists illuminated their windows, increasing the number of lights and also changing the colors. Thus the entire town followed the lead. So it became the fashion.

His Awful Fate.

An American visitor in a German city bought a dachshund. The animal's length of body, short and peculiarly shaped legs and "highly intelligent dachs face," he writes, would have made the dog conspicuous among the finest of his breed. "One day we missed him and were unable to find our pet. Next day his dead body, a little longer than in life, was shown to me by the man who came to tell us he had found the dog. He was very dead, but I did want to know how he met his untimely end and after inquiring learned that he had been run over by a 'spiegelscheibentransportwagen.' I could readily understand how that would have killed even an elephant and wanted to know why the infernal machine had been allowed to come into the city. It was a relief to be told that a spiegelscheibentransportwagen is a wagon on which mirror plates are transported. Poor little dachs!"

The Sheik and His House.

When the French came into contact with the Bedouin in Algeria, it was thought that a ready way of civilizing him would be to assist him to build himself a permanent habitation. A sheik who was thus favored was full of gratitude to the French engineers who had built him a house.

"Since my house was finished," he said, "I have not lost a single sheep. I lock them up in my house every night, and next morning I find them all in safety."

"Then where do you sleep yourself?" asked an officer in amazement.

"Oh, for myself, a sheik can live only in his tent!" said the other, with dignity.

SPECULATING ON SHIPS.

How Underwriters Gamble on Overdue Vessels Posted at Lloyds.

When a ship is overdue, an opportunity is sometimes afforded for a gamble at Lloyds. It can be readily understood that underwriters who are interested in the "overdues" are only too willing to get rid of the risk by paying a premium on the insured rate to those who are willing, on their terms, to relieve them of their responsibilities. The premium varies with the chances of the vessel turning up. The smaller the chances the higher the premium and vice versa.

The rates paying on "overdues" serve as accurate barometers of the probabilities or otherwise of the ship ever being heard of again. Those underwriters who speculate on "overdues" are generally known by the significant name of "doctors." The insurance on an "overdue" may pass through many channels before the ship is, on the one hand, "posted" at Lloyds as "missing" or, on the other hand, she arrives in safety.

A ship is never "posted" until the committee is thoroughly satisfied that her case is hopeless and until the owners is of the same opinion. Before "posting" a notice is put up for a week inviting any information concerning the vessel. If this elicits no news, the committee at its next meeting votes the ship as "missing," and a notice is posted accordingly. The loss is then settled and paid for. It may be incidentally remarked that "posting" at Lloyds constitutes a legal death certificate for any one on board the missing ships.—London Express.

Are you interested? If so, call in and look over our

Syracuse High Lift

We were unable to get this plow this spring, on account of the heavy demand. As you know the Syracuse is one of the oldest and best plows made.

This gang plow has many very desirable features found on no other plow, in fact, so many we believe you would prefer it to any other. If you can use one yet this fall, you can have it on next year's terms and save the rise in price that will be on all machinery.

The Monday club gave a reception at the home of the President, Mrs. Wm. Albert on Monday afternoon as an opening of the club year. "Ireland" is the subject for study this year and every detail was planned with that fact in view. In the hall was the celtic greeting which heads their yearly calender "Cead Mille Failthe" (A thousand welcomes) and later in the dining room and elsewhere the following ladies made good for the motto: Mesdames Theo Crane, T. C. Harris, E. Harris, T. J. Harris, Ben Ellis, O. B. Finch, Clarkson, Henry McClure, A. B. Smith, E. C. Codling, Mingay, Louis Scneider, R. B Gillespie.

The hall was decorated with ropes of shamrock and Irish flags. The parlor in salvia and white astors. The dining room, lighted by candlabra and trimmed with green flags and asparagus ferns was where an Irish afternoon tea was served to 60 guests, Mrs. Mingay presiding at the tea table and pouring, while the other ladies served hot biscuits, Irish seed cakes, strawberry jam, cheese straws and other delicacies prized by our friends across the water. The flag of Ireland was everywhere in evidence each guest carrying away one as a souvenir.

NOTABLE MEDICAL DISCOVERY

Of special value to many here in Tecumseh.

The progress made in medicine during the last few years has been as a whole general rather than specific.

One of the most notable discoveries and one that undoubtedly appeals more than anything else to many people here is Tecumseh is the combination of stomach remedies in the Mi-o-na treatment. This prescription has worked wonders and there is now no excuse for anyone suffering with indigestion or weak stomach.

It acts specifically upon the muscles of the stomach and bowels, strengthening and stimulating them so that they readily take care of the food that is eaten. It also increases the flow of gastric juices, thus getting from the food the nourishment that is necessary for health and energy.

The symptoms of indigestion are numerous, such as distress after eating, flatulence, heartburn, sick headaches, dizziness and irritability. These are all dispelled by a few doses of Mi-o-na when the trouble is recent, but just as surely in long standing and chronic cases if the treatment is followed for a reasonable length of time.

So positive are the good effects following the use of Mi-o-na that the remedy is sold by C. A. Wright & Son under an absolute guarantee to refund the money if it should fail to cure. With an offer like this none can afford to suffer long from indigestion or stomach troubles.

Do not think because of the quick benefits derived from the use of Mi-o-na that it is merely a temporary agent. It is a remedy that cures by making over the weak stomach into a strong one.

WEAK KIDNEYS MAKE WEAK BODIES.

Kidney diseases cause half the ills of Tecumseh people.

As one bad link weakens a chain, so bad kidneys weaken the whole body. Overwork, colds and other causes injure the kidneys and when their activity is lessened, the whole body suffers from uric poison.

Aches, pains and urinary ills come with a tendency towards diabetes and Bright's disease. There is no real help but Doan's Kidney Pills that act directly on the kidneys. Tecumseh cures are proof.

John Smith, deputy sheriff, living on Chicago street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I have suffered much from pains in my back, through the loins and kidneys. I think the trouble was brought on by heavy work on the farm. On bending over I would feel dizzy and spots of fire would flash before me and at night I was restless. I doctored a great deal using a number of kidney remedies but received no benefit. I read the convincing statements concerning Doan's Kidney Pills and tried them. After using the first box I felt better and I continued until cured. I recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to all suffering from kidney trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's,—and take no other.

The less taxes a man has the more he complains of the government.

It is funny what queer things a man thinks would make his wife happy.

Heavy, impure blood makes a muddy pimply complexion, headaches, nausea, indigestion. Thin blood makes you weak, pale, sickly. Burdock Blood Bitters makes the blood, rich, red, pure—restores perfect health.

Happy is the lawyer whose wife is the least of his trials.

Does your back ache? Do you feel tired and drowsy and lacking in ambition? If so, there is something wrong with your kidneys. DeWitt's kidney and bladder pills relieve backache, weak kidneys and inflammation of the bladder. A week's treatment 25 cents. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

You never have any trouble to get children to take Kennedy's laxative cough syrup. They like it because it tastes nearly like maple sugar. Kennedy's laxative cough syrup is a safe, sure and prompt remedy for coughs and colds and is good for every member of the family. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

Standard Oil Trust Was Never Liquidated.

GOVERNMENT HAS PROOF.

Suit in New York For Liquidation of Now-Supposed Existing Trust Further Reveals Craftiness of This Great Octopus.

New York, Oct. 10.—The method through which the trustees of the Standard Oil trust liquidated the company in order to comply with the order of the Ohio courts was further unfolded yesterday, when Wesley H. Tilford, treasurer of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey was recalled to the witness stand in the federal suit against the so-called trust. Statements compiled from stock books of the various subsidiary companies during the period of trust liquidation were placed on the record and from these transcripts and from Mr. Tilford, the government's counsel, Frank B. Kellogg, says that the gravamen of the government's charges that only a pseudo-liquidation was affected and that the trust continued its operations as an entity and under the same control as at the time of its inception in 1882, has been proved.

Mr. Kellogg was able to develop that the liquidating trustees and their associates liquidated only enough trust certificates to give them a majority of the stocks of the 20 subsidiary companies, and that they voted those stocks as individuals and maintained a constant control over the integral companies.

The dividends declared on the stock of these companies were paid directly to those holders who had liquidated their trust certificates and to the trustees who held the stocks agains the unliquidated certificates of the trust. Mr. Kellogg showed that the trustees and one or two associates were the only certificate holders who liquidated their shares in the old Standard oil trust.

Mr. Kellogg again tried to find out the reasons for the large loans, amounting to several millions, given to P. S. Trainor by the Southern Pipe Line Co. over a period of several years. Efforts to ascertain the nature of these loans by the federal counsel at a previous hearing, developed nothing of moment.

That the Standard Oil Co. of New York was a lender of millions of its surplus funds was testified to Wednesday by Mr. Tilford. From a statement of the company it was developed that over $32,000,000 was loaned last year to "interests other than the Standard." What these interests were and the nature of the loans, Mr. Tilford was unable to say. Mr. Kellogg said he would call William G. Rockefeller, the treasurer of the company, to throw light on these loans.

Sour Stomach

No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, general debility, sour risings, and catarrh of the stomach are all due to indigestion. Kodol relieves indigestion. This new discovery represents the natural juices of digestion as they exist in a healthy stomach, combined with the greatest known tonic and reconstructive properties. Kodol for dyspepsia does not only relieve indigestion and dyspepsia, but this famous remedy helps all stomach troubles by cleansing, purifying, sweetening and strengthening the mucous membranes lining the stomach.

Mr. S. S. Ball, of Ravenswood, W. Va., says:—"I was troubled with sour stomach for twenty years. Kodol cured me and we are now using it in milk for baby."

Detroit After Municipal Ownership.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 14.—At a meeting of the council franchise committee to be held next Friday, a blow will be dealt to the Detroit United Railway and also to all other public service corporations and such concerns as are alleged to combine against the city to boost prices in an unwarranted manner. The franchise committee will take the first step to acquire authority for the city to own and operate its public utilities and also to manufacture various kinds of paving and other material used in public works. After the committee makes its recommendations the council will urge the constitutional convention to confer such power on the city for the purpose of enabling it to protect itself against trade combines and monopolies.

Foot Ball Caused His Death.

Muskegon, Mich., Oct. 14.—Unmindful of the warnings of his doctor and the high school foot ball coach, Walter Elliott Hale, 19 years old, came to his death from illness brought on by his craving for athletics. Hale was a big, strong, robust fellow when he graduated last June, but typhoid fever made him but a little more than a shadow of his former self. When he returned for a post-graduate course this fall he started in for the early season practice as a candidate for the school eleven. He was forbidden the game by his physician and Coach Zuppke tried to discourage him. He participated in light practice, however, and became partially paralyzed as a result. He grew worse until Sunday, when he died. He was prominent in local amateur theatricals.

Boy Accidentally Shoots Teacher.

Muskegon, Mich., Oct. 14.—Miss Frederica Appoll, aged 18, handsome and accomplished school teacher of a Muskegon school, is at Hackley hospital, where doctors say she may die as the result of a gunshot wound in her left leg. Miss Appoll was shot by Alvin Radditz, 15 years old, at whose homes he was visiting. The boy loaded a double-barrelled shotgun about 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon, and not knowing it was cocked, pointed it in the direction of Miss Appoll. The charge from one barrel took effect in Miss Appoll's leg.

Michigan Universalists Meet.

Plymouth, Mich., Oct. 14.—Universalists of Michigan will hold the annual state meeting here this week, beginning this evening. Addresses will be made by prominent speakers of the church.

Work on the new gymnasium and library building for the Western Normal school at Kalamazoo has been delayed for more than a month because of the inability to get steel. The delay is the cause of much disappointment to President Waldo, as he had planned to have the building ready for use by the middle of November.

THREE THIEVES CAUGHT.

Battle Creek Citizens Have Lively Experiences.

Battle Creek, Mich., Oct. 14.—With two burglars, caught in the act, and one self-confessed safe-breaker in jail, local police passed a satisfying Sunday.

About 2 o'clock Sunday morning, Samuel Epstein unlocked his clothing store door to get a valise. The first thing he noticed was a pair of feet protruding from under a table. Telephoning the police and preparing to run a bluff at being armed, Epstein waited until Patrolman Hudson arrived, trailed by a crowd of nighthawks. The little army searched the store, routing out two burglars, giving their names as Percy Brown and Harry Douglass.

Both are colored, aged about 23. They had entered over a transom and packed up hundreds of dollars' worth of goods, intending to lower the plunder to a boat, the Epstein store being built over the river. In Epstein's grip, which he had stepped in to secure, was $500 in bills. Both burglars were easily jailed.

Saturday night Frank Courtwright, an ex-convict, was seen in the Jefferson hotel and soon afterward the landlord, William Deane, discovered that the safe had been entered and over $100 taken. Deane ran to his friend, Edward Murphy, owner of the American hotel, to break the news, and in walked Courtwright. Identification was quick and Deane and Murphy grabbed the thief, led him to the police station, and turned him over to the police, with $92 of the stolen money still in his jeans.

Sugar Beet Factories Start Up.

Saginaw, Mich., Oct. 14.—Sugar making in the Saginaw valley factories will begin during this coming week and the season promises well. The plant at Carrollton will start Tuesday or Wedesday with a good supply of beets on hand. Within the past few days weighing stations were opened at Brent Creek, Montrose, Arthur, Freeland, Lawndale, Graham, Birch Run and Hemlock, and today it was expected that all of the sixteen stations in this vicinity would be in operation. Beets are coming in freely and indications point to about the same tonnage of beets as last year. The Alma Sugar Co. will begin active work today and operations start with a force of 350 men. The St. Louis Sugar Co. will start the season Tuesday with about 2,000 tons of beets on hand. They show excellent tests. About 150 men will be given employment.

MAY GO INTO COURT.

Fish Prepares Petition Asking for Injunction.

ENJOIN THE STOCKHOLDERS.

Struggle For Control of Illinois Central Promises to Be Warm One—Those Possessing Shares in Union Pacific May Be Barred From Voting.

Chicago, Oct. 14.—It is possible that the struggle for the control of the Illinois Central railroad between Stuyvesant Fish and E. H. Harriman may be taken into the courts.

Attorneys for Mr. Fish Sunday were preparing a petition asking the courts to enjoin any person or corporation from voting any stock, in the the annual meeting to be held Wednesday next, which may be shown to be owned or controlled by the Union Pacific railroad. The action, it is said, will be brought under an Illinois statute which prohibits one corporation from owning stock in another. Attorneys for Mr. Harriman have already declared, in view of possible proceedings along this line, that the Illinois Central by reason of its special charter, would be exempt from the operation of this law, even if it were not a fact that railroad corporations are by implication exempt from its operation.

It is stated that it is the intention of Mr. Fish to obtain a temporary injunction, by which the annual meeting will be delayed until the court can pass on the question involved in the present contention.

William Nelson Cromwell, formerly of the Panama Canal commission is said to be on his way to Chicago to take charge of the Harriman interests if a legal contest should be started.

Mr. Fish was closeted Sunday for several hours with his attorneys, but would neither affirm nor deny the report that he was about to institute proceedings to restrain the Illinois Central stockholders from holding their annual meeting.

Vaudeville in Chicago's Auditorium.

Chicago, Oct. 14.—The Auditorium theater, long the home of grand opera, was opened to vaudeville last night. Co-incidentely, the first real engagement of the variety show war between the respective houses of Klaw & Erlanger and Kohl & Castle was fought. Klaw & Erlanger, at the Auditorium, had as a projectile for their heaviest gun Vesta Victoria, while Kohl & Castle replied from the Majestic with May Irwin. Both sides for two weeks have advertised with unstinted alliteration and capital letters.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

Frank Glispy, 40 years old, a farmer, living southeast of Vassar, was hurled fifty feet in the air by a Michigan Central passenger train at Millington, landing in a ditch, but lives, though he is suffering from internal injuries.

Through his efforts to "get even" with his rival in a love affair, Henry Allman, 26 years old, son of a prominent farmer living near Charlotte, is lodged in jail on a charge of arson, and has confessed that he set fire to property of his rival.

A commission as major has been issued by the adjutant-general to Leonard C. Sparks, of the Orchard Lake Military academy. Major Sparks is commandant of the cadets. The commission is a purely honorary one and gives the officer no authority in the national guard.

Although he fell from a window on the third floor of a building at 166 Joseph Campau avenue, in Detroit, alighting in the areaway more than fifty feet below, Charles Cross, an employe of the American Window Cleaning company, sustained but a fractured arm from his long distance flight and according to physicians at St. Mary's hospital, where he was taken after the accident, he will recover.

Mrs. Cassie Lambert and her sister, Emma Rice of Rockford, are at the county jail in Grand Rapids to serve a ninety days' sentence for taking chinking from a stump fence to build a fire to warm themselves. The women are daughters of a veteran and have nothing but their father's pension to sustain themselves. They were fined $10 and costs or ninety days, and could not raise the money. There is much sympathy for them at Rockford and villagers may raise money to appeal to the circuit court.

A Tempting Chance.

CHANGES HIS MIND.

President Decides Not to Leave Stamboul District.

FINDS FRESH BEAR TRACKS.

Citizens Are Elated — Admit They Would Have Felt Much Chagrined Had He Left Them Without Bagging a Bruin.

Stamboul, La., Oct. 14.—Citizens from the whole countryside turned out Sunday in expectation of seeing President Roosevelt take his departure from Stamboul for the south, but because of change of plans, they were disappointed. There was general expression of satisfaction, however, over his reconsideration of his determination to move to Tensas parish; for now that the change is not to be made, Stamboul confesses candidly that it would have been much chagrined to have the distinguished visitor go away with an empty bag before the time originally fixed.

General confidence in his success in the new camp on Bear lake continues buoyant and the reports from there are uniformly favorable. Indeed, it is said that a number of fresh tracks were discovered Saturday, and that on one occasion the party came on a good-sized bear, which, on account of the absence of the dogs, escaped. The hope is strong that today either this animal or another of his family will be run to earth. Many of the dogs used in last week's strenuous search of the barren country are reported to be lame and an effort is being made to replace them with fresh animals.

It is not believed by the president's associates that he will now make any change. All will depend on the developments early in the week. There is no doubt of the presence of game now, but it is shy and may disappear before the hunters, as it did from the Monticello camp.

The order for the special train which was to have made its appearance Sunday, was cancelled Saturday night, but it will be renewed if the president manifests a disposition to go south. The Tensas parish people are reported as much diappointed over failure of the president to carry out his program for a visit to their township.

Secretary Latta went out to camp Sunday.

Weds Sweetheart of Years Ago.

Fredonia, N. Y., Oct. 14.—William H. Harrison of Tuscola, Mich., aged 84, and Mrs. Pomila Smith Sornberger of Cassadaga, were married here last week by Rev. W. M. Tompkins, and immediately started on their wedding trip back to Michigan, where they will live. The blushing bride admitted 72 years. The two, when Miss Smith was but a girl of 15, were supposed to be engaged, but some paternal objections on the grounds of youth caused a separation.

Does Not Improve.

Vienna, Oct. 14.—Although Emperor Francis Joseph's condition Sunday morning was regarded as slightly better, it again became worse during the day. His physicians now fear an attack of lobular pneumonia. The emperor's fever is higher. There is a feeling of depression among the members of his entourage.

Commander John Bradford Briggs, U. S. N., retired, was picked up Sunday by the Paris police, while wandering aimlessly in the streets and placed in a hospital for the insane. Subsequently he was turned over to Capt. John C. Fremont, naval attache to the American embassy, who placed him under medical treatment.

Sponsors of navy vessels are organizing a society of naval sponsors. There are 163 names on the list of eligibles. Of these only fifty have been reached, because no record has been kept of the women who have christened the great vessels or the smaller gunboats. A meeting will be called for some time this winter in Washington to perfect permanent organization. In the meantime a committee headed by Miss Annie Keith Frasier of Chattanooga, daughter of Senator James B. Frasier, and sponsor of the Tennessee, is at work on the organization.

Out of sight.

"Out of sight, out of mind" is an old saying which applies with special force to a sore, burn or wound that has been treated with Bucklen's arnica salve. It is out of sight, out of mind and out of existence. Piles and chilblains disappear under its healing influence. Guaranteed by C. A. Wright & Son. 25c.

A young widow has a peculiar way of seeing a man without looking at him.

Thos. A. Edison, the great American inventor, says "Fully eighty per cent of the illness of mankind comes from eating improper food or too much food; people are inclined to over-indulge themselves." This is where indigestion finds its beginning in nearly every case. The stomach can do just so much work and no more and when you overload it, or when you eat the wrong kind of food the digestive organs cannot possibly do the work demanded of them. It is at such times that the stomach needs help; it demands help and warns you by headaches, belching, sour stomach, nausea and indigestion. You should attend to this at once by taking something that will actually do the work for the stomach. Kodol will do this. It is a combination of natural digestants and vegetable acids and contains the same juices found in a healthy stomach. It is pleasant to take. It digests what you eat. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

THE CIRCUS CLOCK.

Tune the Band Plays During the Performance Tells the Time.

"Did you ever see a member of a circus look at his watch during the performance?" asked a man who is familiar with the circus business of several men in a group of idlers. None of them recalled ever having noted this action and marveled at the statement that a watch was never needed.

"The tune of the band tells the tale," went on the speaker. "From the time the first number is sounded, which is five minutes before the performance begins, until the last circus run on the lines closes, the circus folk do not need a timepiece.

"The last whistle is followed by the second one five minutes later, and after that time any one connected with the show can tell just what acts are on every outside of the tent. The band is the timepiece with a circus. Any employee can tell what is going on by the time the band is playing. The band leader knows just what to play and when he arranges the music accordingly. It is unusual for any changes whatsoever to be made. The grand introductory parade requires a certain kind of music. The high school horses require a slow walk. Aerialists want a certain kind of music. Aerial performers like another kind. This definite routine of music day by day enables the show people to time their actions without watch or clock." Indianapolis News.

CHAMPS ELYSEES.

Paris Has the Most Light Hearted Street In the World.

From the Avenue des Champs Elysees to the Boulevard des Capuchins in Paris is but a step, but there the tune is even merrier. It is a place of noises, blare, glare, the perfume of women, the ramous bang of automobile horns, by day the street of costly shops, by night the promenade in chief of his most Satanic majesty. It is at its best or worst in February, during Mi Careme, when the air is thick with confetti and the denizens of the boulevards are beside themselves. No use then to sit at one of the little tables on the sidewalk, thinking to sip your bock while you enjoy the swiftly changing panorama of the festival. In a moment you won'd find the bock a porridge of confetti, your hat jammed over your ears; the chair jerked from under you and your erstwhile happy self flat on your back. It is marvelous, the penetrating quality of confetti! I have shaken it out of my innermost pockets; out of my shoes. I have even found it in my socks and hobnobbing with the francs in my purse. It flits everywhere, and when Mi Careme is over the streets are thick with it, a multicolored snow. You buy it at so many sous the package from venders on the boulevards, until the desire for more of it becomes an obsession.—Aubrey Lanston in Bohemian.

A Brave Briton.

When the attack was made on Sidon, during the war with Syria, it became necessary for the British troops to advance across a long, unprotected bridge in the face of a battery of six guns, which completely commanded the approach. The men were unwilling to expose themselves to certain death when Arthur Cumming, carefully dressed in full uniform, stepped forward to the middle of the bridge. It was immediately swept by the fire of the battery. When the smoke had rolled away, there stood Cumming intact, carefully brushing the dust from his boots, after which he stood erect, fixed a single glass in his eye and looked back at the men. This was too much, and they captured that bridge and battery with a whoop.

Considerate Bridegroom.

A girl and a young man, both of whom had steady jobs, were married the other day. The day after they were married the girl said to her fond husband, "Oh, George, now that we are married there is only one thing I regret, and that is that I have to give up my fine position." The fond young husband stroked the silken tresses of he young wife's hair and soothingly replied: "Now, darling, don't worry. You needn't give up your position. I'll give up mine."—Kansas City Star.

Lost Time.

"Time is precious," remarked the minister.

"It is indeed," replied the man of business, "and I've wasted lots of it."

"By indulging in foolish pleasures, I suppose," said the good man.

"No," replied the other. "I lost it by being punctual in keeping my appointments with others."

Sounded Ominous.

"Your father said something about my staying so late last night, didn't he?" asked the young man.

"Yes," replied the dear girl, "he did say something, but I don't know just what he meant. He said if you didn't go home earlier hereafter there'd be a kick coming from him."—Philadelphia Press.

It Was Soaked.

"Yes, I was out in all that storm. My raincoat was soaked, and"—

"But you can't soak a raincoat, you know."

"I can't, hey? Here's the check for it."—Kansas City Independent.

The First Teacups.

Even after tea was introduced into Europe and had come into general use teacups were scarce. At the same time coffee was introduced; but, apart from Constantinople, the first coffee cups in Europe date back only as far as 1645 in Venice, 1659 in Paris, 1652 in London and 1694 in Leipsic. From the first, however, the conventional oriental coffee cup, without stem or handle, was little used, and in Germany not at all. The Chinese teacup was used for tea, coffee and chocolate as well. Specimens of porcelain were undoubtedly introduced into Europe in the middle ages, yet not till the sixteenth century were cups imported from China in any great quantities, and even then it was as articles of vertu. Most of those found their way back into China again, as collecting porcelain is a lasting fad there, and high prices are paid for good specimens. The collection of Chinese porcelain, if only the genuine specimens are desired, requires immense study and knowledge, as the Chinese are skillful imitators and put numerous falsifications on the market.

A Simple Recipe.

Everybody in Cedarby owned that Mrs. Hanson was the queen of cooks, but they were likely to add that when it came to explaining the processes by which she arrived at her excellent results she left a good deal to be desired.

"Your scallyped oysters are the best we ever have at our church suppers or anywhere, and you know it," said a neighbor, endeavoring to win special favor from this culinary goddess. "Most folks get 'em either too wet or too dry. I tell 'em I don't know how you manage it so yours are always just right. I don't suppose you could tell exactly yourself."

"Why, yes, I could," and Mrs. Hanson smiled indulgently at the eager, hopeful face of her neighbor. "All I do is butter the dish, put in a layer of oysters, salted and peppered, then a layer of buttered crumbs, then a layer of milk, and back to oysters' again. Easy as pie, 'tis."

"A layer of milk?" faltered the neighbor.

"Why, yes," said Mrs. Hanson cheerfully. "That's what makes 'em about right—layer of oysters, layer of crumbs and layer of milk. Leastways that's what I do, and you say you like 'em."—Youth's Companion.

A Welsh Sermon.

The Welsh are noted for their fondness for sermons and music. The annual eisteddfod, the national bardic congress, is attended by thousands, who on the great day of festival "chair" the fortunate bard, the winner of the prize.

A similar enthusiasm greets the Welsh preacher who is eloquent in speech and practical in expounding the Scriptures. The following story of a Welsh preacher, told in the "Journals of Walter White," illustrates the graphic, simple exposition which commanded the attention of the congregation:

"Noe worked at the ark, driving nails, plump, plump, plump. The haythen came and said: 'Noe, there's good hunting in the woods here, hares and foxes. Leave your work and come and hunt.' But Noe kept on hammering, plump, plump, plump.

"The haythen came again: 'Noe, there's good beer at the Red Lion. Leave your work and come and drink.' But Noe kept on hammering, plump, plump, plump. And then the rain came, and the flood lifted up the ark and carried Noe away and left the haythen all screaming and squabbling in the water."

Hats That Improve With Age.

"A silk hat, like wine, improves with age," said a clubman. "The oftener you have it ironed the sleeker and more brilliant it becomes. It costs a good deal at the outset, but in the end it is the cheapest hat to wear. It lasts, you see, so long, and to iron it costs so little. Some folks think the topper very perishable. If it gets soaked with rain, if some one sits on it and crushes it into an accordion, they think it must be thrown away the same as if it were a derby. But not at all. A silk hat can be taken apart and put together again like a watch, and if it gets crushed nothing is easier than to melt off the silk, straighten out the frame and then put on the silk again. In England, the home of this hat, I have known men to wear the same topper for ten or twelve years. And the oftener the old hat is ironed the brighter and finer it shines. Its luster increases with time and friction like the luster of good antique furniture."—Los Angeles Times.

Anatomy of a Violin.

Taken to pieces a violin would be found to consist of the following parts: Back, 2 pieces; belly, 2; coins and blocks, 6; sides, 5; side linings, 12; bar, 1; purflings, 24; neck, 1; finger board, 1; nut, 1; bridge, 1; tailboard, 1; button for tailboard, 1; string for tailboard, 1; guard for string, 1; sound post, 1; strings, 4; pegs, 4; total, 69. Three kinds of wood are used—maple, pine and ebony. Maple is used for the back, the neck, the side pieces and the bridge. Pine is used for the belly, the bar, the coins and blocks, the side linings and the sounding post. Ebony is used for the finger board, the tailboard, the nut, the guard for string of tailboard, the pegs and the button.

An English Fling.

"High buildings, sir?" remarked an American contemptuously. "Why, in England you don't know what height is. Last time I was in New York it was a blazing hot day, and I saw a man coming out of a lift wrapped from top to toe in bearskins, and I said to him, 'Why are you muffled up on a broiling day like this?' 'Waal,' he said, 'you see, I live at the top of the buildin', and it's so high that it's covered with snow all the year round!'"—London Mail.

The Innocent.

Plaisantin offered in payment of a bill a gold piece which had a suspicious ring. "Here, you've given me one of those fake coins that the counterfeiters have just been arrested for making," said the merchant. "Impossible," answered Plaisantin. "It is dated 1803. If it were false surely it would have been found out before this."

Not a Plunger.

"This scheme of mine," said the promoter, "will make you rich."

"Maybe," said the plain, easy going man. "But if I had the money necessary to take the chance I'd feel so rich that there would be no need of going any further."—Washington Star.

The remedial effects of laughter are really wonderful. Cases have been known where a hearty laugh has banished disease and preserved life by a sudden effort of nature.

Indulgence.

"Such an indulgent husband my Jim is!"

"Yes; so I've heard. Indulges a little too much sometimes, doesn't he?"—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The total area of the Sandwich or Hawaiian islands is about the same as New Jersey.

Makes One Feel Worse.

It is a fact that one cannot tell how bad he really feels without feeling worse. The way to feel good is to not talk too much about your ills. Think how well you are, how well you have done and feel good about it, and if there is anything the matter with you think it won't last long and that it is not worth thinking about.—Exchange.

DO YOUR LEVEL BEST.

Put the Right Spirit Into Your Work and Keep Your Ideals High.

Put the right spirit into your work. Treat your calling as divine, as a call from principle. If the thing itself be not important, the spirit in which you take hold of it makes all the difference in the world to you. It can make or mar the man. You cannot afford grumbling service or botched work in your life's record. You cannot afford to form a habit of half doing things or of doing them in the spirit of a drudge, for this will drag its slimy trail through all your subsequent career, always humiliating you at the most unexpected times. Let other people do the poor jobs, the botched work, if they will. Keep your standards up, your ideals high.

The attitude with which a man approaches his task has everything to do with the quality and efficiency of his work and with its influence upon his character. What a man does is a part of himself. It is the self expression of what he stands for. Our life work is an outpicturing of our ambition, our ideals, our real selves. If you see a man's work, you see the man.

No one can respect himself or have that sublime faith in himself which is essential to all high achievements when he puts mean, half hearted, slipshod service into what he does. He cannot get his highest self approval until he does his level best.—Success.

A GIRL'S HEELS

Her Shoes Said to Be an Index to Her Character.

"If you want to know whether a girl is slovenly or not look at her heels," said the wise woman to the young man who was contemplating matrimony. "Her gown may be pretty, her hat becoming, her neckwear trim and neat and her gloves well fitting, but if her heels are run over look out for her. Her trimness in other respects simply denotes that she is neat spasmodically, that she will make an effort to keep things tidied and in order only when she is urged to or because she has some special provocation. But by nature she is slack. The man that marries a girl with perpetually run over heels will find her coming to the breakfast table as soon as the honeymoon is over in a tumbled kimono and with her hair in curl papers. She never will be a good housekeeper.

"On the other hand, I've seen girls who maybe did not have such a trim appearance, whose hair was apt to be a little flying, but whose heels rested firmly on the ground, and never did I discover they were in the slovenly class. Maybe they were not careful enough of outward appearances, but they kept their buttons sewed on, rips repaired, spots sponged off and their rooms in immaculate order."—Exchange.

Envy.

"I wish I were strong and healthy and magnificent as that man over there," sighed the delicate, thin man, "but, then, it isn't worth while to envy people, to envy anybody, in this old world. I had a friend once who was taller than he and finer and more magnificent, a man of splendid physique. You'd think, to look at him, that he would have lived forever, but he is dead now. Died of some slight trouble of indigestion that a delicate man might have lived through, and this is all I have left to remind me of him, this ring with this handsome intaglio. It is almost priceless to me and, in fact, almost priceless of itself. Intaglios are very rare these days. This is exceedingly rare. Some time I will send you a letter and seal it with the ring, so you can have the intaglio also to remind you that it isn't worth while to envy anybody in this old world."—New York Press.

Bismarck as a Drinker.

When Bismarck was in London in 1843 he was invited to visit the famous brewery of Barclay & Perkins, and his hosts, having heard of his reputation as a beer drinker of great prowess, presented to him an enormous tankard of old ale, in the confident expectation that he would be obliged to admit himself vanquished by it. "I seized the tankard," Bismarck told Sir Charles Dilke, who recounted the story, "and I thought of my country and drank to Prussia and tilted it till it was empty. Then I thanked my entertainers—courteously, I hope—and succeeded in making my way as far as London bridge. There I sat down in one of the stone recesses, and for hours the great bridge went round and round me."

Help the Editor.

An Oklahoma editor puts forth this plea: "My friend, help the editor in his wide eyed search for news. When your friends come to you, if you are not ashamed of it, tell him; when your wife gives a tea party, if you will have recovered from the effects of the gossip, drop in with the news; when a baby arrives fill your pockets with cigars and call; if you go to a party, steal some of the good things and leave 'em with the item in our sanctum. If your wife licks you, come in and let us see your scars and tender sympathy through the paper. If your mother-in-law has died, don't be bashful about it; give in all the commonplace news. In short, whatever makes you feel proud, sad, lonesome or glad submit it to our twenty-four carat wisdom and see our matted lock part and stand up on end with gratitude, which will pour from every pore with moisture from a dew besprinkled earth."—Topeka State-Journal.

The Bird Got Wise.

A gentleman by way of a joke placed a golf ball in the nest of his ancient parrot. Polly sat with exemplary patience on her novel egg and appeared pretty nearly heartbroken when the weeks went by and she found herself unrewarded. At last she could stand it no longer. A terrible screeching brought her owner downstairs at 4 o'clock in the morning.

"What's the matter, Polly?" he asked as he noticed that the bird's beak was chipped through trying to get at the interior.

"Matter!" screetched Polly. "Great Scott, I'm bunkered!"—London Telegraph.

Pedestrian Rights.

Only in Great Britain, so far as I know, does the law hold that a foot passenger has an equal right to the highway with the wheeled traffic and that it is the duty of the driver of the latter to avoid at all costs the former, even if he has to do so at considerable inconvenience and often danger. In other countries, on the contrary, it is the duty of the pedestrian to give way to the wheeled traffic.—Atlanta Constitution.

The eye, when properly cared for affords the keenest delight because of the pleasures we are able to enjoy through its medium When not cared for and its warnings are unheeded, it becomes an intrument of torture. CUT THEM ALL OUT.

The Enemies One Is Likely to Meet In His Vocabulary.

"In the dictionary of fools we find 'I can't' very often, plenty of 'ifs' and lots of words like 'luck' and 'destiny' and phrases like 'If I only had time or a chance like other people!'"

Did you ever think that many of the words and phrases which you constantly use are your real enemies, that they leave their hideous pictures and black shadows in your mind?

How many times have you been kept from doing a good deed by such phrases as "Oh, I can't do that," "I am afraid that that will not turn out well," "Oh, I know I can't do that," "Somebody else can do that a great deal better," "I am afraid to try," "I haven't the courage," "I fear I shall take cold or catch some disease if I do this or that?"

I believe that those two words, "I can't," have ruined more prospects and have kept more ability doing the work of mediocrity than any other two words in our language.

"I am afraid of this or that" is a terrible hinderer, a terrible blighter of ambition, a cooler of enthusiasm.

All achievement and all efficiency depend upon initiative, and that is easily killed by the fear words, the words which express doubt and uncertainty.

"By thy words thou shalt be justified, and by thy words thou shalt be condemned."—Success.

VALUE OF WALKING.

Benefits to Be Derived From This Form of Exercise.

There is hardly an instance of a long lived man who has not been for the best part of his life a brisk walker and for some reason or other has had to take exercise pretty well every day.

Riding is all very well and so are other exercises, but there is nothing like a good walk, because it stimulates the blood and the muscles and necessitates being in the open air.

If those who complain of being stout would only think of this and never omit a daily constitutional they would be amply rewarded. It will keep them young and their figures presentable.

It is simply a remedy that no one heeds to. Sitting about in the open air is all very well and is far better than sitting in the house, but it does not keep you in good health.

It is quite another thing to overfatigue oneself. There is nothing better than to get into a healthy perspiration by walking. It is just like drinking a glass of cold water in the morning. It is so simple no one believes in it.

This may not suit everybody, but those it does suit it will keep in health.—Pittsburg Press.

Poor Old Sol!

The Danger of Soap.

When a man goes to some thermal springs to "boil out" all the old Satan that is in him he quickly learns one of the more important lessons of life and civilization—that is, he acquires a supreme contempt for soap. When he takes his first tub, at 99 to 102 degrees, twenty minutes in the water to soak, the attendant gives him a terrible scrubbing, using a sharp soap and a loofa. After that first bath no more soap is used. The man continues to soak daily in water of the same temperature for twenty minutes and is rubbed with the loofa, but no soap. "Soap," the expert attendant will tell you, "clogs up the pores of the skin. Our object is to keep 'em open. We cure all diseases by giving the pores a chance to breathe and excrete." Your hands chap? Wherefore? Because when you last washed them you neglected to rinse them thoroughly. You left the pores clogged with soap. Your complexion is muddy. Wherefore? You forgot to wash the soap off your cheeks. Hereafter rinse, rinse, rinse. Keep on rinsing. Continually rinse.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Grotesque Spanish Honor.

There is a story about the Duke of Wellington that illustrates the fantastic idea of honor held by many Spaniards, contrasted with the practical common sense of Englishmen. When the duke was co-operating with the Spanish army in the peninsula against Napoleon he was desirous on one occasion during a general engagement that the general commanding the Spanish contingent should execute a certain movement on the field. He communicated the wish to the Spaniard personally and was somewhat taken aback to be told that the honor of the king of Spain and his army would compel him to refuse the request unless Wellington, as a foreign officer graciously permitted to exist and fight on Spanish soil, should present the petition on his knees. The old duke often used to tell the story afterward, and he would say, "Now, I was extremely anxious to have the movement executed, and I didn't care a 'twopenny damn' about getting on my knees, so down I jumped!"

A Dog and His Name.

"There was a dog case which excited much attention in Berlin some years ago," said a former resident of that city. "A citizen complained to the authorities against a neighbor who, he said, to annoy him, gave his name to a mongrel cur. 'He calls my name,' he said, 'and when I turn around he laughs and says he was calling his dog.'

"'What's your name?' asked the magistrate.

"'My name is Schulz.'

"'And do you call the dog Schultz?' he asked the other man.

"'Yes, your honor, but I spell it with a T—Schultz.'

"'Call him without the T,' commanded the magistrate, trying to look serious. The man did so, the dog came to him and an order to change the name or be fined followed."

Sun pops Corn on stalk and hatches out Chickens in Indian Territory.

Washington—

If you want to get a faint idea of what Hades is like just move to Indian territory, where the sun is so intensely hot that it is popping popcorn on the cob and hatching out chickens out of whole crotes of eggs

Hart Mossen, chief of the agricultural division of the census bureau, who is in Indian territory, makes this report, officially. Hart says:

"James Miller has a cornfield where he raises choice popcorn. So intense has been the heat of the sun that the kernels have exploded on the cob into fluffy white flakes.

"When the sun creeps up pop, pop, pop is heard all through the corn patch.

"Miller is now eating popcorn off the cob. An ear of corn may be seen in a store window here.

"Besides popping corn, the sun is hatching chickens out of crates of fresh eggs."

Down with the Dust

Not many Sundays ago a prominent preacher in Chicago delivered a rather long-winded sermon on charity. While the sermon was a good one, many of the congregation became disgusted at its length and when the contribution box was passed around there was little doing. The divine made an investigation into the matter of small and discovering the reason for it, was very much grined over the fact. Shortly after this occasion he had to preach another sermon of a like kind in the same place but he took care not to fall into the earlier error and tire out his hearers. His text was "He that hath pity upon the poor lendeth unto the Lord, and that which he hath given, he will pay him again." After repeating the text three times, he added; "Now, my beloved brethren, you hear the terms of this loan; if you like the security, down with the dust!"

For the Public Good.

An independent and ably edited newspaper which commands a great circulation is probably the most potent influence for good in the United States today. The power for the better things in public affairs and policies, for instance, which is wielded by such a newspaper as the Chicago Record-Herald can scarcely be exaggerated and much of that strength comes in the case of this leading Chicago daily from the fact that it is absolutely independent, fearless and fair. It is not the mouthpiece of any interest except that of the public. The Record-Herald champions the cause of the good, the clean, the beneficial in every matter of city, state or national moment. It is the knowledge on the part of its readers that it cares not whom it hits or what enemies it makes, so long as it is battling for the welfare of the community, which gives to the Record-Herald much of the influence it enjoys. It gives in its news columns the most complete and impartial reports of political events, another evidence of its splendid news service.

Hard times in Kansas.

The old days of grasshoppers and drouth are almost forgotten in the prosperous Kansas of today although a citizen of Codell, Earl Shamburg, has not yet forgotten a hard time he encountered. He says "I was worn and discouraged by coughing night and day finding no relief until I tried Dr. King's New Discovery. It took less than one bottle to completely cure me." The safest and most reliable cold remedy, lung and throat healer ever discovered. Guaranteed by C. A. Wright & Son, druggists. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

ROUND ABOUT US.

In a wedding write-up in a Nebraska paper appears the following: "It was a delightful affair for all and a relief for the bride's father, who is a poor hard wording man. The groom is a tall, handsome fellow and should not be blamed for his brother being in the penitentiary for horse stealing. Miss Katie looked beautiful, wearing a large red hair ribbon in her locks, and the groom has whiskers. Nothing like being definite.—Ex.

Delbert McMillan, the astute money order clerk at the local postoffice, decided to take in the big fair at Hillsdale last Thursday, and take it in he did, but he was likewise "taken in" by one of the numerous light-fingered gentry who follow in the wake of the fairs and relieved of a wallet said to contain a fabulous amount of coin. He had his return tickets and some spare change in another pocket, so he and the young lady accompanying him didn't have to foot it home.—Blissfield Advance.

Moronci was agitated last Saturday over an elopement, the principal being Clarence Bachman, aged 22, and Ethel Cobbington, aged 18, who went to Adrian. The girl's parents suspicioned that Cupid was one of the party, and telephoned the county clerk to let them know if a liscence was applied for. He did so, and the result was that father and daughter talked over the phone. Then the mother talked over the wire, but persuasion was vain, and the marriage took place. It is understood that the parents have accepted the situation. Hudson Post.

A year ago John Jacobs brought a quantity of seed corn from Nebraska and last spring planted it on the farm of Mrs. Nora Jacobs, northeast of Milan. The result is the tallest field of corn ever seen in this section. Four of the stalks were on exhibition Tuesday at Webb Blackmer's corner and they attracted a great deal of attention. The tallest of the four stalks measured over ten feet.—Milan Leader.

Railroad Jack, the curbstone orator, is in the city this week. He is dressed in a black Prince Albert and wears a silk hat and his dress differs considerably from his usual costume of blue jeans. Another little daughter came yesterday morning to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. H. Lancaster. The grocers and butchers of Ann Arbor have combined and have built a large central delivery station. It is on the co-operative plan and as there are about forty concerns of this kind in the city, it will be a busy place. The system was put in operation last Monday.—Saline Observer.

Honest, I like my wife, but she's too blamed sympathic. Yesterday a small boy came weepingly to the back door with a basket of eggs and said his mother had sent him to deliver the fresh hen fruit to a Mrs. Brown who lived somewhere or other—and (boo hoo) he couldn't find (boo hoo) Mrs. Brown at all. Well, my wife felt her sympathies rising higher and higher as she looked at those fresh country eggs and in about two minutes she had paid the boy a fancy price for his eggs and sent him on his way rejoicing. Last night we had a crackfest up at our house. It began at 6 o'clock near the ash barrel in the alley. Two of the eggs were good anyhow—and my wife says maybe the boy didn't know about the other 149.—Ex.

SOMETHING SHOULD BE DONE

What is causing the increase of catarrh in Tecumseh?

In spite of the best efforts of medical men, catarrhal troubles are increasing not only in Tecumseh, but all over the country.

Catarrh is a germ disease and to cure it germ life in the breathing organs should be destroyed and to do this no other treatment has such positive and beneficial action as Hyomei.

When the mucous membrane is irritated and raw and the tissues weakened, there is an ideal lodging place for catarrhal germs. Breathe Hyomei and see how quickly it soothes the membranes, vitalizes the tissues and destroys all the disease germs, rendering catarrh no longer possible.

There is no dangerous stomach drugging when Hyomei is used; no tablets or liquid mixtures, whereby the digestion is often destroyed and intestinal troubles added to the horrors of catarrh.

Breathed through the neat pocket inhaler that comes with every Hyomei outfit, the healing balsams penetrate to the most remote air cells of the throat, nose and lungs, destroying the catarrhal germs so that quick recovery follows.

C. A. Wright & Son agree to refund the money to any purchaser of Hyomei who does not find that it does all that is claimed for it. The complete outfit costs but $1.00.

DAUGHTER OF MRS. STUMP

Mrs. C. W. Stump of Canton, Ohio, writes: "I wish I could induce every mother who has a weak, sickly child to try that delicious cod liver preparation, Vinol. Our little daughter was pale, thin and sickly.

"We tried various medicines, but without any benefit whatever, and she could not take cod-liver oil or emulsions, as they nauseated her and upset her stomach.

"Learning that Vinol contains all the medicinal and strength-creating properties of cod liver oil, but without the disagreeable oil, we decided to try it, and the results were marvelous, so quickly was she restored to health and strength.

"We have never sold a medicine equal to Vinol for delicate children.

Tecumseh citizens endorse them.

Henry Keyser, retired, living on Pottawatamie street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I still hold the same good opinion of Doan's kidney pills as I did five years ago, when I gave a statement recommending them. For a number of years I was bothered with a weakness of the bladder and my back ached all the time. Sharp pains would attack me so suddenly that I would have to grasp something for support. I could'nt rest well at night and in the morning I would feel tired and unrefreshed. I procured Doan's Kidney Pills and began using them. I have received great benefit as they completely rid me of the backache. I advise every sufferer from kidney trouble to give Doan's kidney pills a trial.

AN AWFUL EXPERIENCE

Only Survivor of Cypruss Tells of Her Sinking.

TWENTY-TWO LIVES LOST.

Captain Failed to Carefully Cover the Hatches—Water Poured in and Vessel Turned Over and Sank—Survivor Taken to Soo.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Oct. 14.—Nineteen bodies from the Cypruss wreck were brought here Sunday evening by the tug Schenck. Second Mate C. J. Pitt, the only survivor, was aboard. He gives the names of the crew of the ill-fated steamer, as far as he knows, as follows:

F. B. Huyck, Sheridan, N. Y., captain; J. N. Smith, Cleveland, O., first mate; C. J. Pitt, Manitowoc, Mich., second mate, Chester Anderson, Jamestown, N. Y., wheelsman; George Thorn, Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., watchman; J. J. Noreross, Tonawanda, N. Y., chief engineer; W. L. Smith, Cleveland, O., second engineer; William Chambers, home unknown, oiler; —— Spencer, home unknown, oiler; —— Myers, home unknown, fireman. Wm. Dondon, Niagara Falls, steward; Mrs. William Dondon, second cook; Frank Eisenbach, home unknown, deck hand; Barney McConville, home unknown, deck hand; Eugene Marquette, home unknown, deck hand; two deckhands, names unknown, Canton, O.; two firemen, names and homes unknown.

The number who perished totals 22, only one surviving.

There now seems little doubt that this, the most terrible marine disaster of the present season, and which occurred Friday night near Deer Park on Lake Superior, was due to the failure of the captain and the crew of the wrecked vessel to cover the hatches with the canvas tarpaulin designed for that purpose.

The story of the sole survivor, Second Mate Pitt, and of Capt. Harbottle, of the Pittsburg Steamship company steamer George Stephenson, the last vessel to see the Cypruss before she sunk, confirms this belief.

Pitt for hours after he was discovered by Coast Guard Ocha, of the Deer Park lifesaving station, was so terribly exhausted by the struggle with the waves as to be unable to give a coherent story of the wreck.

Water Poured Into Hatches.

He says the Cypruss was making fairly good weather in the seas when suddenly the cargo shifted, giving the craft a heavy list. Water began pouring into the hatches and a panic ensued, many of the crew putting on life preservers. Capt. Huyck, however, felt confident he could reach shelter behind Whitefish point, and the boats were not lowered.

Both engine and pumps were working, and the crew felt sure the vessel would not sink without warning. But without a moment of warning the big freighter rolled over on her side and almost instantly plunged to the bottom. The boat sunk about 7 o'clock.

Mate Pitt gave a graphic account of his experience, speaking thus:

"After the Cypruss filled with water from the hatches the steamer went down before we could launch the small boats. Most of the crew leaped into the sea, some with life preservers. Four of us, Capt. Smith, Thorn and myself, succeeded in getting on a life raft, and for six hours drifted toward the shore.

"As we entered the breakers we tipped over five or six times. The strength of the others gave out and they rolled off the raft with the waves. I tried to help them back on, but it became of no use. About 300 feet from shore they released their hold and sank beneath the water.

"I managed to keep my hold on the raft until I was carried near the shore, when I lost my hold. I crawled to the beach and was found there by lifesavers. If the others could have held on just a little bit longer they would have been saved.

"I believe my comrades on the raft could have reached shore if they had had life-preservers. Their bodies were found shortly after I was and they were lying in the water near the point where I was found on shore.

"Time and again the sea would tumble us off the raft and we would crawl back, each time weaker than before. I can't remember all that happened. Before my comrades went down they were so weak that they could not speak to me when I talked to them.

The captain's wife and two children went up with us, but fortunately left at the head of the lakes for St. Paul, where they are visiting."

Pitt left by boat for Cleveland, O., this morning.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 14.—The Cypruss was on her second trip from the head of the lakes, laden with iron ore, having been built for the Lackawanna Steel company at the Lorain yards of the American Shipbuilding Co. and launched August 17. Miss Hazel Arnold, of Marine City, was sponsor. The Cypruss was 440 feet over all, 420 feet on the keel, 52 feet beam, and 28 feet deep. She passed Detroit on her maiden trip on September 23, completed her round trip, and passed up the second time, Oct. 4.

The Sequel to the Joke.

Many years ago a visitor to Edinburgh was being shown over the high court of justiciary. He made some remark concerning the dock and its duties, and in reply the official jokingly said the visitor might one day be sentenced to be hanged in that very room. The sightseer was the notorious Dr. Pritchard. Two years had barely passed when in the dock he had so closely inspected he was doomed to death for poisoning his wife and mother-in-law.

Puzzling Scottish Terms.

There are many puzzling differences between Scottish and English law terms. For instance, bankruptcy is in Scotland an "act of sequestration," a solicitor is either a "writer" or a "law agent," the argument in a case is the "debate," the assize is the jury, a wrongdoer is a "delinquent," an idiot—in Scottish law—is "a fatuous person," and burglary is (with true Scottish caution) "housebreaking with an aggravation." Finally, an author is, in Scotland, not a person who writes, but the vender or seller of real property, from whom the title to it is derived.

YOUNG OFFICER SHOT.

Sad Affair Occurs at Annapolis Naval Academy.

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 14.—Second Lieut. James N. Sutton, Jr., United States marine corps, is dead at the naval academy marine barracks, his death resulting from 32-calibre bullet fired into the right side of the head. A board of inquiry detailed by Superintendent Badger of the naval academy has prepared a report which will be submitted to the navy department.

From the best information obtained, Sutton, in company with Second Lieutenants R. E. Adams and E. P. Roelker returned to the marine camp at the academy. Shortly afterward Sutton is said to have been discovered in the road nearby with a revolver in his right hand, and several fellow officers attempted to disarm him. This they succeeded in doing, but not before the weapon was discharged in some manner, and Lieutenants Adams and Roelker received slight wounds. Quick as a flash, it is said, Sutton took from his blouse another revolver and with this fired the fatal shot into his brain.

Lieutenant Sutton was 22 years old

SIX SUFFOCATED.

Father and Five Daughters Lose Their Lives.

Gloversville, N. Y., Oct. 14.—Six members of the family of Solomon Frank, a glove cutter, the father and five daughters, were suffocated when their home was destroyed by fire early Sunday. The dead are:

Solomon Frank, aged 40 years; Sarah, 21 years old; Dora, 19 years old; Rosa, 17 years old; Minnie, 12 years old; Mary, 10 years old.

The father lost his life in endeavoring to save his children, following the discovery of the flames by the mother, who with two small sons, made her escape. The bodies of the other victims were found by the firemen. All had evidently made an effort to reach the windows.

The oldest daughter was to have become a bride early in December, and Saturday night there was a social gathering at the home of the family in a celebration of the approaching nuptials. The gathering broke up at 1 o'clock, and at 1:30, when all had retired, the fire was discovered.

He Didn't Put It Off.

"Gracious!" exclaimed Mr. Staylate. "It's nearly midnight. I should be going pretty soon, I suppose."

"Yes," replied Miss Patience Gonne, "you know the old saying, 'Never put off till tomorrow what you can do today.'"—Philadelphia Press.

Wakeful?

Sleeplessness Is a Sign of Nerve Trouble and Should Be Looked To.

There are three different manifestations of sleeplessness.

First, hardly to sleep a wink all night, second, to lie awake a long time before falling asleep; third, to fall asleep soon, waking up after several hours and then find it hard to sleep again.

They mean that somewhere in the nerve fibres, somewhere in the brain cells, somewhere in the blood vessels that carry blood to the brain, something is radically wrong, and must be righted, or the end may be worse than death.

To right it, take Dr. Miles' Nervine.

Some other symptoms of nerve trouble are: Dizziness, Headache, Backache, Worry, Fretfulness, Irritability, Melancholy, Lack of Ambition.

They indicate diseases which may lead to Epilepsy, Fits, St. Vitus' Dance, Nervous Prostration, Paralysis, Insanity.

Nothing will give such quick and lasting relief as Dr. Miles' Nervine.

"My husband had been sick for weeks, could not sit up to have his bed made. With all the medical help we could get he continued to grow worse. He could neither sleep or eat. On Saturday I was sent for, and all neighbors said he could not live. Sunday night [illegible] restoratives [illegible] to him, [illegible] able to be dressed. From that time he steadily improved. Nervine saved his life."—MRS. A. G. HASKIN, Freeville, N. Y.

WILL CONTINUE STRIKE.

Telegraphers Stand Opposed to Desires of Their President.

New York, Oct. 14.—The New York local of the Commercial Telegraphers' union, at a meeting Sunday, voted unanimously to continue the strike against the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies.

The vote was taken on the suggestion of President Small, who in messages to subordinate officers Saturday pointed out the inability of the general assembly to further finance the strike, and recommended that locals in the various cities vote on the advisability of the men returning to work.

The meeting was characterized by bitter exchanges between President Small and other speakers. The latter charged the national leader with inconsistency in first claiming that the strike would be successfully financed and Saturday admitting that the general assembly was without funds; and with having conducted the fight in a half-hearted, dilatory way. Small tried to explain his position, but was frequently interrupted by hisses.

When he suddenly left the hall in the midst of speech-making, cries of "Resign" followed him. Last night Small issued a statement in which he said he was willing to continue the strike if the men insisted.

Chicago, Oct. 14.—National President Small, of the Commercial Telegraphers' union, and his suggestion that a vote be taken on the question of calling off the strike, were opposed by members of the Chicago union at a meeting Sunday afternoon. A resolution that the strike be continued was unanimously adopted.

Similar action was taken in Kansas City, Omaha, Salt Lake City, Cleveland and other cities.

RAN OUT OF FUEL.

Ship Drifted For Several Days on Pacific Ocean.

San Francisco, Oct. 14.—The Oceanic Steamship company's steamer Mariposa, which was adrift without fuel seventy miles off Monterey, was towed into port Sunday afternoon by the tugs Dauntless and Relief. In addition to her crew, the Mariposa had 27 passengers, including several women and children.

Last Thursday night the Mariposa exhausted her supply of fuel. On Friday First Officer W. D. Watson volunteered to try to reach the coast to procure a tow. Watson, accompanied by Seamen J. Wyberg, F. Brewer, E. Jedd and J. Osterfelt, embarked in the wrecking boat, rigged as a yawl, with light spars fore and aft and carrying a large spread of canvas. Provisions to last one week were placed in the boat and every preparation was made for the trip.

The dispatchers headed for Monterey bay, driven by a fresh west wind, until they were about 15 miles off shore. The wind then died out. Officer Watson could make out the coast line in the distance, and taking down sail, the sailors rowed to Monterey, whence word of the steamer's plight was sent to San Francisco. Tugs were at once sent out from San Francisco and Saturday afternoon they picked up the Mariposa, which was in good shape.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

ELECTED GRAND MASTER.

Odd Fellows Confer Honor Upon W. R. Kennedy of Mt. Pleasant.

Jackson, Mich., Oct. 17.—The grand lodge of Odd Fellows elected officers Wednesday afternoon, as follows:

Grand master, W. R. Kennedy, Mt. Pleasant; deputy grand master, W. H. Flynn, Detroit; grand warden, A. M. Colburn, Flint; grand marshal, C. F. Ganschow, Saginaw; grand conductor, F. R. Hamburger, Saginaw; grand guardian, H. L. McNeil, Paw Paw; grand secretary, Wilder (re-elected); grand treasurer, Pritchard (re-elected).

In each instance, with one exception, the election was made by the votes of the noble guards of the subordinate lodges. Grand Warden Colburn failed of a majority by a few votes, and his selection was referred to the delegates, who decided in his favor. Grand Master Kennedy will announce his appointee of grand warden today.

The day was occupied by hearing and considering reports of grand lodge officers and considering amendments to the constitution. Grand Master R. R. Britt of the Ontario jurisdiction addressed the delegates at the morning session. Last night a grand ball was given in honor of the visitors.

Detroit, Bay City, Sault Ste. Marie, Alpena and Houghton are candidates for place of meeting next year. The decision will be made today.

ITS UP TO JUDGE.

Prohibition Celebrity Challenges Smith to a Debate.

Pontiac, Mich., Oct. 17.—Charles E. Newlin of Indianapolis, a prohibition leader of national reputation, has challenged Judge George W. Smith of this city to a public debate on the constitutionality in Michigan of licensing saloons.

When Judge S. R. Artman lectured in Pontiac recently, he contended that under the common law the state has no right to license anything injurious to the public welfare, and such he declared the saloon to be. Judge Smith asserted that in Michigan it is constitutional to license saloons, and wanted to debate the point with Artman, who declined for want of time in which to do so, and Judge Smith concluded that the cold water advocates were cornered. Now comes Newlin to the rescue, asking Smith to discuss this question:

"Is the license of a saloon where intoxicating liquor is to be sold at retail to be drunk on the premises constitutional in Michigan?"

Newlin will declare that it is not, and offers to debate at four points in Oakland county at any time.

A Distinction.

"Tell me," said Miss Witherupp, "Mr. Newman remarked to you that I didn't show my age, didn't he?"

"Not exactly. He said you were careful to conceal it," replied Miss Frank.—Exchange.

CONTEST DEFERRED.

Illinois Central Stockholders' Meeting Put Off for Day.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—The meeting of the Illinois Central stockholders which was called at noon Wednesday was finally adjourned late in the afternoon until today. No vote on the directors was taken, and it is possible that none will be reached before late today. It is generally expected, however, that the early session will see the new directorate established.

Th delay was caused by the inability of three election inspectors who were appointed to act as a committee on credentials in considering the proxies, to finish their work. The adjournment was taken after an earnest tilt between William Nelson Cromwell, Mr. Harriman's leading counsel, and J. A. Patten, a prominent member of the Chicago board of trade. Mr. Cromwell desired that the meeting be adjourned until 8:30 last night, while Mr. Patten was set on having it taken over until today.

The proceedings of the day were opened by a meeting of the directors. No business was transacted save that on motion of Mr. Fish, it was decided to admit representatives of the press: and the committee of three election inspectors was finally completed.

It was stipulated Tuesday by Judge Ball that a committee of three should be apointed to pass upon the eligibility of the proxies. For this committee, Mr. Fish, who was to select one of the members, chose his private secretary, Charles H. Weman. Mr. Harriman selected Louis Fritch, assistant to the president of the Illinois Central. These two were to select a third, but the choice of the additional member was left to Judge Farrar, acting for Mr. Fish, and Mr. Cromwell, for Mr. Harriman.

The two men argued for the greater part of the night and discussed many names, but were unable to agree upon the third man. When the meeting of directors was called it was still undecided, and finally a motion made originally by Judge Farrar that Judge Ball be asked to select the third man, was adopted. The judge named F. S. Conway, a prominent manufacturer of this city.

The meeting of the stockholders was called to order at 12 o'clock by President Harahan of the Illinois Central, about 400 persons being in attendance.

Both sides are still apparently confident of the result. Mr. Fish said: "I have great hopes, but we cannot tell as yet."

Mr. Harriman declared: "I cannot predict the results of the meeting, but it may be said that it will be a clean fight. If we fail to vote enough stock to control the meeting the issue will be up to the courts."

BRUIN FOOL HUNTERS

Took to Water and Got Away From President's Party.

ALL WERE MUCH CHAGRINED.

Hot Trail Was Struck Too Late in Day to Have Successful Outcome—Fresh Dogs Brought In—Roosevelt Still Confident.

Stamboul, La., Oct. 17.—If President Roosevelt Wednesday had been stationed a few hundred feet further south than he was Tuesday he would possibly have procured the bear he came to the Mississippi cane brakes to slay. That a fine specimen of the bear family was discovered by Holt Collier's dogs within a short distance of the president and within less than a mile of Bear lake, was the news brought into Stamboul by Brutus Jackson, one of the members of the hunting party, and he says that the animal was enabled to escape by going in a direction opposite to the president's post.

Four dogs, unattended by any of the hunters, after trailing the brakes unavailingly all day, struck a hot trail about four o'clock, and within a trice they were almost on the animal itself. The bear was aroused while feeding, and with a snort that was heard afar, it darted off in the direction opposite from that which the trailers came, which chanced to be away from the presidential rifle. The campers say that, thick as was the jungle, the bruin made rapid headway throught it for the short distance it had to run to reach the lake. Arriving at the water's edge, the bear plunged in, and was well away from shore when the dogs arrived. Some of the hunters came up a short time afterwards, but too late to get a shot. By this time the day was too far advanced to permit any one to follow.

The hunters were much chagrined over their failure, but were again reassured by the president, who told them that a successful outcome was yet possible. The bear which escaped was of good size, but lean, to which fact the hunters attributed its running and swimming ability.

Hunter Lilly found a trail on the far side of the lake Tuesday night, and the president took it up early Wednesday morning.

There is much dissatisfaction with the dogs on hand, and a canine reinforcement from Newellton, La., was received Wednesday. They consisted of seven veteran bear-trailers from the kennel of the Osborne brothers. Osborne brought with him a fine piece of bear meat from a 500-pound animal killed Tuesday. The meat was presented to the president. There is still an abundant supply of fresh game for the camp table.

COPPER DROPS.

Violent Decline Puts New York Market In Turmoil.

New York, Oct. 17.—Trading in both the New York stock exchange and the curb stock market was in a turmoil Wednesday as a result of excited movements and violent declines in the prices of United Copper stock in the latter market. The suspension of the firm of Gross & Kleeberg, members of the New York stock exchange, contributed materially, if it was not the chief cause of the declines in both markets.

This firm has been trading actively in United Copper stock and it was reported that they were members of a pool formed to support the price of the stock. Apparently there was a break in this pool Tuesday, as the result of which the common stock broke from $59 to $36 per share, and the transfer agent of the company declined to record the transfer of a block of 16,930 shares which he said had been sold in violation of the rights of parties having some interest in it. It was reported that Gross & Kleeberg, acting for the interests identified with F. Augustus Heinze, had bought in some of this stock and that Heinze interests refused to accept the stock because of the manner in which it had been placed on the market.

United Copper common, which closed at $36 Tuesday, opened at $25 Wednesday, and during the excitement of the afternoon went as low as $10, from which it recovered to $15 before the close.

The preferred stock, which before Wednesday had been quoted last at $74, reached the low point of $24 for the day. Trading in these stocks was confined to the curb market.

House Tables Ad Valorem Tax Bill After Vigorous Contest.

GALBRAITH MAIN OPPONENT.

Believes Smaller 'Phone Concerns Would Suffer Too Greatly—Military and Juvenile Court Bills Sanctioned—May Adjourn Friday.

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 17.—The house by a unanimous vote, Wednesday afternoon passed the juvenile court bill and the military bill. The first places the handling of all juvenile offenders within the jurisdiction of probate judges with the aid of probation officers. The second provides pay for enlisted men of the national guard for attending drill, a fund of $10,000 accompanying it for building armories.

After a bitter fight, a motion was lost to take up for consideration without reference to a committee, a bill to place telephone and telegraph companies under the ad valorem tax system. The bill was placed on the table, and Rep. Jerome, who introduced it, says he will renew the fight later.

Representative Galbraith of Houghton made the main argument. He said that as temporary custodians of the welfare of the property interests of the state and consequently of the welfare of the people, it should be remembered that the proposed change in the tax law would work a distinct hardship.

Weak Ones Would Suffer.

He said if the big companies had to bear the brunt of the increased tax it might be different, but added it work the hardest against the Postal, the weaker of the telegraph companies, and be a severe blow to the independent telephone companies of the state, not the powerful Michigan Telephone Co. The latter, he said, is without a franchise in a single city in the state and can easily raise its rates to pay more taxes, while the Postal telegraph and independent telephone companies, which by competition force the big corporations to keep down rates, cannot afford to pay high taxes.

"Taxing a public service corporation," said Mr. Galbraith, "is taking money from one pocket to pay it into another."

Rep. Miller of Detroit replied to the corporation argument, pointing out that the state can defend the people against any robbery in rates. Rep. Dust, who fought for the same measure last winter, emphasized to his colleagues that it is a question of taxing the corporation by the specific or by the ad valorem system, not as to the amount of taxes each should pay. He added that local assessors would be charged under the bill with the duty of assessing the little companies and could see that no harm is done them. He related that last winter, after his bill of similar character had been killed, that a certain man, who was happy over the result, asked him the question, "How could you expect to pass a bill of that character when there are in the house 47 stockholders in little telephone companies who are mighty nervous about their holdings?"

No One Answered.

Then Rep. Dust put the question as to why the legislature should be so anxious to save a bunch of eastern capitalists from paying their share of state taxes. No one answered the question but Rep. Campbell of Grand Rapids entered a loud denial that he was representing any special interest in his fight against the bill.

The motion to take up the bill for consideration without reference to a committe was killed by a vote of 44 in favor to 33 against. A two-thirds vote being necessary to carry the motion, the friends of the bill saved it from total loss by having it tabled.

A resolution to fix Friday for quitting work in the house was introduced and will be voted on today.

Governor Warner says he believes the legislature should quit the last of the week.

The session of the senate was brief, nothing being done.

It Hurt Him.

Out of sight.

"Out of sight, out of mind" is an old saying which applies with special force to a sore, burn or wound that has been treated with Bucklen's arnica salve. It is out of sight, out of mind and out of existence. Piles and chilblains disappear under its healing influence. Guaranteed by O. A. Wright & Son, 25c.

Thos. A. Edison, the great American inventor, says "Fully eighty per cent of the illness of mankind comes from eating improper food or too much food; people are inclined to over indulge themselves." This is where indigestion finds its beginning in nearly every case. The stomach can do just so much work and no more and when you overload it, or when you eat the wrong kind of food the digestive organs cannot possibly do the work demanded of them. It is at such times that the stomach needs help; it demands help and warns you by headaches, belching, sour stomach, nausea and indigestion. You should attend to this at once by taking something that will actually do the work for the stomach. Kodol will do this. It is a combination of natural digestants and vegetable acids and contains the same juices found in a healthy stomach. It is pleasant to take. It digests what you eat. Sold by B. J. Pulver

OPENS THE ASSEMBLY

Americans Disappointed in Taft's Address to Filipinos.

SPEECH WAS TOO PLACATIVE

Does Not See Self-Government for People Inside of Generation—Sovereignty of U. S. Acknowledged on Oath Taken by Assemblymen.

Manila, P. I., Oct. 17.—Secretary Taft formally opened the Philippine assembly in the Nacional theatre at 11:15 Wednesday morning in the presence of a large crowd of people.

In his address Mr. Taft reiterated his former statement regarding the Philippine islands, declaring that his views announced two years ago regarding the independence of the Philippine people were unchanged. He had not held, he said, that they would be fitted to govern themselves for at least a generation, but he added that the matter was entirely in the hands of congress.

The Secretary denied emphatically that the United States had any intention of disposing of the islands, said he had absolute confidence in the Filipinos, denied that he was disappointed in their inability to legislate conservatively, and asserted his belief that they felt their responsibilities and acknowledged the necessity of supporting the American government. Mr. Taft refrained from making any suggestion regarding specific legislation on the part of the Philippine assembly, but he recommended that attention be paid to the civil service.

At the close of his address Mr. Taft formally called the assembly to order. A short prayer was then read by the only native Catholic bishop in the islands. The assembly then took a recess until 5 o'clock.

Upon reassembling at that hour, the first business was the selection of a president, and Sergio Osmena, nationalist, who formerly was governor of the island of Cebu, was chosen. Senor Osmena is a young man and had no part in the revolution.

All the assemblymen, including Senor Gomez, whose election is to be contested, were then formally sworn in. The oath includes acknowledgement of the sovereignty of and allegiance to the American government.

The new assemblymen and the provincial governors were the guests of Gov. Gen. Smith at a grand ball last night.

Secretary Taft failed to satisfy some of the American residents of Manila regarding the policy of the American government. The general opinion is that his speech was placative. He intimated that misbehavior would result in the abolition of the assembly, but it is declared that this contingency is not expected. As for the Filipinos, they expressed no opinion of Mr. Taft's speech one way or the other.

GOING TO FIGHT.

Standard Prepares Elaborate Defense in New York Case.

New York, Oct. 17.—Counsel for the Standard Oil Co. have prepared an elaborate defense in the government's suit for dissolution of the oil combine, which they say will be developed in its entirety when the government's attorneys have concluded taking their testimony.

The Standard's attorneys say that they had not sought to adduce testimony on cross-examination of officials and employes of the so-called oil trust which would refute the allegations made in the federal complaint, but had deferred bringing out much evidence until later when it could be produced continuously and in bulk. No intimation was given of the nature of the testimony which counsel for the Standard said would be brought out.

A telegram has been sent to Wm. G. Rockefeller, assistant treasurer of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, by counsel of the Standard, that the government desired him as a witness before the adjournment is taken on next Friday for a month.

Frank B. Kellogg, counsel for the United States, spent the entire day Wednesday in placing on the record statements submitted by various witnesses, showing the profits made by the Standard in various localities of the country. Statements were also produced showing that the Standard not only secured information concerning competitive shipments in the United States, but in foreign countries.

Pastor and His "Affinity" Insane.

New York, Oct. 17.—King's County hospital physicans having declared both Rev. Maxwell Walenta, pastor of St. Lucas' German Evangelical Lutheran church of Williamsburg, and Mrs. Dora Bauer, his "affinity," insane, the couple was discharged in police court Wednesday. Mrs. Bauer, who is the wife of Louis A. Bauer, an electrotyper, and the minister were arrested a few days ago, charged with offending public decency and were committed to have their sanity inquired into as they had declared themselves to be "soul mates." Relatives took them in charge upon their release.

Car Leaps Embankment.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 17.—One man was killed, six persons were dangerously injured and 25 others slightly hurt Wednesday when an Elberon avenue car went over a 25-foot embankment at Mount Hope, in the western end of the city. The man killed was Harry H. Bouch, an attorney. The Elberon avenue line skirts the southern section of Price Hill, having a steep grade around Mount Hope. On this grade the motorman lost control of the car, which jumped the track soon afterwards.

Intoxicated Midge Flies.

Concerning the life history of the particular little midge that patronizes the arum in England very little is known, yet it is certain that when arums are blooming these midges give little time to anything besides drunken orgies within their shelter. You have only to cut open a bloom at the narrow neck portion and look down to the lower part to see the helpless insects lying in heaps, all more or less intoxicated—intoxicated from overindulgence in arum pollen.—Strand Magazine.

Kalamazoo Seminary Sold.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Oct. 17.—The Michigan seminary is sold. At public auction, O. M. Allen, Sr., bid $26,000, and his bid has been accepted. Allen is a capitalist. He says he doesn't know just what disposition he will make of his purchase. Andrew Weed, the man in overalls who startled bystanders by bidding $27,000, and declared he could pay cash, failed to make good. The seminary was a Presbyterian institution, and after running 50 years without an endowment became involved and was unable to clear itself.

On Trial for Wife Murder.

Saginaw, Mich., Oct. 17.—The case of the people versus Peter Clark, charged with wife murder before Judge William G. Gage. Prosecutor Purcell accepted the jury in 40 minutes. The cross-examination by the defense took up the rest of the day. It is not though a jury will be obtained before Friday, and possibly not then. J. P. Deveaux of Chesaning appears for the defense.

California Prepares to Welcome Fleet.

Washington, Oct. 17.—The citizens of California, particularly of San Francisco, are making ready to give a royal reception to the great battleship fleet when it passes in the Golden Gate next spring. It is expected that the San Franciscans will extend to Admiral Evans' fleet such a welcome as has never been known in naval history, except upon the return to America of Admiral Dewey's flagship fresh from the Philippine campaign. The coast people are very anxious to have Admiral Dewey come out to San Francisco as the city's guest to add to the importance of the occasion. Admiral Dewey has advised the committee on entertainment that he hopes to be able to make the visit while the battleship fleet is in the harbor.

Uncle Sam Loses Money on Expo.

Washington, Oct. 17.—Treasury officials practically admit that the $1,000,000 loan by congress to the Jamestown exposition and the additional money expended from federal funds for construction work on the fair will be a dead loss to the government. By the act of congress granting a loan to the exposition company the only redress the treasury officials have is to levy on the receipts. It is under stood that there are now only between 6,000 and 7,000 paid admissions to the grounds daily.

Autos Cost Many Lives.

Boston, Oct. 17.—A report issued by the Safe Roads Automobile association shows that between June 21 and Sept. 21 of this year, 41 persons were killed and 313 injured as the result of automobile accidents in the state of Massachusetts, as far as they were recorded by the association. This covered 211 collisions, an average of 2 1-2 daily.

The Intelligent Bird.

Two negroes in Washington were overheard discussing the intelligence of birds in general.

"Birds is shore sensible," observed one darky to the other. "Yo' kin learn them anything. I uster work for a lady that had one in a clock, an' when it was time to tell de time it uster come out an' say cuckoo jest as many times as de time was!"

"Yo' doan' say so?" asked the other negro incredulously.

"Shore thing!" responded the first darky. "But de mos' wonderful part was dat it was, only a wooden bird too!"—Harper's Weekly.

AUTUMN WEDDING.

Nuptials uniting the lives of Bess Stacy and C. Frank Conrad.

A very pretty home wedding occurred Wednesday p. m. at the home of Mr and Mrs. H. A. Stacy on North Maumee street, uniting in marriage their daughter, Bess E., to C. F. Conrad. The house was prettily decorated with gorgeous autumn leaves befitting the season; leaves and palms forming a beautiful bower for the bride and groom. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. M. Ward, congratulations following.

The guests were then served to a sumptuous supper. The bridal party of ten were seated in the dining room, the table being decorated with white ribbons extending from the chandelier to the corners of the table and autumn leaves for the centerpiece and place cards, while the other guests were seated at small tables. All were served by four of the bride's young lady friends.

The bride was gowned in Persian lawn beautifully combined with Val lace and carried a bouquet of white carnations. Presents, too, made an attractive feature of the evening, silver, linen and other useful articles being generously displayed. An hour of social pleasure was enjoyed by all, when the bride withdrew to prepare for their trip, reappearing in a traveling suit of navy blue Panama with hat to match. Nearly the whole party escorted them to the station, bidding them God speed mid showers of rice, old shoes, etc., etc.

The out of town guests were, Mrs. A. O. Wilkinson, Mrs. Wesley Ward and daughter, Lelia, of Detroit; Mrs. A. L. Osborn and Miss Emma Osborn, of Hudson; Miss Ernestine Steffies, of Jackson; Alfred Lewis of Macon, Mrs. G. W. Stacy and Miss Ethel Reyser of Newburg, together with relatives and a few special friends of Tecumseh. After a short trip to Buffalo and the east they will return to Tecumseh.

At home after Nov. 15 on north Maumee street.

LEARN TO EAT.

Few people in Tecumseh really know how.

This is not an essay on table manners. It is simply good advice about one of the American defects—too rapid eating.

Nothing makes life so miserable or interferes so much with the usefulness of the average American as indigestion.

The quick lunch counters and the majority of restaurants, even home dining rooms manufacture stomach troubles.

Slow eating solves one-half the problem of ill health. Those who suffer with indigestion and weak stomach can with care and the use of Mi-o-na stomach tablets restore their digestion to a healthy condition so that they can eat what they want without fear of suffering.

After a few days' use of Mi-o-na tablets, the headache, drowsiness, coated tongue, nervousness, distress after eating—all these symptoms of a weak stomach—will disappear and perfect digestion and a good skin will show that the vital machinery is running smoothly.

Take a Mi-o-na tablet before each meal to stimulate the digestive juices and strengthen the stomach and then it can take care of the food that is eaten without distress.

C. A. Wright & Son have so much confidence in Mi-o-na that they give a guarantee with every 50c box to refund the money if the remedy fails to give satisfaction.

Doan's Kidney Pills relieve backache. Cure every kidney ill.

Tecumseh citizens endorse them.

Henry Keyser, retired, living on Pottawatamie street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I still hold the same good opinion of Doan's kidney pills as I did five years ago when I gave a statement recommending them. For a number of years I was bothered with a weakness of the bladder and my back ached all the time. Sharp pains would attack me so suddenly that I would have to grasp something for support. I could not rest well at night and in the morning I would feel tired and unrefreshed. I procured Doan's Kidney Pills and began using them. I have received great benefit as they completely rid me of the backache. I advise every sufferer from kidney trouble to give Doan's kidney pills a trial.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no other.

Hot Springs, Ark., Oct. 17.—Following telegraphic instructions from St. Louis to Chief of Police Bentz, Daniel B. Brennan, Jr., who secretly wedded Miss Gertrude Busch, youngest daughter of the millionaire brewer in that city last Monday, was arrested here Wednesday and will be held pending the arrival of his father, who, it is alleged, ordered the arrest. More Army Officers Take Ride.

Burlington, Vt., Oct. 17.—Thirty-seven army officers from forts in New York, Vermont, Massachusetts, Maine, Rhode Island and New Hampshire, took part in a 15-mile horseback ride Wednesday, under the test order by President Roosevelt for officers attached to the department of the east. Major-General Frederick D. Grant, who is in command of the department, supervised the test personally, heading the squad of mounted officers in the ride over the country roads. With the exception of Gen. Grant, all the officers in the test are below the grade of general, and all are above that of captain. The start was from Fort Ethan Allen. No accidents happened during the ride and there were no unusual incidents, all the riders returning to the fort in good condition and showing few signs of fatigue.

SCORE REPORTED KILLED

Rumored Accident Occurred in Mines at Ellsworth, Pa.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 17.—An indefinite rumor has reached this city that an accident occurred late last night in one of the coal mines of the Ellsworth Coal Co., of Pittsburg, located at Ellsworth, Pa., about fifty miles east of here.

All efforts to confirm the rumor have failed; and even a thorough investigation has disclosed the extent of the alleged accident.

Telephonic communications with the mine officials at Ellsworth has been discouraged by those in charge there, and no satisfaction at all can be had in that direction.

One report, unconfirmed, says that a score of men have been killed and a large number injured by an explosion.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition, beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys, if the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

KILLS FORMER WIFE.

Eldred McKee of Cadillac Commits Murder, Then Suicide.

Boyne City, Mich., Oct. 21.—After failing to bring about a reconciliation between himself and a former wife, Eldred McKee, a carpenter, of Cadillac, shot and killed Gertrude McKee last night, and then turning the weapon on himself, sent a bullet crashing through his brain.

The shooting occurred at the home of Christ Nelson, where Mrs. McKee was living with a sister, Mrs. Sherron, housekeeper for Nelson.

According to Nelson, he came home last night and found McKee and his former wife sitting on a sofa evidently quarreling. Later he was startled by the sound of five shots fired in rapid succession followed by screams. Hastening downstairs, he found the floor covered with blood and the prostrate forms of McKee and the woman. McKee was dead, but Mrs. McKee was still alive, but died later.

McKee and his wife were divorced last August in Cadillac.

HITCHED ON CARS.

Little Lad in Detroit Meets Death While at Play.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 21.—By the side of the railroad track at Dequindre and Hale streets at 10 o'clock Sunday morning the mangled body of little 11-year-old John Mielke was tenderly laid down for dead. The child was cut completely in two, his right arm torn off at the shoulder. His eyes were closed.

Friends brought Mrs. Gustave Mielke running from the home, at 144 St. Joseph street. They told her the boy had been killed. But as the mother bent shuddering over the blood-stained form by the side of the tracks, the boy's eyes slowly opened, and a flicker of recognition crept into them. He struggled to speak, his lips moved, but no sound came, and exhausted with the effort, the brave little fellow passed away with his mother's kisses on his lips.

John left his home to go with some other boys to play "shinny" along the tracks. He promised his mother that he would be back for dinner, but his friends coaxed him to "hook a ride" on a passing freight train, and in grasping the wet iron bars his hands slipped and he fell to a horrible death. Six cars passed over his body.

Pontiac, Mich., Oct. 21.—The four children arrested at Windsor when they tried to secure marriage licenses, were Saturday taken to Ortonville by Officer Knight and were arraigned before Justice William B. Clark. All four stood mute and pleas of not guilty were entered. The boys are charged with abduction and the girls with being disorderlies. The boys were released on bail and the girls on their personal recognizance to appear for examination Wednesday. The boys are each 19 years old, and the girls 16 and 18 years old.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

As the result of his carelessness in laying a pocketbook containing checks and money amounting to $298 on a coal pile while he was building the furnace fire in the morning, Leonard Eickhorn, saloonist, of Bay City, is minus his wad. He shoveled it into the furnace.

Henry Volkersma, 51 years old, of Muskegon is dead as the result of injuries received by a fall from a street car. Coroner Balbirnie is investigating the statements of witnesses, who say that the conductor signalled the motorman to go ahead before Volkersma alighted.

In a jealous rage, John Hubel, a farmer living just north of Clare, attacked his wife and on her escaping from the house, cut his throat with a razor. He now lies at the point of death. This, with various other happenings in the man's recent life, is attributed to insanity.

Peter Clark, the aged Merrill man on trial for murdering his wife, created a scene in court at Saginaw by approaching his daughters in the audience, and, with outstretched hands, begging them to speak to him and show they still loved him. The daughters broke down and sobbed, but turned their backs on their father and left the room. Clark nearly collapsed.

A large cannon with a civil war history, presented to Andrews post, G. A. R., of Big Rapids, by the war department, through Senator William Alden Smith, was formally dedicated on the courthouse square Saturday afternoon and turned over to Big Rapids and Mecosta county. Mayor Wright, members of the council and board of supervisors accepted the piece from Post Commander Moore. Judge Patmer made the principal address. A large crowd witnessed the ceremonies.

In proportion to its size, Marquette has more telephones in use than any other city in the state. One company has 1,400 instruments installed in residences and business places, and another has 400. This is a total of 1,800. The estimated population being 10,800, this gives one telephone to every six persons in the community.

The question of a revival of the vesper services, discontinued about four years ago, is being agitated among the students and faculty of the U. of M. President Angell is in favor of the proposed revival, and will lend the plan his support, if the students themselves are anxious for it.

What Special Session Cost.

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 21.—Auditor-General Bradley estimates that the expense of the special legislature session will be about $25,000, although not all the bills are in yet. The expense includes salaries of members, $7,920; mileage and salaries of legislative employes, besides incidentals. For a short session the members receive almost as much in mileage as in salaries.

RUSSIANS TAKE THEM

Wm. English Walling, Wife and Sister-in-Law Arrested.

OTHERS ALSO IN CUSTODY.

St. Petersburg Officers Confine Americans on Political Charges—Walling is Wealthy Young Socialist—Wife Well Known to Literary World.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 21.—William E. Walling of Indianapolis, Ind., his wife and his sister-in-law, Miss Rose Stransky, were arrested in this city last night by a force of gendarme, because of their association with several members of the Finnish progressive party. They were still being held at the gendarme headquarters at a late hour last night. A representative of the American embassy appeared at the headquarters in their behalf, but could take no action then.

Kellogg Durland, another American, and a friend of Mr. Walling's, who has been in St. Petersburg gathering material for a series of lectures, also was taken into custody, but later he was released. No evidence upon which to hold Mr. Durland was found.

Mr. Walling is a wealthy socialist. He is a grandson of the late William H. English, who was vice-presidential candidate in 1880 when General Hancock ran for the American presidency. For several years past Mr. Walling has taken an active interest in the Russian struggle, and this is the third time he has visited Russia.

Four Finns Arrested.

The Finns with whom the Wallings have been associating also were arrested. In this party there are three men and one woman. The woman is the wife of Prof. Malmburg of Helsingfors university. The Finns have been in St. Petersburg for several days. They have been under close police observation all the time. Saturday and Sunday the Finns, Mr. and Mrs. Walling and Miss Stransky dined together, and last night the entire party was taken into custody.

The arrest took place at the Hotel DeFrance, one of the leading hostelries of this city. The rooms of the Walling party and the Finns were thoroughly searched by a colonel of gendarmes and several assistants. This search lasted several hours. All the baggage and effects of the Walling party and the four Finns were opened, and the gendarmes took possession of a large quantity of books and documentary material.

Mr. Walling and his wife, who is known to the literary world as Anna Stransky, and Miss Stransky were taken to the gendarme headquarters, because all the prisons are over-crowded and no other place to confine them could be found.

Mr. Walling has just returned to St. Petersburg from attending the socialist congress in Germany and France. He has also spent several months recently in Geneva, where he frequently the headquarters of the Russian revolutionists. He is intimate with many leading revolutionists and liberals. Mr. Walling is accused by the police of furnishing financial aid to the revolution, though this charge is not the foundation for his arrest.

A 'Varsity Graduate.

Mr. Walling is 30 years old. He is a son of Dr. Willoughby Walling of Chicago, formerly United States consul at Edinburgh. He is a graduate of the University of Chicago. He inherited a considerable fortune from the estate of his grandfather, William H. English of Indianapolis.

Mrs. Walling, who was Miss Anna Stransky, is a graduate of Leland Stanford Junior university, California. She has done considerable literary work. She is a Jewess, 26 years old, and was born in Russia. She has lived in the United States since childhood. Her father is a business man in San Francisco.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 21.—Capt. W. E. English, uncle of William English Walling, last night received the following cable dispatch:

"St. Petersburg, Oct. 20.

"William E. English, Indianapolis:

"English and Anna arrested in St. Petersburg. Start government pressure on embassy. Local lawyer is David Soskice whose telegraph address is Sikson, St. Peterburg. No cause for anxiety. (Signed.)

"KELLOGG DURLAND."

Kellogg Durland is thought to be a friend of Walling, but he is not know in Indianapolis.

William Kemp, dairyman of Pontiac, was Saturday found guilty of selling milk with less butter fat than the three per cent required by the state law. Kemp was arrested several weeks ago. Sentence was deferred and the attorneys for the defense will appeal the case to the circuit court at once.

AUTO STRUCK A POLE.

Carelessness Causes Fatal Accident Near Pontiac.

HARRY WOOD IS KILLED.

Price Hill, Son of Wealthy Banker, and John Smith, Auto Tester, the Other Occupants of Car, Injured—Wood Dies After Reaching Home.

Pontiac, Mich., Oct. 21.—So small a thing as the striking of a match in a speeding automobile, brought instant death to Harry Wood, popular tailor of this city, Sunday morning, hurled Price Hill, son of Joshua Hill, the millionaire banker, 30 feet through the air and broke the arm of John Smith, automobile tester for the Welch Co.

The accident occurred on a long stretch of smooth road near "Kimball's corner," between Birmingham and Pontiac. The machine, tearing along the highway at a furious pace, crashed into telegraph pole, snapped the 10-inch stick like a pipe stem, blew up, and sent its occupants hurtling from the roadway.

Wood's Neck Broken.

Wood lit on his head and his neck was broken. He sustained several other fractures also and was unconscious when help reached him. Smith escaped with a fractured arm and severe bruises all over his body, and what seemed almost miraculous Hill was pitched headlong far down the roadside, but received scarcely a scratch. Wood was carried to Pontiac in Dr. Stuart Galbraith's automobile, the physician having been summoned by telephone. Wood died at his home.

The particulars of the accident as near as they can be learned from the surviving members of the trio show that the smash-up was entirely the result of carelessness.

Smith was driving the car which left Pontiac about 12 o'clock Saturday night, just after the tailor shop had closed. As soon as he was out of the city Smith threw in the speed gear and they fairly raced to Birmingham. Hill was holding Wood on his lap and, on the way they began to laugh at Smith, telling him he didn't know much about driving a car anyway, and that they could manage it much better if he would give them a chance.

The Fatal Moment.

On the way back toward Pontiac Smith sent his car plunging along at terrific speed, but the road being level and straight, their pace did not seem exceptionally fast. Smith pulled out some cigarettes, put one in his mouth and struck a match. As he did so, Wood, whose hands were free, suddenly reached over and grasped the stearing wheel.

"Let me show you how to run it," he bantered.

Instantly the machine swerved, there was a rush, a crash of splintering wood, a burst of flamp and the great car was shattered into ragged bits. Part of it took fire.

"Good-bye, dear, I'll be back in a little while," Wood had told his wife when he left the shop at midnight. She had been with him at his work all evening, and the scene at the little home when the unconscious man was returned was most pitiful. Mrs. Wood is prostrated.

Wood was one of the most popular young business men in Pontiac. Besides his wife two daughters, Lillian and Ethel, aged 14 and 19; survive.

Stabbed Assailant With Hatpin.

Saginaw, Mich., Oct. 21.—The third assault attempted on young girls in this city in the last few days was recorded Saturday night when Carrie Ruff, 19 years old, a saleslady in Sitner Bros.' dry goods store, was seized by a man, about six o'clock, while on her way back to work. The attempt assault occurred on North Warren avenue, a few blocks from the heart of the business district. The man jumped out from the shadow of a tree and grabbed the girl by both arms, saying to her, "You must come along with me." After being dragged about a block, Miss Ruff succeeded in freeing her right arm, and pulling a pin from her hat, she jabbed the man once in the face and twice in the right breast. With a cry of pain, the man tore open his coat as if to see how badly he was hurt, and then disappeared.

Out of sight.

"Out of sight, out of mind" is an old saying which applies with special force to a sore, burn or wound that has been treated with Bucklen's arnica salve. It is out of sight, out of mind and out of existence. Piles and chilblains disappear under its healing influence. Guaranteed by C. A. Wright & Son, 25c.

Thos. A. Edison, the great American inventor, says "Fully eighty per cent of the illness of mankind comes from eating improper food or too much food. people are inclined to over-indulge themselves." This is where indigestion finds its beginning in nearly every case. The stomach can do just so much work and no more and when you overload it, or when you eat the wrong kind of food the digestive organs cannot possibly do the work demanded of them. It is at such times that the stomach needs help. it demands help and warns you by headaches, belching, sour stomach, nausea and indigestion. You should attend to this at once by taking something that will actually do the work for the stomach. Kodol will do this. It is a combination of natural digestants and vegetable acids and contains the same juices found in a Healthy stomach. It is pleasant to take. It digests what you eat. Sold byB. J. Pulver

DR. BOUCHELLE

Dr. L. B. Bouchelle of Thomasville, Ga., a physician well known in the South, is very enthusiastic over the cod liver oil preparation Vinol. He says: "I have used Vinol in my family and in my general practice with the most satisfactory results. It is exceedingly beneficial to those afflicted with bronchial or pulmonary diseases and to create strength."

The reason Vinol is so far superior to old fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions, is because it is a real cod liver preparation from which all the useless oil has been eliminated and tonic iron added.

We ask every weak, thin, run-down, nervous and aged person in town, and all those suffering from chronic colds, coughs and weak lungs, to try Vinol on our guarantee.

RACES THROUGH AIR.

Big Aeronautic Contests Begin in St. Louis.

FOR GORDON BENNETT CUP.

Second International Affair Embraces Five Days of Exciting Events—Cup Is Now Held by Lieut. Frank S. Lahm of United States Cavalry.

St. Louis, Oct. 21.—After months of planning, weeks of preparation and days of manual labor, all arrangements have been completed for the second international aeronautic contest, which will be held here this week, beginning at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Nine balloons have been entered, representing America, Germany, France and England.

The first international contest was held last year at Paris, and Lieut. F. P. Lahm of the United States cavalry, by a flight of 402 miles, won the James Gordon Bennett cup, the trophy of the contest. The cup is an object of art in massive silver, valued at $2,500 and was offered by James Gordon Bennett to the aeronaut covering the longest distance in a single flight. If the cup is won three times in succession by an aeronaut it then becomes the property of the aeronautic club of which he is a member. The winner of the cup in each international contest, by the terms of the donor, will receive in addition a prize of $2,000 in cash together with one half of the entry fees and forfeits. The contestant finishing second will receive one third and the contestant finishing third the rest of the entry fees and forfeits.

Nine Balloons in First Race.

This second competition for the Bennett international aeronautic cup was organized by the Aero club of America under the rules of the International Aeronautic federation, and will be conducted under the auspicies of the Aero club of St. Louis. The first five days of the week will be devoted to aeronauts. Today will open the program, nine balloons ascending for the long distance race for the Bennett cup.

Tuesday there will be a contest for aeroplanes or flying machines heavier than air, with total cash prizes of $2,000.

Wednesday there will be a contest for airships and vehicles lighter than air, with total prizes of $2,500.

Thursday the contest of flying machines for the Scientific American cup will be held.

Friday will be a free-for-all day, in which any kind of air craft that can get above ground may participate in the contest to win the Lahm cup. To win this the contestants must excel McCoy and Chandler's long balloon flight from St. Louis to West Virginia last week.

The Chief Race.

Aeronautic interest centers chiefly on the international balloon race. The first balloon, the Pommern, will be sent up at 4 p. m. today, and the others will follow at five minute intervals.

All the air craft entered are assembled on the plot of ground whence the ascensions will be made at the eastern end of Forest park, about two miles from the former site of the Louisiana Purchase exposition. The starting point is one of the highest in the city, and it is far removed from wires, buildings and smokestacks.

Through the center of the balooning court runs a 12-inch gas pipe, 100 yards long, with alternating offshoots of smaller piping, from which the cup contenders will be inflated. The main pipe runs from a gasometer with a capacity of four million cubic feet.

On three sides of the inclosure are stands that will seat 20,000 spectators. On the south side are the tents in which the airships and flying machines are assembled to await their departure.

Cleaning a Sickroom.

Most of us know how untidy a sickroom becomes and how annoying the dust of the sweeping is to the patient. "To remedy this," said a trained and capable nurse, "I put a little ammonia in a pail of warm water and with my mop wrung as dry as possible go all over the carpet first. This takes up all the dust and much of the loose dirt. A broom will take what is too large to adhere to the mop and raise no dust. With my dust cloth well sprinkled I go over the furniture, and the room is fairly clean."

ROOSEVELT "DE-LIGHTED."

Embraced His Companions and Gave One a $20 Note After Having Killed His Bear.

Stamboul, La., Oct. 21.—"We got three bears, six deer, one wild turkey, twelve squirrels, one duck, one opossum and one wild cat. We ate them all except the wild cat, and there were times we almost felt as if we could eat it."

This was President Roosevelt's summary of the results of his hunt on Bayou Tensas and Bear lake. He arrived at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the residence of Leo Shields, where he was a guest until he departed for Vicksburg today.

The president came in on a full gallop, and, accompanied as he was by about a dozen hunting companions, all mounted and attired in hunting garb, the cavalcade presented a tableau as picturesque as it was animated.

The president is slightly more bronzed than when he entered the wilderness fifteen days ago, but notwithstanding this fact and the additional circumstances that his skin as well as his clothes bear evidence of contact with the cane and other brush, he was never in better spirits in his life.

The arrival of the party brought the fact that third bear had been killed on Friday, by one of the Osborn brothers, while it was in a fierce fight with the dogs.

The bear slain by the president was killed on Thursday, and the killing was witnessed by one of the McKenzies and Alex. Ennolds. They say that the president's bearing was extremely sportsmanlike. The animal had been chased by the dogs for three hours, the president following all the time. When at last they came within nearing distance, the president dismounted, threw off his coat and dashed into the canebrake, going to within 20 paces of the beast. The dogs were coming up rapidly, with the president's favorite, "Rowdy," in the lead. The brute had stopped to bid defiance to the canines when the president sent a fatal bullet from his rifle through the animal's lights. With the little life left in it, the bear turned on the dogs. The president then lodged a second bullet between the bear's shoulders, breaking the creature's neck.

Other members of the party soon came up, and the president was so rejoiced over his success that he embraced each of his companions. Ennolds said:

"Mr. President, you are no tenderfoot."

The president responded by giving Ennolds a $20 note.

The president left Stamboul at 10 o'clock, and will spend four hours this afternoon at Vicksburg.

In honor of the president, the name of Stamboul Sunday was changed to Roosevelt.

She was a widow, 49 years old, and a sufferer from melancholia. For some time she was a resident of South Bend, Ind., but came to Detroit about a month ago for treatment at the Pennsylvania avenue sanitrium. It was within a block of that institution that she met her suicidal death.

Reason For Heavy Wheels.

Everywhere in the old world the wheels of wagons and carriages are two or three times as heavy as those on corresponding vehicles in America and so appear clumsy and cumbersome to us. The explanation of the difference is that our wheels are made of hickory, a wood unknown abroad, which supplies the requisite strength in smaller mass.—Travel Magazine.

A Matter of Economy.

"You're not so strict with that youngster of yours as you used to be," said Popley's friend.

High Time in Seoul, Korea.

Seoul, Korea, Oct. 21.—The climax of the festivities in this city in honor of the visit of the Japanese crown prince was reached Saturday night in a lantern procession in which 10,000 persons took part. It was witnessed by the crown prince of Japan and the crown prince of Korea and their respective suites from a hill near the residence. For several hours the city of Seoul, which is composed of one-story houses, appeared to be intersected by waving streams of colored fire. The procession finally stopped before the gates of the palace of the Korean crown prince, and for half an hour the crowd shouted "banzai," while the massed bands rendered the hymn of the emperor of Japan. The festivities lasted almost the entire night, and the utmost good order prevailed.

A Failure.

"When she gave you the piece of cake, did you say 'Thank you?'"

"Yes, ma, but it didn't do no good."

"Didn't do any good?"

"No; she didn't give me another piece."

SPORTS AT SEA.

How the Long Trip From Madeira to Cape Town Is Enlivened.

The voyage to Cape Town from Southampton or Madeira is a long one, sixteen to twenty days, says the Travel Magazine. And so we find pastimes organized on board far transcending the ordinary concerts, amateur theatricals, deck games and the like familiar to all of us on the ordinary ocean going liner.

The programme is an ambitious one, comprising boxing, gymnastic drill, obstacle racing, cockfighting, cricket, baseball and football, egg and spoon races for men and girls and children, ordinary deck games and evening amusement, such as concerts and dances.

The sack race for grown men is the delight of all the children, who love to see their fathers tied up in sacks and progressing by kangaroo-like bounds, whose uncertainty is made still more precarious by the pitch and roll of the great vessel. Nor must I forget the bolster and pillow fights, with competitors perched on horizontal bars, with their legs tied beneath. Some fighters display rare gameness and staying power, so that the onlookers feel quite grieved when they "go under" in a very literal sense.

Now and then an unfair wag will coat his trousers with resin and thus contrive to keep his balance in a way enabling him to withstand all comers. Of course the prizes are made up of the entrance fees paid by competitors, which may amount to 60 or 80 cents per head.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect it.

Prevalency of Kidney Disease.

Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalency of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patient and physicians, who content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease undermines the system.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Who has not at times had ideas which he or she would like to see in some newspaper? Many a good thought has slumbered in the brain of the thinker because of the difficulties and rebuffs which are always supposed to lie in the path of the editorial sanctum. The Chicago Record-Herald welcomes such ideas and has a page in its Sunday issue called "The Battle Ground of Modern Thought" which is devoted exclusively to letters from its readers. The best articles are carefully edited and printed over the writers' names. The amount of valuable matter that finds its way into the department is remarkable and is proof that the ability to write well and entertainingly is not confined to professional writers. The only restriction the Record-Herald puts upon writers for this interesting page is that articles must be of a controversial nature and devoted to the discussion of some current topic.

Don't sleep on your left side, for it causes too great a pressure on the heart.

Don't sleep on your right side, for it interferes with the respiration of that lung.

Don't sleep on your stomach, for that interferes with the respiration of both lungs and makes breathing difficult.

Don't sleep on your back, for this method of getting rest is bad for the nervous system.

Don't sleep sitting in a chair, for your body falls into an unnatural position and you cannot get the necessary relaxation.

Don't sleep standing up, for you may topple over and crack your skull.

Don't sleep.—Puck.

The only scientific treatment for this whole train of troubles is Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is the prescription of a famous specialist, whose great success in treating obstinate nervous heart disease has made his name pre-eminent in the medical and scientific world.

"I have for several years suffered at times with heart trouble. I got so bad I could not sleep half the night, and had to sit up on the side of the bed lots of times to get breath. Three of my brothers have died of heart trouble, and I thought I was going the same way, but about two and a half years ago I got a pamphlet about Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and thought I would try a few bottles. After using them I recovered, and have had better health since then than before for several years. I can heartily recommend them for heart trouble."—REV. should you buy your fuel of Temple? There are several good reasons.

We buy only the best grades in hard coal—have to pay extra price to get the quality, as the grade we handle is always in great demand.

In soft coal, if you order Pocohontas, Jackson Hill or Massillon, that is what you get, and we guarantee the same.

We deliver promptly, clean up and do all the little things to make a delivery satisfactory.

Capt. and Mrs. A. D. Lawrence entertained at dinner last evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Brewer of New York, who are visiting here.

The Tecumseh high school basket ball girls have their new sweaters which have been displayed in McCann's window. They are white wool with T. H. S. in orange.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Baldwin of Litchfield, Mich., spent Monday with their relatives at the Strong-Snyder home. Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin were for many years residents of Iron Creek and Manchester, Mich.

Misses Ethel Slayton and Mary Meyer entertained Saturday evening at the home of the latter in honor of Miss Lena Smith. The affair was in the form of a miscellaneous shower and the honored guest received a number of pretty and useful articles. Among those present were, Miss Marie Brysen of Carringdale, Ill., and Miss Hester Sage of Detroit. Luncheon was served to complete the pleasant evening.

The fair ground at Ann Arbor will no longer be used for agricultural exhibits but will be used by the ladies of the University as an athletic field. The grounds will be gtted up for tennis and hockey which games will furnish the girls with plenty of sport this fall. The fact too that the street cars run direct to the ground makes it a very desirable and convenient place.—Saline Observer.

Hard times in Kansas.

The old days of grasshoppers and drouth are almost forgotten in the prosperous Kansas of today although a citizen of Codell, Earl Shamburg, has not yet forgotten a hard time he encountered. He says "I was worn and discouraged by coughing night and day finding no relief until I tried Dr. King's New Discovery. It took less than one bottle to completely cure me." The safest and most reliable cold remedy, lung and throat healer ever discovered. Guaranteed by C. A. Wright & Son, druggists. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

ROUND ABOUT US.

A brakeman named W. Nofsinger had a narrow escape last Tuesday night. He was on a west bound freight No. 99 and when this side of Adrian, a brake wheel which he was twisting came off and he fell backward between the cars. It was supposed he was killed but when picked up no serious injuries were discovered. Dr. Dutt was wired and attended the man at this station.—Hudson Post.

Andrew Riggs, for many years a resident of our village died suddenly Wednesday morning. He had gone into Frank Spears' shop, his usual custom, and not feeling well, laid down to rest on a couch. Several happened in and chatted with him, noticing nothing unusual with him until he suddenly rolled over on the floor dead. Had he lived until tomorrow he would have reached the age of 75 years.—Saline Observer.

John Van Fleet, the Jackson prison convict, who on the night of Sept. 5 stabbed Chas. Douglas, another prisoner from which wound he died two days later, is now charged with murder. Hr was arraigned before Police Judge Jenks on Tuesday. VanFleet is a Washtenaw county man sentenced April 5, 1905 for from seven to ten years, for assault. Douglas was sentenced from Barry county for from six months to five years for larceny.—Chelsea Standard.

Merchants better beware about cashing money orders numbered anywhere between 20,228 and 20,400 or from 22,001 to 21, 200 because the postoffice will not reimburse them the amount, although it will be very glad to receive the men who try to pass the orders. A few days ago robbers blew up the safe at Tekonsha, Mich., and secured money orders, numbered as mentioned and also the official stamp which places the O K on the order. Their course now will be to fill out the orders for varying amounts, put the government stamp on them and cash them among the merchants, explaining that they couldn't get into the postoffice and need the money.—Albion Recorder.

WHO USES HYOMEI?

The best people in Tecumseh, says C. A. Wright. Guaranteed in catarrhal troubles.

No other remedy or medicinal treatment has ever been as popular or made so many many remarkable cures in Tecumseh as Hyomei.

The best people attest its curative virtues, say C. A. Wright & Son, who are the local agents. The fair way in which Hyomei was sold, to refund the money unless it gave satisfaction, was the best proof when it was introduced that it possessed unusual curative powers. C. A. Wright & Son took all the risk of the treatment giving satisfaction and left it to the purchasers to be the judge.

Later, when Hyomei was used and recommended by our well-known physicians and business men and their wives as a treatment that absolutely cured catarrh, no matter how serious or long standidg, the sales rapidly grew and today there is no other remedy in C. A. Wright & Son's large stock that has such a large and staple sale.

The first breath of Hyomei's healing air kills all catarrhal poison.

Try Hyomei today on C. A. Wright & Son's offer to refund the money if the treatment does not give you satisfaction and you will soon become its friend and recommend it to others. There's nothing else that gives such quick curative results in catarrhal conditions.

Tecumseh women are finding relief at last.

It does seem that women have more than their share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity, they must keep in spite of an aching back or headache. They must walk, bend and work with the awful pains from kidney ills. The kidneys cause more suffering than any other organ. Read of a remedy for kidneys that will keep them well, endorsed by people you know.

Mrs. Chas. Stevenson, living on Wyandotte street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I am glad to endorse Doan's Kidney Pills for when I was sick with malaria fever I was troubled with pains in my back and the nurse attending me advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills as they were a fine remedy. I got a box and began using them. They proved to be the remedy I required as they gave me relief, the secretions became natural and the gravel stones which had bothered disappeared entirely. I have recommended the Pills to my friends and will continue to do so."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's,—and take no other.

"How to Make a Million"

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING THE KEY TO SUCCESS

Told by a Man Who Began Life at a Shoemaker's Bench, Became Governor of his State and Is Now Head of a Business Empire.

BY ALBERT PAYSON TERHUNE

(Copyright 1907 by Henry G. Pagan.)

A face enough like Bismarck's to make the resemblance startling, a slender, wiry, boyish figure topped by a white head, a manner self-assured, yet never coarsely aggressive. There, in a nutshell, is the personality of one of the most picturesque, interesting figures in all New England—that of W. L. Douglas, ex-Governor of Massachusetts.

But it is not chiefly as ex-Governor, or indeed as statesman at all, that the world at large knows Mr. Douglas. A quarter-mile of factories, a yearly output of something over three million pairs of shoes, and a face that looks out from the advertising columns of eight thousand newspapers—these are the outward attributes that have made the name of W. L. Douglas so familiar from Maine to California.

The story of the man who could make himself so well known; his secret of achievement, his life history and his hints on business success will not only be of interest, but of profit to every class of reader.

For the description of a hard climb, of a winning fight against circumstances and the "climber's" rules for victory are always worth hearing. The world loves a fighter and takes an interest in his battles.

And W. L. Douglas is a fighter, as even the most casual student of human nature could glean from one glance at the strong, prominent jaw, the level brows, the firm set of the lips.

That cast of features set Bismarck to toppling European thrones. The same physiognomy (with a gentler mould of chin and mouth) has caused Douglas to monopolize business, to wring wealth from poverty and political power from those peopled by a majority that differed from him in politics.

Bismarck tore down. Douglas has built up. That is where the milder eye and mouth come in.

There is a keyword to Douglas's success, of course. Several of them, in fact. The foremost is "Advertising."

His Life Motto.

"Newspaper advertising" is his life motto in business. "First, be sure you have something worthy to advertise. Something just as good as you say it is. Struggle to keep it as good, and then advertise it constantly. The newspaper is the field in which my advertising has brought me the only perfectly satisfactory returns. And I have tried many lines before settling down exclusively to that theory."

The same "cradle" served for New England and for the man who was one day to be Governor of its oldest State. For it was in ancient Plymouth, scene of the Pilgrims' landing, that Douglas was born, in 1845. His was as pathetic and hopeless a childhood as ever Dickens pictured for David Copperfield or other of his luckless boy heroes. That Douglas rose from it to any later position whatever speaks volumes for the stuff he was made of.

In 1850 news came to a Plymouth woman that her husband, the bread-winner of their large family, had been drowned at sea. All the children were young. The mother was almost without means. So two years later she verbally "bound out" one of the brood—a precocious boy of seven—to his uncle, a shoemaker. The child's life from then on became one long era of drudgery and hardship. His uncle set him at once to pegging shoes by hand. This was a task for grown workers, but the baby fingers were kept at the incessant toil of it from dawn to dark. No holiday, no let-up of any sort, and, worst of all, no wages.

The seven-year-old boy was carrying unduly heavy weapons in his life-battle. He has been carrying them ever since. His ability to do so explains why he became Governor William L. Douglas, instead of merely Journeyman Bill Douglas.

His uncle was a stern task-master. Apart from the shoe-pegging, the child was called upon to perform a score of equally severe duties. Among them was the twice-a-day journey into the woods, in bitterest New England winter weather, to cut and drag in wood for the shop's fires.

Only at rare intervals was he allowed to leave his workbench for the schoolroom. But at such periods he proved so apt a scholar as to make up for the long lapses. He was greedy for education and seemed to absorb his scanty portion of it without effort. It was only by this strange proficiency that he gleaned any learning at all.

For four years the slavery went on. Then Douglas returned to his mother. But so valuable had he become in the shop that his uncle induced him to come back to him at the munificent wage of $5 a month. Until he was fifteen he continued to work thus, all the time busy with new ideas along his own line. These ideas were one day to bear fruit.

Once, seeking to better himself, he went to work in a Plymouth cotton mill at 33 cents a day. This meant fully $8 a month, and the $3 raise seemed not unlike a dream of wealth. But she intended him for his original calling. Hers was a literal command of "Shoemaker, stick to thy last!" For when he disobeyed the injunction an accident in the cotton mill put a quick end to his plans of becoming a weaver. Douglas was pulled out of the debris with a broken leg. That ended his cotton-mill experiences.

He went back to his mother. While recovering from his injury he attended school and once more planned for a full education. But the lash of poverty that has whipped so many men on to greatness was busy about the young student's shoulders and drove him back to the earning of a living, just as he was beginning to rejoice in his school progress.

No longer content to work aimlessly at one job and another, Douglas now set about learning the boot and shoe business from bottom to top, in all its branches. From town to town he worked his way, studying the methods of each shop until he had mastered every rudiment of his chosen profession.

Lure of the Golden West.

By the spring of 1865 he felt ready to start in for himself. Like many another ambitious boy, at that time he fancied the future was brighter in the new West than nearer home. So to Denver he went, carrying along his hardly-acquired stock of cobbling knowledge—and little else.

Arriving there, he found capital was as needful in Colorado as in Massachusetts. To acquire this capital he took the first work that offered. The work in question chanced to be the not very congenial position of day laborer in a lime-kiln.

Not exactly a brilliant fulfilment of the golden promise of the West, nor a direct advancement toward success in the shoe trade. But Douglas went on the principle that success consists less in holding a good hand than in playing a poor hand well.

Working hard and spending little, he at last saved enough to travel to the town of Black Hawk, where, he had heard, lived one Zepheniah Myers, one of the most skilled bootmakers in America. From Myers the young man learned the finishing touches that spelled perfection in his trade, and he soon acquired so wide a reputation in the same business as to outstrip his tutor. Douglas and another man formed a partnership and started a flourishing boot and shoe store at Golden City.

But New England always calls to her sons. Douglas heard the call and came back to Massachusetts. Working as journeyman and later as foreman, he passed the next few years, and in July, 1876, made the plunge that began his real career. He borrowed $875 and started a factory of his own. This "factory" was small enough to be swallowed up in the most insignificant workshop of his present building. It was just 30 by 60 feet (1,800 square feet) in area. Yet it was the nucleus of the plant that now has an area of 293,950 square feet.

Prosperity came, but did not arrive fast enough to suit the ambitious young financier. He looked about for means of increasing it more rapidly. The method he chose was extensive and unceasing newspaper advertising. From the first the plan was a success. It has grown more and more remunerative each year.

"Have I tried any advertising mediums other than the newspapers?" he said recently, echoing a question of the writer. "I should say so! Magazines, circulars, street car signs and many another. Why, once I actually painted a whole town red. I spread my advertisements over its fences and roofs and barns and everywhere my men could find space for an 'ad.' Oh, yes, I've tried them all. And the newspapers give by far the best results."

"Even better than the magazines?"

"Much better. And for many reasons. In the first place, a newspaper advertisement strikes the eye the moment the sheet is opened. The same advertisement would lie hidden among the pages of a magazine until the reader found his way to it, if he ever did. The busiest man's eye will be caught and his attention held by sight of a strong advertisement in his daily paper. Whereas that same busy man might not find time to go laboriously through all the advertisements of a magazine.

"Then, too, practically every man reads a newspaper. Every man does not read magazines. Take a village, for instance, where the one local newspaper has perhaps 200 readers. If I put an advertisement in that paper, 200 people are going to see it. No one magazine, nor, for that matter, all the magazines combined, will circulate 200 copies in that same town. The reasoning is very simple.

"There is no hamlet or tiny settlement on the continent that is not reached by newspapers. There is no place where newspapers are not read with eager interest. So by placing my advertisement in the newspapers it is a self-evident proposition that I will reach more people than any other medium could secure for me.

Key to Financial Success.

"That is why I advertise exclusively in newspapers. I advertise not only in the papers of all the principal cities, but also in 3,000 country newspapers."

If the cynical claim that "money is the final argument" carries any truth, then Mr. Douglas's sincerity in declaring the newspaper the foremost advertising medium cannot be doubted.

"In 1906 alone," he went on, "I spent [illegible] in newspaper advertisements. I [illegible] sure how to bring me adequate returns. That was a fair sample of my yearly advertising expenditure. Reckoning on that basis I have spent $2,000,000 in newspaper advertising during the past ten years. A fortune? Yes. But, as I say, the results warranted it.

"I have given every form of advertising the fairest sort of trial. I began with newspapers in 1883. The results were so good that later I also advertised in magazines. THE RETURNS DID NOT WARRANT ME IN CONTINUING. I withdrew my advertisements from the magazines, but later on tried the experiment again. Once more I took out my advertisements, and since then I have used only newspapers to bring my goods before the public eye.

"During the past decade, while I was spending $2,000,000 for newspaper advertisements, I sold (basing the estimate on my 1906 returns) 1,324,240 cases of shoes. There are twenty-four pairs of shoes to a case, that makes a total of 31,781,760 pairs for the ten years. At the wholesale price of $2.50 a pair, that would be, for the decade, $79,454,400. Or, at the retail rate of $3.50 a pair, it would equal $111,236,160.

"In my advertisements, as a rule, I call attention to my shoes, leaving the local dealers in their own newspaper advertisements to mention the fact that they carry the Douglas shoe.

"By the way, another excellent reason for the superiority of newspaper over magazine advertising rests in the fact that in those same local papers the reader sees the 'ad' every day of his life, while in a magazine it, at best, only once a month appears. In other words, he sees it thirty times as often in a newspaper, and it has, therefore, thirty times as many chances of impressing him. Every man reads his paper first. Then, if he has time and inclination, he reads magazines. Sometimes he has neither, and the magazine goes unread.

"I am not a believer in spasmodic advertisement. My principle is: Keep pounding away, at the reader all the time. Formerly it used to be a custom to advertise shoes at only certain seasons of the year. I never adhered to that idea. I advertise—and I keep on advertising.

"When a season is dull I increase my advertisements. That may seem odd. Many don't do it. But I do.

"That is one of the secrets, I think, of success. Instead of hanging back, waiting for a slack season to pass, I believe in advertising all the more. This past spring, for example, was backward and cold. It was bad for trade. I did extra advertising.

"Nor, at such times, do I raise the price of shoes. It would not be fair to make the public pay for the slowness of a season. I do not lower wages in that event, either, as the 1906 scale will prove. The scale for that year shows the average shoemaker's pay in the United States was $461. In Massachusetts it was $530. In Brockton, $628; while at my Montello factory it was $760. That does not include superintendents and high salaried men. Just the workers, on the union scale.

"Another advertising theory of mine is that a good 'ad.' should be changed very seldom. Of course in the case of dry goods stores or other places where special sales are held and new attractions offered from time to time it is necessary to change the form and inducements of an advertisement. But where a man deals in a single staple article, I think he should write one strong, convincing advertisement and let that stand for a long time.

"Let him make sure first that it is the strongest, best-worded advertisement he can concoct. Then let it stand.

"There are good reasons for this. Suppose a man has glanced at my advertisement for several days in succession without reading it. Then one morning he does read it. That may be the day when (if I constantly change my 'ads.') I might have a weaker, less attractive, less convincing one than usual. Perhaps I lose his possible custom.

"A good advertisement is an argument. Remember that. An argument. Not a boast. It does not shout an unreasonable command to buy something. It explains to you WHY you should buy the article. It appeals to your sense of reason. It should never exaggerate in any way, but tell the mere truth.

Base Claims on Merit.

"An advertisement should never claim for goods more advantages than they actually possess. An article must have merit—real merit—and its proprietor must fight, every minute, to keep the quality high. Success must not lure him into letting up, one atom, on high quality. If he does, in the course of time he will lose. Some people get to making money fast. Then they think they can lower the quality (and, incidentally, the cost of production), and make more. I have made more because my goods are worth more.

"It is a strange fact that fully two-fifths of the shoes sold throughout the entire week are sold on Saturday. Whether because that is pay day or merely because it is a favorite shopping day I don't know, but the fact remains, and we regulate our advertising accordingly; making it heaviest toward the latter part of the week. Of course, with a magazine (published only once a month) this would be impracticable.

The Douglas shoe is sold all over the United States and also has a large sale in Canada and Mexico, besides having created more or less of a European demand. I employ 4,000 persons in making and selling my shoes, and I own and operate seventy retail shoe stores in the large cities. The vast area covered by my dealers renders it all the more necessary for me to use local newspapers from one end of the land to the other to advertise my shoes, and made it the more needful for me to study out carefully just what would be the best medium through which I might reach the people at large."

Concerning these 4,000 employees whom Mr. Douglas so casually mentioned, an entire article of more than common interest might be written. They form a sort of Utopian community whereof he is the head. At his expense all of them are provided with medical care in illness, and they are in other ways made to feel his personal interest in them.

The labor question assumes none of its harsher features in the Douglas plant. By special agreement between the proprietor and his workmen, all differences, so far as possible, are mutually adjusted. Those which cannot be thus disposed of will by common consent be submitted to the State Board of Arbitration and Conciliation, that body's decision to be binding on both disputants.

In this way strikes and lockouts are unknown among the Douglas workmen, and the pleasantest feeling has always existed between employer and employed.

Since the beginning of his first campaign of newspaper advertising, in 1883, Mr. Douglas has gradually but steadily become known to nearly every one in America. The face that looks out from the diamond-shaped frame in his advertisements is familiar to all. Yet the face that accompanies this article gives a far more accurate idea of the William L. Douglas of to-day. The character reader may peruse there the reasons why a lowly start in life had no power to check this man's rise.

By judicious newspaper advertising Douglas quickly "outgrew" factory after factory until, in 1892, he erected the huge works now in use at Montello, just out of Boston.

His Payroll Grew.

Here his payroll grew until it numbered its present 4,000 names. Here, too, grew the facilities for turning out shoes in unparalleled numbers—about 17,000 pairs a day being the capacity now. In the jobbing house alone a half million pairs of shoes are carried at all times in stock.

The factory—or factories, for there are two of them practically joined under one series of roofs—cover as much space as the walls of an ancient city, and are arranged in rectilinear lines, with wide-reaching wings, like enfilading earthworks.

The man who employed newspaper advertising as the magic wand to raise this mighty structure from the earth still works as hard, in his own way, as did the seven-year-old carrier of wood and pegger of shoes. Outside office hours he is of simple, domestic tastes, his one "rich man's amusement" taking the form of frequent cruises on his big steam yacht, the Machigonne.

He has found time, too, as all New England knows, to make a decided impression in the field of politics. A stanch Democrat, he has served in both houses of the State Legislature, framed the arbitration and weekly payment laws, was Mayor of Brockton in 1890, and has four times been chosen as delegate to the national conventions.

His victorious campaign for the Governorship of Massachusetts was such as to awaken national interest. Throughout his term of Governor he conducted his great personal business interests as well as those of the State in such a way that neither suffered from inattention. His wide use of newspaper advertising during the Gubernatorial contest was one of the most striking features of the campaign and contributed in no light measure to his triumph.

Why a man like Douglas, having made such giant strides in the world of business, should have sought the Governorship was a puzzle to many. And not a few wondered that he was not satisfied with the success he had already won.

But the man who is satisfied with success would be satisfied with failure.

I do not think William L. Douglas would be satisfied with either.

PAID THE TAXES.

Owners of Lots Kick on Action of Grand Rapids Man.

Traverse City, Mich., Oct. 24.—Because A. E. Carter of Grand Rapids pays all the taxes on 12,000 lots in Long Lake township, a thousand or so of owners are kicking and endeavoring to force the Grand Travers board of supervisors to assess the lots so they can pay the taxes. One man claims he will take the matter to the attorney-general if it is not attended to. The supervisors considered the matter before adjourning Wednesday, but left Long Lake township for the surveyor to study out alone and to answer the large number of letters received concerning it.

A few years ago the Outing Beach association acquired title to a tract of land in Long Lake township, platted it into 12,000 lots and sold about 7,000 of them for resort purposes by means of newspaper advertisement in Chicago and other cities, the price being about $1.25 each. Some of these lots were all right for the purpose and have been re-sold for as high as $400, but others were useless swamp land. To assess 12,000 lots would cost more than the taxes received and many owners would not pay, throwing a heavy expense on the county. Consequently the land was assessed as one tract, and Carter pays all the taxes. The owners don't like this and want to pay their own taxes, so the land may be assesed after all.

BUILDING COLLAPSED.

Structure Being Built at Otter Lake Falls Where Another Burned.

Otter Lake, Mich., Oct. 24.—The two-story building being erected to replace the Hemmingway building, destroyed by an explosion early this summer, has collapsed and two men were injured. They are: Ernest Hemmingway, father of the man killed in the explosion; injured about the head and also internally; Wellington Van Dusen, carpenter, similar injuries.

The new building was up nearly to the roof. Ten men were at work. The structure began to sink in the center and the walls fell in.

The original building was blown to pieces by dynamite which let go just as the wife of the younger Hemmingway entered the building leading the little daughter. A thunder storm was raging, and the wife was afraid of the lightning. A bolt hit the store and set off the dynamite just as she crossed the threshhold. All three, the father, mother and child, were killed.

Nevada Bank Fails.

Reno, Nev., Oct. 24.—The State Bank and Trust Co., with headquarters at Carson and branches at Goldfield, Tonopah, Manhattan and Blair, closed its doors Wednesday morning. State bank examiner is in charge. The difficulty was due to inability to realize on stocks placed as security for a loan made the Sullivan Trust Co. last year.

HOME AGAIN.

President Roosevelt Is Thoroughly Pleased With His Trip.

Washington, Oct. 24.—President Roosevelt reached the White House from his southern trip Wednesday afternoon. His special train came in over the Southern railway at 4 o'clock, exactly on schedule. The trip from Lynchburg, where the last speech was delivered. was without incident, the president spending the time in reading and conversing with friends. To those who met him at the station it was noticeable that he had added several deeper shades to the bronze of countenance acquired during the summer months at Oyster Bay.

The president took no pains to conceal his delight at getting home, and was markedly cordial in his greeting to those who had gathered in the train shed to meet him. With the greetings over and a little cheer from the few who had located the White House carriage at the rear end of the train shed, the president stepped into the vehicle and was driven at once to the White House.

The president expressed himself as thoroughly pleased with his trip. "I have had a delightful time," he said. "I am extremely gratified over the fact that I got a bear as the result of my hunt, and none the less so that I had to work 12 days to get it. For the rest, I was touched and gratified beyond measure by the reception I received in the south, indeed at every place, both north and south, beginning with Keokuk and continuing until the end of the journey. The entire 24 days have been full of both profit and pleasure, and I am very glad I made the trip."

During his journey, beginning on Sept. 29th, the president has visited eleven states.

Former Ambassador May Return.

Washington, Oct. 24.—There is an understanding among Central and South American members of the diplomatic corps that former Ambassador Casasus of Mexico may again come to Washington as the representative of his government, succeeding Ambassador Creel, who is governor of Chihuahua. Ambassador Creel had intended to remain in Washington and be governor as well, but it is said here that political and financial questions have arisen in Chihuahua which make it necessary for him to remain actively in charge of the affairs there. Mr. Casasus is held in very high esteem by Secretary Root. He left the Washington post on account of ill health, but he is reported to have gained health and is now desirous of returning. He would be welcomed by this government and by innumerable warm personal friends in diplomatic circles.

GERMANS WIN RACE.

France Close Second in International Balloon Contest.

LAND ON ATLANTIC COAST.

The Pommern Traveled Distance of 880 Miles—American Balloons Fail to Make Much of a Showing—Airship Race Won by Toledo Man.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 24.—With every balloon racing record broken, the second international cup competition, which started from St. Louis on Monday, ended Wednesday with the German balloon Pommern winning first prize for the longest flight. The finish of the race was so close, however, that the French contestant, Isle de France, which descended at 1:10 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at Hubertsville, N. J., a few miles from the Atlantic coast, may possibly be declared winner after official measurements are completed. The Pommern landed at 9 o'clock Wednesday forenoon at Asbury Park, N. J., apparently a few miles further from St. Louis than Hubertsville.

Another German balloon, the Dusseldorf, stands third in the race. American entries finished fourth, fifth and eighth, while a third German team finished sixth; another French team finished seventh. The one English balloon entered fell far short of the others. The Pommern was piloted by Oscar Erbsloeh, aided by H. H. Clayton, while Alfred Le Blanc and Edgar W. Mix sailed the Isle de France.

The Distance Traveled.

The, unofficial estimated air line flight of the Pommern is 880 miles, and that of the Isle de France is 875 miles. The Dusseldorf, third, landed near Dover, Del., is estimated to have covered 790 miles. The official measurements will be computed by the geological survey of the United States government at Washington.

Only the proximity of the Atlantic ocean stopped the flight of the Pommern. The balloon could have remained in the air many hours longer, and probably would have added several hundred miles to her record but for the expanse of water ahead.

While losing the distance record and cup, the French team sailing the Isle de France gained the world's record for duration flight. Starting from St. Louis at 4:11 p. m. (Central time) Monday, they landed Wednesday at 1:10 p. m. (Eastern time), making their time in the air 44 hours minus one minute. The previous record was 41 hours five minutes, held by Count De La Vaulx, France.

The previous distance record of the international race, set by the balloon United States, in the flight from Paris last year, was 402 miles. This was more than doubled by the Pommern and Isle de France. In fact, only one of the nine contestants in this year's race failed to exceed the 1906 record.

Next Year in Germany.

Germany, having won possession of the silver trophy presented by James Gordon Bennett, the race next year will be in the home of the German Aero club. Final possession of the trophy rests with the club which wins it three times. The balloon United States, which finished eighth in this year's contest, was the winner in 1906, gaining a leg on the cup for the Aero club of America, the newest recruit in the Aeronautic Confederation of the World. Aside from the possession of the cup, the Germans won a cash prize of $2,500, also given by James Gordon Bennett.

The world's record for distance, but not in a race, is 1,200 miles, held by County Henry De La Vaulx. There is some doubt as to whether this distance means a measured air line flight or the total number of miles traveled in drifting currents. All of the balloons in this year's race traveled many more miles than the figures with which they are accredited, but only the air line measurements are considered in the award of the prizes.

Dirigible Contest.

Sailing to windward and return over a course measuring one mile and a half from start to finish, Lincoln Beachey of Toledo won the dirigible airship race which marked the close of the St. Louis aeronautic carnival. The prize was $2,000. In his airship, Beachey, a cigar-shaped affair propelled by a four-cylinder gasoline motor, the winner covered the distance in 4 minutes and 40 seconds.

Jack Dallas in the airship, Strobel, a sister craft to the Beachey, won second place with 6 minutes and 10 seconds, while Capt. Thomas S. Baldwin of New York, in the California Arrow, was third in 7 minutes and 5 seconds. A fourth competitor, the Comet, entered by Charles Baysdorfer of Omaha, and sailed by Horace Wild, did not complete the first trial of the course, the motor breaking.

Michigan First Sacker makes hit with McGraw, Manager of the Giants.

Merkle, the first sacker of the Tecumseh, Mich., team, purchased by the New York Nationals this fall, has made a hit with Manager McGraw.

"He has not reached the voting age as yet," says McGraw, "and he is the fastest and most alert young first baseman whom I have ever seen since I have been a professional baseball player. His judgement is excellent, and he fields his position as if he were a creation of nickel steel. He made two plays in Chicago, with such rapidity that Rigler, the umpire, lost both, and was forced to admit after the game was over, upon the testimony of the Chicago players, that he had been wrong. It is too early to tell how strong a batter he may become, for he is so young that all his future is before him."—Detroit Journal.

Fifth annual convention held in

PALMYRA, MICH.,

Last Monday. Delegates from seven different towns were present.

The fifth annual convention of the Lenawee county Y. M. C. A. was held in Palmyra Monday. Delegates were present from seven different towns to discuss the work for the coming year. W. S. Kimball of Clinton, was elected chairman of the convention and F. R. Hurst as secretary. After the devotional exercises conducted by Rev. A. B. Sutcliffe of Blissfield, the report of the county committee on the past years' work was read.

This report showed that an effective work in Bible study, religious, social and athletics had been done in the organized localities. The report brought out the fact that 300 young men and boys had been enrolled in the 14 Bible classes and that a great deal of definite religious effort had been put forth such as the evangelistic meetings conducted in the different towns by college students during the spring vacation and the Sunday meetings for men and boys. The report showed the money phases of the association's activities, the boys' camp, the athletic association and the correspondence system through which young men leaving for cities or colleges are placed into the hands of good associates.

The educational work was ably discussed by C. L. Rowe, state secretary, after which F. M. Boswell, secretary of the Adrian, gave a strong plea for work among boys. The principal event of the evening was the banquet served by the Presbyterian ladies in the G. A. R. hall. Here were gathered 60 men and boys to hear the inspiring addresses delivered by able men interested in the association's work.

Ex-senator Chas. B. Collingwood of Lansing, acted as toast master. Mr. Collingwood, with his witty, and at the same time, earnest and sincere words, was an inspiration to all present. Those who responded to toasts were, F. M. Boswell of Adrian, C. L. Rowe of Jackson, Dr. L. G. North of Tecumseh, and Rev. A. B. Sutcliff of Blissfield. These addresses were strong in their appeal for greater efforts for young men and boys. At the close of the banquet Mr. Collingwood delivered a masterful address on, "Paul, as an ideal for young men."

The committee on Recommendations, recommended that $1,500 be raised for the coming year's work. They also recommended that the following men be electeb to fill vacancies in the county. Committee, C. A. Slayton, A. D. Ellis, W. S. Kimdall, Dr. W. A. Frost and J. L. Richard. During the recess the county committee held a meeting and made plans for the coming year.

Wedding Bells.

The marriage of Miss Lena, daughter of J. H. Smith, to Wade L. Jones occurred at the home of the bride's parents, Tuesday, Oct. 22nd at 6 o'clock, Rev. Wirt Dunning of the Presbyterian church performing the ceremony. The bridal party consisted of the groom and Lavern Smith of Adrian, brother of the bride, as best man, Mrs. Albert Reason of London, Ont., matron of honor, Elizabeth Field of Hastings, Mich. as bridesmaid and Elmer Slayton as groomsman and the bride accompanied by her father.

They entered the parlor through an aisle formed of ropes of autumn leaves carried by little Florence Smith and Lester Rogers while Miss Ethel Slayton of Ann Arbor, played the Lohengrin wedding march. It was a distinctively autumn wedding, the house being decorated throughout with autumn foliage, the ceremony being performed under a canopy of green. The bride wore a handsome gown of Tussore, with duchess lace trimmings and carried white chrysanthemums Mrs. Reason wore a gown of white messaline satin, and Miss Field white over blue silk, each carrying bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums.

After congratulations the bridal party were seated in the dining room, where the decorations were in green and white, the color scheme being carried out in an elegant dinner. Mrs. John Belcher poured coffee and the Misses Rosacrans, Zimmerman, Combs, Smith, Schreder and Mills served the 135 guests in a delightful manner.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones are well known to Tecumseh people, the bride having spent nearly her whole life here, and the groom, who is the junior member of J. M. Jones & Son, his entire life in this village. The affection and high esteem which this couple are held was attested by an elegant collection of presents in which will make beautiful their new home on Kilbuck street, where they will begin housekeeping after a short wedding trip. Mr. and Mrs. Jones have a shower of good wishes as they start so favorably on their wedded life life.

WATCH YOUR TONGUE.

If furred and coated, it is a warning of trouble to come.

When it is the morning after the night before, you do not have to look at your tongue to know that the stomach is upset, the head is aching with a dull rhythm and that all the world looks black and dreary.

It may have been lobster Newburgh, Welsh rarebit or some other tasty dish that looked much better at night than the morning after. There is no need to look at the tongue thermometer then for symptoms of trouble. You naturally go to your box of Mi-o-na stomach tablets and with one of the little relievers bring joy and gladness to the physical system.

The real time to watch the tongue is all the time. If it is coated with a white fur, or possibly with dark trimmings, even though the stomach does not tell you by the acute pains of indigestion that it needs help, yet the coating shows that you are getting into a bad way and that there is need of Mi-o-na.

Used at the first symptom of a coated tongue, distress after eating, headaches, dull and lifeless feeling, flatulence, or any other of the early symptoms of indigestion, Mi-o-na will strenghen the stomach muscles so that they will take care of all the food that is eaten without the slightest pain or discomfort. It will increase the flow of gastric juice so that the food digests as Nature intended it should, extracting the nourishment and strength and expelling the waste from the system without further aid.

Mi-o-na is so positive, so sure, so reliable in its curative action upon the stomach that C. A. Wright & Son, the local agents, give an absolute guarantee with every 50 cent box they sell to refund the money unless the remedy gives absolute and complete satisfaction.

$ 3 per cent. interest is what you receive on all money deposited in our Savings Department—3 per cent that comes to you without any effort on your part and helps to increase the principal, so that with steady saving you will have a snug bank account. You can start an account to-day with $1.00.

WOMEN'S WOES.

Tecumseh women are finding relief at last.

It does seem that women have more than their share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity, they must keep in spite of an aching back or headache.

They must walk, bend and work with the awful pains from kidney ills. The kidneys cause more suffering than any other organ. Read of a remedy for kidneys that will keep them well, endorsed by people you know.

Mrs. Chas. Stevenson living on Wyandotte street, Tecumseh, Mich., says "I am glad to endorse Doan's Kidney Pills for when I was sick with malaria fever I was troubled with pains in my back and the nurse attending me advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills as they were a fine remedy. I got a box and began using them. They proved to be the remedy I required as they gave me relief, the secretions became natural and the gravel stones which had bothered disappeared entirely. I have recommended the Pills to my friends and will continue to do so."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's, and take no other.

The smile of the hypocrite is a misfit.

Thos. A. Edison, the great American inventor, says "Fully eighty per cent of the illness of mankind comes from eating improper food or too much food; people are inclined to over-indulge themselves." This is where indigestion finds its beginning in nearly every case. The stomach can do just so much work and no more and when you overload it, or when you eat the wrong kind of food the digestive organs cannot possibly do the work demanded of them. It is at such times that the stomach needs help: it demands help and warns you by headaches, belching, sour stomach, nausea and indigestion. You should attend to this at once by taking something that will actually do the work for the stomach. Kodol will do this. It is a combination of natural digestants and vegetable acids and contains the same juices found in a healthy stomach. It is pleasant to take. It digests what you eat. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

The Best Laxative for Children.

Parents should see to it that their children have one natural, easy movement of the bowels each day. Do not dose the child with salts or griping pills, as they are too powerful in effect, and literally tear their little insides to pieces, leaving the bowels weakened and less able to act naturally than before. Laxative Iron-ox Tablets tone and strengthen the bowels, and stimulate all the little organs to healthy activity. Chocolate coated tablets, easy to take, never gripe or nauseate. 10c, 25c and $1.00.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect it.

Prevalency of Kidney Disease.

Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalency of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patient and physicians, who continue themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease undermines the system.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

REMARKABLE OCCASION.

"Carlton Day" at Hudson One to Long Be Remembered.

Hudson, Mich., Oct. 28.—Boyhood days of Will Carleton, the Wolverine poet, were re-enacted Saturday at the old Carleton home on the farm three miles from here, at the school house where he studied and whittled the desks, and later in the day Hillsdale college, his alma mater, played the host.

The homecoming of Will Carleton was in reality a reception by his old neighbors and friends. Sharing the honors with Mr. Carleton was Mrs. Mary Ann Gridley, the famous Washington nurse, mother of Captain Chas. E. Gridley, commander of the flagship Olympia at the battle of Manila. Mrs. Gridley, now 82 years old, was formerly a resident of Hillsdale.

The faculty of Hillsdale college and about 250 students arrived at the farm, situated near the railroad a few miles from town, on the morning train. The delegation was augmented all along the line.

The celebration was managed by President Joseph W. Mauck of Hillsdale college. Carleton was graduated from Hillsdale college in the class of 1869, and Hillsdale college takes a great interest in his career.

The exercises were largely of an impromptu nature. Those at the school house were very pleasing, as President Mauck acted as teacher, and in view of the many visitors he dismissed the regular studies and held exercises, calling on several for recitations. Mr. Carleton spoke feelingly of the days when attended school there as a boy and told of some of the pranks that were played. He closed by reciting one of his old poems, in which figures the district school. Several others were called on for recitations, among them Mrs. Gridley.

After school was out all of the "children" went up to "Willie Carleton's house," where the festivities were continued. Mr. Carleton gave a long address there.

Couple Hurt in Runaway.

Pontiac, Mich., Oct. 28.—Michael Sebetzsky and wife, living at the corner of Foot and Jessie streets, were thrown from their buggy on Osmun street here, their horse becoming frightened at an auto. Sebetzsky had his shoulder blade and several ribs broken. He is past 70 years of age and on this account his recovery is feared. Mrs. Sebetzsky also received painful injuries.

Judge Dodds' Salary Raised.

Mt. Pleasant, Mich., Oct. 28.—The salary of Judge Peter F. Dodds, of the twenty-first judicial circuit, has been increased $1,000 by vote of the supervisors in the three counties comprising the circuit. Of this additional amount Isabella county will be assessed $500, Clare county $2000 and Midland county $300. This makes the judge's salary $3,500.

LATE NEWS NOTES.

Joseph Cenino is in jail in Pittsburg, accused of causing the death of his 16-months'-old baby, Mary. It is alleged the father on reaching the family home in Port Perry, a mining town near there, several nights ago, flew into a passion, and with a miner's pick, crushed in the baby's skull. She died Sunday.

It has been authoritatively stated in Mexico City, Mex., that the general increase of railway rates in Mexico would go into effect soon. This conclusion was reached after many sessions of the railway commission and officer of the various railroads. The latter held out for a 20 per cent increase, but the commission agreed to a 12 per cent increase.

Efforts to reopen the Farmers' & Drovers' National bank of Waynesburg, Pa., which failed last December, have finally been abandoned. This announcement has been made by Receiver John H. Strawn. Outstanding obligations of the bank amounting to $200,000 are to be met by an assessment of 100 per cent upon all stockholders, which has been ordered by Comptroller of the Currency W. B. Ridgely.

Forty-eight persons were injured, eight of them seriously, as the result of a collision of electric cars on the Pawtucket line on the North Main street, in Province, R. I., Sunday night. The Pawtucket-bound car was hurled into the vestibule of a Providence-bound car, telescoping it. Miraculously neither motorman was hurt, but almost all the passengers in both cars were hurled from their seats and severely crushed or injured by glass.

Negro Shot and Cremated.

Macon, Ga., Oct. 28.—Passengers on the Central of Georgia train coming through Byron, Ga., yesterday afternoon brought an account of the lynching of negro named John Wilkes at that place Saturday night. The negro robbed two small boys of seventy-five cents. When Marshal Thomas J. Johnson made an effort to arrest him, the negro attempted to shoot the officer. Quick work prevented this however, and a general mix-up followed, with the result that the negro was arrested and locked up. At a late hour unknown persons forced an entrance, dragged the negro from his cell, and after carrying him a short distance the body was riddled with bullets. It was then burned up on a log fire prepared for the occasion.

Gun Instantly Kills Boy.

Traverse City, Mich., Oct. 28.—The first hunting accident of the season occurred here Saturday afternoon, Algernon Trimble, the 11-year-old son of L. Trimble, shooting himself through the right eye with a rifle. Death was instantaneous. It is thought the boy was looking into the barrel of the gun, his face being burned by powder.

JACKSON NOT CONTENT

Wants Greater Representation On Supervisors' Board.

LEGISLATORS MAY GET BILL.

Provide That Eight Senior Aldermen and Three Assessors Be Added to Board—May Result in New County Being Formed.

Jackson, Mich., Oct. 28.—Eight members of the board of supervisors of Jackson county, representing the city of Jackson in that body, held a conference Sunday afternoon to consider steps to be taken to have the legislature amend the city charter so that the city's representation may be increased to 19.

It is planned to have a bill presented to the next legislature which will provide that all of the eight senior aldermen and three members of the board of assessors be added to the board. This would make the board stand 19 city members and 19 members from the county. If the city members are not successful they threaten to present a bill which will provide for the splitting up of the county and the creating of a new county, taking in the city alone. An attempt has been made before the legislature at other times to increase the city representation, but has always been defeated by the county members.

At the annual meeting of the board of supervisors, which closed Saturday night, the assessed valuation of the city was increased from 50 per cent to 55, and the city members argue that if they pay 55 per cent of the county taxes they should be entitled to a larger representation on the board.

WILL RUN AGAIN.

Warner Announces Himself a Candidate for Third Term as Governor.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 28.—Governor Warner, the members of his military staff and some thirty others left for the Jamestown exposition Saturday afternoon. The party left on a special train over the Michigan Central, which ran through to Washington. Sunday was devoted to sightseeing in Washington and the rest of the journey will be made by boat. The governor stated that he would leave Jamestown immediately after the Michigan day exercises on Tuesday, as he has an engagement to fulfill at Escanaba on Thursday.

Governor Warner, in an interview with the Associated Press before departing for Washington, announced positively for the first time, that he will be a candidate for a third term as governor of Michigan. His platform, he said, would be the several messages he sent to the legislature during the recent special session.

"It is months too early to begin a campaign for next year's primary nomination," said the governor, "at the proper time, however, I will be a candidate. While I may call attention to other matters and issues later, I think that my several messages to the legislature during the recent special session constitute all the platform necessary. I stand firmly by every statement in those messages."

Farmer Shot at Passing Balloon.

Battle Creek, Mich., Oct. 28.—Tragedy was near when the big balloon, the United States, passed over Bedford. A farmer who saw the passing balloon rushed in his house, and grabbing his Winchester rifle, shot four times at the balloon, when he was interrupted by a neighbor who rushed over and warned the man that he was endangering the lives of the aeronauts. He was surprised, as he said that he did not know that there were any men in the balloon; had not heard of the ascension and races from St. Louis, and thought that he was shooting at a toy balloon.

Woman Killed by Street Car.

Muskegon, Mich., Oct. 28.—Mrs. Francis Lawrence, 55 years old, wife of a prominent and wealthy Coopersville farmer, was run over and instantly killed by a westbound Grand Rapids & Muskegon interurban car in the village of Coopersville. Mrs. Lawrence had just alighted from a car and started to walk across the tracks when she was struck by a car that was running as a second section of the one on which she had been riding. She leaves a large family.

Old Hermit Found Dead in Hut.

Dearborn, Mich., Oct. 28.—"Doc." LeClare, an old hermit, living alone in a hut about two miles southeast of this village, was found dead, late Saturday night, by John Oachs, a neighbor, who had missed seeing the old man since last Friday morning. He had evidently been dead for some time.

BOOST HIM IN RANK.

'Tis Proposed to Move Evans One Notch Higher.

MAKE HIM VICE-ADMIRAL.

Will Be Outranked on Visiting Neighboring Countries When Rounding Horn With His Big Fleet—Will Be Retired Next August.

Washington, Oct. 28.—The great battleship fleet which is to make its way from the Atlantic to the Pacific will probably be commanded by a vice-admiral, and that officer is now Rear-Admiral Robley D. Evans. Of course this is conditional upon congress giving its sanction to the proposal that will be made by the executive to establish this new rank in the navy. The idea is not a new one; in fact, the president in his last annual message to congress, as well as the secretary of the navy in his annual report, have made a recommendation to this effect, but without securing the approval of congress. Now, however, conditions are believed to be more favorable than ever before for this project.

Rear-Admiral Evans is going to sail in command of the most powerful fleet that ever gathered under the American flag. Not only that, he commands more battleships of modern type than any naval officer in the world, and the only officer whose blue pennant floats over a more numerous fleet of all kinds of warships is Lord Charles Beresford; and he is of even greater rank than a vice-admiral, being an admiral like Dewey.

On this cruise the American fleet is to touch in many foreign ports, and is to exchange courtesies with foreign fleets in several places—in Brazil, in Chili, in Argentina. The American commander, supposing he is retaining his present title of rear-admiral, would be outranked, for the navies of all of these countries contain officers of the grade of vice-admiral, which would make the American commander's position humiliating.

It would be pointed out in Admiral Evans' case, that not only is he by his remarkable record entitled to this advancement, but any objections to the creation of this new grade that might be broached in congress might be overcome by pointing to the fact that as Admiral Evans retires next August, the office will be of short duration.

Noted Pedestrian Dies.

Charlotte, Mich., Oct. 28.—The death of George W. Van Alstine, a pioneer resident of Oneida, removes a divorce case from the docket of the present term of court. Van Alstine, who was 81 years old, was made defendant in the case a couple of years ago. The case was cited for call several times, but sickness prevented it ever being heard in open court. Van Alstine came to Michigan in 1849 and lived on the same farm for 56 years. As a pedestrian he was well known throughout the northern part of the county and performed many remarkable feats in that line before age put an end to his activity. On one occasion he walked from his home in Oneida to a point beyond Adrian and returned driving two cows, and was only absent from home three days. One evening he found it necessary that he be in Jackson that night, and started for the prison city on foot. He left home at sundown and was back for early breakfast the next morning.

A young widow has a peculiar way of seeing a man without looking at him.

Thos. A. Edison, the great American inventor, says "Fully eighty per cent of the illness of mankind comes from eating improper food or too much food. people are inclined to over-indulge themselves." This is where indigestion finds its beginning in nearly every case. The stomach can do just so much work and no more and when you overload it, or when you eat the wrong kind of food the digestive organs cannot possibly do the work demanded of them. It is at such times that the stomach needs help; it demands help and warns you by headaches, belching, sour stomach, nausea and indigestion. You should attend to this at once by taking something that will actually do the work for the stomach. Kodol will do this. It is a combination of natural digestants and vegetable acids and contains the same juices found in a healthy stomach. It is pleasant to take. It digests what you eat. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

It is a history of Lenawee county from 1824 to 1904 printed in book form and makes a delightful souvenir. "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall."

Sir John Manners, son of the Earl of Rutland, falls desperately in love with Dorothy, favorite daughter of Sir George Vernon. Pretending to be Dorothy's cousin, Sir Malcolm Vernon, young Manners gallantly woes hers and by a clever trick gains her father's consent to their marriage. His identity is discovered by the untimely arrival of the real Sir Malcolm. Dorothy is made prisoner in her own room, where her father attempts to starve her in a hasty marriage with her cousin. Then comes Queen Elizabeth on her historic visit to Hadden Hall and the simultaneous arrival at Rutland Castle of Mary, Queen of Scots, who throws herself on the Queen's mercy. Sir John Manners is banished to Wales, because of the part which he took in the escape of Mary from Scotland. Dorothy is commanded by Queen Elizabeth not to write to her lover for a whole year. She secretly joins in his flight to Wales, coyly declaring as the curtain falls, "The Queen said I couldn't write, but she didn't say I couldn't go with you." New Bradley, Nov. 4th.

Hard times in Kansas.

The old days of grasshoppers and drouth are almost forgotten in the prosperous Kansas of today although a citizen of Codell, Earl Shamburg, has not yet forgotten a hard time he encountered. He says "I was worn and discouraged by coughing night and day finding no relief until I tried Dr. King's New Discovery. It took less than one bottle to completely cure me." The safest and most reliable cold remedy, lung and throat healer ever discovered. Guaranteed by C. A. Wright & Son, druggists 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

Hiram Leonard.

Word has been received here of the death of Hiram Leonard of Gage, Okla. Mr. Leonard was formerly of Tipton, Mich., and for the past 25 years has lived in Gage. He leaves a wife and three children, Fremont Leonard of Monnessen, Pa., Wm. of Missouri, and Edward Leonard of Gage. His wife was formerly Miss Angeline Smith of Tipton.

Wanted a Square Deal.

There was once a sporting parson at Eastington, a place on the English coast which was a favorite landing place for woodcocks at the time of their immigration to England. When the birds arrived, exhausted by their long flight, everybody in the parish, including the parson, at once turned out to join in the sport of knocking them down with sticks. One Sunday the people were in church and the parson in the pulpit when the church door was cautiously opened and a head appeared, with a beckoning finger. "Well, what is it?" asked the parson. "Cocks is coom!" The parson hurriedly shut up his sermon case. "Shut the door and lock it!" he cried to the clerk. "Keep the people in church till I've got my surplice on. Let's all have a fair chance."

Society Music.

Mary will have to be asked to play when she goes out in society. A proud mamma will attend to that. And Mary will play with faithful accuracy something from Chopin or Beethoven or Mendelssohn, and the young people will watch her chubby fingers thoughtfully and wonder when the selection will come to an end. They will applaud, too—when the end is reached—for that is good manners, and everybody likes Mary, anyhow. And then—well, Lucy Smith, who has never taken lessons, will rollick up to the piano and begin a coon song, hands and feet will beat time all over the room, half the listeners will hum the refrain, everybody will see the difference between the piano as a penance and as a pleasure, and only Mary's mamma will make unpleasant side remarks about the degeneracy of popular taste in music.—Cynthia Westover Alden in Success Magazine.

A Crash.

"John, what was that awful noise in the bathroom just now?"

"Don't worry, my dear," replied John sleepily. "It was merely a crash towel falling."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Opinion.

Opinion is a light, vain, crude and imperfect thing settled in the imagination, but never arriving at the understanding, there to obtain the tincture of reason.—Ben Jonson.

BEST OF PROOF

That Hyomei will cure all forms of catarrhal diseases.

Testimonials could be printed by the thousands, many of them from Tecumseh and nearby towns, that Hyomei is an absolute cure for all catarrhal troubles, but the best proof of its unusual curative powers is the guarantee that C. A. Wright & Son give with every outfit that he sells, "Money back if Hyomei does not do all that is claimed for it."

Hyomei is not a secret remedy. Its formula is given freely to physicians who want to know what they prescribe Hyomei. It is guaranteed under the Pure Food and Drug Law by serial No. 1418.

By breathing Hyomei, the healing medication goes directly to every nook and corner of the air passages where the catarrhal germs may lurk and disinfects and heals. To be convinced of this you have only to give it a trial, remembering that if it does not cure, C. A. Wright & Son will refund your money.

There is no dangerous stomach drugging when Hyomei is used. Its healing medication is breathed through a little pocket inhaler a few times daily and almost immediately a great improvement is noticed and quick recovery follows

The complete Hyomei outfit costs but $1.00 and in most cases is sufficient to cure the disease, making it not only a scientific treatment but one that is highly economical. Get an outfit today from C. A. Wright & Son if you have any symptoms of catarrh and see how quickly the remedy relieves and cures.

Just as bad in the morning.
Ever try Doan's Kidney Pills for it?
Know they cure backache—cure every kidney ill?
If you don't, some people do.
Read a cure of it:

Mrs. Geo. Teachout, living on Oneida street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I take great pleasure in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills. Last fall I began to have a great deal of trouble with my kidneys causing intense pain in the small of my back and extending to the shoulder blades. At times when I would bend over, sharp stitches of pain would catch me and I would not be able to straighten for a few seconds. At night, I could not sleep on account of the frequent action of the kidneys. I doctored for a while with a physician but received no benefit to speak of. I heard a great deal about the good results effected by Doan's Kidney Pills so I got a box and began using them. I soon noticed the good effects and continued taking until entirely cured. I cheerfully recommend them to anyone afflicted with kidney trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no other.

CORTELYOU RETURNS,

Back to Washington, Confident Crisis Is Passed.

BANKS KEEP CURRENCY.

Issue Checks to Clients on Larger Depositories—Clearing House Issues Loan Certificates in $5,000, $10,000 and $20,000 Denominations.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28.—Secretary of the Treasury Cortelyou returned here from New York Saturday night where he has been in constant touch with the financial situation. The secretary was seen at his home Sunday, but he declined to make any statement on financial conditions except to say he will not return to New York [illegible] however, that the secretary [illegible] no further trouble [illegible] and trust companies of that city.

New York, Oct. 28.—The feeling among banking authorities is that united action and wise counsels have already accomplished much in providing a solution for the financial problem with which they have been called on to deal during the past week, and that with remedial plans now further perfected, the promise is strong for the uninterrupted maintenance of financial stability.

The departure of Secretary Cortelyou for Washington removed a conspicuous figure from the field, but it was felt that with President Roosevelt's strong support, as expressed in a letter made public Saturday night, Mr. Cortelyou's presence in Washington was favorable to such further governmental assistance as might be required.

In the churches many of the sermons were marked by references to the financial situation, and were notable for their strong counsel toward public calm.

At the clearing house there was much activity Sunday in preparation for the issuance of loan certificates today. This, however, was confined to subordinates, as the loan committee, which is to pass upon collateral offered for the certificates, did not hold a formal session. Another evidence of activity was the small knot of people gathered at some of the institutions, where runs were in progress last week, waiting for an advantageous position on the opening of business.

Banks Keep Money.

The banking institutions are not paying out large amounts in currency except to meet legitimate requirement of their clients for current business. It has long been the practice of trust companies and some of the smaller banks, in meeting checks for considerable amount, to draw checks upon the national banks with which their reserves are kept. If they pursue this policy until the end of the present crisis it will not be a departure from their usual practice.

Such checks under ordinary circumstances are preferred to currency, and if currency is demanded in unusual amounts, it will be refused unless evidence is given that it is required in good faith and for other purposes than hoarding, to prevent which is the main purpose of this step.

Will Pay Small Checks.

Currency will be paid on small checks, where desired, and to provide funds for payrolls and other legitimate and ordinary uses. This system of check credit will operate in the usual manner and there will be no inconvenience to the man who does not make special efforts to obtain currency. Checks drawn in payment of current obligations will be received for deposit by any bank and redeemed through the clearing house in the usual manner, except that clearing house balances against the banks will be settled in clearing house loan certificates instead of currency. A man having a bank account will have checks put to his credit as usual and can draw against them freely without interruption in the course of his relations with the bank.

A large force of clerks were at the clearing house Sunday preparing for the issuance of loan certificates today. There are in $5,000, $10,000 and $20,000 denominations.

Dallas, Tex., Oct. 28.—A wreck on the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad Sunday killed the first passenger in the history of the company. Two dead, twenty-five injured, others may die.

DAY OF THANKSGIVING.

President Designates It Shall Be Observed on Last Thursday in November.

Washington, Oct. 28.—President Roosevelt has issued his Thanksgiving proclamation, as follows:

"Once again the season of the year has come when, in accordance with the custom of our forefathers for generations past, the president appoints a day as the especial occasion for all our people to give praise and thanksgiving to God.

"During the past year we have been free from famine, from pestilence, from war. We are at peace with all the rest of mankind. Our natural resources are at least as great as those of any other nation. We believe in ability to develop and take advantage of these resources the average man of this nation stands at least as high as the average man of any other. Nowhere else in the world is there such an opportunity for a free people to develop to the fullest all its powers of body, of mind, and of that which stands above both body and mind—character.

"Much has been given us from on high and much will rightly be expected of us in return. Into our care the ten talents have been entrusted; and we are to be pardoned neither if we squander and waste them, nor yet if we hide them in a napkin; for they must be fruitful in our hands. Ever throughout the ages, at all times and among all peoples, prosperity has been fraught with danger, and it behooves us to beseech the Giver of All Things that we may not fall into love of ease and of luxury; that we may not lose our sense of moral responsibility; that we may not forget our duty to God and to our neighbor.

"A great democracy like our, a democracy based upon the principles of orderly liberty, can be perpetuated only if in the heart of the ordinary citizen there dwells a keen sense of righteousness and justice. We should earnestly pray that this spirit of righteousness and justice may grow ever greater in the hearts of all of us, and that our souls may be inclined evermore both toward the virtues that tell for gentleness and tenderness, for loving kindness and forbearance one with another, and toward those no less necessary virtues that make for manliness and rugged hardihood—for without these qualities neither nation nor individual can rise to the level of greatness.

"Now, therefore, I, Theodore Roosevelt, president of the United States, do set apart Thursday, the 28th day of November, as a day of general thanksgiving and prayer, and on that day I recommend that the people shall cease from their daily work; and, in their homes or in their churches, meet devoutly to thank the Almighty for the many and great blessings they have received in the past, and to pray that they may be given the strength so to order their lives as to deserve a continuation of these blessings in the future."

Won't Aid Wayward Son.

Port Huron, Mich., Oct. 24.—"He is my son, but I will not aid him in his trouble; it is his fault, and of a nature I have no sympathy for. I came here intending to help him, but did not know what he had done until I talked with him in jail. I am going back home." So said John Kelly, 70-year-old father of Charles Kelly, 30 years old, who has confessed to having deserted a wife and children in Sandusky and living with another woman as her husband. The aged man's home is in Sandusky. The younger Kelly met Mary Anderson in East Grand Forks, Minn., and it was first supposed when the couple struck this city that they were on their honeymoon. It was while Kelly was making complaint to the police about some minor affair that his real identity was learned.

Again Sues Saloonist.

Charlotte, Mich., Oct. 28.—Eaton county justice evidently did not satisfy Mrs. Minnie Southwell of Ionia county, who recently brought suit against L. M. Van Auker & Son, Sunfield saloonmen, and their bondsmen, David Stinchcomb and William J. Davis, for selling liquor to her husband, getting a small judgment. A similar case was started against the same parties in Ionia county a few days ago, this action being brought by the Southwell girl, by next friend process. The mother claims that the child was injured by the father while in a state of intoxication and that he bought the liquor in Sunfield.

Silver Near the Soo.

Saulte Ste. Marie, Mich., Oct. 28.—Silver and cobalt ore, rivaling the famous Nipissing deposits, has been discovered twenty-eight miles from the Soo, on Poole island, St. Joseph channel. The vein is said to be fifteen feet wide. The discovery was made by James M. Young, vice-president of the Georgian Bay Trap Rock Co., which has been furnishing rock for pavements in various American cities. The company shipped a large quantity of the ore-bearing rock to Cleveland before the discovery was made, and it is probably now in the streets of several cities.

Famous Lilac Tree.

Chief among the many objects of interest in the gardens of Easton Lodge, Dunmow, the residence of the Earl and Countess of Warwick, is the magnificent lilac tree which occupies a conspicuous position on the terrace. This tree is the finest specimen of its kind in the United Kingdom. It has a circumference of 120 feet and a height of sixteen feet, and it has so dense a growth and blooms so profusely that when in flower it forms a huge bouquet of lilac blossoms.

The lilac is that commonly known as the Persian and described by the botanists as the Chinese, but it is not a native of either Persia or China, but was raised in the Rouen botanic garden in 1795 by the hybridization of the true Persian lilac and the common lilac of British gardens.

It was of noble proportions at the middle of the last century and produced such a magnificent display of blossoms that in the flowering season Viscount Maynard, Lady Warwick's grandfather, used to make a special journey from London to enjoy the beauty and fragrance of the flowers.—Gardener's Magazine.

Lunches in Germany.

I was told at 8:30 it was time for luncheon, writes an American blacksmith working in Leipzig. On stating that I did not care to eat, he told me that it would be better if I did not work, so I sat down for half an hour and watched the others. At noon we had an hour and a half and at 4 o'clock fifteen minutes for lunch.

It may be of interest to some readers to know what the German eats. For his first breakfast he generally has a milk roll and a cup of coffee. The second breakfast is almost always a slice of bread with lard or goose oil, a piece of sausage or cheese and a bottle of beer. For dinner he has two slices of bread as above, with a herring or large green pickle, cheese or sausage and another bottle of beer. For lunch another bottle of beer and a milk roll. For supper soup and potatoes.

This is the general variety of foods we had for the four months I worked in that shop, and they had it day in and day out.—New York World.

When He Enjoyed Life.

Among the tombs near the old Arlington mansion on the Chesapeake is the mausoleum of John Custis, the father of Martha Washington's first husband. It bears this suggestive inscription:

Beneath this Marble Tomb lies yo Body of the Honorable John Custis, Esq.
Of the City of Williamsburg and Parish of Burton
Formerly of Hungars Parish on the Eastern Shore of Verginia and the County of Northampton
the Place of his Nativity.
Aged 71 years, and yet lived but seven years
Which was the space of time he kept
A Bachelor's House at Arlington
On the Eastern Shore of Verginia.

It is said that before his marriage Custis did have a free and easy life. His marriage was of importance to his country, for he was the progenitor of several leading families. One would like to know Mrs. Custis' version of the life they had together, which he regarded as unworthy to be called living.—Youth's Companion.

Finding a Grave With an Egg.

The Miau-tsze, a little known tribe in Asia, are very superstitious about death and will not bury a man until they have first tested the ground with an egg. This operation is very curious. While the body is being prepared for burial a number of Miau-tsze, including the male relatives of the deceased, go out to the appointed spot bearing a large basket of eggs. Stooping down, one of the natives lets an egg drop softly on the ground. If it breaks it is considered an ill omen, and another spot is selected. In this way the party often wander about for hours, breaking eggs over the ground until they finally strike a place where the shell does not crack.

Java's Fire Island.

One of the greatest wonders of Java, "the fire island," a large lake of boiling mud, is nearly two miles in circumference, and in the center immense columns of soft, hot mud may be seen continually rising and falling, like great black timbers thrust forth and then suddenly withdrawn by a giant's hand. Besides the phenomena of the columns, there are two gigantic bubbles near the western edge, which fill up like huge balloons and explode on an average three times per minute.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected, and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or ailing, begin taking the great kidney cure, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by mail free, also a pamphlet telling how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make a mistake, but remember the name Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Akron Bank Cashier Shot Dead.

Akron, O., Oct. 28.—Fred A. Boron, cashier of the Dollar Saving bank, and one of the most prominent men in the city, was shot and killed in his home Sunday afternoon. His family was away and a servant girl returning to the house shortly after 7:30 o'clock, found him lying upon the floor dead. Neighbors who rushed in found Boron in his shirt sleeves lying upon the floor, a bullet hole through his head. The coroner and the police were summoned and a message was sent to Mrs. Boron in Cleveland, asking her to come home at once. The police suspect foul play, and the coroner is investigating. The directors of the bank state that his books at the bank are in first class condition.

Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 28.—Fire at Nome, Alaska, on Friday caused a property loss of $300,000. The Second Avenue office building of the Pioneer Mining Co., the best structure of the kind in the town, was among those destroyed at a loss of $50,000.

Big Sugar Factory Starts.

Menominee, Mich., Oct. 28.—The large $1,000,000 beet sugar factory in this city started the sliceing campaign of 1907 today. The beets grown in 14 counties in Wisconsin and Michigan will be made into sugar during the campaign, which will last 60 days. About 60,000 tons will be sliced and over $250,000 paid out to the farmers for beets, while the daily pay roll of the factory exceeds $1,200. More than 10,000,000 pounds of sugar will be manufactured.

Accident in Factory Fatal.

Grand Haven, Mich., Oct. 28.—Dick Gringhuis, aged 36 years, died Sunday from injuries received in Heap & Sons' factory last Friday. He was working at a rip saw when a board was thrown back on him, striking him with terrific force in the stomach. The board smashed a gold watch which he carried. Gringhuis' death followed an operation performed in the hope of saving his life.

"We dined in some of the finest hotels and restaurants, but did not find any coffee to excel in quality Arbuckles' ARIOSA."

That is what one lady writes and millions of others prove they believe, by using more Arbuckles' ARIOSA Coffee than of the other packaged coffees in the United States put together.

The fact that Arbuckles' ARIOSA Coffee costs less and has suited the health and taste of most American people for over 37 years, ought to induce everybody to at least sample it.

The cities hide many country girls and boys who secretly sigh for a cup of good coffee like "mother" made. "Mother" probably used the old original "Arbuckles'" the first roasted packaged coffee.

See that you get the sealed package, one pound full weight, bearing the name ARBUCKLES' ARIOSA COFFEE and the signature of Arbuckle Brothers, which entitles you to presents.

That is the genuine article, no matter where you buy it or what price you pay for it.

Same old Coffee, same old firm.

WILL WRITE A PLAY.

Upton Sinclair Visits Battle Creek and Tells of Future Plans.

Battle Creek, Mich., Oct. 31.—Upton Sinclair, author of the famous Jungle book, arrived in Battle Creek shortly after noon Wednesday. He was accompanied by his young son, David, and was taken immediately to the Sanitarium where his wife has been for some time, and where she has already undergone four operations. He denied emphatically the story that his wife had eloped with a Jew. Mr. Sinclair will remain with his wife until after the holidays, when they will return to Point Pleasant, N. J.

While in Battle Creek Mr. Sinclair expects to write a play. The book which he was writing at the time his wife came to this city has been finished and is in the hands of the publisher. He declined to say anything about his new venture, saying that it would not be told until it came from the publishers.

Woman Beaten by Robbers.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 31.—Loud cries emanating from 6 Clinton street about midnight Tuesday attracted Patrolman Tuttle. He found Mrs. Lillian Drouillard bleeding from many scalp wounds. She said three masked men forced an entrance to her room and when she told them she had no money they began beating her on the head with a bowling pin. It is said they demanded only 5 cents. The officer found an old slouch hat on the porch and the bowling pin was picked up in the yard. The woman's injuries were dressed by a city physician. Mrs. Drouillard was alone with her 11-year-old daughter.

Asks $10,000 for Son's Death.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 31.—Kate Lemerand, an aged woman of Ecorse, is suing the D. U. R. for $10,000 damages for the death of her son, Daniel Lemerand, who, it is alleged, was thrown off the back platform on the night of March 19, 1906, because of a car "taking" the switch at a terrific rate of speed. The young man fell on his head, sustaining a fracture of the skull and died an hour later.

NEARLY NORMAL.

Is Financial Situation in New York—Currency Calls Come Mostly From the West.

New York, Oct. 31.—The financial situation Wednesday was so nearly normal that there were few new features of importance. It was stated by bankers that the calls for money from the neighborhood of New York and the entire east appeared to be practically satisfied as such calls for currency of an urgent character as were being received came from points west of the Mississippi. These calls are being met as fast a conditions permit.

Mr. Williams, the new state superintendent of banking, gathered up most of the cash in the suspended banks Wednesday and deposited it with going institutions, thereby adding several million dollars to the funds available in the market. The debit balances against banks at the clearing house were smaller than usual under normal conditions, all such balances aggregating only a little more than $9,000,000 on clearings of $266,000,000.

One of the points at which most serious pressure for money is expected is at New Orleans, in order to finance the movement of the cotton crop. The pressure there is always heavy at this season of the year and promises to be more intense this year than usual unless special preparations are made.

The New Orleans bankers appear to be fully alive to this situation and are endeavoring to arrange for transfers of money from Europe in payment for cotton, through the fiscal agents of the United States in Europe, and its direct transmission by cable to New Orleans.

A committee of New Orleans bankers is in Washington and hopes to secure a promise from Secretary Cortelyou of the deposit of substantial sums of public money in New Orleans and other southern institutions.

One of the most interesting developments of the situation is the large amount of the purchases of securities in small lots for investment. Most of the large private banking houses that sell stocks and bonds have been keeping the clerical force at work overtime executing such orders and attending to the transfer of titles to the securities on the books of the corporation by which they are issued. This is one of the decisive marks of investment buying. It is estimated by good judges that there are four hundred thousand more names of stockholders on the books of the railway and industrial corporations than was the case a year ago.

Inability to sell as usual their foreign drafts and the serious illness of one of the partners who had been relied upon to furnish immediate cash for maturing bills, brought about the assignment Wednesday of Kessler & Co., international bankers. The firm has outstanding acceptances of between $500,000 and $1,000,000, but a detailed statement of liabilities and assets is not yet available.

HUNDREDS BURIED.

Earthquake of October 21 Was Cause of Terrible Landslide.

RUSSIAN TOWN DESTROYED.

Conservative Reports Estimate Number of Lives Lost is 1,500—Place is Isolated and Communication With It Difficult.

Taskend, Russian Turkestan, Oct. 31.—The little town of Karatagh, in the Hussar district of Bokhara, has been overwhelmed and completely destroyed by a landslide that followed the earthquake of Oct. 21. According to the latest reports of the disaster, a majority of the inhabitants of Karatagh lost their lives.

The first reports of the casualties were exaggerated, the death list being placed as high as 15,000. Karatagh has about 2,500 dwellers, and there is reason to believe that about 1,500 are buried alive. Among those who survived the disaster are the governor of Karatagh and his mother.

Karatagh is remotely situated and it takes a full week for news to get out from there; but, according to one courier who has come through, an enormous section of the Karatagh mountain which practically hung over the town, broke loose and thundered down upon the village, which is almost completely buried.

Efforts are being made to get in communication with the survivors and learn the actual state of affairs and to send in such relief as may be required.

MUTINEERS "RAISE NED."

Capture Gunboat and Engage in Battle With Other Gunboats and a Fort at Vladivostok.

Vladivostok, Oct. 31.—An exciting little naval battle took place in this harbor Wednesday between the mutineer crew of a Russian torpedo boat destroyer and their loyal comrades. The mutineers finally were subdued, but not before a number of men had been killed or wounded.

The mutineers' boat is the Skory, and she gave fight to the gunboat Mandschur, the destroyers Garsovoz, Smely and Serditz and the garrison of one of the harbor forts manned by the Twelfth regiment of artillery. The Skory soon was overwhelmed, and she had to be beached to save her from sinking. This was not accomplished, however, before her guns had done considerable damage and several officers and men of the other ships had been killed or wounded.

The crew of the Skory was incited by agitators, including some Jews, who had managed to get on board and take charge of the destroyer. She steamed out into the harbor with the red flag flying and at once opened fire on the town and forts. A gunboat and three destroyers went out to engage her, and with the aid of the forts soon had the Skory riddled and helpless. She then turned and ran through the surf and was beached. Those members of the crew who had not been killed or wounded by the gunfire were arrested by soldiers as they made their way to land. Among the men killed are Capt. Stoer, commander of the torpedo boat navy, and Lieut. Stoer, commander of the Skory; Lieut. Vasseliief, commanding the Serditz, was wounded. Several people in Vladivostok were killed by shells from the Skory. The town has been declared in a state of siege.

Gale Blows Many Houses Down.

Galveston, Tex., Oct. 31.—A northwest gale of short duration with heavy rain passed over this city early Wednesday. The wind attained a velocity of 72 miles an hour for two minutes. About 20 frame houses were blown down, one woman being killed on a falling structure. It is estimated 20 persons were injured in the western part of the city where the wind was severe. Several business houses were unroofed and the stocks of goods slightly damaged by water. The Mallory line wharf shed was damaged to the extent of several thousand dollars. A few cars in the railway yards were blown from the tracks. The gulf remained normal. There was no interruption to traffic.

Prominent Bostonian Kills Self.

Boston, Oct. 31.—William B. Everett, president of the Williams & Everett Co., picture and fine arts dealers, committed suicide by inhaling gas at his home here Wednesday. His body was found in bed with a tube leading from a gas jet into his mouth. No cause for the act is known. Mr. Everett was widely konwn in art circles and the works of the leading artists of the worlds have been exhibited from time to time for many years in the Williams & Everett galleries in Boylston street. He was 52 years of age.

ACCEPT THE RULES.

Constitutional Convention Made No Change in Them.

LABOR GETS A COMMITTEE.

Every Delegate Approved the Motion—Nothing Will Be Kept From Public—All Proposals Will Be Printed in Official Record.

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 31.—The constitutional convention at Wednesday's session adopted without change the code of rules submitted Tuesday. The three democratic delegates for the third district of Wayne county, Hally, Ingram and Merrell, each offered amendments, and so did a few republicans, but all were rejected.

The two main things in the rules adopted are that the majority of the house can always do as it pleases, even to taking matters away from a hostile committee, and permitting minority as well as majority reports to be submitted by committees.

Restriction Is New.

The question of the legislature's right to bind the convention, as it did by statute last winter to submit the revision of the constitution at the April election to be accepted by the people as a whole or rejected as a whole, was brought up by Delegate Pratt of Bay City. Mr. Pratt contended that if the legislature's action was valid then if anything was put in the revision draft, that the liquor interests of the state, for instance, did not like, they would have to, in order to defeat the one thing objectionable to them, have to vote against the entire constitution. He cited the records to show that in neither the 1850 nor the 1867 conventions were the delegates restricted by legislative acts as the legislature of 1907 attempts to bind the present convention.

Mr. Pratt threw out an intimation that perhaps the '07 convention might want to submit, say a woman suffrage proposition, and a liquor proposition, and perhaps a few others, each independent of the other, to voters in April, and all independent of the general revision that will be submitted. He belived it ought to have the right to do so, notwithstanding the legislature. The convention agreed with him and directed the committee on permanent organization, which has been made a standing committee, to investigate and report.

In order that all proposals for changes in the constitution as it now stands shall have as wide publicity as possible before adoption, the convention ordered that every proposal shall be printed in full in the official record, thousands of copies of which will be mailed daily throughout the state.

The only roll call of the day was on a motion by Judge Post of Midland that a permanent committee on labor be appointed. Nobody objected and every delegate present was able to go upon record as approving the motion. The committee will consist of seven members and all matters pertaining to labor will be referred to it.

Given Poison Instead of Medicine.

Jackson, Mich., Oct. 31.—A dose of carbolic acid, administered by mistake, caused the death of Mrs. Sarah Walsh, 38 years old, Wednesday morning. Mrs. Walsh had been seriously ill for several days. Monday when her physician visited her, a neighbor dropped in to assist, and was asked to pour out some medicine from a bottle on a table near the bedside. The woman, confusing the medicine bottle with one containing the deadly poison, gave Mrs. Walsh a spoonful of the latter. No one noticed the mistake for several moments, and when it was discovered by the doctor it was too late to save her life. Mrs. Walsh leaves a husband and three children, one an infant three days old.

Engine Blew Up.

Newbury, Ont., Oct. 31.—R. Rutherford, engineer, London, Ont., is dead, and J. Robertson, fireman, London, Ont., will probably die as the result of injuries received when a Grand Trunk engine blew up half a mile from here about 10 o'clock Tuesday night. The engine was attached to the evening express which runs between Detroit and London, via Windsor. It left Windsor shortly after 7 p. m. and was running at the rate of perhaps 10 miles an hour when the boiler of the engine suddenly exploded.

Case Concluded After 100 Years.

Staunton, Va., Oct. 31.—A case which has been occupying the various courts here for over 100 years, was ended Wednesday in the circuit court by Mayor W. H. Landis, receiver, entering a decree which is regarded as final, showing all disbursements in the case of Peck vs. Borden and Borden vs. Borden. Over $100,000 was involved and various decrees have been entered by almost every lawyer here. The heirs, numbering nearly 400, were from all parts of the country. The final decree approving the settlement of the receiver, Hon. W. H. Landis, involved only about $6,000. One heir represented in the original suit as an infant died some years ago at the age of 96 years.

Russian Girl Executed.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 31.—The sentence of the execution of Mlle. Rayezinskaya, who in 1906, at the age of 18, killed Gen. Maximovitch, director of the department of prisons of the minister of the interior, was carried out Wednesday by Gen. Slugenkamoff, chief of the St. Petersburg military district. This was done in spite of Gen. Maximovitch's wishes expressed before he died, that the young woman be not executed. She was hanged last night.

Actor Hitchcock Indicted.

New York, Oct. 31.—Six indictments were found against Raymond Hitchcock, the actor, Wednesday by the grand jury on charges of criminal assault and abduction. Hitchcock will be arraigned in the court of general sessions today. The indictments were based on the testimony of Helen Von Hagen, Elsie Voecks and Flora Washton.

Abolishes Famous Gretna Green.

New York, Oct. 31.—Eloping lovers and others who seek hasty or secret marriages will no longer find a Gretna Green in the "Little Church Around the Corner" here, famous for the romantic unions that have been effected there. This is the decision of the Rev. Dr. George C. Houghton, rector of the church. Dr. Houghton says that when it is possible publicity must attend any marriage at which he may officiate henceforth.

Boon for Liquor Dealers.

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 31.—Rep. A. F. Bunting of Lesianaw has his liquor dealers' security bonding company practically organized, he states, and will file his articles of incorporation at once. He denies that the brewery interests of the state will own a majority of the stock, declaring that while the brewers own a large block of the stock they will not control the company. The company is to be incorporated as the Michigan Bond and Surety Co., with a capital of $500,000. It must deposit $200,000 in gilt-edged securities with the state treasurer before beginning business, and comes under the general law, regulating corporation of that class. The headquarters of the company will be in Detroit.

The Semi-Centennial Atlantic is a special issue containing a remarkable number of important articles, written in most cases by writers of world fame. The number leads off with some hitherto unpublished verses by Jas. Russell Lowell, composed in 1857 and supposed playfully, to be wrote "wrote by Sir Henry Knatchbull, Bart., 1760." As a literary curiosity these lines are highly interesting.

The Century announces as one of its serial features for 1908 "The Reminiscences of Lady Randolph Churchill," the first chapters to appear in the November Century. The present Mrs. George Cornwallis West is a daughter of the late Leonard Jerome of New York, and as the wife of Lord Randolph Churchill she played a leading and brilliant part in the political and social life of England. The memories of her life deal with people and conditions of general interest and importance.

* * *

In their November issue the editors of McClure's have more than justified the recent raise in the price of the magazine. The articles are timed and vital and there is a new note of distinction in the fiction. George Kennan's article on criminal government should arouse the public conscience. It tells of conditions which every citizen of this democracy should know.

* * *

Navigation of the air is a subject which might be expected to attract the poet, yet not withstanding Tennyson's prophetic allusion to the grappling of airy navies, the theme is still, to say the least, an unhackneyed one. In Putnam's for November it is vigorously and imaginatively treated by Don Marquis, a southern journalist and magazine writer, in a poem entitled "The Airship—at Daybreak."

Everybody's for November opens with a striking article by Wm. Ward on "Making Steel and Killing Men," which deals fairly with the problem of the safety of workers in the dangerous trade of steel-making. "The Newest Land of Promise," by G. W. Ogden, describes graphically the opening up and cultivation of the West and the opportunities for wealth offered to the homeseeker. Dr. Wm. Hanna Thomson in "Plain Labels on Germ Enemies," gives interesting and valuable information on the difference between contagious and infectious diseases.

The departure of Hiawatha is the central figure of the two color cover of the November American Boy, forming the fourth of the series of Hiawatha pictures running in this favorite boys' monthly. In excellence of matter, both for the boys and adults, this number is surely a winner. The second chapter of the fine sea story, Jimmy Jones—Pirate, occupies the first pages, followed by the opening chapters of That Dillingham Boy, by Oliver Optic. Off the Reservation is continued three chapters, as is John T. Trowbridge's serial The Boy and The Beast, and A Boy of the Revolution is concluded.

Lippincott's magazine was read by the present generation's grandparents, and from present indications it seems likely that it will be read no less eagerly by their grandchildren. "Certain it is that it seems to keep perennially young having drunk deep of the fountain of youth. The November number comes to us freighted with a wealth of stories and essays, poems and jokes of such infinite variety that every kind seems to be represented but the poor kind.

It doesn't always pay to be good—and it never pays to be bad.

Buckwheat is distinctively a human food. In its purity it is not only highly nourishing, but is also very palatable. Our system of milling incorporates all the elements of the grain, and especially the sweet honey flavor, so that the cakes on the platter have the fragrant aroma of the blossoms in the field. Better still you can taste it in the cakes. Its the Ideal brand.

"Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall."

Miss Bianca West will appear at the New Bradley opera house on Monday, Nov. 4th in "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall" from the novel of Charles Major. The stage version is the work of Paul Kester. Queen Elizabeth's reign in England marks the period of the play, and all the grand dames and court gallants of her time figure, as does her cousin, Mary, Queen of Scots. The stage is indebted to Ernest Shipman for one of the most gorgeously mounted plays in this day of elaborate productions. Every thing is carried by the company, no particle of time worn or familiar property or scene belonging to the theatre is allowed to destroy the illusion of the auditor.

A hard debt to pay.

"I owe a debt of gratitude that can never be paid" writes G. E. Clark of Westfield, Ia., "for my rescue from death by Dr. King's New Discovery. Both lungs were seriously affected and death seemed imminent when I commenced taking this remedy. The ominous hacking cough quit before the first bottle was used and two more bottles cured me." Nothing has ever equaled New Discovery for colds, throat and lung complaints. Guaranteed by C. A. Wright & Son, druggists. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

"Knee deep in June" is the title of the novelette which opens the November Smart Set. It is written by Eleanor Hoyt Brainard, who can tell as bright and fascinating a story as any living writer. This novelette is by far the most delightful thing Mrs. Brainard has yet done. The story moves with a dash and bouyancy quite irresistable.

WORSE THAN ONIONS

Bad breath from indigestion cannot be overcome with perfumes.

All of us suffer from bad breath—sometimes our own, but oftener that of our friends.

Nine tenths of this bad breath comes from some stomach trouble and cannot be overcome by breath perfumes or any other palliative measures.

If you occasionally have a bad breath; if there is heart-burn, flatulence and acid gulpings of undigested food: if the stomach burns or smarts; if there is sleeplessness, nervousness, headaches or any other of the many symptoms of indigestion, use Mi-o-na stomach tablets and get well.

Mi-o-na is not a mere digestive nor a physic, but a tonic remedy that strengthens the muscles of the stomach and bowels so that the flow of gastric juices is increased and the food is digested naturally and does not stay in the stomach to ferment and poison the breath with nauseous odors.

A little 50-cent box of Mi-o-na stomach tablets lasts for a couple of weeks and will ward off a dozen mild attacks of indigestion. If you suffer with a chronic case of stomach trouble, the use of Mi-o-na for a reasonable length of time will give you an absolute and complete cure.

C.A. Wright & Son have seen so many cures made by Mi-o-na stomach tablets that they give a guarantee with every 50 cent box that the money will be refunded if the remedy fails to give satisfaction. They take the whole risk and a box of Mi--na will not cost you a penny unless it cures you.

IT'S ALWAYS BAD.

The lives of backs are bad when they ache and Tecumseh people know it.

A bad back is always bad.
Bad at night when bedtime comes
Just as bad in the morning.
Ever try Doan's Kidney Pills for it?
Know they cure backache—cure every kidney ill?
If you don't, some people do.
Read a cure of it

Mrs Geo Teachout, living on Oneida street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I take great pleasure in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills. Last fall I began to have a great deal of trouble with my kidneys causing intense pain in the small of my back and extending to the shoulder blades. At times when I would bend over, sharp stitches of pain would catch me and I would not be able to straighten for a few seconds. At night, I could not sleep on account of the frequent action of the kidneys. I doctored for a while with a physician but received no benefit to speak of. I heard a great deal about the good results affected by Doan's Kidney Pills so I got a box and began using them. I soon noticed the good effects and continued taking until entirely cured. I cheerfully recommend them to anyone afflicted with kidney trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's,—and take no other

You can't be well if you have a weak nutsaltny, torpid stomach. Neither can you feel good if by some little irregularity in eating you have caused the stomach to get out of order. These little stomach troubles are signs of indigestion, which may and very often does turn into a very bad case of dyspepsia. Don't allow this to go on a single day without doing something to overcome it. Take some good reliable and safe digestant like Kodol for dyspepsia. Kodol is the best remedy known today, for heart burn, belching and all troubles arising from a disordered digestion. It is pleasant to take and affords relief promptly. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

A man doesn't have to wear good clothes if he can afford not to.

The postmaster of Gasconade, Mo., Daniel A. Bugh, says of DeWitt's kidney and bladder pills. "I am doing so well and improving so fast in health that I cannot say too much for your kidney and bladder pills. I feel like a new man." DeWitt's kidney and bladder pills are sold by B. J. Pulver.

We don't dispute that charity begins at home, but there are a lot of people who think it ends there.

Cured of Bright's disease.

Robt. O. Burke, Elnora, N. Y., writes "Before I started to use Foley's Kidney Cure I had to get up 12 and 20 times a night, and I was all bloated up with dropsy and my eyesight was so impaired I could scarcely see one of my family across the room. I had given up hope of living, when a friend recommended Foley's Kidney Cure. One 500 bottle worked wonders and before I had taken the third bottle the dropsy had gone, as well as all other symptoms of Bright's disease." Sold by all druggists in Tecumseh.

It's advice when you give it and a lecture when you receive it.

There is nothing better for stomach troubles than Kodol, which contains the same juices found in a healthy stomach. Kodol is offered on a guaranteed plan for the relief of heart burn, flatulence, sour stomach, belching of gas, nausea and all stomach troubles. So at times when you don't feel just right, when you are drowsy after meals and your head aches or when you have no ambition and you are cross and irritable, take a little Kodol. It digests what you eat. It will make you healthy. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Sour Stomach

No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, general debility, sour risings, and catarrh of the stomach are all due to indigestion. Kodol relieves indigestion. This new discovery represents the natural juices of digestion as they exist in a healthy stomach, combined with the greatest known tonic and reconstructive properties. Kodol for dyspepsia does not only relieve indigestion and dyspepsia, but this famous remedy helps all stomach troubles by cleansing, purifying, sweetening and strengthening the mucous membranes lining the stomach.

Mr. S. S. Ball, of Ravenswood W. Va., says:—I was troubled with sour stomach for twenty years. Kodol cured me and we are now using it in milk for baby."

Kodol Digests What You Eat.

BOTH MURDERED.

Italian and Wife in Garfield, N. J., Found Dead In Their Store.

Passaic, N. J., Nov. 4.—Rafaile Ruffano and his wife, Antoinette, were murdered in Garfield, N. J., Saturday night. Early Sunday a neighbor found the woman's body on the walk in front of the grocery store which the couple owned. In the kitchen back of the store Ruffano's body was found lying on the floor. Both had been shot in the head.

Ruffano had evidently been killed instantly, but a trail of blood showed where his wife had crawled through the store and to the walk. There is no clue to the murderer. The doors and windows at the back of the house were locked, and the front door of the store was open.

Ruffano and his wife moved to Garfield from New York where they had conducted a grocery store in Harlem, several months ago and opened a store here. To acquaintances they said that they had been compelled to leave Italy very suddenly two years ago, but gave no reason for their hasty departure. Mrs. Ruffano seemed always in fear of something and was constantly watchful and alert. She always carried a revolver in her pocket where it was found, fully loaded.

PEACE THEIR MISSION.

Central American Delegates Will Assemble in Washington.

Washington, Nov. 4.—The Central American peace conference, which will convene in Washington probably on November 11, will draw to this city as delegates the leading statesmen and professional men of Costa Rica, Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua and Salvador, as well as the ministers accredited to the United States from those countries. These men will assemble here to represent the hopes entertained in the various republics that the conference may effectually end wars between themselves and revolutions within themselves.

It is expected that the conference will continue at least two weeks, and it is likely that it may run for a month or more. In preparation for the gathering the upper floor of the building occupied by the International Bureau of American Republics has been fitted out in elaborate style.

In addition to their regularly accredited ministers to the United States, Guatamala, Honduras and Salvador have sent two delegates each, while Costa Rica and Nicaragua have sent MORTALLY WOUNDED.

Robbers Shoot Saloonist Vanderputtee of Grand Rapids.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 4.—While Burt Vanderputtee had stepped into the kitchen off from the bar room of his saloon at the corner of Knapp avenue and Canal street and Louis Sopma was behind the bar, the side door was suddenly thrown open and two men with red handkerchiefs tied across the lower portion of their faces rushed into the room and ordered Sopma to throw up his hands.

Sompa took it as a joke at first, but when a revolver was thrust into his face he did as commanded. Just then Vanderputtee stepped into the room. He was ordered to throw up his hands also. Instead of obeying the command he jumped back into the kitchen and slammed the door behind him. The man who had been doing all the talking fired two shots through the door, one of which took effect, hitting Vanderputtee in the back and he fell to the floor.

While this was going on the second robber fired point blank at Sopma, but the shot must have been blank, as neither Sopma or the glass or wood behind him was splintered.

The robbers then evidently became frightened and turned to the door by which they entered and disappeared in the darkness.

Doctors were summoned to care for Vanderputtee and after an examination expressed the opinion that the wound was a serious one and would probably prove fatal.

OFFICER KNEW HIM.

Man Wanted in Owosso Tried to Sell Saginaw Policeman Shoestrings.

Owosso, Mich., Nov. 4.—Devotion to his work cost Walter Kelly his freedom and may possibly be still more expensive. Kelly is one of two men charged by Mrs. L. A. Nye, proprietress of a local hotel, with practically destroying the contents of their room, because they became angry at her.

The men escaped, but descriptions were sent out, and at Saginaw Kelly visited the home of a policeman to sell shoestrings. The latter recognized him from the description and arrested him after a struggle. A local officer will bring Kelly to Owosso for arraignment in the municipal court.

Shot by Unknown Hunter.

Ludington, Mich., Nov. 4.—While out hunting on his father's farm, Floyd Osborne, a 19-year-old lad living near this city, was shot by an unknown hunter and badly wounded about the face and neck. An unknown man had started some birds, and not seeing Osborne, fired directly at him. When the hunter heard Osborne's cries, he fled, leaving the young man without stopping to ascertain the extent of his injuries. The boy, half blinded, reached the house about an hour later in a fainting condition.

KAISER TO VISIT KING.

German Royalty Is About to Invade England.

PLAN ELABORATE FUNCTIONS

State Banquet at Windsor Castle Will Surpass Anything Previously Attempted—Two Rulers Will Spend Much Time Hunting.

London, Nov. 4.—England is to be invaded by royalty during the month of November. The German emperor and empress, who it is believed, will be accompanied by the imperial chancellor, Prince Von Buelow, and to whose visit some political significance is therefore attached, will arrive here on Nov. 11, and will spend a week as guests of King Edward and Queen Alexandra at Windsor castle which has been considerably altered and improved for their reception. A staff of several hundred workmen are busy in and around the historic riverside home of the British sovereign nd have already greatly altered the appearance of the grounds and building.

A series of most elaborate entertainments has been arranged, including theatrical performances and a great state banquet, at which the German emperor will meet many of the leaders of Great Britain's social and political worlds. The banquet, if the plans do not miscarry, will surpass in splendor anything of the kind before attempted here, for, in this as in all other respects, King Edward is desirous of showing the greatest honor to his nephew, in the hope of forging another link in the chain which is to draw the two countries closer together.

The days will be spent by the emperor and king and the other guests in hunting in Windsor's great park, but the royal visitors will have to spare one day from sport to pay a visit of state to the city of London and be entertained by the lord mayor at luncheon.

Socialists Make Threats.

This visit to the city is the cause of some apprehension, for a section of the English socialists have declared their intention of making hostile demonstrations along the line of the procession from Paddington station to Guildhall, but the police have been forewarned. The general public may, however, be relied upon to give the grandson of Queen Victoria a hearty welcome. The anarchists are never active in England, but to make it doubly sure the Soho quarter of the city, their refuge in England, is being closely watched by English and foreign detectives, and the whereabouts of all dangerous persons is already known to Scotland Yard and their movements will be followed.

As is the usual course for the arrival of foreign sovereigns, the emperor and empress will land at Portsmouth, where they will be welcomed by the prince of Wales and the duke of Connaught. The approach of the landing stage will be through lines of British men-of-war, Admiral Lord Beresford having been ordered to take the channel fleet to Spithead to greet Emperor William who is an honorary admiral of the British navy. Three divisions of the home fleet will also be present, making in all a considerable naval display.

The visitors will proceed directly from Portsmouth to Windsor. They are to be accompanied, in addition to Prince Von Buelow or some other representative of the foreign office, by the chiefs of the Emperor's three cabinets—military, civil and naval, two aides-de-camp, the minister of war, Lieutenant-General Von Einam, who was invited personally by King Edward, and the usual subordinate suite.

Found Guilty of Embezzlement.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 4.—After about an hour and a half of deliberation, the jury in the case of Alexander R. Beattie, charged with embezzling $1,172.20 from Parker, Webb & Co., Saturday brought in a verdict of guilty as charged. The case was a bitterly fought one, the defense attempting to show that the case was purely the result of disagreement over accounts. Attorney Richard A. McCabe, who defended Beattie, asked for a twenty days' stay of porceedings in which to prepare a bill of exceptions and move for a new trial. Judge Phelan granted the motion, remanding Beattie to jail in default of $2,500 bail.

Elevators Refuse Beans.

Charlotte, Mich., Nov. 4.—Because the banks will not cash their bills of lading, the elevator men of this county have unitedly determined to refuse to receive any more beans. This is a big bean country. The elevator men's action means that producers must hold their crop indefinitely.

DEFENDS INGERSOLL.

Rev. Caroline Crane Didn't Like Comstock's Remarks.

PURITY CONGRESS IN TUMULT

Carrie Nation Takes Hand and Shouts Right Out in Meeting—New York's Auto-Vice Crusader Tells of Corrupt Literature He Has Found.

Battle Creek, Mich., Nov. 4.—Anthony Comstock was assailed by Rev. Caroline Bartlett Crane of Kalamazoo, for what she interpreted as an attack on the late Robert Ingersoll, creating a sensation in the Tabernacle last night, during a session of the Purity congress, and in which Carrie Nation was a prominent figure. The audience packed the place to the doors, but above all the tumult they could make Carrie Nation could be heard shrieking alternately "Down with infidels" and "Praise God for Anthony Comstock."

Mr. Comstock had been telling of the attempt of what he termed free-lovers and free-thinkers, on him personally, mentioning the fact that Robert Ingersoll's name led a petition that attempted to discredit him and the postal regulations he stood for before the United States senate committee. At the close of the address Mrs. Crane stepped to the edge of the platform and announced that in behalf of free-thinkers she wished to say a few words in defense of Ingersoll. She said she considered that what the speaker had said called for something of the sort.

Exciting Moment.

Mrs. Nation then broke in with "Down with the infidel," etc., and some things that Mrs. Crane said could not be heard in the excitement that followed. Comstock turned white, and although he tried to urge quiet, he could not quell the tumult for some time. When the audience finally was settled, he said:

"What I said of Ingersoll was not in bitterness, it is simply a matter of history. I have in my valise documentary proof of Ingersoll's connection with what he called 'Anthony Comstock love,' and can demonstrate to the satisfaction of the lady who just spoke and everyone present that Ingersoll's opposition to me is recorded in Washington."

Here the audience again went wild. And what an audience it was! There were nurses in uniform and invalids in wheel chairs in the aisles, and the congregations of nearly all of the churches of the city.

In his regular address Mr. Comstock said that he is now fighting an organization that is circulating obscene literature and vile pictures among school children, particularly seminaries, colleges and schools where there is no supervision of students' mail.

What Comstock Is Doing.

"In one instance I found that on the organization's mailing list that they were even attempting to reach pupils in a convent. On Oct. 8 I sent to a paper factory seven and one-half tons of this literature. On Oct. 17 I destroyed 175,000 pictures. On Oct. 23 we found 57,000 pictures stored in the rear room of a tenement at 199 Forsyth street, New York.

"These are so vile I would not show them to the most venerable man present. On Oct. 16, in Baltimore, I arrested a lawyer, taking him from his supper table, for having in his possession 146 negatives too degrading for men and women to comprehend."

It was at this juncture that Mr. Comstock told of the workings against him. He recited instances of where infernal machines were sent and personal assaults made on him.

Then he told of the attempts to rob him of character and to discredit him with the senate committee.

Mrs. Florence Kelly of New York also spoke last night, on the child labor question, urging more stringent laws against the employment of children. She was especially vindictive against Detroit.

Big Blaze in Grand Rapids.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 4.—Fire completely destroyed the plant of the Grand Rapids Clock Mantel Co., at an early hour Sunday morning. Cause of the fire is unknown. The building was filled with clocks and mantels. The loss on building is placed at $10,000 and to the stock and machinery $50,000, partially covered by insurance.

Cured of Bright's disease.

Robt. O. Burke, Elmira, N. Y., writes "Before I started to use Foley's Kidney Cure I had to get up 12 and 20 times a night, and I was all bloated up with dropsy and my eyesight was so impaired I could scarcely see one of my family across the room. I had given up hope of living, when a friend recommended Foley's Kidney Cure. One 50c bottle worked wonders and before I had taken the third bottle the dropsy had gone, as well as all other symptoms of Bright's disease." Sold by all druggists in Tecumseh.

The postmaster of Gasconade, Mo., Daniel A. Bugh, says of DeWitt's kidney and bladder pills, "I am doing so well and improving so fast in health that I cannot say too much for your kidney and bladder pills. I feel like a new man." DeWitt's kidney and bladder pills are sold by B. J. Pulver.

You can't always judge a man's pay by the work he does.

You can't be well if you have a weak unhealthy, tired out stomach. Neither can you feel good if by some little irregularity in eating you have caused the stomach to get out of order. These little stomach troubles are signs of indigestion, which may and very often does turn into a very bad case of dyspepsia. Don't allow this to go on a single day without doing something to overcome it. Take some good reliable and safe digestant like Kodol for dyspepsia. Kodol is the best remedy known today for heart burn, belching and all troubles arising from a disordered digestion. It is pleasant to take and affords relief promptly. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

CARTAGENA.

Colombia Has the Oldest Walled City in This Hemisphere.

One of the few walled cities in this hemisphere and perhaps the oldest, is that of Cartagena, Colombia, South America. The wall, which is still standing and in excellent condition, stretches its irregular circumference several miles in inclosing what was one of the gayest, wealthiest and largest cities of the new world in the days of Spanish supremacy. It is said that $20,000,000 was spent in constructing this wall, and it must be remembered that three or four centuries ago that meant considerably more money than it does now.

The wall is wide enough to accommodate several rooms abreast. Its top is flat in most places, while at intervals there stand sentry boxes, showing that the wall was meant to guard the light hearted residents within its inclosure from sudden attacks either by sea or by land.

At one end of the wall near the sea is still to be seen the government prison. Here there is a long row of cells, which are still kept for the use of prisoners. At present these offenders are much sought by tourists to the Spanish main, for many of the men confined there have for sale exquisite carvings on shell and wood.—New York Herald.

IN CASE OF FIRE.

The Landlord Told His Literary Guest How to Get Out.

In the days before the dawn of his fame it was the practice of a certain well known author to wander up and down the land seeking what he might devour in the way of suggestion and local color. In this way he had drifted into Arkansas, "roughing it," and not, as he expresses it, presenting an appearance calculated to inspire a hotel proprietor with unlimited confidence.

The only hotel in the town, a frame structure, seemed to have been built upon the theory that there was plenty of room straight up, but that ground had to be bought, and the wanderer was shown to a room on the third floor, reached through many narrow and winding passages. From the one window it was a straight drop to the ground.

"Say, how would I get out of this place in case of fire?" he asked the landlord, who had brought up his grip.

The other eyed him coldly.

"Waal," he drawled, "all yo' would have to do would be to show ther night watchman—the one with ther shotgun—a receipted bill foh yo' board an' lodgin' an' get him to tie up the bulldog."—Cleveland Leader.

A Mission That Failed.

The Sire de Joinville tells us in his "Histoire de St. Louis" how a certain Brother Yves of the preaching friars once met while crossing a street in Damascus at the time of the sixth crusade an aged woman who carried in her right hand a bowl of fire and in her left a bottle of water.

"Where are you going?" asked the Brother Yves.

"I go," said she, "to burn up heaven with the fire and put out hell with the water, and so I will make an end of both."

"And for why will you do this?" asked the friar.

"Because," said she, "I would that we did good neither for the joys of heaven nor for the fear of hell pain, but purely for the love of God, who deserves so well of us and who is able to deliver us from evil."

Forgotten Hotel Keys.

"I suppose," said a guest, "a good many forgetful people go off with your hotel keys?"

"This will show you," said the clerk. And he took from a drawer the following printed slip:

"The manager of the Blank hotel acknowledges with thanks the return of key No. —, which M — by oversight carried away on departure."

So many keys, the young man explained, were mailed back by forgetful guests that it had been deemed advisable, as a time saving device, to have a key acknowledgment printed.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The Goose.

The goose, which for some unknown reason has become an emblem of idiocy, but which is really a wise bird of good habits and one of the most profitable for the fancier, was probably the first fowl to be domesticated by man. Homer, 1,200 years before the Christian era, speaks of his geese, in which he was greatly interested, and the hieroglyphics of Egypt prove that at his time they had been tamed for centuries.—Circle.

A Clash of Prayers.

Maggie, with her fair face and blond hair, and Nina, with dusky skin and kinky wool, had played together at mud pies and had swung on the same gate ever since they could remember, for Nina's mammy was Maggie's nurse, says the Housekeeper. They were now seven years old. Maggie loved Nina in spite of her color, yet she had a feeling that her friend deserved to be white, so she added to her prayer each night:

"Please, God, make Nina white."

As the weeks went by and Nina remained unchanged Maggie felt that her petition needed re-enforcement, so she confided in Nina, begging her to pray for the greatly desired bleaching. But Nina in surprise looked at Maggie with wide open eyes and exclaimed:

"Me? No, sir-ee. Fo' de Lawd, Maggie, I doan wanter to be no white child, an' I's jes' praylin' with all my might fer you to come black!"

Poets' Themes.

The cynics of our time have white-washed many of the vices. Poets like the earlier Swinburne practically praised lust as an expression of the love of life. Poets like Mr. Rudyard Kipling practically praised cruelty as an expression of the love of life. Poets like Mr. Henley and Mr. John Davidson have practically praised drunkenness, or violence, or obscenity as expressions of the love of life.—G. K. Chesterton in London News.

Proof Positive.

The policeman had shot a fleeing prisoner.

"It was an accident," he explained to his superior.

"What proof have you of that?"

"Why, I hit him, didn't I?" rejoined the accused with an air of finality.—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Surprise, All Right.

"My husband has promised to allow me to choose what I want for my birthday."

"Oh, then there will be no surprises this year."

"Yes, there will. He will be surprised enough when he gets the bill."

John Obeyed.

Mrs. F. was a very stern woman, who demanded instant and unquestioning obedience from her children, says Chums. One afternoon as she was working in her sewing room a storm came up, and she sent her son John to close the trap leading to the flat roof of the house.

"But, mother"—said John.

"John, I told you to shut the trap."

"Yes, but, mother"—

"John, shut that trap!"

"All right, mother, if you say so, but"—

"John!"

John slowly climbed the stairs and shut the trap. The afternoon went by, and the storm howled and raged. Two hours later the family gathered for tea, and when the meal was half over Aunt Mary, who was staying with Mrs. F., had not appeared. Mrs. F. started an investigation. She did not have to ask many questions. John answered the first one.

"Please, mother, she is up on the roof."

English "As She Is Wrote."

Some ludicrous mistakes are made by some of the French Canadian people in our New England cotton mill towns in their attempt to master English.

One summer a grain dealer in Somersworth, N. H., received a written order from one of his French customers, which read as follows.

"Please send

"1 bag hole corn.

"1 mx field.

"5 pounds acid."

The clerk, who has had many years' experience with these people, said at once, "Send him a bag of whole corn, a bag of mixed feed and five pounds of grass seed, or, as the French people put it, 'haysseed.'"

And he was right.

At another time an order was received for a bag of "corn broke," and at still another an order for a bag of "corn not broke."—Boston Herald.

Chimneys Are Fickle.

"The hardest problem the builder has to wrestle with," said a well known member of the profession, "is the chimney. What the heathen Chinee is to the human race and the left handed mule to the animal kingdom the chimney is to the various appurtenances that go to make up a human habitation. There is no safe rule for the construction of chimneys. You can build a chimney all right in theory, but when it comes down to practice that is another matter. Build two chimneys side by side in precisely the same manner. Employ the best skilled labor and construct them exactly on the same principles. One may draw all right and the other one smoke like a Choctaw. Yes, sir, the chimney is beyond all understanding, and any builder will tell you so."

Webster's Retainer.

One day a man entered Daniel Webster's office and consulted him in regard to a prospective lawsuit. At the close of the conference he paid the attorney a retainer of $100 to look after the matter. Upon returning to his place of business he found that his partner had already settled the suit, obtaining the sum demanded without an attorney. He thought $100 was altogether too much for an office fee, so he dispatched his clerk to look after the subject.

"Mr. Webster," said the young man, "my employer thinks you should return a part of your retainer. That case has been settled."

"Young man," said the lawyer, "you go back and tell your employer that a retainer is something to be retained."

Curing a Pampered Pet.

A very clever veterinary had a system all his own. When he received an overfed toy dog he would consign him to a disused brick oven with a crust of bread, an onion and an old boot. When the dog began to gnaw the bread the anxious mistress was informed that her darling was "doing nicely." When it commenced operations on the onion word was sent that the pet was "decidedly better," but when the animal tackled the boot my lady was gratified to hear that her precious pet was "ready to be removed."—Woman's Home Companion.

How It Started.

"Talk about human beings having descended from such as you!" exclaimed Poll. "They're much more likely to have evolved from birds. You can't speak their language, and I can."

"I don't deny," responded Jocko, "that they got their long tongues from your family."

It was then that the two had their celebrated monkey and parrot time.—Chicago Tribune.

The Builders.

"The Egyptians were the builders," said a contractor enviously. "No wonder their monuments will endure forever. Labor was nothing to them. As you would spend a cent on a newspaper so would an Egyptian king put 10,000 men to work upon a temple. Labor, you see, cost nothing. A striking example of the Egyptian prodigality of labor lies in this fact: No less than 2,000 men were employed for three years in carrying a single stone, a stone of unexampled size, from Elephantine to Sais."

Unlucky at Bridge.

"Do you believe in this thirteen superstition?" asked Tete de Veau.

"I do," replied L'Oignon. "I could never understand why I was so unlucky at bridge till I discovered that I was always dealt a hand of just thirteen."—Exchange.

A Little Mixed.

A Hindoo barrister thus excused an absent client whom sickness had prevented from coming to court: "The man has fallen unwell, your honor, and he has sent a man here to say that he is lying and cannot come."

Presence of Mind.

Although it is not given to everybody to know exactly what to do at the right moment, one woman at least can lay claim to a presence of mind which may, without undue exaggeration, be considered phenomenal. This woman's little boy was ailing with some trivial childish complaint, and the doctor ordered him some medicine. He had just taken his daily dose when his mother said, with some excitement:

"I quite forgot to shake that bottle afore glein ye't, Johnnie. Come here."

Johnnie obeyed, and, much to his astonishment and disgust, was subjected to a vigorous shaking from the strong arms of the parent, at the conclusion of which he was laid down with the remark:

"There, my laddie, that'll dae. It should be gey weel mixed up noo, I'm thinkin', but don't let me forget again."

Johnnie promised.—Pearson's Weekly.

Moon Heat.

Many people suppose that moonlight possesses great potency and has a wonderful influence on or over animate and inanimate things on our planet. Such persons should remember that moonlight is only reflected sunlight and that the quality and quantity of the light thus reflected are not what is generally imagined. In fact, it is a truth which has often been demonstrated by the speculative astronomers that it would take 618,000 full moons to afford an amount of light equal to that emitted by the sun, and, furthermore, there is only sky space for 75,000 such disks. Some heat comes from moonlight. However, it is in quantities so small that it cannot be measured by ordinary instruments. Flammarion says that the amount of heat emitted by a full moon while at its zenith is not be more than one eighty thousandth of the amount that the sun supplies when standing on the meridian on a favorable day in July. Such being the case, it is really surprising that intelligent people should consider that the moon has such a wonderful influence over terrestrial affairs.

The Rhinoceros Bird.

Among the birds not commonly found is the rhinoceros bird, from the Transvaal. Buffel pikker is its Dutch name. Its habits are remarkable and its plumage unusual. Small flocks accompany most of the large antelopes, the buffaloes and the rhinoceroses in South Africa and run all over the creatures' bodies, picking off ticks and insects. When an enemy approaches the buffel pikkers sit in a line with heads raised on the back of the animal they are attending, like sparrows on a roof ridge, and signal "the enemy in sight." The plumage is curiously close, uniform and compact, so much so that the bird has an artificial look, as if covered with painted satin and not with feathers. The general tint of the body is cinnamon brown, with yellow beak and legs, giving the color effect of a brown and yellow iris.

A "Turner" Story.

Very few London dealers indeed are competent to judge Turner's works—that is, without a certified history. A lady acquaintance of mine had a large picture in her house which she had always regarded as a Turner, and, desiring to sell it, she offered it to five or six of the leading dealers, but not one of them would buy it at any price, asserting that Turner never saw it and that it was nothing like his work, and so on. A few months afterward a document turned up among her family papers showing that the picture had been specially painted by Turner for her husband's father, and in a week she had sold the work for £2,250. The average dealer is almost frightened to touch a Turner, and you seldom or never see one exposed for sale in the galleries.—Chambers' Journal.

Our Foolish Alphabet.

Why, think of it! We've not even a reputable alphabet. The letters are all tangled up. J is J when it isn't Y, and more than half the time Y is doing duty for I. S is sometimes Z, G is J, and poor C is always either S or K. We've got four distinct ways to express the N sound—gn, pn, kn and n; four ways to write the terminal syllable "er"—er, ar, or and ir; five ways to sound the letters "ough"—uff, awf, ow, oo and o. And there are no rules. Each of the myriad cases must be separately hammered into a student's head. And this is work for babes!—Mary Bronson Hartt in Woman's Home Companion.

Color and Aroma of Coffee.

There are two things which people imagine are guides to the goodness of coffee which are really of no consequence whatever. They are the color of the decoction and the aroma of the coffee when ground or as it escapes from the pot in drawing. The color is due almost entirely to the roasting. This is true also of tea. The finest coffees and teas, when properly roasted and prepared, to give out their finest flavors will color the water but little. The real essences which give the flavor have practically no color.

THE LIGHTNING ROD.

Franklin's Theory Was Known Away Back In Talmudic Times.

In an article on "Current Topics In Ancient Literature" J. D. Eisenstein says in the Sydney (Australia) Standard:

"The lightning rod was invented by Benjamin Franklin in 1752 to arrest the electricity of the thunder. When the information of the discovery reached Rabbi Saul Katzenellenbogen of Wilna, he said that the theory was not new, because it was already known in Talmudic times, and he showed a passage in the Tosefta (third century) where it says that 'on Sabbath it is permitted to place an iron near the hennery to safeguard the fowls from thunder and lightning strikes.' The Talmud vouches that 'there is nothing superstitious about this belief.' (Tosef. Shabb, chapter 6, end.)

"The system of telegraphy, in a crude manner, is curiously described by Judah b. Jacob Chayat in his commentary to 'The System of Theology' chapter, 'The Gate of the Chariot' (see page 218b, ed., Ferrara, 1558). Chayat is perhaps the first Hebrew author who transliterates the term 'magnet,' and he explains the physical phenomena as follows: 'If you break the magnet into two parts and separate them at any distance, even a thousand miles apart, any movement caused by a joining wire to one part will be repeated by the other part' (quoted also in Shelah, page 30a, ed., Amsterdam, 1708)."

Why Penmen Get Tired.

The average person has no idea how much muscular effort is expended in writing a letter. A rapid penman can write thirty words in a minute. To do this he must draw his pen through the space of sixteen and a half feet. In forty minutes his pen travels a furlong and in five hours a third of a mile. In writing an average word the penman makes in the neighborhood of sixteen curves of the pen. Thus in writing thirty words to the minute his pen would make 480 curves, 28,000 curves an hour and 86,400,000 in a year of 300 days of ten hours each. The man who succeeded in making 1,000,000 marks with a pen in a month was not at all remarkable. Many men make 4,000,000 while merely writing.—Minneapolis Journal.

A Helping Hand.

Rich Old Uncle—And remember, dear, that when I die all that I have goes to you. Niece—Thank you, uncle. Do let me give you more mince pie.—Harper's Weekly.

In Garrick's time when the weather was warm the men in the pit took off coats and vests.

A HEAVY MIDDAY MEAL.

The Business Man, It Is Claimed, Should Avoid It.

The Americans and English begin the day with breakfast, which is generally a substantial meal. This the people of the continent of Europe consider barbaric and disgusting. The Frenchman and the German breakfast on a scanty roll. They are consequently unable to go till the afternoon without absorbing something massive. The Frenchman toward noon takes a substantial lunch, and at midday the German takes a heavy meal, which absorbs his digestive energies during the remainder of the day. The German dinner makes a big break in the working day, and the eater, according to Dr. Martinet of Paris, suffers by a loss of energy during the afternoon. The heavy midday meal Dr. Martinet considers a mistake. One should not have dinner at noon, in the middle of one's workday, he says, but instead should take a light lunch. The lightest meal of the day, he thinks, should be during the period of exertion, and the heavy meal should be reserved for a later hour, when there is a chance for digestive repose. The proper series for the modern man, according to this authority, is a substantial breakfast, a light lunch about noon and a square meal at 6 o'clock or later.—Baltimore Sun.

A SLAB OF BLACK STONE.

Key to All the Ancient Writings of the Egyptians.

There is a slab of black stone in the British museum which if you could walk away with it and establish your claim as the owner you could sell any day for a quarter of a million and find half a dozen money kings in England and America ready to buy it.

There is nothing very striking about this stone. It might be a piece of black marble with some peculiar hieroglyphics upon it. But it is just these hieroglyphics which make it so valuable, because they are the key to all the ancient writings of the Egyptians, and without this stone, called the Rosetta stone, we should be unable to read the Egyptian writings which have been discovered from time to time.

Some French tourists found the Rosetta stone in Egypt and transported it to Paris, where an Englishman took a fancy to it for a garden ornament. He paid £5 for it—5 sovereigns—and got a treasure which you could cover with gold and yet not represent its value, but till the day of his death he did not know what that bit of stone was worth.—London World.

Comet Panics.

Joseph Jerome Lafrancais de Lalande, the popular French astronomer of a century ago, differed from Newton's view that Providence had so arranged matters as to make collision of the earth with a comet impossible and wrote a paper to prove that it was only very improbable. This paper, which was to have been read with others before the French academy on a certain day in 1773, got crowded out, but the Parisian public, hearing of it, made up its mind that Lalande had predicted the impending destruction of the earth and such panic ensued that the police had to order the publication of the paper to reassure the public mind. But even then it was popularly believed that the paper had been deliberately toned down and comet panics continued for a quarter of a century.

The Printing Press.

The most useful all round invention to humanity is the printing press. Generations ago some philosopher said, "In the world there is nothing great but man, and in man there is nothing great but mind." That is to say, while there are many great things, the greatest is mind. It is by and through his intellect that man has risen to the mastery of the planet, and whatever sharpens the intellect at the same time advances the world's civilization. This the printing press has done as nothing else has done, and therefore to the printing press belongs the honor of being the most useful all round invention known to man.—New York American.

Origin of "Hurrah!"

The history of many a race may be read in its battlecry. The "Banzai!" of the Japanese, the "Faghaghballah!" of the Irish and our own "Hurrah!" have found their origin far back in history.

Although many authorities have declared that the word "hurrah!" is a development of the Jewish "hosannah," the consensus of opinion now is that it is a corruption of the ancient battlecry of the wild Norsemen, "Tur ale!" meaning "Thor aid us!" Formerly the word was spelled "huzza" and pronounced "hurray." In one form or another it is used by almost every nation.—Pittsburg Post.

Welsh mothers put a pair of tongs or a knife in the cradle to insure the safety of their children. The knife is also used for the same purpose in some parts of England.

BIRD SUPERSTITIONS.

Queer Beliefs That Were Held by the Ancient Mariners.

Birds as inhabitants of the air were naturally chosen by the ancients as oracles and augurs of future happenings. The sensitiveness to atmospheric changes shown by many birds aided in establishing these notions. The real indications often furnished by sea birds of a coming storm or calm were doubtless magnified by the anxious, superstitious sailor.

The custom of hanging the sea swallow so that the bill may point to the wind arose from the old time custom of suspending the bird by the feet, expecting it would renew its feathers as if alive.

Divination by the flight of birds was a favorite method in the olden times. Sailors watched their flight for indications of prosperous voyages and favoring winds. As they were thought to fly through the air to heaven, they easily became messengers of the will of the gods.

The albatross is believed by Jack tar to sleep on the winds. It was at one time thought that the petrel hatched its eggs under its wings.

The kingfisher was at one time kept in chests to keep away moths.

The fishhawk was esteemed a bringer of good luck; it boded good or evil as its cry was to the right or left.

There was an old superstition that gulls were never seen bleeding. Shooting stars were then supposed to be the half digested food of winter gulls.

CLEOPATRA.

The Story of Her Death From the Bite of an Asp.

It is admitted that Cleopatra killed herself to avoid being exhibited at Rome in the triumph of Octavius, who had made war upon her and Antony because the latter had divorced his (Octavius') sister on the queen's account. But did she die from a snake's bite? It is better to think not. "If her death had been caused by any serpent, the small viper would rather have been chosen than the large asp, but the story is disproved by her having decked herself in the royal ornaments and being found dead without any marks or suspicion of poison on her body."

Death from a serpent's bite could not have been mistaken, and her vanity would not have allowed her to choose one which would have disfigured her in so frightful a manner.

Other poisons were well understood and easy of access, and no boy would have ventured to carry an asp in a basket of figs, some of which he even offered to the guards as he passed, and even Plutarch shows that the story of the asp was doubtful. Nor is the statue carried in Augustus' triumph, which had an asp upon it, any proof of his belief in it, since the snake was the emblem of Egyptian royalty. The statue (or the crown) of Cleopatra could not have been without one, and this was probably the origin of the whole story.

Deaf Dogs Are Rare.

People have been known to excuse watch dogs for dereliction of duty on the ground that the dogs might be hard of hearing. This excuse ought not to go. A veterinary surgeon of Cleveland remarked that in his thirty-five years' experience he had never heard of a deaf dog. His remark led to inquiries among two or three other veterinaries and not one had ever heard of a dog that couldn't hear. When a watch dog or any other dog doesn't hear a man that is prowling about the house it is because it doesn't want to hear. Horses are frequently treated by veterinaries for deafness, and even cats are hard of hearing occasionally, but deaf dogs seem to be unknown in Cleveland at least.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Mohammedan Oath.

Of all the many forms of taking the oath used in the courts perhaps the most picturesque is that which the Mohammedan is required to take. It is a silent ceremony. The son of Islam places his right hand flat upon the Koran and puts the other on his forehead; then he brings his forehead down to and in contact with the book. He then raises himself and looks up steadfastly for some seconds. The officer of the court should then—though he sometimes forgets this—ask the Mohammedan, "Are you bound by the ceremony you have performed to speak the truth?" and the answer is, "I am." In India the ceremony has been abolished in favor of an affirmation.

Milk In Turkey.

In Turkey there is a great consumption of the milk of the buffalo, the common cow, the goat and the ewe, but it is hardly ever used in a natural state. After slow cooling the milk is treated with a ferment taken from the previous day's supply. In a few hours a curd forms which is called yaghoun. The preparation is preferred to milk, and it has a pleasant, clean, acid taste and is, of course, nutritious.

The Companion as a Christmas gift.

Nobody is too young, nobody too old, to enjoy reading the Youth's Companion. For that reason it makes one of the most appropriate of Christmas gifts—one of the few whose actual worth far outweighs the cost. Welcome as the paper may be to the casual reader on the train, at the office, in the public library, it is, after all, the paper of the home. The regularity and frequency of its visits, the cordial sincerity of its tone, make for it soon the place of a familiar friend in the house. Like a good friend, too, it stands always for those traits and qualities which are typified in the ideal home and are the sources of a nation's health and true prosperity. Is there another Christmas present costing so little that equals it?

On receipt of $1.75, the yearly subscription price, the publishers send to the new subscriber all the remaining issues of the Companion for 1907 and the four-leaf hanging calendar for 1908 in full color.

Full illustrated announcement of the new volume for 1908 will be sent with sample copies of the paper to any address free.

Another Letter from W. P. Stocking.

We have shipped our crop of winter tourists to their various homes east of the Rockies to be parboiled, fried or roasted, browned by floods or cloud bursts, blown away by cyclones, sun struck or lightning struck to which they are subjected in that country of such common calamities. Now our crop of summer tourists are coming on in fine shape.

It is estimated by some to be the heaviest crop ever and by others to be lighter than in some summers but we have so many more buildings in which to house them that it is difficult to get an accurate estimate as to the number but it is a good healthy crop to say the least consisting of little shoots not more than "knee high to a grasshopper" to the parent stalks, all ages to the ripe old age ready for the sickle of old Father Time. About the first of September the crop will suddenly disappear from Long Beach to appear back in the interior along the foot hills, in the valleys among orange, lemon and walnut groves peach, prune, apricot and other fruit orchards.

Altogether the past few months have been unusually busy ones for our busy little community. 1. The Elks carnival which brought thousands of people here for a number of days. 2. The state W. C. T. U. convention which brought to our city many members of that band of true and noble women who are giving their lives, their talents, their time and money for the uplift of man and woman kind.—women, who have taken the lead in many reforms where their political representatives, the men, lacked the backbone to take the lead for fear of their positions in the parties of dirty politics to which they belong. Women who in their conventions set an example that would be well for the politicians of our country to follow.

3. The Shriner's "Long Beach day" which brought hundreds of that order from their meeting at Los Angeles to spend the day in beach festivities. We have a prohibition ordinance and yet many of these men were served liquors openly by local Shriners in one of our hotels while our Mayor, city council, city attorney and police force allowed the thing to go on without interference, because as the Mayor is reported as saying, the chief of police of Los Angeles had sent down word that no Shriners should be arrested under any consideration unless so ordered by a superior Shriner.

Los Angeles is 23 miles from Long Beach and the chief of police of that city has no more to do with the municipal affairs of this city than has the chief of police of Chicago, but it takes all sorts of people to make a city. Some officials consider their pre-election pledges and oath of office binding while others—well, they seem to forget them when it comes to brandy. Wabbly officers often put law in a bad light and render it very ineffective.

4. Came a raid on a lot of blind pigs which the officials had allowed to violate the ordinances unmolested until they became so bold in the defiance of law that the marshall got busy and pulled several of them, confiscating some $1600 worth of the wet goods. Two pleaded guilty and paid fines of $200 each and one a fine of $100 and ten days in jail. Later on, a drug clerk was tried before a jury and found guilty but with a recommendation for leniency in jail sentences, as the confinement in the jail would likely be injurious to his health as that is not good. After several days deliberation the justice gave him the following sentence: $200 or 60 days in jail. Bah! Such tomfoolery with such fellows is enough to make a preacher swear. The case is to be appealed.

5. Next came the state C. E. convention of several days when the city was visited by several hundred of the cream of the young men, women, boys and girls of the states. In their case our mayor was not obliged to allow the city thrown open to the booze elements by a Los Angeles officer as in the case of the Shriners. Pipes, cigars and cigarettes were conspicuous for their absence.

6 Next came the day of the pouring out of the spirits (confiscated) when over $2000 worth of the stuff which steals away men's brains and leads them to commit robbery, arson and murder, was turned into the street gutters and found its way through the sewers to the great brimy deep.

7 Next came Long Beach Day for the N. E. A. being held in Los Angeles when thousands of teachers from all parts of the country were royally entertained by our local teachers and the public in general. Again our mayor was permitted to escape the humiliation of being forced to having our prohibition city thrown open to the boozers by a Los Angeles officer. Each visitor was presented with a finely polished abalone shell or a shell hat pin and a tiny bag of salt made at the Long Beach salt works. The shells were marked "N. E. A.-'07, Long Beach." The bags were marked, "See what we make in Long Beach." All places of amusement were thrown open to them and at their own free will they sported the surf, or plunged on the sands, however and wherever they pleased.

8 Now Chautauqua is in session and many are in attendance from all over the state. Many men and women prominent in the lecture field and musical world are instructing, interesting large audiences both day and evening. This may be called the children's season. They are here from all over the heated interior in numbers like the sands on the sea shore and as lively as fleas which inhabit the sands. When the first of September comes they will disappear like the fleas when they are being hunted by the victims of their too close friendship.

Friend Stacy:—Will you allow me space in the HERALD to correct a little blunder of omitting a very little word in my last letter I presume I am the one who made the blunder. You know there used to be an old saying that "If it were not for an if the skies would fall." In this case for the want of a "no" I was made to say right to the contrary of what I meant to say and did an injustice to Miss Snedicor.

As printed I said "I thought from the tone of her essay that the compliment which the author of Class Gifts paid her was more than she deserved. The omission of the little word no before more changes the whole tenor of the expression which I very much regret on Miss Snedicor's account as well as my own. I am therefore anxious to make the correction and apology.

Respectfull,
W. P. STOCKING.

A hard debt to pay.

"I owe a debt of gratitude that can never be paid" writes G. B. Clark of Westfield, Ia., "for my rescue from death by Dr. King's New Discovery. Nothing has ever equaled New Discovery for colds, throat and lung complaints. Guaranteed by C. A. Wright & Son, druggists. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

Question. If our boys can only have a limited amount of schooling beyond the istrict school which shall it be, a short course at M. A. C., a course in a business college or time and money to be used in the city high school?—Leader, W. F. Raymond.

WHAT IS WRONG?

Many people in Tecumseh are asking that question of late.

Within the last few weeks, more people than usual have complained of frequent sneezing fits, tickling in the throat, stoppage in the nose, spasms of coughing, raising of mucous, droppings in the throat and offensive breath and have asked themselves what is the matter.

The trouble is that they are affected with catarrh and unless immediate steps are taken to remedy their condition, the disease will increase and spread through the delicate mucous membrane that lines the air passages and a chronic and serious stage of the disease will result.

At the first symptoms of catarrh, Hyomei should be used. There is no other treatment like it or just as good: none that can take its place and cure so surely, so quickly and at so little cost. It is a scientific medicated air treatment that does not drug and derange the stomach, but is breathed in, directly destroying all disease germs that may lurk in the nose, throat and lungs and soothing and healing the irritated mucous membrane.

C. A. Wright & Son, the local agents for Hyomei have so much confidence in the merits of the remedy that they offer it on trial to any catarrhal sufferer with the agreement to refund the purchase price of $1.00 for the complete outfit to anyone who is not satisfied with the results. You certainly can afford to test Hyomei with an offer like this. Get it now and be cured of catarrh.

Mrs. Geo. Teachout, living on Oneida street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I take great pleasure in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills. Last fall I began to have a great deal of trouble with my kidneys causing intense pain in the small of my back and extending to the shoulder blades. At times when I would bend over, sharp stitches of pain would catch me and I would not be able to straighten for a few seconds. At night, I could not sleep on account of the frequent action of the kidneys. I doctored for a while with a physician but received no benefit to speak of. I heard a great deal about the good results affected by Doan's Kidney Pills so I got a box and began using them. I soon noticed the good effects and continued taking until entirely cured. I cheerfully recommend them to anyone afflicted with kidney trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's—and take no other.

A CREDIT CURRENCY.

In This Will the Nation Find Permanent Relief.

COUNTRY NEEDS NEW LAW.

Representative Fowler Advances Plan —Will Introduce Bill Into Congress —Money at This Time of Year Is in Pockets of People.

New York, Nov. 4.—That permanent relief from the present monetary stringency can only be had through a system of credit currency adequate to meet the requirements of trade and redeemable in gold coin, was the opinion expressed Sunday by Representative Charles N. Fowler of New Jersey, chairman of the banking and currency committee, which will, at the coming session of congress, endeavor to have a law passed providing for credit currency issued by the national bank. Until such permanent relief is made possible by legislative enactment, Mr. Fowler asserted the situation must be met by the issuance of clearing house certificates, cashiers' checks and due bills of business houses and manufacturers.

"The underlying business conditions," he said, "are essentially sound, as evidenced by the increased earnings of the railroads, and the fact that the value of our agricultural products this year are $500,000,000 more than last year (which was the biggest year in our history), and are bringing to our people about $7,000,000,000. But public confidence has been greatly shaken and credit seriously affected.

"The cause of the currency stringency is that there is scattered at this time of the year throughout the country, at the mines, in the wheat, corn and cotton fields, in the pockets of the people, or locked up, about $1,300,000,000 of the reserve money of the United States, most of which, under a proper condition, would be in the banks, serving as reserve. Temporary relief will be through the forced use of current credit in the form of clearing house certificates, cashiers' checks and due bills of business houses and manufacturers during the next ninety days. The permanent cure must come through a system of credit currency expanding and contracting with the ordinary demands of the smaller trade, percisely as checks and drafts do in the broader field of commerce.

"How could this be done? Simply by authorizing each bank to issue cashiers' checks payable to bearer, which is a current credit; that is, a credit that passes by mere delivery, requiring no endorsement."

GOLD IS AWAITED.

Arrival of Foreign Money Will Aid Greatly in Relieving Conditions.

New York, Nov. 4.—Last week was given over to the work of rehabilitation of financial conditions and much progress was made towards that end, although there remained many elements of disorder in the situation, owing to the dislocation of exchange facilities in the money and commercial markets. This was inevitable from the shock of the preceding week's events in New York, but the situation has been well in hand and success was met in limiting the range of the disturbance and in the initiation of measures to insure correction and settlements.

Of these the most vital was the large amount of gold secured from foreign countries for imports and now afloat towards New York. The gold engagements have reached the neighborhood of $30,000,000 and in the course of this week this broad stream of replenishment of the reserve fund will flow into New York banks. The feeling that this supply was enroute has done much to fortify confidence, but the actual reviving effect on banking and money operations awaits the arrival of the gold.

Meantime, the example set by New York in the adoption of clearing house certificates for the settlement of balances between the banks, has been followed by the great money centers of the country and has safeguarded the banks from the strain induced by the shock sent through the banking fabric.

Further important relief is looked for from the facilities extended by the comptroller of the currency for the increase of bank note circulation. By allowing the substitution of state and municipal bonds for the government bonds held as collateral for the government's deposits with the banks, the government bonds are made available as security to take out additional bank notes, and this will afford largely increased resources for supplying the urgent requirements for currency, which forms one of the severest trials of the situation.

The conditions which have had to be met in the recent crisis have given a strong impetus to the movement for providing increased bank note currency and is expected to induce early action by congress to authorize new forms of bank note issues.

Nurses and Cancer.

"I find the trained nurses brave enough in most cases of contagious disease," said a Brooklyn doctor, "but there is one thing at which they balk."

"What's that," asked a friend—"smallpox?"

"No; cancer. They have all the untrained woman's horror of that disease. The most faithful of them will go without an engagement for weeks rather than take a cancer case. Yet the peril is slight compared with what they face almost without thought."

"Isn't it contagious?"

"A malignant case is if a scratched hand is brought into contact with the cancer. Three cancers out of four, however, are not malignant and can be dressed without gloves safely. The trained nurses balk at all of them."—Brooklyn Eagle.

NAMES FOR BIG GUNS.

Two Significant Ones That Were Selected and Rejected.

At the Fort Pitt foundry, Fort Pitt, Pa., were cast in 1867 for the monitor Puritan two twenty-inch guns, which Captain W. C. Wise, then chief of the naval bureau of ordnance, proposed to call Satan and Lucifer. This proposition called forth a protest from the pastor of a Presbyterian church at Pittsburg, who characterized it as "most unseemly, if not impious." His letter was referred by the member of congress to whom it was addressed to the department and finally came into the hands of Captain Wise for reply. In answer he called attention to the foreign custom of giving to vessels such names as Jupiter, Juno, Vulcan, Venus, Juggernaut, Inferno and Lucifer and Satan to convey an idea of the power of the destructive agent used in battle. These guns, argued the learned captain, were not intended for peace and the utterance of good will toward men, but to inflict as much mischief and destruction on human beings in time of war as their namesake, the devil, tries to do at all times. He further reminded his clerical critic that a number of clergymen had witnessed without protest his act of "christening" in presence of a large assembly of ladies and gentlemen the first twenty inch gun cast for the navy as Beelzebub. However, the argument did not prevail, for religious sentiment was effective in preventing this use of Biblical nomenclature.—Army and Navy Journal.

TOUGHS OF PARIS.

They Are Known as "Apaches" and Work in Gangs.

Les Apaches—

They work in gangs. In the underworld their associations are complete and distinct. Fame has come to them—to the gang of Bebert of Montparno, of Gegene of the Courtille, the Green Cravats, the Costands of the Villette, the Mont-en-l'air of the Batignolles. Against these bands the police war in vain. They wage their battles in open day—for some "mome" that Bebert has stolen from Gegene. A band comes down from the heights of Belleville or of Charonne and raids a peaceful quarter—a home going cab is surrounded, the passenger stabbed through the window and robbed. They prey on the public. Band wars upon band. There are nightly duels on the fortifications or under the bridges—when the Beau Totor meets Poigne d'Acier, knife to knife, in a savage and not unloyal way. Young all, from sixteen to twenty-two, rarely older. Where do they come from? Everywhere. They grow on the pavements of Paris, along the gutters—foundlings or deserted children, sons perhaps of that laboring class which is on the edge of crime and beggary. The life of the Apache is short, but for every one sent to the jail or the guillotine two stand ready at the door of the slums. They used to haunt the den of the Pere Lunette.—From "The Slums of Paris," by Vance Thompson, in Outing Magazine.

Looks Into Carrier's Conduct.

Bellevue, Mich., Nov. 4.—Postoffice Inspector C. G. Phell of Kalamazoo has been here the past few days investigating the case of Jared H. Sykes, the rural mail carrier deposed by Postmaster W. E. Holt during the recent trouble Sykes caused by refusing to take in his aged mother, who had been sent on here by a well-to-do daughter in the west. Since the incident a substitute has been doing Sykes' route. The inspector will be here again this week.

OBSERVED SABBATH LAWS.

Kansas City Obeys the Statutes to the Letter.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 4.—Never before in the history of Kansas City was the Sabbath so strictly observed by business interests as it was Sunday. All the merchants, who have heretofore defied the state law forbidding unnecessary labor on Sunday, obeyed the Sunday closing order. Theaters, however, were open as usual, as they are protected by injunction proceedings pending in the federal court.

The decision of the merchants to obey the law was brought about by the wholesale arrest of nearly 100 persons, who were indicted by the grand jury Saturday for refusing to comply with the law during the two previous Sundays. The persons arrested were placed under bonds ranging from $600 to $1,000 each.

LATE NEWS NOTES.

The independence of the Republic of Panama was celebrated Sunday with enthusaism, throughout the entire country as well as in the canal zone. Acting President Obaldia inaugurated a new school of arts and trades in Panama city.

There was a great popular demonstration in Christiania, Norway, Sunday in honor of the retiring prime minister, P. C. H. K. Michelsen. Fully 50,000 persons marched in procession through the main streets of the city and gathered about the residence of M. Michelson, who was given an ovation.

A highwayman, armed with a knife, atnight entered five hotels in Prescott, Ariz., fatally wounded a guest who offered resistance, and escaped after robbing a score of persons. The robber first entered te Schuterman hotel, where Robert Lutely resisted the robber's demands for valuables, and was severely cut by his assailant.

As a result of the murder in Talladega, Ala., Saturday night of Tom Thompson, assistant chief of police in that place, Fred Singleton, a negro, was riddled with bullets by pursuers early Sunday. Policeman Otwell was shot in the leg. Two other negroes implicated in the killing of Thompson, were placed in the jail at Sylacauga for safe keeping.

Lighting a Pipe.

A smoker who started to light his pipe on the street turned to his companion and said: "A man told me the other day how to light an ordinary match in a high wind. Let me show you."

There was a stiff breeze blowing. The demonstrator took from his pocket an envelope, struck a parlor match on a rail and shielded it inside of the envelope, facing the wind as he did so. The match burned with hardly a flicker, and the man who held it puffed on his pipe with great satisfaction.

"That's a trick worth knowing," he remarked. "Here's another. Sometimes you get a spark on top of your pipe which the most vigorous puffing fails to spread over the surface of the tobacco. In that case take a piece of paper of almost any kind and hold it down in the spark. This will spread the fire and give you the sort of light a pipe smoker wants."—Providence Journal.

Raking Grass After Mowing.

Some persons advise raking after each mowing. I do not, because the clippings drop down into the grass and form a mulch, which I consider of great benefit. They also help to fertilize the soil. The lawn that is not mowed often enough will not look well after you have been over it with the mower, because there was growth enough to partially hide the sward upon which it falls. This will wither and turn brown in a day or two and greatly detract from the beauty of the lawn. But if you keep your lawn well mowed—and that means going over it at least three times a week in ordinary seasons—the amount clipped off at each mowing will be so slight that there will not be enough of it to show. Let the knife blades be set high enough to leave at least two inches of the foliage.—Outing Magazine.

The Coyote.

One of the most interesting wild animals is the prairie wolf, known in Mexico as the coyote and in the old world as the jackal. It is thirty-six to forty inches long, with a tail measuring sixteen to eighteen inches in length. The color is usually a dull, yellowish gray on the back and sides, with black cloudings. The underpart and inside of the limbs are of a dirty white tint. The voice is a sort of snapping bark, and for this reason the animal is known as the "barking wolf." It is found on the western plains, extending from Mexico to latitude 55 degrees north. It hunts in packs and is very fleet.

Both Were Collectors.

A local newspaper artist got a letter one day from a man over in Indiana who said he was making a collection of sketches. "I have drawings from well known newspaper artists in nearly every state in the Union," the Indiana man wrote, "but I have none from Ohio. I have seen some of your work, and I think it is good. If you will send me some little sketch for my collection I shall have it framed."

The artist noticed from the letterhead that the Indiana man was connected with a bank in one of the small towns over in the state of literature. That gave him a hunch, and he wrote back as follows:

"I am making a collection of ten dollar bills. I haven't secured specimens from every state in the Union, but I have several tens and a few twenties, and I am particularly anxious to have a ten dollar bill from Indiana. I notice that you are employed in a place where ten dollar bills are kept, and if you send me one for my collection I shall be glad to have it framed."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Crowds Hear Gen. Booth Preach.

New York, Nov. 4.—General Wm Booth, the head of the Salvation army, Sunday conducted in this city what was considered to be the most important series of meetings of his present, and probably his farewell American tour. The New Amsterdam theater was crowded to the doors with audiences that represented picturesquely cosmopolitan New York. Each appearance of the general was greeted with fevor characteristic of the organization. He was assisted by Commissioner Adams, formerly of Chicago; Commander Eva Booth, his daughter, who is in charge of the American work, and many other officers of the army. Gen. Booth preached at three of the services—morning, afternoon and evening—and despite his nearly four score years, appeared strong. His voice usually carried throughout the auditorium. He joined lustily in the singing, and once when the bass drummer faltered, the veteran leader commanded him to hit harder.

O'Donnell Not a Expatriate.

Jackson, Mich., Nov. 4.—Hon. James O'Donnell has not joined the ranks of the expatriated Americans. Relatives in the city deny emphatically a story printed that he will hereafter make his home in Vienna. Mrs. O'Donnell's health demanded an ocean voyage, and a European trip of one or possibly two years' duration was decided on. Mrs. O'Donnell's home is still in Jackson, and his business interests are here.

Giving Themselves Away.

Mr. Younghusband (reading from paper)—"Married—Blanche de Smythe to Walter Wellington Beere." What old memories that name awakens! Mrs. Y. (blushing)—I never imagined you knew of my engagement to Walter. Mr. Y. (chillingly)—I was alluding to Blanche.—Illustrated Bits.

An Expensive Rug.

If you are a steady smoker don't throw away your old tobacco bags. By saving them until he had a trunkful a resident of Sixty-second street got busy with a needle and made one of the oddest rugs one would find in a day's walk. Of course this economical genius is an incessant smoker. Often he smoked two bags of tobacco in a day. Then, too, he changed his brand often and in this way got a more highly colored assortment. He told his friends about the rug he had in mind, and they got busy collecting. As a result Mr. Smoker got a big crop each week. In less than six months he had gathered 108 square feet of tobacco bags, which was a nice 9 by 12 rug. He used a piece of thick flannel as a foundation and sewed the bags to it each night on returning from work. On several occasions some of the fellows from the office helped him do the "sewing." It was interesting work. For some unknown reason many of the helpers sewed the bags on backward, but all were finally straightened out, and when the rug was finally laid there was a little celebration in the genius' room. Now as he looks at the rug in silence he prides himself upon his economy. And yet the refreshments that he supplied to keep the workers in good humor and on the night of the "rug laying" cost him $24.50.—Philadelphia Record.

GOVERNOR'S PROCLAMATION

State's Chief Executive Sets Apart Day for Thanksgiving.

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 7.—Governor Fred M. Warner's Thanksgiving day proclamation, setting apart Nov. 28 as the day to eat turkey and rejoice, reads as follows:

"A people who have been as highly favored as those of Michigan in all that makes them free, independent and prosperous, may well, upon one day in each year, assemble to return their thanks for these blessings to Almighty God.

"It is our duty to render tribute of gratitude and thankfulness for the continuance of His divine goodness. To acknowledge these blessings is eminently worthy of an intelligent and enlightened people.

"We have been remembered in mercy during the past year. Our harvests have been abundant to reward the labors of the husbandman and supply the wants of our people; our habitations have been preserved in peace and our families have been protected from pestilence. We still continue in the full enjoyment of those civil, social and religious rights and privileges, the way for which was paved by those who established the custom of observing Thanksgiving day.

"Our observance of this day should not be confined to our churches or family fireside. If the poor and needy, whom we always have with us, share in our abundance, we can thank God with better grace and add to the joy of the family re-union.

"I respectfully recommend that the people of the state suspend their business avocations on the day thus set apart for this grateful service and duty. No business will be transacted on that day at any of the departments of the state government."

Higgins Denied Pardon.

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 7.—The board of pardons has denied the application of John Higgins, life convict at Jackson, for a parole. Higgins was sent up about eight years ago for the murder, at Adrian, of Lafayette Ladd, a wholesale tea dealer of that city.

HEARST IN COURT.

New York Publisher is Charged With Libel.

New York, Nov. 7.—Wm. R. Hearst appeared before Justice Wyatt in the court of special sessions for a hearing on the charge of criminal libel brought against him by former Congressman Wm. Astor Chanler.

Mr. Chanler alleges the libel was contained in a recent article appearing in the New York Evening Journal, concerning the case of Raymond Hitchcock, in which Mr. Chanler's name was mentioned. The complainant, on the stand, denied absolutely that he had ever been at Hitchcock's house when young girls were there. He also denied that he had ever ridden in Hitchcock's automobile at any time. Mr. Chanler said that Hitchcock for the past two years had owned a home near his own at Great Neck, L. I., and that he knew the actor quite well.

At the conclusion of the hearing counsel for Mr. Hearst moved that the case be dismissed.

The justice gave the opposing counsel until next Monday to file briefs, and said he would render a decision next Wednesday.

NO RAILWAY STRIKE.

English Companies Sign Important Agreement With Employes.

London, Nov. 7.—The anticipated railroad strike throughout Great Britain, the idea of which caused so much concern to the British public, has been averted by an agreement drafted by David Lloyd-George, president of the board of trade, and signed by chairmen of the principal railroad companies and representatives of the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants.

The agreement provides for the consideration of further matters in dispute primarily by a sectional board of conciliation representing the various grades of employes and the individual railroads. In case of disagreement settlement will be reached by the board of conciliation and an equal number of men representing the full membership of the society. If the board and these representatives fail to reach a decision the matter then must be settled by arbitration.

The directors of the railroads thus bind themselves to compulsory outside intervention in disputes with their employes. The board will in every case be composed of elected employes of the companies concerned, as well as officers of the various railroads.

Robbery at Springport.

Springport, Mich., Nov. 7.—The postoffice of this village was robbed and partially wrecked about 2 o'clock in the morning by three masked men and about $500 worth of stamps taken. The explosion, when the safe was blown, roused nearly the whole village. A number of armed men turned out, but too late to catch the robbers.

ADVICE TO FILIPINOS.

Taft Explains Self-Government Problems to Legislators.

TELLS WHY CUBANS FAILED.

Was Due to Lack of Interest in Public Affairs—Defeat Must Not Cause Discouragement—Secretary Expects to Return Home Via Europe.

Manila, Nov. 7.—Secretary Taft made an important address at a banquet given by the progress party here. He spoke of the history of a party division and declared that their existence was a necessary part of the changes in the Philippines.

"The only method of conducting popular governments," he said, "is by political parties. The federal party at the time of its organization was in no sense political. When it existed it was the only party organized to convince the people to accept the promises of the Americans. It worked bravely and faithfully to this end and to such an extent that much of the success of the early government of the islands was in no small measure due to the federalists. They sought peace and taught the people to seek peace.

"After the firm establishment of the government had been accomplished a change was natural. In elections for members of the assembly it was natural for the people to divide. Knowing and believing that both the nationalist and progress party have the interests of the government at heart, the question of which shall control is settled only by an election, sometimes casting party influence one way and sometimes another.

"The first principle of party politics necessary to learn is that defeat must not cause discouragement. The first lesson in self-government that voters have to learn is to be good losers, and when that is learned, to be good winners, because self-government composes restraint on both sides.

"The minority must not strive to strike down the work of their opponents because they are not in control, and the majority must so conduct affairs as to show that the people have part in the government. Nothing has given greater pleasure or more confidence in the success of what we are doing than the action of the assembly. All matters up to date have been treated in a conservative manner by both the minority and the majority. All I ask is that the minority, while pointing out the faults of the majority, may always conduct itself with pride, so as to show the assembly is a success."

The secretary referred to mistakes of the Cuban government, due to lack of interest in public affairs on the part of the legislators of that island, and declared that the Philippine assembly showed a difference in this respect.

Secretary Taft says that he expects to return home over the Siberian railway. He thought at first that the troubles at Vladivostok would keep his party away from there. He has received no replies to inquiries he has sent, but regards it as probable that he will stick to his original plans.

Rescued Crew of Disabled Ship.

Muskegon, Mich., Nov. 7.—After the steamer Carrie Ryerson left Sturgeon bay to cross the lake to this port, and when 15 miles out the shaft propeller broke in the heavy seas. From that time the steamer drifted helpless in the storm. It was not until after many hours that the boat was sighted from the life-saving station at Whitehall. The life-savers put out for the wreck at once and reached it in time to save the sailors. They were nearly frozen, but all have recovered since reaching the station. The Ryerson was left drifting, but was soon picked up by the steamer Lizzie Walsh and towed into White Lake harbor.

Two Get Heavy Sentences.

Charlotte, Mich., Nov. 7.—Henry Allman is sentenced to from one to ten years at Ionia, with the recommendation that he serve two years, by Judge Smith. He pleaded guilty to burning the barn of a neighbor. Stacy Boswell of Manistique pleaded guilty to the larceny of a diamond ring at Grand Ledge and is sentenced to from one to five years, with the recommendation of three, to the same institution.

Need More Room.

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 7.—The state railway commission members complain that they are greatly retarded and hampered in their duties by lack of room in the old railway commissioner's office in the capitol where they are quartered. The office was originally intended for a small department. Application has been made to the board of state auditors for other quarters.

HELP FOR THE WEST.

Eastern Financiers Sending Out Money to Move Crops.

HILL ASKS THEM FOR AID.

Arrival of Gold Has Greatly Benefitted Conditions—Runs on Trust Companies Practically Cease—Gold Engagements Abroad Increase.

New York, Nov. 7.—Now that the monetary strain has been lessened locally the New York banks are preparing to ship all available currency to the northwest to aid the movement of crops.

The Chase National bank and the First National bank are shipping daily sums ranging from $25,000 to $50,000. James J. Hill held a conference here with officers of the Chase National bank and other institutions, at which, it is stated, he asked that the northwest be given all possible assistance. Mr. Hill was informed that while the local banks could not furnish the usual amount of money for crop-moving purposes they would do all they could to expedite shipment of cereals to the seaboard, whence they could be sent abroad, and thereby strengthen this country's position in the foreign money markets.

Currency Premium Lower.

The bringing in of $7,000,000 in gold from aboard the Steamer Kronprinzess Cecelile has already proved helpful in expediting the movement of currency to western wheat fields. The premium for currency is lower. It is learned here that the amount of the government deposits directed by Secretary Cortelyou to be placed in St. Paul and Minneapolis is $3,000,000.

The general condition of the financial situation is favorable. The runs on the trust companies have practically ceased under the encouraging influence of the support of the trust company committee; gold engagements are being further increased, and the stock market is buoyant in recognition of these conditions.

Additional gold engagements are announced of $1,500,000. This brings up the total gold engagements for America on the recent movement to $37,500,000, which would afford the amount required for legal reserve against deposits of $150,000,000.

Crowds See Gold Landed.

With no greater ceremony or care than as if the iron-banded, wooden boxes had contained so much weight in tin or others base metal, more than $7,000,000 in gold brought to port by the steamer Kronprinzess Cecellie, was transferred from the strong room of the vessel to Wall street.

Throngs of curious persons gathered at the piers to watch the unloading of the millions.

Bringing $10,000,000 in gold to the relief of the banking and financial situations of this country, the liner Lusitania is hurrying for New York at her swiftest pace. A report from the captain of the Lusitania was received by wireless at the Cunard line office saying that the ship was 919 miles east of Sandy Hook. The Lusitania left Queenstown Sunday. The ship should reach Sandy Hook bar at midnight tonight. If she accomplishes this it will reduce the record time for the passage 2 hours and 22 minutes.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 7.—E. E. Bailey, president of the First National bank, announces that, as a result of a conference between representatives of the Duluth, St. Paul and Minneapolis banks and J. J. Hill, with representatives of New York financial interests, arrangements have been made to secure money for the movement of the bumper northwestern crops. "A large fund has been raised," said Mr. Bailey, "to move the grain crops, and it is hoped that by putting this movement under way it will result in a stream of money from Europe in payment for the shipments."

The French authorities have drawn up an elaborate plan for the purpose of stopping the smuggling of arms into Morocco. It is proposed that the coast and territorial waters be divided into eight sections, each having a port as a center at which a warship and one or more torpedo boat destroyers will be stationed. A Moorish official will be attached to each warship and vessels will be searched only on his orders.

You can't be well if you have a weak unhealthy, tired out stomach. Neither can you feel good if by some little irregularity in eating you have caused the stomach to get out of order. These little stomach troubles are signs of indigestion, which may and very often does turn into a very bad case of dyspepsia. Don't allow this to go on a single day without doing something to overcome it. Take some good reliable and safe digestant like Kodol for dyspepsia. Kodol is the best remedy known today for heart burn, belching and all troubles arising from a disordered digestion. It is pleasant to take and affords relief promptly. Sold by R. J. Pulver.

NEED LARGER SALARIES.

Postmasters in Quick-Growing Towns Have Difficulties to Contend With.

Washington, Nov. 7.—First Assistant Postmaster-General Hitchcock has returned from an extended trip through the west which he took with a view to ascertain at first hand the conditions that prevail in the postal service of that part of the country.

Difficulty has been experienced by the postoffice department in retaining services of efficient and experienced employes, especially clerks and carriers, in many western offices. This condition prevails particularly in the mining regions of the Rocky mountains, where, in the past few years, towns have sprung up almost over night and cities have grown in a few months. In these places prices of everything, including labor, are high. The postoffice employes simply could not afford to work for the salaries paid by the government.

"In several instances," said Mr. Hitchcock, "I learned that postmasters paid considerable sums of money out of their own pockets to maintain the postal service in their town. At Goldfield, Nev., for instance, the postmaster, E. R. Collins, has paid out in this way more money than he has received in salary. He has done so in the performance of what he believed to be a patriotic duty. He said to me: 'I found this condition when I came into the office, and now I propose to see it through.'

"That was a manifestation of pure American grit, but it is unfortunate that such a situation should arise. There is no way by which Postmaster Collins can be reimbursed unless congress should pass a special act for his relief."

It is Mr. Hitchcock's purpose to advocate the adoption by congress of an amendment to the graded salaries law providing that, in exceptional instances, postmasters, on a proper showing to the department, may be allowed to pay salaries to clerks and carriers as of a higher grade than they hold in order that their services may be retained.

Fell Victim of Thugs.

Port Huron, Mich., Nov. 7.—Robert J. Smith, 7[illegible] years old, marine engineer, shot and robbed by thugs at Toledo, O., is dead at St. Joseph's hospital, that city. A widow and five children in this city survive. Smith was one of the best known marine engineers on the lakes.

Port Huron's Election.

Port Huron, Mich., Nov. 7.—In the elections here the republicans elected eight and the democrats three aldermen. The board of estimates is republican. The propositions to reduce the number of saloons from 70 to 40 and to raise the license from $500 to $1,000 were defeated by about 500.

A Stronger Word.

"But, really, now," asked Miss Gusch, "don't you think Mr. Kidder has a delicate wit?"

"It's more than delicate," replied Mr. Chellus; "it's sickly."—Philadelphia Press.

MICHIGAN WELL FIXED.

Has More Than $2,500,000 of Government's Funds in National Banks.

Washington, Nov. 7.—Delegations of business men from various commercial centers are in Washington for the purpose of trying to induce the secretary of the treasury to enlarge the government deposits in their respective cities. The administration, however, believes it is time for these commercial centers to try to do something for themselves.

The books of the treasury show that the government has made generous deposits in all portions of the United States; the danger of a severe flurry is believed to have been avoided, and if the demands of business call for a greater volume of money the national banks have it within their power to meet the situation by taking out circulation to the limit of their authorization.

The 93 national banks of Michigan have national bank notes outstanding to the sum of $7,219,435, yet they have a paid up capital of $13,863,915, and are therefore authorized to take out circulation for $6,714,480 additional by depositing United States bonds to secure it.

Michigan banks have United States deposits of $2,239,568 and deposits of United States disbursing officers amounting to $495,719—more than $2,500,000 of government funds.

Henceforth no statement in regard to national bank failures or suspensions will be given out by the treasury department, although it has long been the custom.

HITCHCOCK RETURNS.

Appears at Theater and Is Given a Demonstrative Welcome.

New York, Nov. 7.—Raymond Hitchcock, the actor, who disappeared several days ago after he had been indicted on charges preferred by several young girls has given himself up. Although the police of the entire eastern section of the United States and Canada searched [illegible] Hitchcock was found [illegible] his own accord. [illegible] by his wife and counsel Hitchcock [illegible] to the court of general sessions where bail was fixed at $7,500 on the six indictments against him.

Hitchcock reassumed his role at the Astor theater last night and was given a demonstrative welcome. The actor looked haggard and ill, and his voice was uncertain as he spoke his lines. Meantime his wife, who plays opposite him, was in tears and with difficulty followed her cue.

Upon one occasion the action called upon Mrs. Hitchcock to shake her husband's hand. As they stood there with hands clasped the cheers were deafening, and for a moment both performers seemed unable to continue. Then Mrs. Hitchcock placed her unengaged hand on her husband's shoulder and kissed him. At this Hitchcock broke down completely, and there were a good many wet eyes in the audience, too.

Country Clothing Store Advertising.

A Country Clothing Store is the next kin to the Home. We meet our customers face to face. The greater part of you we know by name, many of our neighbors, all our friends. Now does it not stand to reason that to make this store a success every transaction must be on the square. We would not misrepresent an article over the counter nor do we exaggerate values in our advertisements. While the diction may not always be perfect you will find the announcements truthful at least.

Take the average Mail Order House and the values often quoted are simply ridiculous. Only the other day a certain Mail Order House advertised a remarkable sale of fine suits at $12.50, regular $15.00 and $18.00 values while in fact we were on the same day selling the same line of suits for $10.00 and if the quality and fit were not in every way satisfactory you could have your money back for the asking. Do Mail Order Houses do this? We think not. We carry one of the largest and finest lines of

Clothing, Men's Furnishings, Fur Coats, Hats, Caps and Shoes

To be found in Southern Michigan.

What we have said about our owu store applies to every store in Clinton. Every business house in Clinton will treat you fairly and give you as much for your money as you can buy anyWhere and we respectfully solicit your trade, either payable in CASH OR CORN. TWO BOYS

Confess to damage in Macon.

Jas. Miller aged 20 years, and Albert Foster, 18, confessed yesterday to the damage done in Macon village last Sunday night. The boys threw stones through the windows of several business places and residences in Macon village. Beside breaking every window in the school house they broke in the doors and otherwise damaged the building so there has been no school since. Sherriff Holt and his men have been working since last Monday and not until yesterday did they get any clue.

AMUSEMENTS.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin," like wine, grows better with age. From its first production at the National Theatre, New York, Aug 23, 1852, up to the present time, it has been one of the best drawing cards known. Instead of falling off, the patronage has increased to such an extent that the theatres are too small to accommodate the crowds it draws. While the drama bears the distinction of being the greatest ever written it has been most shamefully abused.

Mr Al. W. Martin was the first manger to realize that a revival of the play if properly mounted and carefully presented, would renew its former success and placed the production on a scale of magnificence which has never been equaled. Many managers copied from the Martin production but have failed in reaching its standard. Mr. Martin will this year bring the grandest revival ever seen to the theatre. The company, all white, numbers 50 people, including a chorus of 20 and every piece of scenery and electrical effect required to dress the play are carried. New Bradley opera house Friday, Nov. 15.

Masonic School of Instruction.

The school of instruction called at Tecumseh for Thursday, Oct. 31st, was largely attended, about 225 being present on that occasion. Manchester and Clinton lodges conferred the first and second degrees respectively and after a five o'clock dinner served to all brothers, Tecumseh lodge No. 69 proceeded to confer the third degree.

R. W. Grand Lecturer Gilbert was present, also M. W. Grand Master Sweet of Grand Rapids, and the Senior Grand Deacon. At the end of the work several talks were given, chief among which was that of Grand Master Sweet, whose words went deep and many a brother must have gone forth a better man and Mason. Besides Manchester and Clinton there were a number of visiting brothers from other outside lodges and an enjoyable and instructive evening was spent by all attending.

A hard debt to pay.

"I owe a debt of gratitude that can never be paid" writes G. E. Clark of Westfield, Ia., "for my rescue from death by Dr. King's New Discovery. Both lungs were seriously affected and death seemed imminent when I commenced taking this remedy. The ominous hacking cough quit before the first bottle was used and two more bottles cured me." Nothing has ever equaled New Discovery for colds, throat and lung complaints. Guaranteed by C. A. Wright & Son, druggists. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

Miss Lelah Rogers led the meeting last evening.

The age of legal capacity to marry in England is much lower than in Italy. The English law has adopted in this respect a law of Roman and even Athenian origin, by which the ages of fourteen and twelve were fixed as the marriageable ages of males and females, respectively. In Italy the age is fixed by the civil code at eighteen and fifteen. Formerly the age of spousals in England was as low as seven for both sexes, but such marriage was not considered perfect, for the parties might disagree to it when they arrived at the mature age of twelve or fourteen.

AS OTHERS THINK.

Everyone in Tecumseh has a righ to his own opinion.

While everyone has a right to his own opinion, yet it is wise to always consider what others think and profit by their experience.

Nothing makes life so miserable, or interferes so widely with the usefulness of the average American, as indigestion, and it is well for us to give fair consideration, to what others thinks about this remarkable affliction.

C. A. Wright & Son are positive that in Mi-o-na stomach tablets they have an absolute cure for indigestion and the many disagreeable symptoms that follow that disease, such as distress after eating, coated tongue, bad taste in the mouth, dizziness, flatulence, nervousness and debility.

Their action in selling Mi-o-na on a guarantee to refund the money unless it cures, shows plainly their belief in the value of this remedy. They take all the risk and there will be no charge whatever for Mi-o-na unless you are satisfied that it has relieved you of indigestion.

Mi-o-na wakens up the stomach muscles and strengthens them so that they take care of all the food you eat in a natural, healthy way, without pain or distress after meals.

It costs but 50 cents a box and does more real good than a dozen boxes of the ordinary digestive tablets. The absolute, unqualified guarantee of C. A. Wright & Son shows his faith in the value of Mi-o-na.

IT'S ALWAYS BAD.

The best of backs are bad when they ache and Tecumseh people know it.

A bad back is always bad.
Bad at night when bedtime comes.
Just as bad in the morning.
Ever try Doan's Kidney Pills for it?
Know they cure backache—cure every kidney ill?
If you don't, some people do.
Read a cure of it:

Mrs. Geo. Trachont, living on Oneida street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I take great pleasure in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills. Last fall I began to have a great deal of trouble with my kidneys causing intense pain in the small of my back and extending to the shoulder blades. At times when I would bend over, sharp stitches of pain would catch me and I would not be able to straighten for a few seconds. At night, I could not sleep on account of the frequent action of the kidneys. I doctored for a while with a physician but received no benefit to speak of. I heard a great deal about the good results affected by Doan's Kidney Pills so I got a box and began using them. I soon noticed the good effects and continued taking until entirely cured. I cheerfully recommend them to anyone afflicted with kidney trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no other.

Constitutional Convention Journal to Be Well Distributed.

MORE PROPOSALS COME IN.

Delegate Burton Advances Unusual Plan for Convening of Legislature—Legislative Committee Determined on Abolishment of State Census.

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 7.—About ten thousand copies of the daily journal and journal of debates are to be sent out each day to spread broadcast the proceedings of the constitutional convention, the delegates believing that this publicity will be worth the money expended.

Forty-one proposals sent to the secretary's desk Wednesday made the largest number received at any one session, and there is no indication that the flood will abate.

Among the latest is one by Delegate Burton of Detroit providing that the legislature shall meet ten days for the introduction of bills, send copies of all of them out to the people, then adjourn for a year when the houses shall re-convene, consider and prepare for passage the proposed laws, and then again adjourn until the following November to give the people another opportunity to scrutinize the bills before they are finally acted upon.

Another resolution gives county officers four-year terms, but makes them ineligible for re-election, and still another proposes that this also apply to governor and lieut.-governor. The prohibition of creation and issuance of watered stock is another proposal. Civil service rules to govern in the election of all state, county and municipal officers is the subject of one.

The legislative committe has definitely decided to recommend the abolishment of the state census.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys, and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Manila, Nov. 11.—The departure of Secretary of War Taft from this city on the cruiser Rainbow for Vladivostok was attended by a remarkable demonstration by the Filipinos. The horses were withdrawn from the carriage in which were seated Mr. and Mrs. Taft, and it was pulled by Manila schoolboys to the dock through cheering crowds of citizens. Mr. Taft before starting reviewed a long military, civic, and school parade, and made a brief address, in which he thanked the people for their reception, praised the course of the assembly and expressed his confidence in the future of the island.

A feature of the visit of Secretary of War Taft was the presence of Aguinaldo at several of the functions. Discussing the probable results of the visit of Mr. Taft, Aguinaldo said:

"It is my belief that the benefits to follow his visit to the people of the Philippines will be greater than they can recognize at the present time. I am confident that it has done great good. The opening of the assembly has gone a long way to cement the friendship of my people with the people of the United States.

"As a fulfillment of a solemn promise, which many thought would not be fulfilled, the secretary did not bring independence for my people in his pocket, but he brought the means of attaining. He told us how we can get it. The Filipinos are thankful for the information, and pleased at what the assembly has done, especially in the interests of legislation, education and agriculture."

OUTLOOK IS BRIGHT.

Past Week in Finances, However, Has Been Strenuous One.

New York, Nov. 11.—The most eventful week in the financial history of the present generation has just passed with conditions much clearer than a week before, but with some clouds still hanging over the financial horizon. The previous week had closed with the disquieting announcement that the New York bank reserves had lost $30,000,000 in cash in spite of deposits by the government during the week of a nearly equal sum, representing a net cash loss of $60,000,000.

A week-end bank statement changes this situation. While it shows a nominal decrease in required reserves of $13,085,000 more than two-thirds of this decrease is due to the reserve requirements caused by increase in deposits because of the taking over of loans from the trust companies by the banks. Moreover, the actual cash loss of $4,313,000 is due to the system of averaging accounts for the entire week including several days before the arrival of the new gold. Unless demands from the country are very heavy during the week the arrival of additional gold will more than offset the loss of cash last week and make a creditable showing at the end of this week.

The restoration of comparative security in New York was obtained only by demands upon the money markets of Europe.

The cotton movement has been a good deal congested by the absence of small bills in the southern banks, but everything possible is being done by the secretary of the treasury and New York bankers to aid the southern banks in meeting the situation. The same is true in regard to grain.

New York bankers are sending forward to the west and south 5il the currency they can spare. One of the favorable features of the situation is the relatively small number of failures of national banks as compared with the record of 1893.

The week opens with the banking situation in New York cleared up so far as any danger of further failures or suspensions is concerned, with the banking reserves comparatively intact, and with more than $25,000,000 on the ocean to strengthen them during the coming week.

ADVISES PRESIDENT.

Chicago Attorney Has Solutions for Financial Problems.

ROOSEVELT SEES THE POINT.

Eugene Prussing Would Put Interstate Commerce Corporations Under National Control and Make National Banks Trust Company Competitors.

Washington, Nov. 11.—Eugene E. Prussing, the well-known Chicago lawyer, for three years president of the Citizens' association there, called on the president and presented his views on corporate reforms.

The president read and discussed with interest the brief statement which Prussing submitted.

In part it is as follows:

"Currency reforms, anti-trust law amendments and railroad regulation naturally will claim the first places in congress' attention. General corporation reform in its various phases may fairly be classed second in importance. Long and varied experience in corporation matters leads me to offer these suggestions.

"The first question, that of jurisdiction of the federal government, will, in each instance, be the challenge of the opposition. Successful effort, therefore, must be along the line of the least resistance, that is to say, in harmony with the principles of states' rights and loyal government, as well as the sentiments based upon these even if extreme.

"National control of interstate commerce corporations, as distinguished from national incorporations of all or most corporations, will be readily granted by most men of both parties.

Compulsory Publicity.

"Compulsory publicity of accounts, the subjection of books, papers and plans to inspection, etc., of government officials, will easily be accomplished.

"The new step advised by the Association of Attorneys-General, slightly modified, will be in the right direction, and will be approved by states' rights men and federalists alike.

"The association recommends that the right to hold stock in any other corporation should be denied to all interstate commerce corporations.

"It seems to me that the purpose of this, namely, to compel the real owners of a corporation to do business in their own name, can be achieved by requiring the corporation so owning stock in another and the corporation in which it owns stock to list such owners and stockholders respectively in every case in the department of commerce. Thus honest holding companies will be permitted, and yet protected against possible assault of local taxation or other unjustly discriminating laws, just as national bank are now, while the public in turn will have knowledge of whom it is dealing with and can protect itself.

"The change of all state banks and trust companies to national banks, which can be accomplished by a single amendment of the national banking act, will also be popular, and can be along states' rights lines.

Competition For Trust Companies.

"Thus every national bank becomes the full competitor of state banks and trust companies, and soon the latter will be forced to become national banks.

"Go at the general corporation problem in a similar manner. Enlist the states' rights men on your side. Keep the subject of incorporation and ordinary control local—a state concern—make the local laws harmonious, if possible, by appointing a commission to investigate the entire subject."

At the end of the interview the president said: "And now, my dear sir, I want to pay you a compliment. I did not expect you to give me a single thing—instead of that, you have given me several practical suggestions in concrete form—some of which are entirely new. I shall study them with pleasure. I may say you will soon see them reflected somewhere."

Fear and the Hair.

That fear will cause the hair to stand on end has been known through the centuries, ever since a spirit passed before the face of Job's comforter, Eliphaz, the Temanite, and "the hair of my flesh stood up." At the execution of a horse stealer in 1825 the man's spiritual attendant noticed that when his hands were tied "his hair—long, lanky, weak iron gray hair—arose gradually and stood perfectly upright and so remained for some short time and then as gradually fell down." Cardinal Pacca saw Pius VII.'s hair stand erect from anger, and Ecclesiasticus records that "the talk of him that sweareth much maketh the hair stand upright."

FOREST MEN MEET.

Experts of Renoun Gather at Saginaw.

MUCH TO BE DISCUSSED.

They Will Begin Campaign For Promulgation of Reforestration of Both Public and Private Lands In This and Other States.

Saginaw, Mich., Nov. 11.—Leading forestry experts of the United States and Canada will be here for the forestry meeting Tuesday and Wednesday to promulgate an active campaign for the reforestration of both public and private lands throughout Michigan and other states.

A heavy representation of the Michigan State Forestry association, having a membership of 300; the state forestry commission, including Prof. Filibert Roth of the University of Michigan, W. B. Mershon and C. W. Garfield of Saginaw, and Gov. Warner's special commission of nine members, appointed last spring, will be on hand.

Minnesota, Wisconsin and New York forestry commissions will be represented, and experts from Quebec and Ontario will be heard. The convention will consider reforestration from the standpoint of state and private initiative, taxation of forests and pine barrens, and their protection from fire and other destroying agents. Dr. B. E. Fernow of Toronto will lead the discussion on "Taxation and our forests." Gen C. C. Andrews, forestry commissioner of Minnesota, will also be a speaker.

At the East Saginaw club Wednesday night a conference will be held with a view of determining what statute changes are needed to successfully inaugurate private reforestration; whether emphasis shall be placed on state or private reforestration; whether taxation should be based on the ground, harvest, or income plan; regulation of tax rates; a plan of assessment; proper exemption; prevention of fraud in forest taxation; a reasonable expense per acre for fire protection, and whether it shall be done by wardea or patrol; stringency of fire laws; the policy of placing a maximum price on state lands; best form of state forestry administration; how private investments in growing forests may be induced; whether the state shall employ experts, and the advisability of bringing up forestry in farmers' institutes.

TWO MEN ARRESTED.

Soo Police Believe They Have Captured "Black Hand" Letter Writers.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Nov. 11.—The police of the two Soos believe they have rounded up the writers of "Black Hand" letters in the arrest of Harry Smith and Harry Howard alias Ashcroft. Both are in jail at the Canadian Soo. A search of the men and their baggage brought to light burglar tools and an outfit for writing checks.

Smith was arrested at a shoe store while trying to pass a bogus check, it is alleged, and when Chief of Police Downey called he is said to have pulled a gun and tried to escape. At headquarters a search brought to light four knives and three more bogus checks.

Howard was arrested at the Queen's hotel, and in his effects were notes in a book indicating, the police believe, that he wrote the "Black Hand" letters which have been terrorizing local citizens.

The police also found on them a quantity of fuses and nitro-glycerin, and as the men were seen in the vicinity of banks, it is believed they were planning a robbery.

Detroit, Nov. 11.—Charles Clarke, on trial for the murder of Horton Warren five years ago, was convicted before Judge Phelan, and immediately sentenced to life imprisonment in Jackson prison. Clarke took the sentence without noticeable emotion. Fearing that Clarke would strangle himself to death, as a fellow prisoner claimed Clarke said he intended to do, the convicted man was taken to Jackson at once.

When a woman's husband is a joke it is little wonder she can't see one.

Cured of Bright's disease.

Robt. O. Burke, Elnora, N. Y., writes "Before I started to use Foley's Kidney Cure I had to get up 12 and 20 times a night, and I was all bloated up with dropsy and my eyesight was so impaired I could scarcely see one of my family across the room. I had given up hope of living, when a friend recommended Foley's Kidney Cure. One 50c bottle worked wonders and before I had taken the third bottle the dropsy had gone, as well as all other symptoms of Bright's disease." Sold by all druggists in Tecumseh.

Self made men are usually egotists, because they worship their creator.

You can't be well if you have a weak unhealthy, tired out stomach. Neither can you feel good if by some little irregularity in eating you have caused the stomach to get out of order. These little stomach troubles are signs of indigestion, which may and very often does turn into a very bad case of dyspepsia. Don't allow this to go on a single day without doing something to overcome it. Take some good reliable and safe digestant like Kodol for dyspepsia. Kodol is the best remedy known today for heart burn, belching and all troubles arising from a disordered digestion. It is pleasant to take and affords relief promptly. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

Truth, in general, may be relative—but it never borrows money.

The postmaster of Gasconade, Mo., Daniel A. Bugh, says of DeWitt's kidney and bladder pills. "I am doing so well and improving so fast in health that I cannot say too much for your kidney and bladder pills. I feel like a new man." DeWitt's kidney and bladder pills are sold by B. J. Pulver.

Star gazing doesn't pay unless you are an astronomer.

The new pure food and drug law.

We are pleased to announce that Foley's Honey and tar for coughs, colds and lung troubles is not affected by the National pure food and drug law as it contains no opiates or other harmful drugs, and we recommend it as a safe remedy for children and adults. Sold by all druggists in Tecumseh.

Things above criticism are never beneath notice.

There is nothing better for stomach troubles than Kodol, which contains the same juices found in a healthy stomach. Kodol is offered on a guaranteed plan for the relief of heart burn, flatulence, sour stomach, belching of gas, nausea and all stomach troubles. So at times when you don't feel just right, when you are drowsy after meals and your head aches or when you have no ambition and you are cross and irritable, take a little Kodol. It digests what you eat. It will make you healthy. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

It's queer how anxious people are to lend you money when you don't need it.

Babies and children need prompt attention when suffering from coughs and colds. The best remedy for mothers to use is Kennedy's laxative cough syrup. It tastes nearly as good as maple sugar, it contains no opiates and it is laxative and drives the cold out of the system by gently moving the bowels. Sold by B. J. Pulver.

And the heiress who marries a title seldom gets her money's worth.

This is worth remembering.

As no one is immune, every person should remember that Foley's kidney cure will cure any case of kidney or bladder trouble that is not beyond the reach of medicine. For sale by all druggists in Tecumseh.

If you don't tell people how good you are a lot of them will never suspect it.

INK THAT NEVER DRIES.

Care Used in Handling Fine Etchings and Engravings.

[illegible] of the first things we have to impress upon new users of our inks is that [illegible] are not meant for writing purposes. We [illegible] that "the ink used in printing engravings and etchings is totally novel ones. Of all the [illegible] works in this line we assume it can be safely said that on the prints of only two of them—Rembrandt and Durer—has the ink [illegible]. And you know it is a long time since they were alive. It has [illegible] experience to have [illegible] 500 years old show signs that the ink used had some moderate [illegible] as we have learned to our cost in using about rubbish.

"An engraver, whether he be a modern [illegible] or a master engraver, can tell at a glance that a print has had another one pulled across it, for the ink accumulated on the [illegible] edge of the lines, where the ink has been drawn across a blank piece of the paper are as clear as daylight. This is why we keep all our prices in [illegible] just in the case that they must be lifted out squarely with no danger of their being dragged across the [illegible]. It seems like a trifle, but it is just such trifles that make or mar the sale of a really fine print worth thousands of dollars."—New York Press.

A CORDIAL NATURE.

If It Is Not Yours, Do Your Best to Acquire It.

The cultivation of cordiality and popularity early in life will have a great deal to do with one's advancement, comfort and happiness.

It is a most [illegible] thing to have a kindly feeling in the depths of one's heart and yet not be able to express it, to repel people when one has just the opposite feeling toward them. To be incased in an icy exterior with a really warm heart is a most unfortunate thing.

Some people have a repelling expression in their faces and manner which is a constant embarrassment to them, but they do not seem able to overcome it. This is largely due to a lack of early training or to the fact that sometimes these people have been reared in the country, away from the great centers of civilization, where they do not have the advantages of social intercourse, and in consequence become cold and appear unsympathetic when they are really the opposite.

It is a very difficult thing to overcome these handicaps, but the cultivation of good will, of a helpful spirit and kindly feeling toward everybody will go far to offset the hard exterior so that the soul can express itself.—Success Magazine.

The Horse's Ancestors.

Lovers of horses may be delighted with the distinguished genealogy which geologists have compiled for that favored animal. At least the names of the horse's ancestors look very distinguished. Here is the list, with the geological eras in which each lived, as arranged by Professor W. N. Rice: The line of descent begins with Hyracotherium and Eohippus of the lower eocene age. Then follow Protorohippus and Orohippus of the middle eocene; Epihippus of the upper eocene; Mesohippus of the oligocene; Anchitherium of the lower miocene; Parahippus, Protohippus and Pliohippus of the middle and upper miocene, and finally Equus of the pliocene and the quaternary, from which the modern horse directly descends. Hipparion and Hippidium represented ancient side branches that died without descendants.

More Laughter, Less Suicides.

The physiological benefits of laughter cannot be overestimated. It shakes up the diaphragm, sets the pulses beating to a lively measure, stimulates the blood corpuscles, enlivens the brain and sometimes produces dislocation of the jaw when indulged in too heartily by a man with a large mouth. Used with discretion, laughter is as inspiring as a sea breeze, as refreshing as an August shower. Its moral effect is beyond computation. It has killed more ridiculous superstitions by its rollicking roars of unbelief than any other agency. What can be more derisive than a laugh? The man who laughs never kills himself.—Exchange.

Living Up to His Name.

A teacher in a mission school in Boston had among her pupils a colored boy named Ralph Waldo Emerson Longfellow. As he was absent one Sunday, she asked the class if any one knew the reason for his absence.

"I reckon I do," said one small, serious looking boy.

"What is the reason, Johnnie?"

"I guess he's home writing poetry," responded the boy, with a delighted chuckle.—Youth's Companion.

That's What Makes Him Mad.

Love Is King.

Love is the great disciplinarian, the supreme harmonizer, the true peacemaker. It is the great balm for all that blights happiness or breeds discontent. It is a sovereign panacea for malice, revenge and all the brutal propensities. As cruelty melts before kindness, so the evil passions find their antidote in sweet charity and loving sympathy.—Success Magazine.

LIVING IN PARIS.

The Way One Rents an Apartment in the French Capital.

An apartment should be seen on a sunny day before engaging, and it is not legally secured until papers are signed. The lease is on a quarterly basis. Payments are made in advance the 15th of January, April, June and October and occupancy given up to these dates. But when intending to leave the tenant should give his three months' notice before the first day of these months. Failure to do this and neglect of the governmental tribute of a stamped paper hold him to a further three months' liability, as many a rueful American can witness. To avoid this it is merely needful to buy a stamped sheet of paper for 8 cents of the tobacconist, legal vender of all stamps, write the notice thereon and give it to the landlord personally or send it to him by registered letter. The concierge, although he collects the rent and has full charge of the house, is neither authorized to let the apartment nor to receive notices. In the paper signed by tenant and landlord the former guarantees to return the apartment in good condition, and if it is freshly papered, painted and waxed there will doubtless be something to pay on leaving, but care and economy in nail holes make the damages slight.—Circle Magazine.

VENUS OF MILO.

The Famous Ancient Statue in the Louvre at Paris.

The Venus of Milo in the Louvre, Paris, is supposed by some to be the work of Alexandros, one of the Asiatic Greek sculptors. It is said that the base of the statue bearing the artist's name was destroyed for the purpose of causing the king of France to believe that the work was more ancient than it really was.

It was discovered on the island of Milo in 1820 by a peasant. It was in a niche in a wall which had been buried for years. The Marquis of Rivere bought it and gave it as a present to Louis XVIII. of France. It is made from two blocks of marble joined above the drapery which envelops the legs. As it now stands it has two blemishes, which have been repaired by modern artists. The tip of the nose was broken when it was found and also the foot which projects beyond the drapery.

In point of fact, it has a great deal more resemblance to a goddess than to a beautiful woman. At one time it was dressed in clothes of a modern sort, and the effect was anything but pleasing. The figure of the statue is not at all adapted to modern clothes.—New York Tribune.

Why He Did Not Marry.

As a reason for not marrying Brahms once wrote to a friend: "At the time when I should have wished to marry, my compositions were either hissed at or at any rate very coolly received. I knew their worth, though, and that sooner or later the page would be turned, and in unmarried solitude I never really took my reverses to heart. But to be questioned by a wife at such moments, to have her inquiring eyes anxiously fixed upon me, to hear her ask, 'Again a fiasco?' no, that I could never have borne, for, however much she loved me and believed in me, I could not have expected her to have unwavering faith in my subsequent victory. And had she attempted to console me! Ugh! I can't even think of it. It would have been little less than hell!"—Monthly Review.

Convenient Arrangement.

"What are you buying now?"

"I am looking for some present to give my wife on her birthday. I tell you, making presents costs a heap of money."

"Why don't you do as I do? I have never failed to make my wife a present on her birthday every year for twenty-five years, and I am not out a penny thus far."

"How do you manage it?"

"It is very simple. After we were married, when her birthday came round, I gave her a £5 note. When my birthday came round, she gave me the note back, and we have kept that up ever since, and neither of us is out a penny."—London Tit-Bits.

Like Calling For a Drink.

A hard drinker was told by his doctor that he could be cured if every time he felt that he must have a drink he would immediately take something to eat instead. The man followed the advice and was cured, but the habit of asking for food had become so fixed with him that once he was nearly locked up as a lunatic. He was stopping at a hotel, and, hearing a great commotion in the room next to his, he peeped over the transom to see what the matter was. He saw and rushed madly down to the office and shouted to the clerk: "The man in 153 has shot himself! Ham and egg sandwich, please!"

Gets Damages Against Doctor.

Paw Paw, Mich., Nov. 11.—In her suit for $25,000 against Drs. Charles L. Bennett of Globeville and Richard Smith of Grand Rapids, for alleged malpractice, Bertha K. Brown of Globeville has been awarded $625 by a circuit court jury. The trial was based on an operation performed by the doctors. A stay of proceedings was granted and the case will be taken to the supreme court.

Miners Will Not Strike.

Houghton, Mich., Nov. 11.—Miners employed at the Calumet & Hecla copper mines will not strike. They unanimously voted not to quit work, but to continue under the wage reduction of 12 1-2 per cent made necessary by the decrease in the price of copper.

The First Boat.

At first when a man wanted to cross a deep stream he was compelled to swim across. But man at best is a poor swimmer, and it was not long before he invented a better method of traveling on water. A log drifting in a stream furnished the hint. By resting his body upon the log and plashing with his hands and feet he found he could move along faster and easier. Thus the log was the first boat and the human arm was the first oar.—S. E. Forman in St. Nicholas.

A Display of Tact.

"Pa, what's tact?"

"I'll tell you. If Mr. Dullwich, our minister, should some day announce that he would resign unless we raised his salary he would not show tact, but if he hinted that he intended to remain here and preach to us all his life unless we gave him a raise he would exhibit tact in the highest degree. I hope you understand."—Chicago Record-Herald.

The Water Bottle's Shape.

Three useful purposes—and probably many more than three—are served by making the familiar water bottle of such a distinctive pattern. In the first place the narrowness of the neck prevents the entry of much dust that would inevitably settle on the water were the entire surface exposed; in the next place the same narrowness prevents excessive and rapid evaporation of the water, and in the third place the shape of the neck makes it a capital handle, thus doing away with the necessity for a separate handle fastened to the body of the bottle, a course that would render it much less convenient and more liable to be broken.—Pearson's.

Ideals.

He kissed her hand.

She withdrew it hastily and gazed reproachfully at him.

"I didn't think it of you!" she said, almost tearfully. "I had always considered you a young man with ideals, and"—

"I—I am sorry if I have offended," he stammered. "I"—

"Well," she said bitterly, "I certainly expected you to aim higher."

So he took heart and made new resolutions and things.—Brooklyn Eagle.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

The Secretary of Commerce and Labor has sent to various similar organizations an invitation to send representatives to a meeting to be held in Washington next month to consider ways and means whereby that department may be made of greater usefulness to the business interests of the country. It is generally conceded that the move is one which should meet with the support of the business men of the country.

Officials of the treasury department express the belief that the financial situation has cleared up greatly and that the serious stage of the money stringency has passed.

Senator Heyburn of Idaho, visited the President Thursday and complained that the treasury department was not handling the financial situation properly because New York was being favored at the expense of the west and he urged the the President to direct that no more money be deposited in New York banks until those banks shall have paid in currency the reserves held by the western banks. The senator put his request in writing.

More than ordinary interest is felt in military circles as to the fate of the suggestion of a transfer of the Coast Artillery from the war to the navy department. The details of a bill to be submitted to Congress are now being worked out. Secretary Tafft has not as yet committed himself to the new program further than to authorize the preparation of the bill.

The annual report of Brig. Gen. G. F. Elliott, commandant of the Marine Corps, was made public on Thursday and in it the general sets forth the absolute necessity for a reorganization of the corps and an increase in both officers and men.

Last Wednesday occurred the marriage of Mrs. Luella Bagley to Mr. W. G. Miller of Tecumseh, at the home of H. C. Reynolds and wife on Riley street. Mrs. Miller has been well and favorably known in Dundee and vicinity for several years and has many friends here who will wish her a long and happy married life. The happy couple left for a two week's trip to Marlette and intervening points. Their future home will be in northern Ohio where Mr. Miller is a successful furnace salesman.—Congratulations.—Dundee Reporter.

Success Lies in Results
What REXALL Has Done:

In a little over three years REXALL Remedies have become the most widely known and trusted medicines in the world—have scored the biggest success in the history of the drug business.

Why?

Because they're made of the purest drugs—but not that alone.

Because the most skilled pharmacists that can be employed make them—but not that alone.

Because they are based on the prescriptions of the most successful physicians in the world—but not that alone.

Because they represent the combined wisdom and experience of over a thousand of the foremost retail druggists in this country, of which we are one,—but not that alone.

All these things have been indispensable.

They CURE—that's why.

Every one of the three hundred REXALL Remedies is a tested and proved success for the particular ailment it is designed to cure—one for each human ill. They're not "cure-alls."

Not patent medicines, either—we'll tell you the formula of any one of them if you want to know it.

We can hold up any REXALL Remedy before you and honestly say: "We know what this is made of and all about it. It has cured thousands. It will cure you. Our reputation, the possession of your good will, our whole business existence depends on this REXALL Remedy giving satisfaction to you."

Isn't that what you want to buy, rather than the sort for which you can hold no one in sight responsible?

A few of the 300 famous REXALL Remedies, one for each human ill, are:

FOR NERVES — AMERICANITIS ELIXIR

The Rexall Americanitis Elixir is a tonic nerve food composed chiefly of free Phosphorus, Glycophosphates, Iron Pyrophosphate and Calisaya.

The wonderful results of this remedy are due to the fact that it supplies Phosphorus to the nerve cells in a condition in which it can be immediately and easily taken up by them.

The Glycophosphates, actual nerve-tissue builders, are one of the most recent and valuable additions to this branch of medicine and unquestionably a more efficient remedy than the well-known Hypophosphites.

The Iron Pyrophosphates are the most easily assimilated form of iron which give tone and color, and the combined alkaloids of Calisaya Bark have a tonic effect on almost all the functions of the body. 75c. and $1.50 a bottle.

REXALL "93" HAIR TONIC

The famous Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is composed in chief of Resorcin, Beta Naphthol and Pilocarpin.

Resorcin is one of the latest and most effective germ-killers discovered by science, and in connection with Beta Naphthol, which is both germicidal and antiseptic, a combination is formed which not only destroys the germs which rob the hair of its nutriment, but creates a clean and healthy condition of the scalp, which prevents the development of new germs.

Pilocarpin is a well-known agent for restoring the hair to its natural color, where the loss of color has been due to a disease of the scalp. It is not a coloring matter or dye.

This combination of curatives mixed with alcohol as a stimulant, perfects the most effective remedy for hair and scalp troubles known today. Per bottle, 50c.

"REXALL" ORDERLIES
The New Laxative

If you suffer from constipation or a sluggish liver, we want you to try this newest member of the Rexall family. It has never failed.

"Rexall" Orderlies have all the virtues and none of the defects of those laxatives and cathartics already known. They are harmless vanilla-flavored tablets that effect a re-adjustment of Nature's functions—no griping, no nausea, no purging. Pleasant to the taste—they give immediate relief.

A trial will prove to you that they are the best laxative and cathartic ever prescribed.

Fred Merkle, the New York Giants' base ball player, who is coaching the Toledo high school foot ball squad, has done wonderfully well in building up a defense. Toledo held Findlay three times in Friday's game at critical times. Merkle has put life into the team and it now may win a few games. He is getting the players in shape for a game against Detroit Central high in Detroit next Saturday.

We will open our new grocery store on Saturday, Nov. 16th. We cordially invite you to come and look over our new stock, everything new and fresh. The National Biscuit Co. of Toledo, O., will be here to demonstrate their full line of sweet goods and crackers. The Gasser Coffee Co. will also be here and serve Kar-a-van coffee. Everyone welcome. AMUSEMENTS.

An event looked forward to with more than ordinary interest theatrically is the coming of Al W. Martin's revival of Harriet Beecher Stowe's lovable story of "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Mr. Martin's reputation as a promoter of this big production is well known to theatregoers, but few are aware that the coming event is one of the most gigantic and elaborate that has ever been attempted in America. Not only does Mr. Martin promise to bring a company of fifty white people, but a car load of scenery, ponies, horses, bloodhounds, etc., for the piece. "Uncle Tom's Cabin" will hold the boards at the New Bradley opera house Friday, Oct. 15.

The Annihilation of Distance.

How much nearer to each other the nations of the world are today than they were a few decades ago! When weeks and months were required to get news from across the ocean, the old world seemed to be a long way off. Now the whole earth is belted with telegraph and cable lines and yesterday's happenings in Europe, Asia, Africa, Australia, South America and the islands of the sea are read at this morning's breakfast table. Distance is annihilated and the nations are becoming friendly neighbors in consequence. The marvelous change is brought home to the mind most strikingly upon reading a modern newspaper whose telegraphic news covers the whole world each day—a paper such as the Chicago Record-Herald, which has a veritable army of correspondents in every important city. In addition to its own staff of correspondents the Record-Herald has the benefit of the foreign news service of the New York Herald, famous for its world wide cable system and the reliability of its foreign news; also that of the New York World and the New York Journal of Commerce, besides that great co-operative news-gathering organization, the Associated Press.

A hard debt to pay.

"I owe a debt of gratitude that can never be paid" writes G. E. Clark of Westfield, Ia., "for my rescue from death by Dr. King's New Discovery. Both lungs were seriously affected and death seemed imminent when I commenced taking this remedy. The ominous hacking cough quit before the first bottle was used and two more bottles cured me." Nothing has ever equaled New Discovery for colds, throat and lung complaints. Guaranteed by C. A. Wright & Son, druggists. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

The "Church of the Saints" has purchased a pipe organ and now Hogan's Hill will be flooded in one overwhelming wave of enchanting melody. Why this was done we can't understand, for Micks are plenty there and what's more of a pipe organ than the hole beneath an Irishman's nose?—Ex.

Clarence Wilson who worked in the sugar beet factory in Blissfield, was so badly injured last Sunday morning that he died Sunday afternoon. It is thought that he fell onto a revolting belt, which threw him with such force that his skull and several bones were fractured and he was internally injured. He was found by his father, Irving Wilson, who worked in the same building. The funeral was held Wednesday. Deceased was 17 years of age.

ROUND ABOUT US.

Mrs. Mary Osborne, mention of whose mishap in the breaking of a hip recently, was made in last week's issue, died Thursday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. M. D. Hare, at 54 North McKenzie street, about the time the paper went to press. She was aged 82 years. In addition to her daughter, she leaves a son, E. E. Osborn of 111 east Maume street. The funeral was held Sunday morning at 10 o'clock and the remains were laid at rest in north Rome cemetery.—Adrian Press.

A Texas man who chews 20 cents worth of Tobacco a week concluded to try a tobacco cure. In two weeks he ate $1.50 worth of the cure and for the next two weeks he used 5 cents worth of gum, 5 cents worth of candy, 5 cents worth of peanuts and 5 cents worth of gum drops a day. During the two weeks he also consumed two large rubber erasers, ate the rubber tips from fourteen lead pencils, chewed up two dozen penholders and browsed off his mustache as high as he could reach. He is now chewing tobacco in the interest of economy.—Brooklyn Ex.

A dose of carbolic acid, administered by mistake, caused the death of Mrs. Sarah Walsh, aged 38, Wednesday. Monday, when her physician visited her a neighbor dropped in to assist and was asked to pour out some medicine from a bottle on a table near the bedside. The woman, confusing the medicine bottle with one containing the deadly poison, gave Mrs. Walsh a spoonful of the latter. Mrs. Walsh leaves a husband and three children, one an infant three days old.—Saline Observer.

Dr. T. H. McDonald of Petersburg, one of the best known physicians in this portion of the county, met with a painful accident a few days ago that will probably disable him for some time. While driving to his home from Deerfield, in company with his daughter, his horses became unmanageable, reared and plunged, throwing both the doctor and his daughter to the ground, the former receiving a broken shoulder and rib.—Dundee Reporter.

Last Tuesday Stephen Curtis and son, Willie, of Hudson township, was returning from the cheese factory, and when they had reached the corner near his home, stopped, and Mr. Curtis stood up in the wagon to look at some cattle in the field. While he wae standing the horse started, and he was thrown to the ground. Help was summoned and he was taken to the house and Dr. Nelson called, who found that a hip was fractured and rendered the necessary surgical assistance. Mr. Curtis is vigorous for his age, 77 years, and it is hoped he will recover from the injury.—Hudson Post.

GOES AFTER GERMS.

How Hyomei does its work in curing catarrh.

Nature's remedy for catarrhal troubles is the oils and balsams found in Hyomei. It is a specific, not a cure all. It has but one mission, the cure of catarrh.

The natural way of curing a disease is always the scientific way and the scientific way of curing catarrh is the simple way, with Hyomei

Catarrh is a germ disease and can be cured only by using Hyomei, the treatment that reaches and destroys all catarrhal germs.

Breathed through the neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, Hyomei's medication reaches the most remote air cells of the nose, throat and lungs, going after the disease germs wherever present, destroying them and preventing their growth, thus making catarrhal troubles impossible.

There is no dangerous stomach dosing when Hyomei is used. It is solely an inhalation treatment, prepared specially to kill the catarrhal germs and is so successful that C. A. Wright & Son sell it under an actual guarantee to refund the money if it does not give satisfaction.

Begin the use of Hyomei at once and see how quickly it gives relief and lasting cure; complete outfit is only $1.00.

A Tecumseh citizen tells you how to cure them all.

J. H Welch, retired, living on Union street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I can cheerfully recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as they have been of great benefit to me. A great number of years ago, I was working on a barn that was being erected, and in helping to lift one of the large timbers, I strained myself and the doctor said I tore one of my kidneys loose. I began treatment immediately, but the remedies did not take effect. At night my rest was disturbed on account of the frequent action of the kidneys. Finally, Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention and I began using them. I noticed improvement in my condition in a very short time and I continued taking them until I was cured. I can honestly say that I feel better than I have for a number of years. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to a number of friends who have used them with the same satisfactory results."

PATROLMAN KILLED.

Unknown Man Shoots Detroit Officer In the Head.

Detroit, Nov. 11.—Patrolman George H. Wilson while attempting to escort a prisoner to the patrol box at Champlain and St. Antoine streets, was shot in the forehead, between the eyes, by an unknown assailant early this morning.

The wounded officer was taken at once to St Mary's hospital where he died.

Wilson had arrested one of a party of four men who were creating a disturbance outside a Champlain street resort. The other three men followed the officer, and just before reaching St Antoine street, one of them produced a revolver and fired three shots at him.

Wilson returned the fire, but when the smoke cleared away the policeman was found to have been mortally wounded, while his prisoner and companions had made their escape.

A general call was sent to headquarters, and a corps of police were sent out at once to surround the district in which the shooting occurred.

FIRST SNOW FALL.

All Sections of Michigan Save the Central Are Touched.

Detroit, Nov. 11.—The storm which began Sunday swept with more or less force through nearly all the counties of the state. It skipped the central portion, however, and fell heaviest in the upper peninsula, where a blizzard developed, in some instances blocking traffic.

Marquette, Mich., Nov. 11.—Runners have replaced wheels in upper Michigan. The snow is deep, badly affecting traffic, but bringing joy to the deer hunters. It is the first real storm of the season. Boats are keeping in port.

St. Joseph, Mich., Nov. 11.—A healthy fall of snow occurred here.

Onaway, Mich., Nov. 11.—Several inches of snow fell here. Bird and rabbit hunters are more than delighted.

Traverse City, Mich., Nov. 11.—The fall of snow here is a record-breaker for this time of year.

As Others Saw Him.

A day or two ago it fell out that an actor with a purpose was cinematographed on the stage and was vastly pleased with the result.

Said he gleefully to a prominent dramatic critic, "It was the most extraordinary experience I ever went through—actually to see myself acting."

"Now," said the prominent dramatic critic, "you understand what we have to put up with."—Pall Mall Gazette.

THE ODOROUS ONION.

A Word or Two In Favor of the Pungent Vegetable.

The onion need have no fears. Its position is secure. Born of the lily family, probably in Asia in the faroff centuries, it grows all over the world. It was well known to the ancient Greeks and Romans. It is mentioned in ancient Egyptian writings and in the Pentateuch. When the Israelites in the wilderness grew weary of manna, they sighed for the good things they had left behind, and they distressed Moses when they lifted their voices in weeping and cried: "We remember the fish which we did eat in Egypt freely, the cucumbers and the melons and the leeks and the onions and the garlic, but now our soul is dried away. There is nothing at all, besides this manna, before our eyes." It was not so much the fleshpots of Egypt that they sighed for as the succulent leek, the pungent onion, the odorous garlic. The onion is the Welsh national emblem. In Spain and Italy garlic, which is merely a condensed onion, enters into nearly all dishes of both the rich and poor. The onion thrives in Siberia and in Honduras. It flourishes on the Nile and on the Mississippi. It was a favorite with the Ptolemies of ancient Egypt, and it finds favor with the highest and the lowest in Macon and Charlotte. The lady of Shalott died of a broken heart because she had to give up either onions or her lover. Her lover was one of those finicky fellows who objected to the odor of onions, and she would not give up the shallot. The onion is all right. It never seeks to conceal itself. It is about the only thing in hash in which one can have confidence.—Nashville American.

DISPERSING A MOB.

Efficacy of a Fire Hose or a Stout Rawhide Whip.

"A good stout rawhide whip in the hands of a policeman would be one of the most effective riot breakers I can readily think of," said a police inspector. "There is nothing the average crowd of roughs fear more than a rawhide in the hands of an expert unless, indeed, it is a stream of water from a fire hose. Before the stinging lashes of a rawhide there is no crowd which would not cringe and fade away. Then where there are children in a mob a cop does not want to nail one of the little ones on the head with a night stick. A crack of the whip would be less cruel and quite as effective. It is usually the sharp crack of the lash that does the trick, as much so as the sting. In Russia the clout is used with more deadly effect than the rawhide or blacksnake whip could ever be used. Of course there is danger of putting out the eyes of some one with the cracker of the whip, but then, too, there is danger of breaking some head when the night stick is applied.

"Did you ever see a crack driver from the rural district handle a long whip? He has it down so fine that he can flick a coin out of your fingers twelve feet away. A policeman could become equally proficient with practice. It would be just the wrinkle in many cases where there is a mob to handle. A whip and a fire hose would make a great battery. The fire in many a riotor has been extinguished by the cold stream from one of those two inch nozzles."—New York Times.

PREPARING TO SAIL.

Details of Making Ready Big Fleet Are Well in Hand.

PROVISIONS HEAVY EXPENSE

Fifteen Hundred Men Must Be Fed For 100 Days—President and His Cabinet Will Review Vessels When They Leave Hampton Roads.

Washington, Nov. 11.—Every detail in the preparations for the sailing of the battleship fleet to the Pacific ocean is now well in hand, and by Dec. 16th, the date on which the vessels will pass out of Hampton Roads in review before President Roosevelt, members of his cabinet and high officers of the navy, all arrangements will have been completed.

At all of the navy yards the work is being pushed; provisions are being stored aboard the vessels and their coal bunkers filled to their fullest capacity.

Upon recommendation of Admiral Evans four anchors will be carried by each vessel.

The cost of provisioning the fleet is estimated at about $375,000, contemplating the feeding of a force of 15,000 men for 100 days.

Advantage will be taken of the two-ocean cruise of the battleships to make several tests with the provisions aboard—their preservation, packing and handling. It is desired to find some suitable form of bagging in which to carry dried provisions as it is believed bags will afford the advantage of compactness and greater facility in handling than if their contents were carried in boxes or barrels.

Incidental to the visit of the fleet to the Pacific coast, the navy department is making arrangements to obtain a place for small arm firing there, so as to give the men an opportunity for experience in that direction.

REPRIMANDS HIM.

Admiral Beresford Much Shocked at Orders Given by Sir Percy Scott.

London, Nov. 11.—The German imperial yacht, Hohenzollern, which is bringing Emperor William and his party to visit England, and which was expected to enter Sandown bay, Isle of Wight, last night, has been greatly delayed by a heavy fog and obliged to anchor, with the cruisers escorting her, off Selsea Bill.

An extraordinary incident has come to light in connection with the visit of Emperor William. It is related that at the conclusion of the recent maneuvers the channel fleet and the first cruiser squadron were ordered by the admiralty to re-paint, etc., in honor of the German emperor. Upon receipt of this order Sir Percy Scott, commander of the cruiser squadron, sent the following signal to two of his vessels: "Paint work appears to be more in demand than gunnery, so you had better come in in time to look pretty by the 8th inst."

Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, in a general order to the fleet repeating the instructions to re-paint, refers to the signal sent out by Sir Percy Scott as "contemptuous in tone and insubordinate in character," and orders Sir Percy to have it stricken from the signal logs.

Sir Percy Scott and the members of his staff were summoned aboard Admiral Beresford's flagship and the admiral's reprimand was read to them.

This affair has created consternation in the fleet and there is a probability that it will lead to the resignation of Sir Percy.

COMES BACK AT GOULD.

Missouri's Attorney-General Takes Exception to His Remarks About Two-Cent Rates.

Jefferson City, Mo., Nov. 11.—Attorney-General Hadley came back at George J. Gould with a scorching statement in reference to the latter's interview declaring, in effect, that the railroads would save money by taking passenger trains out of service in states where they are compelled to haul passengers at two cents a mile.

In part Attorney-General Hadley said:

"Railroad presidents seem to be determined to put up the 'poor mouth' about railroad business without much reference to the facts. Mr. Gould, of course, ought to know whether or not his road is making money. But it is evident somebody has been misleading him, or else he is trying to fool the public.

"According to returns made to the state the average earnings of the Missouri Pacific for each passenger carried one mile in the years 1905 and 1906 was 1.893 cents. In the years 1904 and 1905 the Missouri Pacific, according to its own figures in the maximum freight rate case, had net earnings from passenger business in Missouri of more than $1,500,000, and these earnings were produced with an average revenue of not over two cents a mile for each passenger carried. Consequently it is difficult for an ordinary citizen to know how a road is being bankrupted by being compelled by the law to charge on its passenger traffic a higher rate than that on which they have been making money for the last three years."

Safe.

Mrs. Smith—Yes, my little five-year-old girl is a great help in my housekeeping. Mrs. Randall—Why, what can such a child do to help? Mrs. Smith—She goes down and tells the cook for me whenever we're going to have company.—Harper's Bazar.

Delicately Put.

He would not say that she painted, powdered and all that. He was too much of a gentleman for that.

"Still I may as well confess," he said, "that she impressed me as one who thinks she can improve upon the Lord's handiwork."

PRISONER KILLS SELF.

Italian Commits Suicide After Many Sad Experiences.

New York, Nov. 11.—Giovani De Chichicia, who, until he was compelled to choose between love and duty, was a lieutenant in the Italian army, committed suicide in the Tombs. His imprisonment had been brought about by his brother, Lugi, a banker of this city. The latter believed Giovani insane.

According to the police records he fell in love in Italy, and, unable as an army officer to support his wife as he wished, deserted and sought his fortune as a cowboy in the American west. The venture was not a success, and finally, leaving his wife in their new home, he came to New York to get a new start. Again unsuccessful and penniless he asked financial aid of his brother. The meeting of the brothers was not amicable, and at a second interview Giovani was alleged to have peremptorily demanded first $1,000 and then $2,000 from the banker. He exhibited a revolver, it was charged, and threatened his brother's life. The banker wished to have Giovani detained as insane, but the court would not entertain such a charge, and the former soldier was held for trial for alleged carrying of concealed weapons. In the Tombs Giovani became deapondent, complained bitterly of former friends, and constantly grieved for his girl-wife left alone in the west.

When the doors were opened to permit the prisoners to go to the yard for their daily exercise, Giovani, who occupied a cell on the third tier, stepped quickly out upon the balcony, and then sprang upon the guard rail. He dove head foremost to the stone flagging, 25 feet below. Several hundred prison companions witnessed his death.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

May Fechsnscher, aged 30 years, of Fenton, is dead, supposedly from ptomaine poisoning, caused, it is believed, by canned meat.

Carbolic acid, taken by mistake for medicine left by the family physician, cost the life of Mrs. Augusta Jochen, wife of Emil Jochen, one of Saginaw's leading hardware dealers.

Ionia officials are trying to locate a $350 diamond ring sent by express from Standish to Ionia. The last known of the ring was at Owosso. When received at Ionia the box showed signs of having been tampered with.

One sneak thief at Traverse City has no respect for the law. While the chief of police's horse was absent on duty, someone entered the stable just across the alley from the city prison, and took a horse blanket belonging to the chief.

A boycott against milk is being organized at Battle Creek to combat the retailers who have boosted the price to seven cents a quart and ask 23 cents for cream. The consumers say it is robbery and due in no way to natural conditions.

Mrs. Nancy Hass, without doubt the oldest woman in Michigan, is dead at her home in Saginaw at the age of 107 years. She was of Dutch descent, and came from Canada. She is survived by a husband, 98 years old; two sons, one 76, the other 74, and a daughter, aged 51.

The board of trade of Saginaw, acting with the Bay City board of trade, has adopted resolutions to present to the interstate commerce commission complaining of discrimination by the Pere Marquette, Michigan Central and Grand Trunk railways. The complainants represent about 1,000 shippers.

C. B. Sonday, a passenger engineer on the Grand Rapids & Indiana railroad, was killed in the cab of his locomotive, at Grand Rapids, while taking it from the roundhouse preparatory to the usual run to Fort Wayne. His head struck the side of the roundhouse door and was crushed. He was 40 years old, and lived in Fort Wayne, where he had a family.

Storm Does Great Damage.

Marseilles, Nov. 11.—A hurricane swept over this city causing immense damage to docks and other water front property. The gas works were flooded by the terrific downpour that accompanied the storm, and the city was plunged in darkness. A number of people were killed by collapsing houses. The whole of south France continues to suffer from the excessive rains.

A Wardrobe In a Hat.

Grandfather De Voe is an artist who appreciates fine millinery. His young married daughter, however, was practicing domestic economy when a hat, a beautiful creation in real lace, arrived for little Elise from her devoted grandparent, whose eye had surrendered to this bit of baby apparel the moment he saw it in a department store.

"That hat is entirely too extravagant for this family," remarked the young mother. "I'll take it back and see what I can do."

A few days later the grandfather called to see the baby in the new hat.

"Do let me see how she looks in it," he said. "And how did you like it?"

"Very much, father, thank you. They gave me two hats, two dresses, a sweater and 39 cents in change for it."—Youth's Companion.

Signs of Long Life.

In view of the diversified testimony of present day centenarians on the subject of longevity and its causes, it is interesting to get a little light on the subject from Queen Elizabeth's time.

"Bacon took a deep interest in longevity and its earmarks," says a physician, "and Bacon's signs of long life and of short life are as true today as they ever were. You won't live long, Bacon pointed out, if you have soft, fine hair, a fine skin, quick growth, large head, early corpulence, short neck, small mouth, brittle and separated teeth and fat ears. Your life, barring accidents, will be very lengthy if you have slow growth, coarse hair, a rough skin, deep wrinkles in the forehead, firm flesh, a large mouth, wide nostrils, strong teeth set close together and a hard, grisly ear."

Valorous.

An old time lord mayor of London whose sporting experience was limited rode forth one day to join the city hunt in the fields about Marylebone. Placed by his escort under a tree, his lordship heard the hounds give tongue in the distance, and the sounds grew louder and louder till one of the city scouts shouted out, "The hare comes this way, my lord." The lord mayor rose to the occasion, and, drawing his sword, he exclaimed heroically: "Let him come! I thank my God I fear him not!"—Household Words.

CIRCUS RIDERS.

They Earn Good Salaries, but Their Careers Are Short.

A man horseback rider receives from $75 to $125 a week, and his career as a principal rider lasts about ten years. It is short not so much because these men get stiff and lose their agility as because they lose their nerve. Nearly all circus folk marry young, and with their added responsibilities comes a lively sense of danger which they ignored in younger days. A man rider who cannot turn a somersault on a horse cannot command more than $50 a week. A woman rider who can perform this feat gets from $150 to $200 a week if she is a finished rider.

This isn't much when all the disadvantages of the calling are taken into consideration, but it should be remembered that all the expenses are paid, including the care, feeding and of course the transportation of their horses. All they have to provide is their own clothing. For the men riders clothes do not constitute much of a factor, and the women nearly always make their own, except those provided by the management.

French Rags High Priced.

A collector of rags offered the manager of a large boarding house a certain price for a bag of wornout linen.

"These rags are worth more than that," said the shrewd landlord. "I run several houses in this neighborhood, and all are occupied exclusively by French guests."

The dealer apparently considered that remark sufficiently explanatory. He cast a hasty glance upon the contents of the bag, then raised the price.

"And he could well afford to raise it, too," said the landlord. "Even at that rate he will make money off the things. French rags the world over bring a higher price than any other. The reason why? French people wear a better quality of linen and their castoff garments are in demand by all manufacturers of high grade paper."—New York Press.

The Congregation Smiled.

Two country clergymen had agreed to exchange pulpits on a certain date. One of them made the following solemn announcement to his congregation on the Sabbath previous to the event:

"My dear brethren and sisters, I have the pleasure of stating that on next Sunday morning the Rev. Zachariah B. Day will preach for you. Let us now sing two verses of hymn No. 489, 'That Awful Day Will Surely Come.'"

And it took him some time to discover why the congregation smiled.

"Caroline, aren't you ever going to join the church?"

"Of course I am, Aunt Rachel, some day. But you ought to know better than ask me to do it when I'm right in the midst of this drafted house cleaning."—Chicago Tribune.

SIX MEN KILLED.

Fast Train on Chicago & Northwestern Railroad Ran Into Crowd.

Milwaukee, Nov. 14.—Six men were killed at South Milwaukee last night when a fast Chicago & Northwestern train ran into a crowd on a grade crossing. All of the victims were so mutilated that identification was for a time impossible.

A dozen persons stood on the southbound track waiting for another train on the northbound to pull out. The southbound train came along and killed six and injured half a dozen others so severely that they were taken to hospitals with broken ribs and limbs.

Rescued From Living Tomb.

Pottsville, Pa., Nov. 14.—Michael McCabe, after 87 hours, has been taken from his tomb in the Draper mine, barely alive. It was one of the most marvelous rescues in the history of anthracite mining. Since Saturday afternoon, when the top of the chamber in which he was working caved in and caused a rush of culm and water from the surface, relays of workmen toiled unceasingly. Finally the rescuers detected a scratching noise which told them that McCabe was still living. With renewed vigor, on the part of workmen, he was soon reached. He had not changed his position from the time the rush occurred. When rescued he was so weak he could hardly speak.

Governor Hughes Asks Committee of Men to Investigate Banking Situation.

Albany, Nov. 14.—Governor Hughes has given out a letter in which he requests that A. B. Hepburn, Edwin S. Marston, Edward W. Sheldon, Alger S. Frissell, Stephen Baker and Andrew Mills, all banking or trust company officials of New York city, shall act as a committee for the purpose of collating facts, receiving suggestions and expressing their views with reference to changes deemed advisable in the laws of the state relating to the incorporation, conduct of business, and supervision of banks and trust companies.

The governor desires that this committee undertake this work solely as a matter of public service, without provision for compensation or indemnity for expense, and says he will be glad to receive its report on or before Dec. 15, 1907.

PEACE DELEGATES MEET.

Men Who Hope to Aid Central American Conditions Assemble in Washington.

Washington, Nov. 14.—The Central American peace conference began here today. A set of rules and regulations for the government of the conference during its deliberations and the selection of permanent officers have been taken up first.

As a courtesy to the United States and to Mexico, whose members are to act in an advisory capacity, it was decided to elect Secretary of State Root and Ignacio Mariscl, the minister of foreign affairs of Mexico, honorary presidents of the body. Previous to the meeting committees of the conference called on Mr. Root and on Ambassador Creel of Mexico and escorted them to the gathering rooms of the conference in the Bureau of American Republics building.

Luis Anderson of Costa Rica is the choice of the delegates for permanent president, and Salvador Rodriguez of Salvador and J. M. Madrise of Nicaragua the permanent secretaries.

The delegates tendered a vote of thanks to Minister Calvo of Costa Rica, who has been acting as chairman, and Minister Ugarte of Honduras, who has been acting as secretary of the preliminary meetings. Secretary Root called the conference to order and made a brief speech.

Robber Kills Steamship Agent.

Au Sable, Mich., Nov. 14.—John Ferris, assistant agent on the Oscoda & Au Sable Union Steamboat company's dock, was fatally shot by a robber who entered the office and, at the point of a revolver, demanded the company's money. Ferris was alone and unarmed, but he pluckily refused to turn over the funds, and the man shot him in the abdomen and in the back. The wounded man was able to drag himself to the 'phone, where he told the central office of the shooting. He gave a description of his assailant, who was of medium hight and neatly dressed. A physician and officers were hurried to the office. Ferris died shortly afterward. Sheriff Curry and the police have taken up the search.

Independent 'Phone Men Meet.

Battle Creek, Mich., Nov. 14.—Independent telephone men of the state are in convention here. More than 200 are present, and special attention is being paid to "trouble" questions and the trouble men are in attendance, as well as the managers of the various exchanges about the state. The following officers were elected: President, William Robinson, Muskegon; vice-president, H. T. Clough, Owosso; secretary, A. A. Burch, Battle Creek. An invitation from Mayor Thompson of Detroit, asking the convention to meet there next year, was referred to the executive committee with power to act. The invitation will probably be accepted. The delegates enjoyed a banquet at the Halladay Inn.

TAKEN BY SURPRISE.

Delegates Hear Their Opinions on Initiative and Referendum

WRITTEN TO VOTERS' LEAGUE

Public Hearing Held—Interesting Address Delivered by Chicago Editor—Convention Passes Its First Proposal.

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 14.—Advocates of the initiative and referendum for amending the statute laws had a hearing last night before the joint committee on legislation and revision of the constitution. The hearing was in representatives' hall, and there was a good attendance of delegates as well as quite a number of students from the agricultural college.

A mild sensation was opened when Secretary Walsh of the Detroit Progressive Voters' league began reading the replies that 51 of the 96 delegates are alleged to have made prior to their election in September to queries sent out by the league to all constitutional convention candidates. These replies were all either explicit or implied indorsement of the initiative and referendum. Some of the members who have been openly speaking in opposition to the initiative and referendum since the convention began were visibly embarassed when their answers were read. Others were disposed to get angry.

Wanted to See His Reply.

Judge Heckert of Paw Paw jumped up and declared that he didn't remember of making any reply and would like to see it. Some others were saying that their replies ought not to be given any more weight than the thoughtless signing of a petition.

The address that had the closest attention was delivered by Louis F. Post of Chicago, editor of The Public, a periodical devoted to economic subjects. He began by saying that wherever the people have had a chance to express themselves the initiative and referendum affords an excellent opportunity to check the corruption which creeps into legislative bodies where interests are seeking great and valuable franchises. The legislative bodies usually are stocked with good intentions, but the blighting influence of selfish interests comes upon them.

"Nothing could be farther from the truth," said Mr. Post, "than that the initiative and referendum is a foreign institution. A good deal of random talk is heard about it having been borrowed from Switzerland. As a matter of history it is strictly an American institution. Massachusetts had it as early as 1777, and it had been adopted in New York in 1821, or 50 years before Switzerland adopted it."

To the representation that the initiative and referendum would precipitate a torrent of radical propositions to every election, Mr. Post declared that the records do not bear this out. The initiative and referendum has been in the constitution of South Dakota since 1898, yet not a single measure has been brought out in that state by the initiative. The same is true of Utah. But the fact that the power to do something is with the people has had the effect of keeping out of those states persons and corporations that might seek to corrupt legislators.

Others Spoke.

John Z. White, another Chicago citizen, also made an address.

Wednesday was the first day that saw a proposal considered on the floor of the convention and passed. It requires senatorial and representative districts to be re-arranged in 1911 and every ten years thereafter. Three other proposals were also adopted by the convention. They simply make verbal changes in matters pertaining to the legislature without giving a new meaning.

The first comprehensive local option liquor traffic regulation so far submitted to the convention was introduced Wednesday by Delegate Victor M. Gore of Benton Harbor. Delegate F. J. Boldwin of Montcalm proposed a prohibatory amendment, but it can hardly be said to have a show. Something on the line of Mr. Gore's proposal will likely be adopted. Here are its essential points:

Any ward, city or village of over 500 population, as well as county, can suppress all saloons if a majority of the electors so vote. The question of suppressing the saloon must be submitted when 20 per cent of the electors petition. Saloons shall be prohibited in all townships, and townships with villages in them, where the population is less than 500. The sale of liquor, except for medicinal, scientific and sacramental purposes, shall be forever prohibited in the city of Ann Arbor.

BRADLEY TRIAL BEGUN

Woman Is Charged With Murder of Ex-Senator Brown.

ELEVEN MEN IN JURY BOX.

Believed Defense Will Advance Plea of Insanity—Prosecution Heads Off Unwritten Law Sentiment—Defendant Has Admitted Shooting.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Wednesday, the first day of the trial of Mrs. Annie M. Bradley on the charge of murdering former United States Senator Brown of Utah, was consumed entirely in an effort to obtain a jury. When the court adjourned 61 talesmen had been explained. There are 11 men in the jury box, but all are subject to challenge.

The day was without especial incident, but the questions put by the attorneys for the prosecution and the defense served to define to some extent the lines which will be followed in the case. It is evident that the attorneys for Mrs. Bradley will depend upon the plea of insanity as their only professed defense. If there was any confidence in the plea of justification it was not expressed.

On the other hand, the prosecution manifested apprehension that the jury would be inclined to consider the case under the unwritten law, and to shield the defendant from possible capital punishment on account of her sex.

Accompanied by Her Mother.

Mrs. Bradley was accompanied to the courtroom by her mother, Mrs. Maddison. Mrs. Bradley at first appeared nervous and affected by all references to the tragedy, but later regained her composure.

The courtroom was crowded, many of the spectators being women. District Attorney Baker was assisted in the examination of jurors by Assistants Turner and Given, and Mr. Hoover made the inquiries in Mrs. Bradley's behalf. His partner, Mr. Wells, and Judge Powers sat with and prompted him.

The charge upon which Mrs. Bradley is being tried is that of deliberately murdering former United States Senator Arthur Brown of Utah, in his room at a hotel in this city, on the 8th of December. Mrs. Bradley has admitted the shooting, and there will be no effort to show that death resulted from any other cause than the shot fired by her.

It is probable that she will be put on the stand in her own defense, with the hope of influencing the jury in reaching the conclusion that her mind was so unsettled by the long-continued wrongs, which, it is alleged, she had suffered, that she was not responible for her acts. She has never made any statement concerning the details of her appearance in the room where the tragedy took place, and there is no living person who was present at that time.

Two Shots Were Fired.

It is known, however, that while the shooting occurred at three o'clock in the afternoon, she had arrived in the city early that morning, having come direct from her home in Salt Lake City. The wounds on the senator's body, one of which was on his hand and the other in his abdomen, showed that two shots had been fired. Of these the latter proved fatal within five days' time. Putting such information together as they have been able to obtain, Mrs. Bradley's attorneys have reached the conclusion that when she went to the senator's room, which she did immediately upon her arrival, she found there certain letters from Mrs. Annie Adams, the actress, the reading of which greatly incensed her. She seemed then to have disappeared, and not to have returned until the afternoon when, finding Mr. Brown there upbraided him, and finding him unwilling to marry her, fired the shots which ended his life.

Loaned About $8,000,000.

New York, Nov. 14.—It is estimated that during the recent financial stringency the great insurance companies of New York have loaned about $8,000,000 to small policy-holders to tide them over the present crisis, the banks having refused to let them have cash. This money is loaned at five per cent, and the loans can run indefinitely.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

When a woman's husband is a joke it is little wonder she can't see one

Cured of Bright's disease.

Robt. O. Burke, Elnora, N. Y., writes "Before I started to use Foley's Kidney Cure I had to get up 12 and 20 times a night, and I was all bloated up with dropsy and my eyesight was so impaired I could scarcely see one of my family across the room. I had given up hope of living, when a friend recmended Foley's Kidney Cure. One 50c bottle worked wonders and before I had taken the third bottle the dropsy had gone, as well as all other symptoms of Bright's disease." Sold by all druggists in Tecumseh.

Self made men are usually egotists, because they worship their creator.

Half a loaf is better than a dozen loaves of the kind some bakers make.

You can't be well if you have a weak unhealthy, tired out stomach. Neither can you feel good if by some little irregularity in eating you have caused the stomach to get out of order. These little stomach troubles are signs of indigestion, which may and very often does turn into a very bad case of dyspepsia. Don't allow this to go on a single day without doing something to overcome it. Take some good reliable and safe digestant like Kodol for dyspepsia. Kodol is the best remedy known today for heart burn, belching and all troubles arising from a disordered digestion. It is pleasant to take and affords relief promptly. Sold by B. J. Pulver

Star gazing doesn't pay unless you are an astronomer

The new pure food and drug law.

We are pleased to announce that Foley's Honey and tar for coughs, colds and lung troubles is not affected by the National pure food and drug law as it contains no opiates or other harmful drugs, and we recommend it as a safe remedy for children and adults. Sold by all druggists in Tecumseh

Things of no criticism are never beneath notice

There is nothing better for stomach troubles than Kodol, which contains the same juices found in a healthy stomach. Kodol is offered on a guaranteed plan for the relief of heart burn, flatulence, sour stomach, belching of gas, nausea and all stomach troubles. So at times when you don't feel just right, when you are drowsy after meals and your head aches or when you have no ambition and you are gross and irritable, take a little Kodol. It digests what you eat. It will make you healthy. Sold by B. J. Pulver

It's queer how anxious people are to lend you money when you don't need it.

Babies and children need prompt attention when suffering from coughs and colds. The best remedy for mothers to use is Kennedy's laxative cough syrup. It tastes nearly as good as maple sugar, it contains no opiates and it is laxative and drives the cold out of the system by gently moving the bowels. Sold by B. J. Pulver

And the heiress who marries a title seldom gets her money's worth

This is worth remembering.

As no one is immune every person should remember that Foley's kidney cure will cure any case of kidney or bladder trouble that is not beyond the reach of medicine. For sale by all druggists in Tecumseh

If you don't tell people how good you are a lot of them will never suspect it.

Don't think that piles can't be cured. Thousands of obstinate cases have been cured by Doan's ointment. 50c at any drug store.

The postmaster of Gracemade, Mo. Daniel A. Bugh, says of DeWitt's kidney and bladder pills, "I am doing so well and improving so fast in health that I cannot say too much for your kidney and bladder pills. I feel like a new man." DeWitt's kidney and bladder pills are sold by B. J. Pulver.

Good Luck Quartette at Onsted Friday Night.

Yesterday's Onsted News contained the following in regard to the Good Luck Quartette of this place, who gave an entertainment in that village last Friday night. An invitation has been extended to them to return to Onsted after the holidays to give another concert.

The entertainment given by the Good Luck Quarterte of Tecumseh, Friday night in the Onsted opera house, assisted by other talent, was of a high order and was pleasing to all present as was indicated by the continued and hearty applause following each number. The members of this quartette posseas excellent voices, well trained. Miss Nellie Mingay, reader, made a hit with the audience at once and was compelled to respond to many encores. Her rendition of "Lasca" was especially good. The playing by Miss May Belle Aten, pianist, was very good. Lynn Rogers, violinist, played a number of solos and responded to several encores. His work was excellent and was of especial interest to an Onsted audience, he being a product of Cambridge township. Preceeding the Otterbein Quartette so closely interfered with the larger attendance but what the audience lacked in size they made up in appreciation.

All the Sporting News.

The steady reliability with which the Chicago Record-Herald presents the sporting news of the whole country each day has made it an authority in this field. It has a large staff of editors and reporters to handle the telegraphic matter and gather the local news in this important department alone. In the Sunday Record-Herald this department has a separate supplement of four full pages—a newspaper in itself—in which all the latest sporting news is presented with numerous illustrations. All that is of interest in baseball, football, racing, athletics, automobiling, yachting, golf, tennis, pugilism, aquatic and other sports can always be found here along with many special articles by experts of national reputation. The Record-Herald is a favorite among lovers of sport because its sporting columns are written by "men who know."

THE CLINTON CLOTHING CO.

INCORPORATED

CLINTON MICHIGAN

The Clothing Store of Today

To be successful as a clothing merchant it is necessary to be up-to-date, catering to the latest novelties and wants of the people. It was not so many years ago that the people in Michigan as well as many of the other Middle Western States had to wait till the sheep were shorn and the housewife spun the yarn which was made up into homespun clothes. Times have changed and to be successful you have to be up to the times. The people in former years were satisfied with tallow dips, then something better was demanded, resulting in kerosene. The people still kept calling for something better, resulting in electric lights and still they are looking for something better. It is just so in our

CLOTHING BUSINESS

People used to be satisfied with homespun then they demanded something better and the consequence was that the country towns had tailors that went from house to house to make clothes for the whole family, but as our youngsters grew up they wanted more style and better finish, in fact, more up-to-date clothes and the consequence was that large factories started and today the finest clothes are being made by such firms as B. Kuppenheimer & Co., Woodhull, Goodale & Bull and Edenheim, Stein & Co. We handle the entire lines of all of these up-to-date manufacturers and while we do not advertise to sell at cost and bellow to attract your attention, we are selling at PRICES THAT WILL PAY YOU to visit our CLINTON STORE and we guarantee to save you money as we have light expenses, and buying as we do in large quantities for spot cash direct from the manufacturer, are able to offer you inducements not to be found in any other store in in Lenawee County. In closing today's talk with you let me tell you a little story.

Well do I remember when I was a youngster, there was a circus in town. Our neighbor's boy came over to go with me and as we were going down the lane our mothers stood watching us. He had a new straw hat and I had a new pair of trousers. We were as happy as clams at high tide. We only had 30c between us and as our mothers stood watching us they wondered which of us would be President first.

Just so in our business, we wonder who will read our talk with you today and who of you will come to see us first. We will give you a jolly good time and allow you of $10.00 or over. It will be a pleasant trip for you and you can go home happy, knowing that you have had a good day work by coming up to see us and buying your New Suit, Overcoat, Shoes, Hat and Underwear of one of Michigan's Leading Cash Clothing Houses.

Your Car Fare on Each Purchase

Center, Earl Coller; right guard, Leon Higby; left guard, Harry Snedicor; left tackle, Earl McNeil; right tackle, Leon Wilson; right end, John Clark; left end, LeRoy Bramble; full back, Dwight Clarkson; half back, Kirby Wilson; quarter back, Kenneth Ward.

A hard debt to pay.

"I owe a debt of gratitude that can never be paid" writes G. E. Clark of Westfield, Ia., "for my rescue from death by Dr. King's New Discovery. Both lungs were seriously affected and death seemed imminent when I commenced taking this remedy. The ominous hacking cough quit before the first bottle was used and two more bottles cured me." Nothing has ever equaled New Discovery for colds, throat and lung complaints. Guaranteed by C. A. Wright & Son, druggists. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

MAKES LIFE MISERABLE

Troubles that keep half the Tecumseh doctors busy.

For the sake of your personal welfare just think a moment about the process of digesting food.

There are the gastric juices that act upon the food after it is swallowed and change all the nutrition in it to life giving blood.

Anything that interferes with the secretion of these juices causes indigestion and a chronic state of stomach weakness inevitable.

Begin now to build up the strength and health of the stomach with Mi-o-na tablets. You will soon be strong and never know the meaning of indigestion.

Half the prescriptions the Tecumseh doctors write are for troubles that result directly from a weakened stomach. Strengthen the stomach muscles, increase the secretion of gastric juices and you will find that common afflictions—indigestion with its headaches, dizziness, depression of spirits, spots before the eyes, nervousness, sleeplessness and general debility—have been overcome.

If Mi-o-na did not have an unusually curative effect in stomach disorders, it could not be sold on the guarantee given by C. A. Wright & Son to refund the money unless it does all that is claimed for it. They give an absolute, unqualified guarantee with every 50-cent box of Mi-o-na that the money will be refunded unless the medicine cures. They take the whole risk and you certainly can afford to get Mi-o-na from them on this plan.

A Tecumseh citizen tells you how to cure them all.

J. H. Welch, retired, living on Union street, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I can cheerfully recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as they have been of great benefit to me. A great number of years ago, I was working on a barn that was being erected, and in helping to lift one of the large timbers, I strained myself and the doctor said I tore one of my kidneys loose. I began treatment immediately, but the remedies did not take effect. At night my rest was disturbed on account of the frequent action of the kidneys. Finally, Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention and I began using them. I noticed improvement in my condition in a very short time and I continued taking them until I was cured. I can honestly say that I feel better than I have for a number of years. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to a number of friends who have used them with the same satisfactory results."

ROAD HAS PROFITED.

Union Pacific Cleaned Up $32,000,000 on Stock Purchases.

HARRIMAN'S ACTS DEFENDED

Stockholders Indorsed All His Stock Manipulations—Commerce Commission Again Delayed In Their Efforts to Make Him Answer Questions.

New York, Nov. 14.—After seven and a half hours of argument on both sides of the question, Judge Hough, in the United States circuit court, has announced that he would not be ready to render a decision on the petition of the interstate commerce commission to compel E. H. Harriman to answer certain questions propounded to him last spring, in the course of the commission's investigation into the so-called Harriman lines, until Dec. 1. The opposing counsel were given the privileges of filing additional briefs during the next two weeks.

The arguments took a wide range, and the privileges and powers of the interstate commerce commission were thoroughly gone into. Former Senator Spooner of Wisconsin appeared for the first time in the case, and argued in defense of the position maintained by Mr. Harriman that he is not required to tell the commission what individual profit he made in selling the stocks of other railroads held by him to the Union Pacific company, or to detail the manner in which the famous ten per cent Union Pacific dividend was declared in August, 1906, and its announcement deferred for two days. Mr. Harriman has also declined to say how much stock in the Union Pacific, if any, he bought prior to the announcement of the dividend.

John G. Milburn was also heard in defense of Mr. Harriman and in opposition to the petition filed by the commission. On behalf of the government, represented by the interstate commerce commission, the arguments were conducted by United States District Attorney Henry L. Stimson and Frank B. Kellogg, special counsel to the commission.

Approved Harriman's Acts.

Counsel for Mr. Harriman stated to Judge Hough that the stock purchases of the Union Pacific railway, amounting to about $152,000,000 in the aggregate, were made on the recommendation of the executive committee, approved by the board of directors and ratified by the stockholders. All that Mr. Harriman had done, Mr. Milburn declared, has met with the fullest approval of the stockholders. He further stated that, allowing for losses sustained in the recent heavy slump of prices, the Union Pacific has profited no less than $32,000,000 by its stock purchases. Mr. Millburn said this fact should silence the claim of the commission that the stock purchases tended to impair the effectiveness of the railroads engaged in interstate business.

Mr. Kellogg, in reply to this, stated that the so-called market value of the stocks sold by the Union Pacific was nothing more or less than a Wall street quotation, probably fixed by the very pool of men whom, it is claimed, were behind the stock deals. As to the impairment of the usefulness of the railroads, Mr. Kellogg asserted that the roads of inflated values were today unable to borrow money to build the cars needed by them to carry out their obligations to the public.

"The same thing is true of the roads without inflated values," retorted Mr. Millburn.

MICHIGAN BRIEFS.

An injunction has been issued by Judge Mandell of Detroit, on behalf of Mrs. Mary Louise Edge of that city, to restrain her husband, Fred Edge, from following, annoying or molesting her in any manner.

The sum of $810 in gold pieces has disappeared from a trunk, used as a bank, in the boarding house of Alphonse Grana, on 30th street, in Detroit. One of the boarders is missing and the police would like to find him. The money belonged to 13 Italian boarders.

Lee Stoddard, junior member of the firm of E. E. Stoddard & Sons of Litchfield, grocers, while at work attempted to jump over a cracker barrel. A swinging hook caught him just over the eye and under the frontal bone, penetrating the brain. His condition is critical.

In the case of Dr. W. W. Lathrop vs. the receivership for the defunct Jackson Sanitarium company, limited, asking $6,000 salary, Judge Parkinson of Jackson has directed a verdict of no cause for action. Dr. Lathrop was medical director, manager and promoter of the company.

Do not dose the child with salts or griping pills, as they are too powerful in effect, and literally tear their little insides to pieces, leaving the bowels weakened and less able to act naturally than before. GRACE HENDERSHOT.

A cloud of sadness settled over this community last Sunday morning as the news spread telling that the Angel of Death had entered our midst during the night and bore away to the Heavenly Country one of our fairest blossoms, Grace, the little nine year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hendershot. She was in school Wednesday apparently well. Thursday morning she complained of not feeling well and told her mamma she guessed she wouldn't go to school. In a short time she was taken with severe pain and suffered intensely.

Dr. W. S. Morden was called and pronounced it a severe case of appendicitis. The freezing method was tried but to no avail and Friday night Drs. Darling, Loree and Morden performed an operation and Saturday night about one o'clock the little spirit took its flight to the home where pain and suffering are unknown. The funeral services were held from the M. E. church, where Grace attended Sunday school. Rev. J. D. Halliday had charge and spoke words of comfort from 2 Kings 4:26.

The church was packed with relatives and friends who truly sympathize with the sorrowing parents and brother. The schools were closed and attended in a body. The floral offerings were many and very beautiful. The day schools and the Sunday school class of which she was a member, each furnished pieces. David and Leland Hatch, Kenneth Pennington and Clyde Bailey, her little school mates, acted as pallbearers.

Those present from out of town were, Milton Augustus and wife and Miss Laurel Chambers, of Ypsilanti; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hendershot, of Toledo; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wood, of Dunkirk, O.; Seville Hendershot and wife, of Adrian; Mr. and Mrs. Hervy Galloway, of Raisin Center; Mr. and Mrs. Lime Thomas, of Clinton; Mrs. Deal Clark, of Britton; Dr. and Mrs. Hendershot, John Hendershot and family, Mrs. Pocklington, of Tecumseh; Julia Hendershot, of Detroit; Mark Randall and wife of Ridgeway.

BENEFITS OF PARCEL POST.

Postmaster-General Meyer Writes About It to Michigan Rural Patron.

Charlotte, Mich., Nov. 11.—A Bellevue rural route patron, after reading Postmaster-General George Von L. Meyer's Boston speech favoring the parcel post plan, wrote that official for more definite information. The postmaster-general replied:

"Evidently you do not understand. The parcel post rate at present is 16 cents a pound for people in our country, the limit of weight being four pounds, while the rate from this country to 22 foreign countries is 12 cents and the limit of weight 11 pounds.

"In order that the rate may be consistent, I intend to recommend that on packages for delivery in this country it shall be the same as on those to foreign countries, namely, 12 cents a pound, a reduction of four cents, and a weight limit of eleven pounds—an increase of seven pounds.

"Now, out of the town of Bellevue you have, if I am not mistaken, six rural routes. In order to assist the retail merchant and country storekeeper, I propose to recommend the establishment of a special parcels post confined to rural routes, the rate to be five cents for the first pound and two cents for each additional pound, or 25 cents for 11 pounds. With the establishment of this special parcels post it should require no further argument on my part to convince you of the advantage you will have in competition with the mail order houses."

All argue in favor of our goods and our methods. What we say is substantiated by the evidence of our stock. The argument of careful selection is beyond dispute—its here to be seen almost at a glance.

The argument of genuine values is every bit as plain. Our plan keeps out everything doubtful. The argument of low prices then comes to cinch the matter.

SKATED ON THIN ICE.

Jennings Young Man Drowns and Companion Has Narrow Escape.

Lake City, Mich., Nov. 18.—Vern Williams, 24 years old, of Jennings, was drowned in Missaukee lake while skating by breaking through the ice. Will Dassamer, skating with Williams, was rescued after considerable hard work.

Williams and Dassamer were in a party of six young men who skated here. The ice had frozen to a depth of not quite two inches. There was not even a crack on the trip over, a distance of four miles, but in the interrim the ice thawed. The sextette was out but a short distance when Williams and Dassamer, in the lead, were precipitated into the water with the frozen surface crumbling all about them.

The ice also began to crack under their companions and they turned to make for the shore as the leaders went in. Help was summoned and boats were put out to the rescue, the way being broken as they went. Williams and Dassamer struggled on, but each time they caught the edge of the ice it broke. Finally Williams sank exhausted, and Dassamar was about forced to give up when the rescuers reached him.
